Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert (R)

A study says that if we exercise for 30 minutes a day but spend the rest of the time sitting, "it's almost as if we had not worked out at all." Well, that's great news, because it means that if all I do is sit all day, it's almost as if I had worked out.

Hold onto your beakers, nerds, because there's some news from the world of science. Down in Antarctica, a "doomsday glacier" is disintegrating faster than previously thought. OK, that's terrifying. And I [have] got to say, it doesn't help that we're calling in the "doomsday glacier." Can't we pick something happier? Like the "free guac glacier" or the "have you lost weight iceberg?"

When [Donald Trump] does pay his lawyers, he has some fun with it, because we learned that the former president once tried to pay a lawyer with a horse. I don't know why we're surprised. After all, he did describe himself as a stable genius.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon (R)

Elton John performed on the South Lawn of the White House. It was an exciting night for the Bidens — the concert started right after dinner, at 3 p.m.

A popular craft beer in Australia was recalled over concerns of "excess alcohol." Meanwhile, the people who bought it were like, "We can't recall anything."

Apparently, Amazon has a policy not to show ads for alcohol, which means there are no beer commercials during their football games. I don't know why Amazon does that, because drunk people ordering stuff on Amazon is 90% of their business.

Jimmy Kimmel Live! (R)

The richest man in America is now Elon Musk. According to the new Forbes 400 list, Elon Musk is worth around $251 billion. He beat out Jeff Bezos, who topped the list last year. Bezos ceded his spot at No. 1 in a show of solidarity with employees who aren't allowed to go No. 1 on the job.

NASA went full "Armageddon" (1998) and successfully hit an asteroid with a spacecraft, in what is — they say — the world's first planetary defense mission. Which is exciting news for everyone other than the Space Force. They were like, "Can't you let us have anything?"

[Ron] DeSantis is that guy you went to high school with who desperately wanted to be prom king but didn't have the charisma, so instead, he just pulled the fire alarm and ruined the dance for everybody.

Late Night With Seth Meyers (R)

After receiving criticism from viewers, Netflix removed the LGBTQ tag from its series about serial killer Jeffrey Dahmer. On the downside, they left the food and travel tag.

President Biden's plan to forgive $10,000 per borrower in Federal Student Loan debt will cost nearly $400 billion, or in student loan terms, $27 per month for 30 billion years.

Elon Musk's college girlfriend is auctioning off personal items from their relationship, including photographs, a birthday card and upwards of three kids.

President Biden spoke to Britain's King Charles ... for the first time since Queen Elizabeth's passing. "I can't believe you waited your entire life for this lousy job!" said both of them at the same time.

Two Air France Pilots were suspended after a physical fight in the cockpit during a flight. The fight was reportedly so intense that one of them dropped his cigarette.

A large spill of Alfredo sauce shut down an interstate highway in Tennessee. Well, it wouldn't be the first time Alfredo sauce clogged a major artery.

'Winds' of change: New season of 'Dark Winds' blows onto AMC

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

When AMC aired the "Dark Winds" Season 1 finale mid-July last year, the show proved, if nothing else, that all it takes is six great episodes to create a strong and supportive fan base. Now, a little more than one year after said finale, New Mexico cops Joe Leaphorn (Zahn McClarnon, "Reservation Dogs") and Jim Chee (Kiowa Gordon, "The Red Road") are back for Round 2, calling all fans back to their TV sets and computer screens once again. Season 2 of "Dark Winds" premieres Sunday, July 30, on AMC and the AMC+ streaming service.

Set in the American Southwest during the 1970s, the spiritually infused crime thriller follows two Navajo officers of the law, Leaphorn and Chee, as they take on a smattering of cases in their desert community. Constantly plagued by an open double murder in the first season, the officers take on several other, smaller cases while chipping away at the big unsolved crime, all while grappling with their own personal and cultural demons.

The series opened to positive reviews when it premiered in June 2022 and continued to pick up acclaim over its six weeks on air. Among the most notable accolades, "Dark Winds" was nominated for the Best Action/Thriller Television Series Saturn Award, and leading man Gordon was nominated for a Gotham Award for his performance as undercover FBI agent Chee. Additionally, the Graham Roland ("Tom Clancy's Jack Ryan") -created series earned a Western Heritage Award for the pilot, titled "Monster."

The AMC production has also been lauded for its richness of Indigenous culture, well-rounded character development and overall beautiful storytelling — the latter of which comes as no surprise to those familiar with the other works of executive producers George R.R. Martin ("Game of Thrones") and Robert Redford ("Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," 1969). Backed up by a massive team of talented writers, producers, directors and more, Martin and Redford have a major part in bringing the Navajo Mysteries novels of Tony Hillerman to life.

Much of the magic, however, falls in the hands of the series' cast. Returning for Season 2 alongside Gordon and McClarnon are Jessica Matten ("Frontier") as gifted tribal police Sgt. Bernadette Manuelito; Deanna Allison ("Accused") as Leaphorn's wife, Emma; and Rainn Wilson ("The Office") in his unusually sinister role as twisted missionary and used car salesman "Devoted Dan" DeMarco. There has also been word that Sally Growing Thunder (Elva Guerra, "Reservation Dogs"), Frank Nakai (Eugene Brave Rock, "That Dirty Black Bag") and Hoski (Jeremiah Bitsui, "Better Call Saul") are likely to return this season. That said, the winds of change are still blowing in the casting department as a couple of new faces make their way onto the scene; most notably, those of Jeri Ryan ("Star Trek: Voyager") and Nicolas Logan ("Dopesick").

While Logan stars as assassin Colton Wolf, Ryan steps into the role of Rosemary Vines, a woman described as "a femme fatale who leaves a trail of bodies in her wake."

As for the remainder of the second-season plot, the "Dark Winds" trailer features a very human threat in the form of a "blond man" walking onto the reservation and committing a string of murders. Though with many of Season 1's questions still lingering without concrete answers, it's worth noting that many of this season's horrors link back to the freshman season in one way or another.

Kiowa Gordon in "Dark Winds"

Leaphorn, still dealing with a personal loss from last season, has a lot to face before he can move forward with his grief. Now more determined than ever that he can't face his demons alone, Leaphorn once again teams up with Chee and Manuelito to bring peace to their Nation — hopefully once and for all. But it certainly won't be easy.

"Dark Winds," which is primarily filmed in the New Mexican cities of Santa Fe and Tesuque Pueblo, is just one of several high-profile series to feature Indigenous themes, storylines and cast as of late. The series joins the ranks of FX's award-winning crime comedy "Reservation Dogs," the Peacock Original comedy "Rutherford Falls" and "Little Bird," a Crave/APTN joint-venture that tells the story of an Indigenous woman, now grown, on a journey to find her roots following her childhood traumas incurred amid the "Sixties Scoop."

As is the case with any of these projects, hopes have been (and continue to be) high for "Dark Winds" — and not just from a Hollywood success standpoint. In an interview ahead of the series premiere, McClarnon acknowledged his own hopes for the series.

"What I hope to see from 'Dark Winds' is just more doors opening, not only for Indigenous talent in front of the camera but also behind the camera," McClarnon said. "I think we're kind of in a unique time right now with Native representation in media [a]nd I'm glad to be a part of it."

Whether you tune in for the human-on-human crime procedural element, the supernatural/spiritual suggestions or the relatable characters and the complexity of their personal demons, don't miss a minute of the show Collider's Chase Hutchinson called "unexpectedly admirable and audacious."

"Dark Winds" Season 2 premieres Sunday, July 28, on AMC and AMC+.

‘Physical’ evidence: Zooey Deschanel joins Apple TV+ series for final season

By Jay Bobbin
TV Media

Zooey Deschanel in “Physical”

Note: This interview took place before the SAG-AFTRA actors’ strike.

For her latest return to series work, Zooey Deschanel is getting “Physical.”

Television’s former “New Girl” joins the cast of Apple TV+’s fitness-themed comedy as it starts its third and final season, Wednesday, Aug. 2. Her character, Kelly, is an ex-sitcom star who becomes a new threat to Sheila Rubin (returnee Rose Byrne, “Platonic”) as the latter continues to grow along with the getting-into-shape business in 1980s San Diego. Sheila has had plenty of challenges along the way already, including building her own identity in the face of her husband’s (Rory Scovel, “Babylon,” 2022) political aspirations.

Geoffrey Arend (“Madam Secretary”), Paul Sparks (“Boardwalk Empire”), Deirdre Friel (“New Amsterdam”) and Lou Taylor Pucci (“American Horror Story”) also continue their roles in the Annie Weisman (“Desperate Housewives”) -created show’s final round, which Deschanel was pleased to sport a different look for — going blond for her role.

“It was so much fun,” the actress confirms. “The hair, makeup and costume team on that show was absolutely amazing … and she’s a complex character, very multifaceted. I kind of got to play two different versions of the character that made sense within one character, so that was cool. It’s really clever storytelling.” Deschanel also appreciated working with Byrne: “I love Rose. She’s a really kind person, very easy to work with … and so generous. She has no ego or vanity; she’s just a good actress who’s really lovely. I can’t say enough good things about her.”

Though she went into “Physical” knowing her role would last only so long, due to it being the last season, Deschanel maintains, “I would have been happy to come back if it was going for more seasons, but I like that the character has a beginning, middle and end. I get to play it all out, as opposed to when you’re on a show and you’re unsure of whether it’s ending or not. We had a number of seasons like that on ‘New Girl,’ so it was nice to know ahead of time what I would be leaving people with. I could really be intentional about all of that.”

Being able to concentrate just on acting without other responsibilities on “Physical” also was pleasant for Deschanel, though she admits, “It’s hard for me to take off my ‘producer’ hat. I want everything to be efficient and make sense from a production standpoint, so I always bring that with me. I always think that if you’re on a set, you’re a filmmaker, even if you have different jobs. You need to make sure you’re collaborating in a way that everyone is helping you do your best, so knowing about all the other jobs like camera and sound is really important, I think.”

As for her own relationship with the main subject of “Physical,” Deschanel reports, “I work out every day. I always have, pretty much, and I pumped up my fitness routine for this show. And I danced growing up, so I’ve always been into fitness.”

The sister of fellow actress Emily Deschanel (“Bones”), Zooey is quite visible on the home screen these days, also in her Max culinary reality series “What Am I Eating?” and commercials that cast her as a “Fairy Hotel Mother” who soothes guests. She reflects: “All the stuff I did over time has all come out. When ‘New Girl’ ended, I took some time off to be with my kids, because that was such a massive and all-encompassing project. (Deschanel was also an executive producer of that show.) Then there was the pandemic year, and then I just went right back to work and did a bunch of stuff.”

Additionally, “New Girl” has gotten a rebirth in the streaming world, having relocated recently to Hulu and Peacock. “It’s kind of incredible,” Deschanel says of viewers finding that show again. “I think that with the way we made it, it kind of ended up being evergreen in its content. There aren’t many things that date it, so I think it feels comforting to people.

“The way that TV content is now, there are fewer episodes and fewer seasons, and we don’t get to spend all that much time with the characters. It’s also more serialized than it is episodic, and I think ‘Friends’ has similar kinds of things that keep bringing people to it. Lots of people tell me that ‘New Girl’ is their comfort show.”

As those who keep up on celebrity relationships know, Deschanel presently is in one with Jonathan Scott, one of TV’s renovation-minded “Property Brothers.” She deems herself “very lucky to have the best boyfriend in the world, and that’s really all I care about, having someone great to share my time with. I think we understand each other on the level of what the other person is going through, being public people, so that’s helpful. It’s a nice point of connection.”

Catch Zooey Deschanel alongside Rose Byrne in the third and final season of “Physical,” premiering on Apple TV+ Wednesday, Aug. 2.

‘Big Brother’ returns for historic 25th season

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Expect the unexpected: The record-breaking 25th season of “Big Brother” kicks off with a special, 90-minute premiere episode, airing Wednesday, Aug. 2, on CBS.

Host Julie Chen Moonves returns to lead this “silver anniversary” season, joining an all-new batch of Houseguests as they compete for the coveted “Big Brother” crown and for the chance to win the grand prize of $750,000. That’s right. This time around, there are no returning faces … at least not staying in the house. Legend of the “BB” institution, Janelle Pierzina (@JanellePierzina), teased that she and some other alums – including Season 24’s winner, Taylor Hale – may have a cameo or two in this new season, recently tweeting: “Good morning. My BB bestie and a queen. You guys will be so excited! Fun things ahead for #BB25 @KaysarRidha @TheTayMack,” alongside a photo of herself, Hale and “Big Brother” alum Kaysar Ridha.

Casting details have been kept under wraps as of yet for #BB25, but the season will contain “Big Brother” classics, including drama, feuds, challenges, friendships, romances and, of course, endless livestream feeds, as CBS promises “a season full of twists and turns and throwbacks to the last 24 seasons.”

During the trailer for Season 25, Chen Moonves reminds the newest “HGs” that their actions will be captured by cameras and there is “no place to hide” (a throwback to Nicole from the series’ second season, for any longtime watchers), reminding viewers of past backstabs, betrayals, bromances and more as the trailer flips through footage of previous winners and fan favorites from the show.

Chen Moonves, it seems, is just as pumped as her guests and viewers alike, sharing her excitement for the upcoming season on her Twitter account (@JCMoonves): “1 MONTH AWAY #BB25,” she posted, captioning a photo of a miniature Zingbot (the loveable, “BB” robot) standing next to the infamous “Big Brother” nomination box — a hint of all the eviction nights to come.

As per usual, new episodes of the series will air three times weekly (on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays) after Season 25 of “Big Brother” premieres Wednesday, Aug. 2, on CBS.

Secret Shaq-cuzzi: Dreams can become reality with a little hard work. No one knows it better, perhaps, than the endlessly grateful celebrities featured in Season 3 of “Secret Celebrity Renovation,” premiering Friday, Aug. 4, on CBS. Joined by host Nischelle Turner (“Entertainment Tonight”), these thankful stars grab their hammers and hard hats — and pin their hearts to their sleeves — as they pitch in to treat their own small-town heroes to home renovations beyond their wildest dreams.

While renovation details are still to come, Season 3 promises appearances from some truly impressive names from sports, music, television and film, such as NFL superstar and safety for the Buffalo Bills, Damar Hamlin; Phil Keoghan, longtime host of “The Amazing Race”; actor and comedian J.B. Smoove (“Curb Your Enthusiasm”); and Max Thieriot, of the hot new television drama, “Fire Country,” all hoping to make someone’s life a fraction more fantastic — and functional.

The celebrities are joined by an all-star design team, featuring the talents of home improvement contractor (and TV personality) Rob “Boston Rob” Mariano (a “Survivor” superstar with four appearances and one win to his name) and interior designer Sabrina Soto (formerly of “Design Star” and “Trading Spaces”), who together turn home improvement dreams into reality.

Julie Chen Moonves hosts “Big Brother”

Mariano, who joined the design team in the series’ second season, was himself previously featured in an episode of Season 1, in which “Boston Rob” can be seen returning to his hometown – Boston, as you might have guessed – to thank his parents for their ongoing support with a stunning home makeover.

The “Survivor” alum joins the ranks of some great celebrity guests, such as pop star Debbie Gibson (“Out of the Blue,” 1987), surprising her longtime friend with a ranch-style home; comedian Billy Gardell (“Bob Hearts Abishola”), who plans to renovate the home of his best friend’s mother; Jesse Tyler Ferguson (“Modern Family”), renovating a dilapidated farmhouse belonging to a longtime friend; and comedian Wayne Brady (“Let’s Make a Deal”), surprising his aunt with a total home makeover.

Meanwhile, basketball superstar Shaquille O’Neal spends an episode renovating the home of his uncle, with whom he lived in 1992 — the year Shaq was the first-round draft pick of the Orlando Magic. The star makes some crazy requests, but Mariano and the team work some magic of their own, delivering right down to the “Shaq-cuzzi.”

The team is set to stun with bigger-than-ever renovations and supersized personalities abound in Season 3 of “Secret Celebrity Renovation,” premiering Friday, Aug. 4, on CBS.

"Heartstopper" - Season 2

The hit British coming-of-age romantic comedy series "Heartstopper" returns to Netflix with its second season, Thursday, Aug. 3. Based on the graphic novel of the same name by Alice Oseman, the series began as Nick (Kit Connor, "Rocketman," 2019) and Charlie (new talent Joe Locke) met at an all-boys grammar school and developed an unlikely friendship. When their friendship soon developed into a romantic relationship, Nick, Charlie and their friends learned to navigate these uncharted waters. Now, in Season 2, the boys continue to figure out their relationship, while Tara (Corinna Brown, "My Murder," 2012) and Darcy (new talent Kizzy Edgell) face unforeseen challenges and Tao (William Gao, "Crescendo," 2021) and Elle (Yasmin Finney, "Mars," 2022) work out if they can ever really be more than friends — all while they have exams on the horizon, a school trip to Paris and a prom to plan. The cast also features Rhea Norwood ("Consent," 2023), Sebastian Croft ("Penny Dreadful"), Olivia Colman ("Great Expectations") and new talents Cormac Hyde and Tobie Donovan.

"Mark Cavendish: Never Enough" (2023)

Praised as "intimate and captivating" by the platform, "Mark Cavendish: Never Enough" will be available to stream on Netflix as of Thursday, August 3. This feature length documentary from director Alex Kiehl ("SAS: Who Dares Wins") follows the (as Netflix describes): "meteoric rise, tragic downfall and unbelievable comeback of professional cyclist Mark Cavendish," 38, who won four stages at the 2021 Tour de France. Releasing only 10 days after this year's race, the documentary allows exclusive access to Cavendish, along with his wife Peta, his teammates and his coaches, allowing viewers a deeply honest and personal look at the sprinter's career, as he gets back on the bike, so to speak, after recently bouncing back from a very difficult season of life in which Cavendish experienced years of illness, injury and depression. Though his 2021 wins were historic, Cavendish was not invited back for the tour in 2022, meaning this year's event was his opportunity (perhaps the last) to beat competitor Merckx's 34 win record. As the streaming platform explains, "Mark Cavendish: Never Enough" is "an uplifting profile in resilience and self-belief that reveals the inside story of one of the most inspiring and unexpected comebacks in sporting history."

"The Lincoln Lawyer" - Season 2, Part 2

The trial continues when Season 2, Part 2, of "The Lincoln Lawyer" premieres on Netflix, Thursday, Aug. 3. Based on American crime novelist Michael Connelly's acclaimed The Lincoln Lawyer series, Season 2 is based on the fourth book, "The Fifth Witness." As lawyer Mickey Haller (Manuel Garcia-Rulfo, "The Magnificent Seven," 2016) continues running his law practice out of the back seat of his Lincoln, he takes on cases big and small across the city of Los Angeles. Created for television by producer and writer David E. Kelley ("L.A. Law") and developed by Ted Humphrey ("The Good Wife"), the series also stars Becki Newton ("Ugly Betty"), Angus Sampson ("Fargo"), Neve Campbell ("House of Cards"), Jazz Raycole ("The Quad"), Ntare Guma Mbaho Mwine ("The Chi"), Krista Warner ("Priorities Chapter One: Money Isn't Everything," 2021), Lana Parrilla ("Once Upon a Time"), Yaya DaCosta ("Chicago Med"), Ntare Guma Mbaho Mwine ("The Chi"), Marlene Forte ("Knives Out," 2019) and Chris Browning ("Bosch").

"Untold: Jake Paul the Problem Child"

The critically acclaimed docuseries "Untold" returns to Netflix with Vol. 3, "kicking off a four-week summer event that pulls back the curtain on tales from the wide (and wild) world of sports" (per Netflix), with its first installment, "Jake Paul the Problem Child," making its streaming debut, Tuesday, Aug. 1. Exploring how a wide-eyed kid from Ohio transformed from teen internet sensation to one of the sports world's most polarizing figures, this deep dive into Jake Paul's life as a Vine sensation-turned-YouTuber-turned professional boxer. Digging into his family (and his older, also famous brother, Logan), his career and the many differing opinions of the sports world, "Problem Child" looks to unpack whether Jake, at 26, is "the boxing world's new savior or a "delusional" promoter who packs more punch in his marketing skills than in his right hand" (Netflix). Directed by Andrew Renzi ("The Benefactor," 2015), the series is executive produced by Howard Owens ("30 Days"), Ben Silverman ("The Office"), Isabel San Vargas ("American Song Contest"), Chapman Way ("Wild Wild Country") and Maclain Way ("The Lionhart," 2023).

"The Lost Flowers of Alice Hart" - Season 1

Set in Australia, the new drama series "The Lost Flowers of Alice Hart" premieres on Prime Video, Friday, Aug. 4. Based on the book of the same name by Molly Ringland, "Lost Flowers" tells the emotional story of Alice Hart (played in childhood by Alyla Browne, "Nine Perfect Strangers," and in adulthood by Alycia Debnam-Carey, "Fear the Walking Dead), who tragically loses her parents in a mysterious fire at nine years old. Moving to Thornfield flower farm to live with her grandmother June (Sigourney Weaver, "Alien," 1979), Alice learns that there are secrets within secrets about her and her family's past. Spanning decades, the series follows Alice's journey as she grows from her complicated past and fights for her future. Written for the screen by Sarah Lambert ("Love Child"), the series also stars Frankie Adams ("The Expanse"), Leah Purcelle ("Wentworth"), Asher Keddie ("Offspring"), Jack LaTorre ("Little Monsters," 2019), Sebastián Zurita ("In the Name of Love") and Shareena Clanton ("Wentworth").

"Heaven Can Wait" (1978)

The 1978 sports fantasy film "Heaven Can Wait" is now available to stream on Prime Video. From directors Warren Beatty ("Reds," 1981) and Buck Henry ("Get Smart"), the film is the second film adaptation of Harry Segall's play of the same name – the first being "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" (1941) – and stars Beatty himself as Joe Pendleton: A quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams football team, barreling towards his first Super Bowl. When his over-eager guardian angel takes him to the afterlife too early, however, Joe's path to the big game proves to be just a little more complicated. If he wants to make it to the Super Bowl, Joe must find a new body to inhabit in order to keep living his life. Written by Beatty, Segall and Elaine May ("A New Leaf," 1971), "Heaven Can Wait" also stars James Mason ("A Star Is Born," 1954); Julie Christie (Doctor Zhivago," 1965); Jack Warden ("12 Angry Men," 1957); Charles Grodin ("King Kong," 1976); Dyan Cannon ("Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," 1969); Vincent Gardenia ("Moonstruck," 1987); Joseph Maher ("In & Out," 1997); Hamilton Camp ("Almost Heroes," 1998); Stephanie Faracy ("Mike and Dave Need Wedding Dates," 2016); Jeannie Linero ("The Godfather," 1972); Arthur Malet ("Mary Poppins," 1964); Henry himself and more.

"Dances With Wolves" (1990)

Starring, directed and produced by Kevin Costner ("Yellowstone"), as this A-lister's directorial debut, "Dances with Wolves" (1990) will be available to stream on Prime Video as of Monday, July 31. Based on the 1988 novel of the same name, from author Michael Blake, this film adaptation (also written by Blake) tells the story of Union army Lieutenant John J. Dunbar (Costner), who, while traversing the American frontier in search of a military post, meets and lives alongside a group of Sioux people. In order to survive, Dunbar must learn the language needed to communicate, learn local customs, and gain both understanding and respect for his fellow man. In return, the group offers him protection, and after a while, even the potential for romance, making Dunbar question everything he knows – even his own purpose. A sprawling, nearly-four-hour epic of a film, this Western also stars Mary McDonnell ("Battlestar Galactica"); Graham Greene ("The Green Mile," 1999); Rodney A. Grant ("Ghosts of Mars," 2001); Floyd Red Crow Westerman ("Hidalgo," 2004); Tantoo Cardinal ("Wind River," 2017); Robert Pastorelli ("Beverly Hills Cop II," 1987); Charles Rocket ("Dumb and Dumber," 1994); Maury Chaykin ("My Cousin Vinny," 1992); Jimmy Herman ("North of 60"); Michael Spears ("Into the West"); Tom Everett ("Air Force One," 1997) and more.

In a quiet, sleepy town, two women sharing the same name are found murdered with no apparent connection between them. Perplexed by the bizarre circumstance, police Chief Jordan Sanders (Hamm) investigates the murders alongside local Deputy Reddy (Mohammed), gaining little insight from the guarded locals. Quickly in over his head, the lawman's only ally is nosy neighbor Rita (Fey), eager to assist in the investigation. Sparks fly between the pair as they dig deeper into the case, which reveals a web of small-town lies and a community filled with bumbling criminal masterminds.

Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 3

The Marvel Cinematic Universe's favorite space family, the Guardians of the Galaxy, return for their final adventure together as they fight to stop the ruthless ambitions of The High Evolutionary (Iwuji). After a surprise attack at Knowhere, the team's headquarters, Rocket (Cooper) is gravely injured, forcing the remaining Guardians — Star-Lord (Pratt), Gamora (Saldana), Drax (Bautista), Nebula (Gillan), Mantis (Klementieff) and Groot (Diesel) — to race against time to save their friend. Unable to save Rocket after learning he was implanted with a kill switch during his torturous upbringing, the Guardians unknowingly return him to the care of the brutal scientist who created him, The High Evolutionary. Complicating matters even further, the Guardians are being pursued by "perfect" warrior Adam Warlock (Poulter), who is intent on revenge against the Guardians.

"Poisoned: The Dirty Truth About Your Food" debuts on Netflix

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Secrets from the grocery aisles will be revealed when "Poisoned: The Dirty Truth About Your Food" makes its streaming debut, Wednesday, Aug. 2, on Netflix.

The film, helmed by director Stephanie Soechtig ("The Devil We Know," 2018), dives into the detailed findings of the 2011 book "Poisoned: The True Story of the Deadly E. Coli Outbreak That Changed the Way Americans Eat," by author Jeff Benedict, looking at the safety protocols surrounding American food. Soechtig — who is no stranger to the documentary format — goes deeper into the food industry than ever before, having previously worked on features such as "Tapped" (2009), which examines the water bottle industry, and "GMO OMG" (2013), answering questions about genetically modified organisms.

This feature, according to a description from the Tribeca Film Festival, "provides tips on what to avoid at the supermarket, demystifies the tangle of regulations that govern what we eat, and tells the stories of families who have lost loved ones to foodborne illness. This is a film that will make you think about what's on your plate and how it got there in eye-opening new ways."

They continue to explain that "foodborne pathogens kill around

Stephanie Soechtig, director of "Poisoned: The Dirty Truth About Your Food"

3,000 people in the U.S. every year and hospitalize hundreds of thousands more. Romaine lettuce, cantaloupe, sprouts ... all have been at the center of outbreaks [that] have become alarmingly frequent in recent years. Their solutions are simple, but protections are scattershot, with little bureaucratic will to enforce them." They go on to promise that "Poisoned" will "[hold] the public and private influences behind these decisions to account, beginning with the Jack In the Box E. Coli outbreak of 1992-1993 and continuing to the present day."

Of the film, author Jeff Benedict said: "Turning this story into a film has been a writer's dream. Grateful to Bill and Julie Marler for trusting me with their odyssey (I didn't expect to find a love story when I set out to write about a foodborne illness outbreak)," he teases, then adding: "Lucky to have worked with Ross Dinerstein and his great filmmaking team at Campfire Studios."

From executive producers Rebecca Evans ("The Way Down"), Ross Girard ("A Glitch in the Matrix," 2021) and Benedict himself, "Poisoned: The Dirty Truth About Your Food" premieres Wednesday, Aug. 2, on Netflix.

"Reservation Dogs" - Season 3

The Rez Dogs are back and diving into one last adventure together: the third and final season of FX's "Reservation Dogs" premieres Wednesday, Aug. 2, on Hulu. The series follows the exploits of Elora Danan (Devery Jacobs, "The Order"), Bear Smallhill (D'Pharaoh Woon-A-Tai, "Only the Good Survive," 2023), Willie Jack (Paulina Alexis, "Ghostbusters: Afterlife," 2021) and Cheese (Lane Factor, "The Fabelmans," 2022) — four Indigenous teenagers from rural Oklahoma. This season, the friends find themselves stranded in California after their trip in Season 2, and now they have to figure out a way to get back home. "After making it back to Okern, Elora considers the idea of college, Bear comes across a conspiracy theorist named Maximus [Graham Greene, "The Green Mile," 1999], Willie Jack grows more invested in healing her community, and Cheese, well, he still lives with his grandmother who's not his grandmother. Meanwhile, the aunties, uncles and elders explore their pasts and try to heal old wounds." (per FX). This season also stars Zahn McClarnon ("Dark Winds") as tribal cop Big; Gary Farmer ("Resident Alien") as Uncle Brownie; Wes Studi ("Penny Dreadful") as Bucky; Kaniehtiio Horn ("Letterkenny") as Deer Lady; Sarah Podemski ("Resident Alien") as Bear's mom, Rita; Tamara Podemski ("Coroner") as Rita's cousin Teenie; Jon Proudstar ("Deep Woods," 2022) as Willie Jack's dad, Leon; Lily Gladstone ("Killers of the Flower Moon," 2023) as Daniel's mom, Hokti; Richard Ray Whitman ("Drunktown's Finest," 2014) as Old Man Fixico, the medicine man; Kirk Fox ("Jury Duty") as Kenny Boy; Jana Schmieding ("Rutherford Falls") as Bev; and Lil Mike and FunnyBone (both from "America's Got Talent") as rap duo Mose and Mekko. The series is co-created by Sterlin Harjo ("Barking Water") and Taika Waititi ("What We Do in the Shadows").

"Breeders" - Season 4

The fourth and final season of the FX comedy-drama series "Breeders" makes its streaming debut on Hulu, Tuesday, Aug. 1. The new season catches up with the Worsley family, five years after the dramatic end of Season 3, bringing in some major life changes with it. While parents Paul (Martin Freeman, "The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey," 2012) and Ally (Daisy Haggard, "Back to Life") face down some of their biggest parenting challenges ever, an 18-year-old Luke (Oscar Kennedy, "Ladhood") drops a bombshell as Christmas that changes everyone's lives forever. Meanwhile, a 16-year-old Ava (new talent Zoë Athena) experiences her own life-changing bombshell when she meets a new love interest. Closing out the series with 10 new episodes, "Breeders" comes from creators Chris Addison and Simon Blackwell (both of "The Thick of It") and also stars Alun Armstrong ("Frontier") and Joanna Bacon ("Him & Her").

"Demons and Saviors"

The new three-part true crime docuseries "Demons and Saviors" premieres on Hulu, Thursday, Aug. 3. The series explores the remarkable story of Christina Boyer, who, once known as the "poltergeist girl," is now a woman convicted of murdering her three-year-old daughter. Now 30 years into a life sentence in prison, Christina still maintains that she's innocent — drawing the attention of a group of amateur sleuths who've become obsessed with getting her exonerated. As "Demons and Saviors" digs into Christina's troubled upbringing and her alleged telekinetic abilities, it digs deeper into the questions that remain surrounding the death of her daughter: trying to parse out what is conspiracy and what is the truth. Directed by Christian Vogeler ("Danny Boy," 2016) and Alex Waterfield ("Vice"), the series features dramatic recreations starring Alomai Addams ("Bestseller Boy") as Boyer; Phillip-Charlie Daniell ("The Real Murders of Orange County") as Phillip Carr; Michael Dumas ("Killer Siblings") as Det. Mike; and Grace Diane Jensen ("Bunco Babes," 2022) as Joan Resch.

Daisy Haggard and Martin Freeman star in "Breeders"

"Sweetwater" (2023)

Experience the story of one of the most important players in the history of the National Basketball Association (NBA) when the biographical sports drama film "Sweetwater" makes its Hulu debut Friday, Aug. 4. Telling the story of Nat "Sweetwater" Clifton, one of the first ever Black American players to sign a contract with the NBA (within days of Earl Lloyd of the Washington Capitols and Chuck Cooper of the Boston Celtics). Following his journey from Harlem Globetrotter to his career with the New York Knicks (beginning in 1950), "Sweetwater" tells the historic story of a major turning point for professional basketball. Directed and written by Martin Guigui ("The Unhealer," 2020), the film stars Everett Osborne ("Sistas") as Sweetwater; Cary Elwes ("Mission: Impossible - Dead Reckoning Part One," 2023) as Ned Irish; Jeremy Piven ("Entourage") as Joe Lapchick; Kevin Pollak ("The Usual Suspects," 1995) as Abe Saperstein; Richard Dreyfuss ("Jaws," 1975) as Maurice Podoloff; NBA player Bobby Portis Jr. as Earl Lloyd; and Joshua King Brooks ("A House Divided") as Chuck Cooper.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: What's the story on the release of "Killers of the Flower Moon"? It's been listed as coming soon on my streaming service for ages, and I had heard it was finished a long time ago. So what's the holdup?

A: There are, apparently, three separate holdups keeping Martin Scorcese's new epic, "Killers of the Flower Moon," from your screen.

Firstly, Scorcese ("Goodfellas," 1990) is known to be a painstaking editor. Though, as you say, filming wrapped in 2021, Variety magazine reports that the great director generally needs many more months to turn raw footage into a final product he's happy with.

But even so, there was talk of releasing it in time for Oscars season last year (that is, sometime in late fall, so that it's fresh on the minds of academy voters at the end of the year). But reportedly, Apple — the company that produced the film for release on its AppleTV+ streaming service — chose to delay that. It wanted to release another of its awards-bait dramas, "Emancipation," starring Will Smith ("Men in Black," 1997), in that window instead. That's the second holdup.

(Incidentally, the ploy failed: "Emancipation" didn't receive a single Oscar nomination.)

So "Killers of the Flower Moon" will now be released in October this year, right in the middle of this year's awards window.

That means that the requirement that Scorcese movies always be released in Oscar season is the third holdup.

Because if, Scorcese's editing requirements aside, it could have been released last fall instead, logically it could have been released any time since then, too. But we're stuck waiting until the fall.

To be fair, Scorcese is a pretty good bet for getting Academy Awards attention — he's received 14 nominations so far.

Q: What has Coby Bell been doing lately? He seemed poised for real stardom after "Burn Notice."

A: When the light-touch spy drama "Burn Notice" ended in 2013, Coby Bell (who played Jesse Porter, a late addition to the show's team of on-the-outs secret agents) went looking for his new TV home. After a few false starts, he seems to have found it in the modern-day Wild West.

Bell is now part of the supporting ensemble of The CW's "Walker," the high-profile reboot of the CBS classic "Walker, Texas Ranger."

He plays Larry James, Walker's former partner who's now a captain of the Texas Rangers.

"Walker" has been renewed for a fourth season (premiere date to be announced), so it seems Bell will have a home in Texas for quite some time to come.

His first attempt at finding a home post-"Burn Notice" came on "The Gifted," a relatively short-lived superhero show from Matt Nix, who also created "Burn Notice."

That ran for two seasons on Fox, from 2017 to 2019. That must have seemed like a big disappointment to all involved, since it was a Marvel Comics property, and those are usually guaranteed hits.

After that ended, he joined the cast of the CBS hit "SEAL Team," but left after less than a full season — seemingly to take on the bigger role in "Walker."

But throughout all of this, there has been "The Game." You asked what Bell has been doing since "Burn Notice," but Bell was on "The Game" way longer — before and after joining the higher-profile spy drama.

"The Game" started as a spinoff of The CW's "Girlfriends" but ended up outlasting it. It revolved around a group of women who had relationships with professional football players, and Bell was one of the players. He was part of the cast for all nine seasons, from 2006 to 2015, and reprised his role for a couple of episodes of the reboot that debuted in 2021.

Q: Now that "Inventing Anna" is over, does Anna Chlumsky have anything new lined up?

A: Not yet, but since her career revival courtesy of HBO's "Veep" (after a successful child-star acting career), she's been hugely in demand, so something's bound to come up.

Of course, I'm not counting her ongoing voice role on the rebooted "Rugrats" cartoon on Paramount+, mostly because it isn't new. She's been doing that since 2021, before the highly talked about miniseries "Inventing Anna" debuted in 2022. She voices Charlotte Pickles, mother of a couple of the titular rugrats.

I'm also not counting "A Really Good Day," a proposed TV series Chlumsky was attached to back in 2019 but which seems to have stalled since then. It was an adaptation of the book of the same name — a memoir of the author's attempts to use LSD (acid, in drug slang) as a mood medication.

Chlumsky was in line to star in the show, which would have aired on Showtime. But nothing's been seen or heard of the show since 2019, so it's unlikely to be going ahead at this point.
