Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

Today [Aug. 7] is a significant day for our economy because it was just midnight last night, [President] Trump’s latest round of tariffs took effect. So, I hope you remembered to set your clocks back to more expensive.

These tariffs are huge. The size of the hugeness? Big. They raise the import taxes to the highest level since the Great Depression. Never a great sign to be compared to the worst thing ever. Safety standards here at the nuclear power plant are at the lowest level since Chernobyl.

Another country Trump is punishing with 50% tariffs is Brazil, which is bad news for meat-based Americans because in the first six months of this year, Brazil sent the U.S. over 180,000 tons of beef. Do you know how much beef that is? That is almost one whole Jason Momoa.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

Well, guys, President Trump announced that in a few days, he’s going to meet with Vladimir Putin in Alaska. Yeah. Putin has come all the way to the U.S. to meet with Trump. He was like, “Oh, this could have been a hacked email.”

Some more news from the White House today [Aug. 11]. Trump announced that he might classify marijuana as a less dangerous drug. Apparently, Trump made the decision after meeting with the CEOs of Papa John’s, White Castle and Taco Bell.

I saw that Air India has apologized after a few small cockroaches were found on one of their flights. Spirit Airlines was like, “One of your flights? What’s your secret?” And Southwest was like, “Yeah, that’s why we call it the cockpit.”

Jimmy Kimmel Live! With Nicole Byer

Welcome to “Jimmy Kimmel Live!” I’m your guest host, Nicole Byer. I am thrilled to be filling in for Jimmy once again, and I truly mean this. I host 300 shows, and of the shows I host, this is so like one of them.

I also host a bunch of podcasts and “Nailed It” on Netflix. It’s the only baking show that proves that there are hundreds of Americans who can’t mix flour and water and yet they’re still allowed to vote.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

President Trump hosted a peace summit on Friday [Aug. 8] at the White House with the leaders of Armenia and Azerbaijan. Oh, my God, he wants a Nobel Peace Prize so bad he’s just going through countries alphabetically.

Papa John’s has announced plans to roll out a new pizza delivery tracking service for all locations, because when a Papa John’s pizza is coming to your house, you want plenty of warning.

AOL has announced that next month it will discontinue its dial-up internet service. And if you just said, “Awww,” it’s time to schedule your colonoscopy.

More than 'Murders in the Building': Leoni joins expanding mystery series

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

After four complete seasons of Manhattan-based murder and mayhem, one has to wonder if perhaps the residents of the Arconia should just move. Nevertheless, Charles (Steve Martin, "Cheaper by the Dozen," 2003), Oliver (Martin Short, "SCTV") and Mabel (Selena Gomez, "Emilia Perez," 2024) have stuck it out this far, and when their doorman turns up dead, the crime-loving trio knows better than to accept it as an accident.

Thus begins Season 5 of Hulu's "Only Murders in the Building," premiering Tuesday, Sept. 9, on Disney+ and Hulu.

When "Only Murders" first appeared on the streamer in late summer 2021, it immediately garnered a 100% rating on the RottenTomatoes.com Tomatometer, a metric used to quantify critics' opinions regarding various specific films and TV series. Forty episodes and seven Primetime Emmys later, "Only Murders" still holds an average Tomatometer reading of 97% across all four seasons.

Hoping for another hit season as it crosses the 50-episode threshold, Season 5 of "Only Murders" continues its longstanding tradition of packing big-name talent into the cast. This year's big addition — teased, as most new cast members are, during the previous season's finale — is "Madam Secretary" and "Spanglish" (2004) star Téa Leoni.

"I think she's the great tease at the end of the finale and a little bit of an intriguing bump forward," co-creator John Hoffman ("Grace and Frankie") told Deadline of Leoni's role in the Season 4 finale.

Selena Gomez and Martin Short in "Only Murders in the Building"

"She's an extension of the little news report in Episode 9 that Mabel makes note of at the hospital," Hoffman elaborated, adding that Leoni's character, Sofia Caccimelio, "is the wife of the Dry Cleaning King of Brooklyn, and maybe a couple of dry cleaning outlets in Manhattan, as well."

And while dry cleaners are not typically considered to be dangerous, the Caccimelios do have ties to organized crime within the Big Apple and are particularly intertwined with the Caputo crime family mentioned at least once throughout the series to date. As for whether the Caputo family has any further connection to previous murders in the series, that remains to be seen, but we wouldn't rule anything out just yet.

As is always the case for "Only Murders in the Building," however, Hoffman reiterates that much of the risk is simply "involved in helping" to solve the crimes, but he made sure to add that "there are some moves that might come in Season 5 that change the whole equation."

A major component of that equation this season is the death of beloved Arconia doorman Lester, played over the course of 20 episodes by Teddy Coluca ("The Blacklist"). To add insult to injury (or death, as the case would have it), the fountain where Lester's body was dumped was the very same one he had decreed as lucky during his own Arconia terrace wedding decades before the building's growing reputation for murder.

As described by Hulu Press, Charles, Oliver and Mabel's newest case "plunges them into the shadowy corners of New York and beyond — where the trio uncovers a dangerous web of secrets connecting powerful billionaires, old-school mobsters and the mysterious residents of the Arconia."

The more they dig, the more the friends and podcasters discover that

New York is evolving into a metropolis with an entirely new identity, "one where the old mob fights to hold on as newer, even more dangerous players emerge."

And although Season 5 details are still being kept to a minimum as of writing, chances are that there will be plenty more of the series' signature flashbacks and maybe a touch of magical realism as Mabel once again casually converses with the deceased in an effort to solve the mystery.

Returning to the Arconia alongside Martin, Short, Gomez and Coluca are Michael Cyril Creighton ("Spotlight," 2015) as building resident and proclaimed cat-lover Howard Morris; Meryl Streep ("The Devil Wears Prada," 2006) as long-aspiring actress Loretta Durkin-Putnam, Oliver's new wife; Da'Vine Joy Randolph ("The Holdovers," 2023) as NYPD detective Donna Williams, who always seems to be catching up to the trio; and Richard Kind ("Argo," 2012) and Nathan Lane ("The Producers," 2005) as recurring guest characters Vince Fish and Teddy Dimas, respectively.

Joining Leoni in the so-called "newcomers club" meanwhile, are Renée Zellweger ("Bridget Jones's Diary," 2001), Christoph Waltz ("Inglourious Basterds," 2009), Keegan-Michael Key ("Let's Be Cops," 2014), Logan Lerman ("We Were the Lucky Ones"), Dianne Wiest ("Bullets Over Broadway," 1994), Beanie Feldstein ("Booksmart," 2019), Jermaine Fowler ("Coming 2 America," 2021) and Bobby Cannavale ("The Watcher").

Still, amid all the new characters and chaotic plot twists, it's nice to know that the show has achieved a level of stability that is relatively uncommon in the fickle world of streaming — something Hoffman attributes to the reflective, conversational tone of the show.

"The 'meta' nature of it ... seems to be one constant theme for the show," Hoffman told Deadline while promoting Season 5. "The part of it that really surprises me is that it's able to hold so much. ... I can't believe the way in which these three can find their ways comedically and dramatically but also hold ... all of that meta 'wink-wink.'"

Don't miss your chance to solve another murder with Charles, Oliver and Mabel when Season 5 of "Only Murders in the Building" begins Tuesday, Sept. 9, on Disney+ and Hulu.

Mother vs. 'Girlfriend': Frances thriller series adaption debuts on screen

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

We've all heard phrases such as "mother knows best" and "a mother is a son's first true love," but what happens when these heartfelt and innocent sentiments are taken to the extreme? Worse yet, what if a mother spots her son in danger but is helpless to stop the inevitable from occurring?

These questions are at the heart of the unsettling new Prime Video limited series "The Girlfriend," which premieres Wednesday, Sept. 10, on the Amazon-owned streaming service.

Based on Michelle Frances' thrilling debut novel of the same name from 2017, "The Girlfriend" follows Laura (Robin Wright, "House of Cards"), a woman who seemingly has it all — from her glittering career, to her loving husband Howard (Waleed Zuaiter, "London Has Fallen," 2016) and her precious son Daniel (Laurie Davidson, "Will").

However, Laura's "perfect life begins to unravel when Daniel brings home Cherry [Olivia Cooke, "House of the Dragon"], a girlfriend who changes everything," reads the official description from Amazon MGM Studios. "After a sexy introduction, Laura becomes convinced Cherry is hiding something. Is she a manipulative social climber, or is Laura just paranoid? The truth is a matter of perspective."

First announced by Prime Video in May 2024, filming for the series began in London (where five episodes are reportedly set) the following month and moved to the sunny Costa del Sol in Spain (where one episode is set) — Malaga, Ronda and Marbella, in particular — in early October of the same year. In addition to her work leading the series with Cooke, Wright also serves as series director and as an executive producer alongside Imaginarium's John Cavendish, Will Tennant and Phil Robertson (all of whom worked on "The Ritual," 2017), as well as author Frances, to name a few.

"I'm thrilled to be directing and acting in this wildly delicious psychological thriller filled with plot twists and surprising character turns," Wright said in a statement to the press following the series' announcement.

Olivia Cooke in "The Girlfriend"

The series' official trailer begins with a sexy interaction between the young, budding couple before Daniel asks, "So what do we do?" In response, Cherry questions, "Do I have to meet the parents?"

What follows is a gripping illustration of the suspense at the heart of the series as Cherry tries to make a good impression on Daniel's well-to-do family, all the while sparking increasing amounts of ire and distrust from his mother. While it is completely natural for a parent to question their child's choice of partner to a certain degree, the trailer shows Daniel's father, Howard, caution Laura about how doggedly she has chosen to pursue her hunch that Cherry has ulterior motives.

Atmospherically, "The Girlfriend" cuts a crisp, cool and fairly cosmopolitan cloth. Featuring several hotels, villas, bars and restaurants across Europe as well as streamlined and well-tailored outfits for its leading characters, the series is likely to appeal to fans of the "Gossip Girl" or "Succession" aesthetic. Art and art galleries also feature prominently in the trailer, leading to the assumption that class consciousness and financial status will be among the show's main themes.

Lending credence to this educated assumption is Frances' source material, which operated upon the same central themes to create a climate rife with suspicion and trepidation. Described on Amazon.ca by one reader as "a chilling, intriguing, page-turner that at its core is a novel about family, manipulation, jealousy, deception and obsession," Frances' involvement in the adaptation as executive producer signals that the overall tone and message of the series will remain true to the novel.

Upon the novel's release in 2017, fellow author Leslie A. Lindsay ("Speaking of Apraxia") interviewed Frances about her debut work, wherein Frances described her love for each of the story's female leads despite their particular obsessions and neuroses.

"I have a soft spot for both mom Laura and girlfriend Cherry, despite their bad behavior," Frances explained. "They both start from a hopeful, positive place, but jealousy and insecurity warp their perception of the situation they find themselves in, and lo and behold, things start to spiral out of control. I feel for Cherry as she's a classic victim of intergenerational unfairness ... I also have empathy for Laura's desire to protect her only remaining child from someone who she believes to be up to no good."

"The Girlfriend" also stars Francesca Corney ("Fistful of Vengeance," 2022), Simon Meacock ("Outlander"), Anna Chancellor ("Jupiter Moon"), Shalom Brune-Franklin ("Dune: Prophecy"), Leo Suter ("Vikings: Valhalla") and Ottawa's own Tanya Moodie ("A Discovery of Witches"). The series also features a musical score from highly esteemed British composer Ruth Barrett ("Victoria").

Don't miss the tension as Daniel's mother meets "The Girlfriend" when all six episodes air Wednesday, Sept. 10, on Prime Video.

Gaga dethrones Swift with most nominations for 2025 MTV Video Music Awards

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Memorable music makers: Introducing two brand-new categories — Best Country and Best Pop Artist — the MTV Video Music Awards will be broadcast live from New York's UBS Arena Sunday, Sept. 7, on CBS, with simulcasts airing on both Paramount+ and MTV.

Hosted by legendary singer-slash-actor LL COOL J ("NCIS: Los Angeles"), the ceremony marks the Video Music Awards 41st year on air, continuing the tradition of celebrating the year's most impressive artists and music videos through onstage performances, specialized honors and more, including fan-led voting in categories such as Video of the Year, Artist of the Year, Song of the Year, Best New Artist, Best Collaboration, Best Album, Best Long Form Video and, last but not least, Video for Good, an award recognizing music videos that address current social and political issues.

This year, the event's most anticipated category, Artist of the Year, features an impressive list of nominees, comprising Bad Bunny ("Monaco"), Beyoncé ("Texas Hold 'Em"), Kendrick Lamar ("Not Like Us"), Lady Gaga ("Abracadabra"), Taylor Swift ("I Can Do It With a Broken Heart"), Morgan Wallen ("I'm the Problem") and The Weeknd ("Cry For Me").

While some of the night's live performances have been announced — including Alex Warren ("Carry You Home"), Busta Rhymes ("I Know What You Want"), J Balvin and DJ Snake ("Loco contigo"), Ricky Martin ("Livin' la vida loca"), Sabrina Carpenter ("Manchild") and Sombr ("back to friends") — the aforementioned Taylor Swift nomination has left many "Swifties" wondering if the Eras Tour superstar will make a surprise appearance of her own, with less than a month before the release of her 12th album, "The Life of a Showgirl," coming Friday, Oct. 3.

Despite her ongoing popularity, Swift's two-year track record of leading the Video Music Awards with the most nominations has been broken, as Lady Gaga stuns with 12 nominations, followed closely by Gaga collaborator Bruno Mars ("Die with a Smile") with 11 and Kendrick Lamar ("Not Like Us"), who maintains an impressive 10 nominations across categories.

Meanwhile, two hitmakers from the late '90s and early 2000s — Busta Rhymes and Ricky Martin, who are both performing during the ceremony — are set to receive awards of their own, earning the Rock the Bells Visionary Award and the Latin Icon Award, respectively.

Packed with pop stars, punk rockers and all-star performers, the 2025 MTV Music Video Awards air live on CBS, Paramount+ and MTV, Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Making waking nightmares:

Making its debut as part of Shudder's 10-year anniversary (a celebration dubbed "Shudder10," offering horror fans the streaming service's "most terrifyingly ambitious slate to date," per AMC Networks), the all-new unscripted competition series "Guts & Glory" makes its debut on Shudder and AMC+ Tuesday, Sept. 9.

Hosted by Oscar, BAFTA and Emmy-winning Special Effects Artist Greg Nicotero ("The Walking Dead") — who boasts four decades of experience in the industry, delivering groundbreaking practical effects to iconic directors such as Quentin Tarantino ("Pulp Fiction," 1994), Sam Raimi ("The Evil Dead," 1981) and Martin Scorsese ("Goodfellas," 1990) — this series is said to "[flip] the script on the traditional competition show," according to AMC's synopsis, as it "blends the intensity of a horror film with the pressure of a survival game where contestants are confronted with their fears in various scenarios."

As shown in the series' trailer, "Guts & Glory" drops 10 eager competitors in the woods of Alabama, where the horrific games begin. Upon the discovery of a dead body (not a real one, of course), group members begin a terrifying journey that takes them through some of the most dreadful scenarios possible as they face icy cold morgues, soon-to-be-filled coffins, skeletons, monsters and plenty of gore.

Nicotero himself describes the competition as "if 'Survivor' and 'The Blair Witch Project' had a baby," blending unscripted content with classic horror genre narratives and tropes.

"It's one of the most creative and organic things I've ever done," Nicotero continues, "creating FX that have to happen live in real time and capturing the honest reactions ... all the while fighting to see who the winner will be. To add to the mayhem, I also got to reunite many of the key crew members from The Walking Dead Universe to help bring this show to life."

Also acting as one of the series' executive producers, Nicotero works alongside Brian Witten ("Creepshow") from Monster Agency Productions, Chris Wagner ("The Masked Singer") from White Label, Andrew Molina ("Bates Motel: The Check Out," 2017) from Salaryman and "The Walking Dead" producer Jeffrey F. January as he brings our worst nightmares to life.

Ushering in the Halloween season, "Guts & Glory" makes its debut on Shudder and AMC+ Tuesday, Sept. 9.

Miranda Cosgrove and Pierson Fode star in "The Wrong Paris"

By Kimberly Tremblay
TV Media

"The Wrong Paris" (2025)
Buckle up! Love is taking a detour. Coming Friday, Sept. 12, to Netflix, "The Wrong Paris" (2025) follows Dawn (Miranda Cosgrove, "iCarly"), as she chases a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to attend art school in France. Hoping for a free ride, she sweet talks her way onto the Honeypot dating show — only to find out it's not set in France, but in Paris, Texas, thanks to a ratings stunt. Stuck in the wrong Paris and desperate to not miss her shot, Dawn plots to get kicked off the show ... until an unexpected connection with bachelor Trey (Pierson Fode, "Based on a True Story") complicates everything. Starring Madison Pettis ("Five Points"), Yvonne Orji ("Night School," 2018), Torrance Coombs ("Reign") and Christin Park ("Charmed"). "The Wrong Paris" is directed by Janeen Damian ("Irish Wish," 2024), written by Nicole Henrich ("House Hunters: Outside the Box") and executive produced by Cosgrove and Vince Balzano ("The Princess Switch," 2018).

"aka Charlie Sheen"

For the first time, actor Charlie Sheen ("Two and a Half Men") tells his story on his own terms in "aka Charlie Sheen," premiering Wednesday, Sept. 10, on Netflix. Directed by Andrew Renzi ("Untold: Jake Paul the Problem Child"), "aka Charlie Sheen" is a two-part documentary telling the story of winning, losing and the cost of survival under Hollywood's brightest spotlights and darkest shadows. The film traces Sheen's meteoric rise, headline-making falls and personal battles that became public spectacles. Now seven years sober, Sheen speaks candidly about his early years growing up in Malibu, his rise to stardom and the dramatic collapses that unfolded in public view. Across both episodes, he addresses long-standing rumors and reflects on chapters of his life rarely discussed publicly, revealing the man behind the headlines with new honesty and insight. Featuring interviews with Sheen's ex-wives Denise Richards ("Love Actually," 2003) and Brooke Mueller ("Super Heroes: The Movie," 2021), his brother Ramon Estevez ("Anne of Green Gables," 2016), former "Two and a Half Men" co-star Jon Cryer and longtime friends Heidi Fleiss ("Pauly Shore Is Dead," 2003), Sean Penn ("Mystic River," 2003) and Chris Tucker ("Rush Hour," 1998). The series is executive produced by Toby Emmerich ("The Butterfly Effect," 2004).

Saturday, September 6, 2025

"The Walking Dead: Daryl Dixon" - Season 3

In a world of the dead, they fight for the living. Season 3 of "The Walking Dead: Daryl Dixon" premieres this Sunday, Sept. 7, on AMC+, and available to stream on Prime Video via the AMC channel. A spinoff to the fan-favorite The Walking Dead series, "The Walking Dead: Daryl Dixon" follows Daryl (Norman Reedus, "Ride with Norman Reedus"), who washes ashore in France and struggles to understand how he got there and why. As he travels across a broken but resilient France, he is hopeful he will find a way back home. As he makes the journey, though, the connections he forms along the way complicate his plan. In Season 3, Daryl and Carol (Melissa McBride, "The Mist," 2007) continue their journey to return home to the ones they love. As they struggle to find their way back, the path takes them farther astray, leading them through distant lands with ever-changing and unfamiliar conditions as they witness the various effects of the Walker apocalypse. Starring Louis Puech Scigliuzzi ("Show Me More"), Romain Levi ("Franklin") and Clemence Poesy ("Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows - Part 1"). Based on the "The Walking

Chef David Chang keeps it real in Season 3 of 'Dinner Time Live'

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Hosted by "Ugly Delicious" star David Chang, alongside co-host and "Voice of the Internet" Chris Ying ("Superhot: The Spicy World of Pepper People"), the one-of-a-kind, in-real-time cooking show "Dinner Time Live With David Chang" has returned for a third season, with new episodes premiering live each and every Tuesday on Netflix.

"World-renowned chef David Chang has plenty of experience cooking on camera — and that's why he knows that 99% of what you see at home is a lie," says Netflix. "Now he's ready to show the world how a glorious, professionally prepared meal actually gets pulled off, without the assistance of swap-outs, food stylists, cleanup crews and well-timed camera cuts to make it all look seamless."

"This one-of-a-kind series" [offers] audiences the chance to observe a VIP cooking experience as it unfolds in real time — and all the mishaps, problem-solving and cocktail-fueled conversations that go along with it," the streamer concludes.

Broadcasting straight from Chang's downtown Los Angeles kitchen, the show features a rotating cast of celebrity dinner guests, who join Chang, Ying and other culinary masterminds during the preparation of elaborate (yet approachable) meals.

David Chang hosts "Dinner Time Live With David Chang"

While Season 2 saw an impressive rotation of special guests — including Chelsea Lazkani ("Selling Sunset") and Eric Wareheim ("Tim and Eric Awesome Show, Great Job!"), Josh Gad ("Frozen," 2013) and singer Wiz Khalifa ("Black and Yellow"), Fortune Feimster ("FUBAR") and Rachel Bloom ("Crazy E-Girlfriend"), "Brooklyn Nine-Nine" stars Craig Robinson and Joe Lo Truglio, "Cobra Kai" stars Ralph Macchio and Jacob Bertrand, comedians Billy Eichner ("Bros," 2022) and Bobby Moynihan ("Saturday Night Live") and more — across nine, seasonally themed episodes, this upcoming return is said to offer "even more unscripted moments, real-time interaction and new twists — including live Q&As and audience-driven decisions that make every episode unique," according to Netflix.

Recently, Chang took to his Instagram (@davidchang), offering fans a taste of what's to come in Season 3 with a cheeky caption: "Back in the @dinnertimelive kitchen ... knocking off some rust ... cooking for two great guests, making food I've never made before, trying not to burn it, and somehow keeping time so we finish in 50 minutes live TV. What could possibly go wrong?" the chef teases.

A watched pot won't boil over, but a watched chef certainly might. See how chef Chang manages the pressures of live television with a brand-new episode of "Dinner Time Live With David Chang," premiering Tuesday, Sept. 9, on Netflix.

"Tempest"

Assassinations, political games, conspiracies and spies collide in Season 1 of "Tempest," premiering Wednesday, Sept. 10, on Hulu, with three episodes. From acclaimed writer Chung Seok-yung ("The Handmaiden," 2016), the series follows Seo Mun-ju (Jun Ji-hyun, "Cliffhanger"), a brilliant former diplomat and ex-ambassador to the United States who is thrust back into the dangerous world of global politics after an assassination attempt on a South Korean presidential candidate accused of being a North Korean spy. Teaming up with Baek San-ho (Gang Dong-won, "Secret Reunion," 2010), a mysterious international agent with secrets of his own, Mun-ju embarks on a perilous investigation that unravels a web of state secrets, betrayal and deception.

Saturday, September 6, 2025

As powerful enemies close in, the truth she uncovers could alter the future stability of the Korean peninsula. Directed by Kim Hee-won ("Crash Landing on You"), alongside martial arts master Heo Myeong-haeng ("The Roundup: Punishment," 2024), "Tempest" also stars Lee Mi-sook ("Untold Scandal," 2003), Park Hae-joon ("Fourth Place," 2015) and Oh Jung-se ("When the Camellia Blooms").

"Tracker" - Season 2

Based on the 2019 novel "The Never Game" by Jeffery Deaver, Season 2 of "Tracker" is available on Hulu Saturday, Sept. 13. From series creator Ben H. Winters ("Legion"), "Tracker" follows Colter Shaw (Justin Hartley, "This Is Us"), a lone-wolf survivalist and expert tracker who roams the country using his skills to solve mysteries, as he helps strangers in need and uncovers the truth—all while carrying the weight of his fractured family history. Season 1 concluded with Colter investigating the disappearance of two amateur storm chasers after the local police dismissed it as an accidental drowning. Season 2, however, finds Colter pulled into even more dangerous and personal cases, starting with his investigation on the strange disappearance of a family in the Arkansas backwoods, where a shocking revelation about the mother's past entangles him in the ruthless world of organized crime. From missing persons to criminal conspiracies, each case this season draws Colter deeper into a world where danger lurks around every corner and trust is a rare commodity. Season 2 stars Fiona Rene ("Fire Country"), Abby McEnany ("Work in Progress"), Eric Graise ("Teenage Bounty Hunters") and Robin Weigert ("Smile," 2022), with Ryan O'Nan (" Fargo") as this season's executive producer.

"I Don't Understand You" (2024)

This wasn't the "killer" vacation they were hoping for. Coming to Hulu Friday, Sept. 12, Dom (Nick Kroll, "Big Mouth") and Cole (Andrew Rannells, "A Simple Favor," 2018) plan the perfect vacation in Italy, where they wish to reconnect before they adopt a baby. But their baby-moon quickly unravels, leaving them to navigate a series of unfortunate events throughout the evening... such as getting lost on the way to dinner, a storm leaving them stranded and accidentally killing a sweet elderly woman. With no cell service, mounting bodies and Candace (Amanda Seyfried, "Les Misérables," 2012) going into early labor, Dom and Cole's romantic escape turns into a night of really big mistakes. Written and directed by David Joseph Craig ("Boy Erased," 2018) and Brian Crano ("Permission," 2017), this twisted tale proves that when it comes to both parenthood and murder... nothing ever goes as planned. Starring Paolo Romano ("All Heart"), Vincenzo Gallo ("Caesar Must Die," 2012), Arcangelo Ian-nace ("Diva Futura," 2024) and Jessamine Burgum ("The Last Showgirl," 2024).

"Dead Poets Society" (1989)

An ode to passion, rebellion and the power of words, "Dead Poets Society" (1989) is coming to Hulu this Friday, Sept. 12. At the Welton Academy, a strict all-boys preparatory school, students are expected to conform to tradition and academic excellence. Everything changes when the inspiring new English teacher, John Keating (Robin Williams, "Mrs. Doubtfire," 1993), encourages them to think for themselves, embrace creativity and "seize the day." Through his unorthodox methods, students like Neil Perry (Robert Sean Leonard, "House M.D.") and Todd Anderson (Ethan Hawke, "Batwheels") discover their passions, challenge authority and confront the pressures of family and society. Also starring is Josh Charles ("The Handmaid's Tale"), Gale Hansen ("The Wolfman," 2010), Dylan Kussman ("One Tree Hill"), James Waterston ("Law & Order: Special Victims Unit") and Allelon Ruggiero ("Trent & Tilly"). From director Peter Weir ("The Way Back," 2010), "Dead Poets Society" is written by Tom Schulman ("Double Down South," 2022) and sees Steven Haft ("Emma," 1996), Paul Junger Witt ("The Golden Girls") and Tony Thomas ("The John Larroquette Show") as producers.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: I'm confused. I've been watching the new "Alien: Earth" series, expecting to see Elle Fanning, but instead there's a different actress as the lead android. Was she replaced in the cast?

A: You probably aren't the only one confused by the sprawling Alien universe — it's so big, in fact, that it's sprawled into the Predator universe. Essentially, the problem is you're watching "Alien: Earth," a TV series released last month that features an android, played by Sydney Chandler ("Don't Worry Darling," 2022), as one of its main characters. But you're thinking of "Predator: Badlands," a film slated for release in November that features an android, played by Elle Fanning ("The Great"), as one of its main characters.

Sydney Chandler stars in "Alien: Earth"

The most confusing part is that Fanning's Predator android is actually borrowed from the Alien universe — she's created by the Weyland-Yutani corporation, which features heavily in "Alien: Earth."

The two film franchises merged on screen in 2004's "Alien vs. Predator," and "Predator: Badlands" continues that tradition.

But director and writer Dan Trachtenberg ("10 Cloverfield Lane," 2016) said that in this case it was a crossover of convenience. He told Entertainment Weekly that he first decided, for story reasons, to make Fanning's character an android instead of a human. "The next thought was, wait a minute, I know a company that makes robots. And that led to the Weyland-Yutani synth of it all."

This all began way back in 1979 with the smash hit "Alien." The main antagonist of that original film (played by Ian Holm, "The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring," 2001) was an android created by the Weyland-Yutani corporation. The androids (or "synthetics," in the films' parlance) have remained a central feature of the franchise, sometimes as villains, sometimes as heroes.

Q: What is Martin Short up to nowadays? Is he going to keep doing "Only Murders in the Building"?

A: Martin Short ("SCTV") is still happy doing "Only Murders in the Building," partly because he has the chance to experiment elsewhere.

"Only Murders" returns this week with its fifth season on Hulu, but that's not the only place you can see Short on-screen these days. He's also the new host of the ABC game show "Match Game."

He said that at this stage of his career (the perennially youthful Short is 75, if you can believe it), game show hosting offers something very rare.

"It's always intriguing to try something new and know that you could potentially massively fail," he told Variety magazine a few weeks ago. "It's kind of exciting about that at this stage. Maybe not when I was 25."

"Only Murders in the Building," on the other hand, is comparatively safe at this point. It's a massive hit, and Short himself is raking in awards and praise (he was nominated for an Emmy this year). And he's a producer on the show, which means, essentially, he has the role as long as he wants it.
