Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

An eclipse is always a good opportunity to ponder our place amongst the stars, but it's also a great time to see your pets go crazy. In fact, scientists warned pet owners that their furry friends may exhibit "strange behaviors." ... It's not just pets. Experts also said that most animals would likely be confused by the darkness and start their nighttime routines. Oh! Animals have nighttime routines! [As a nature documentary narrator] "Watch as the giraffe exfoliates with a water-based cucumber cleanser, while its predator, the lion, plugs in its CPAP machine. Oh no. It forgot the distilled water."

The eclipse started its trip across America down in Texas, and CNN announced the event with this chyron: "Animals at Dallas Zoo react to total solar eclipse." Thank you, CNN. That is news you can use. I wish they'd give more animal takes on current events. I want to see "Breaking: Ring-tailed lemur reacts to RFK Jr.'s VP pick."

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

I saw that all the major networks wrote an open letter urging [Joe] Biden and former president [Donald] Trump to debate. Yep, all the major networks want to air a Biden-Trump debate. On NBC, they would present it as "Law and Order: SVU: AARP." On ABC, they would present it as "The Golden Bachelors Tell All." And on CBS, they would present the debate as "Super Old Sheldons."

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

We had a total solar eclipse today [April 8]. ... All across the country today [April 8], Americans were clamoring for the eclipse glasses. ... If you're excited about the eclipse and the sky turning totally black, wait until you hear about nighttime. It goes on for hours and it is awesome.

The last time the sun dared to pull a stunt like this was in 2017 when our then leader [Donald Trump] stared directly at it, and he said, "Not today sun. Not today." He wasn't wearing any wimpy cardboard glasses. Trump handles an eclipse the same way he does a porn star: unprotected.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

After the earthquake in New York last week [March 31 to April 6], Georgia Congresswoman Marjorie Taylor Greene said, in a post on X, quote, "God is sending America strong signs to tell us to repent." Strong signs? It was a 4.8. If that's a sign, then the F train has been telling us to repent for years.

A comic book featuring the first appearance of Superman recently sold at auction for $6 million, while a comic book featuring the first appearance of Aquaman was used as scrap paper to write down the bid.

The utility company conEdison announced this week [April 7-13] that they accidentally spilled about 1,000 gallons of oil into the Bronx River, which severely polluted the oil.

Guess 'Who's' coming to Disney: Disney+ welcomes the 'Doctor' after 60 years

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Millie Gibson and Ncuti Gatwa as seen in "Doctor Who"

Whovians got a taste of what was to come this past holiday season when "Doctor Who" premiered "The Church on Ruby Road" as a part of a selection of Christmas specials on Dec. 25, but this spring is finally time for the real deal. Now that fans of the show — and no doubt some new viewers, as well — have been introduced to the Fifteenth Doctor, played by quickly rising star Ncuti Gatwa ("Sex Education"), the TARDIS is officially preparing to take off on a new adventure through time — and from the looks of it, this may be one of the most exciting seasons (or "series," to the Brits) to date.

Series 14 of "Doctor Who" premieres Friday, May 10, on Disney+ in the United States and Canada.

Kicking off with the 305th episode in the "Doctor Who" saga, Rwandan-Scotsman Gatwa has already been turning heads and garnering great reception in the role of the extraterrestrial Time Lord, thanks to his first appearance in "The Giggle," wherein the Fourteenth Doctor, played by fellow Scot David Tennant ("Good Omens"), passed him the torch.

"He has everything he needs to be a charismatic and defining Doctor for the second Russell T Davies (RTD) era," wrote Guardian writer Martin Belam of Gatwa's performance as the Doctor in "The Church on Ruby Road."

"Gatwa oozed charm," Belham later added in his article, stipulating that, "when needed, he turned on the seriousness like a tap, looked mortally wounded at time travel being taken lightly, and totally owned the episode."

All high praise for Gatwa's performance, to be sure, but Gatwa is hardly working alone on the series. As mentioned by Belam in his Guardian piece, acclaimed Welsh screenwriter and television producer Russell T Davies ("Torchwood") is once again attached to the newest string of episodes as lead writer/showrunner. In fact, Davies wrote six of the releasing season's eight episodes, including the premiere and two-part finale (scheduled to air June 15 and 22). Other writers on the show this season include "Sherlock's" Steven Moffat, who took up lead writing duties on Episode 4, titled "Boom"; and short-film creators Kate Herron ("Rest Stop," 2014) and Briony Redman ("Forget Me Not," 2014), who co-wrote Episode 6, "Rogue."

Behind the camera, direction duties are shared by Jamie Donoughue ("A Discovery of Witches"), Dylan Holmes Williams ("Servant"), Julie Anne Robinson ("Bridgerton") and Ben Chessell ("Deadloch"), each providing direction on two episodes.

On screen, Gatwa is also in good company. Joined this season by his partner in time travel, the optimistic Ruby Sunday, played by Millie Gibson ("Coronation Street"), the pair navigate "infinite adventures across time and space in the TARDIS" (per Disney+).

"From the Regency era in England to war-torn futures," the official description reads, "the duo champion the forces of good while encountering incredible friends and dangerous foes."

With a name reminiscent of the 1967 Rolling Stones' song "Ruby Tuesday," the Doctor's cohort is described by DoctorWho.tv as "kind, curious and playful" and also carefully notes that Ruby "even has a positive influence on her mother, Carla, whose experience with Ruby inspires her to foster over 30 more children."

Carla Sunday is portrayed by "After Life" and "It's a Sin" actress Michelle Greenidge, while Angela Wynter, known for her role as Yolande in more than 400 episodes of "EastEnders," plays Ruby's nan, Cherry Sunday. Existing fans of the show will be happy to see Yasmin Finney ("Heartstopper") and Bonnie Langford ("EastEnders") return as Rose Noble and Mel Bush, alongside Jemma Redgrave ("The Beekeeper," 2024) as UNIT head Kate Lethbridge-Stewart and Anita Dobson ("EastEnders") as Mrs. Flood, but the fun hardly stops with the familiar "Who" faces.

Joining the cast for this first Disney+ season are "Torchwood" star Indira Varma as the Duchess; Lenny Rush, who last year won a BAFTA at age 14 for his role in "Am I Being Unreasonable?," as Morris; Aneurin Barnard ("Dunkirk," 2017) as Roger ap Gwilliam; Jonathan Groff ("Hamilton," 2020) in a "mysterious and exciting guest role"; and Jinkx Monsoon, twice a winner of "RuPaul's Drag Race," who takes on the enchanting role of the Doctor's "most powerful enemy yet" (according to DoctorWho.tv).

"I'm honored, thrilled and utterly excited to join 'Doctor Who,'" drag icon Monsoon said following the casting announcement. "Russell T Davies is a visionary and a brilliant writer — I can't wait to get into the weeds with him and the crew. I hope there's room in the TARDIS for my luggage!"

Other guest stars are said to include former Doctor Tennant, as well as Catherine Tate ("Starter for 10," 2006), Ruth Madeley ("Renegade Nell"), Karl Collins ("Trying") and Alexander Devrient ("All the Old Knives," 2022), among many others.

Don't miss a minute of the series BBC and Disney are marketing as "your cosmic joyride." The time jumping begins when the first two episodes of the season air back-to-back Friday, May 10, on Disney+ in North America. For those interested in across-the-pond timelines (and we all know "Doctor Who" fans love the nuances of time), the series premieres on BBC Saturday, May 11, right before the Eurovision Song Contest's grand final.

Family secrets: Sisters learn about their mother's life in 'MaryLand'

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Life's tide brings two estranged sisters ashore the Isle of Man to look into their mother's sudden death in "MaryLand." The new three-part drama miniseries premieres Sunday, May 5, on PBS. Suranne Jones ("Gentleman Jack") and Eve Best ("Nurse Jackie") star as sisters Becca and Rosaline, whose paths have diverged in adulthood only to cross again as they delve into their mother's hidden life away from home.

Mary, portrayed by Judy Clifton ("Endeavour"), is found dead on a beach on the Isle of Man. Supposedly away to Wales for a vacation with a friend, it soon becomes clear to Becca and Rosaline that their mother was much more comfortable there than the average tourist. The sisters go to the island to settle matters, while their father, Richard (George Costigan, "Happy Valley"), stays behind in England.

The sisters land on the island expecting to learn about the circumstances of the unexpected death of their mother while they wait for her to be repatriated to England to be laid to rest. What they aren't expecting is to learn about the double life Mary was living just across the water.

Starting with the house Mary was living in, Becca and Rosaline piece together a side of their mother that they never knew. The home, left to them by Mary, is filled with framed photos of her closest friends like a trail of crumbs leading to the answers Becca and Rosaline seek. These people are complete strangers to the sisters, but they must know something about Mary's life that explains her death.

It seems that everywhere they turn, the sisters walk into someone with a connection with their mother. That includes Cathy, portrayed by the legendary Stockard Channing ("Grease," 1978), who has stories to tell them about what brought their mother to the Isle of Man.

Becca and Rosaline also meet Pete, portrayed by Hugh Quarshie ("Book Club: The Next Chapter," 2023), a man with whom their mother was having an affair while away from home. Further complicating matters, Pete shares with the sisters that their mother planned to remain on the island after her death, wishing to be buried on the island. The reason behind that decision and what kept her secretly returning to this place is a generational family secret, passed on to the sisters along with the house.

"MaryLand" is not exactly the murder mystery it looks like at first glance — a woman leading a double life is found dead far from home — but rather a complex drama about sisters repairing the frayed bond between them. Becca, a wife to Jim (Andrew Knott, "Tom Jones") and mother to two teenagers, couldn't be more different than her career-focused sister Rosaline on the surface.

In a trailer for the miniseries, their differences are crystal clear in each sister's reaction to the revelation of their mother's secret life. While Rosaline appears to immediately, calmly accept that Mary had a secret life of her own, Becca lashes out at her sister's plain observation that they'd been lied to, insisting that it was more personal for her.

Whether the two chose to follow such different paths by circumstance or with intention, the sisters find themselves learning to lean on each other now that they have the truth of their mother's life laid out in front of them. The process of healing their relationship while on the island takes two steps back for every one step forward as they really get to know each other again as adults.

"MaryLand" was created by Jones and American writer and producer Anne Marie O'Connor ("Trollied"). The miniseries explores the raw feelings we all experience after losing a loved one, exacerbated by the mystery of Mary's double life. Furthermore, in an interview with The Sun ahead of the series U.K. debut on ITV last May, Jones shared that the series was inspired by her own experience with grief, having lost both of her parents. About grief, Jones said, "There's humor in it and it's not an easy, straightforward ride. You don't get a blueprint of how you're going to feel."

About creating "MaryLand" with O'Connor, Jones added, "Knowing sickness, knowing illness, knowing grief, knowing death was a huge part of it, and I think we're both really proud of how that turned out."

Jones, who was known for her work on the long-running daytime soap staple "Coronation Street" before appearing in prime-time dramas such as "Doctor Foster: A Woman Scorned" and "Vigil," brought along another former soap talent to work behind the scenes on "MaryLand." Susan Tully, who directs all three installments of the miniseries, not only starred in over 900 episodes of "EastEnders," she directed 12 episodes after she left the show.

Don't miss the premiere of "MaryLand" Sunday, May 5, on PBS.

Soccer superstars search for love in hot new reality series

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Scoring a match: With series like "Welcome to Wrexham" and "Ted Lasso" sweeping the nation and big-named celebrities making headlines just by canoodling with (American) football players, there's no doubt what viewers are hungry for: sports, romance and drama. This brand-new series marries all three; "Love Undercover" premieres its first three episodes Thursday, May 9, on Peacock.

With each journey narrated by comedian and podcaster Jared Freid ("Seeking Sublet"), this reality series follows as five different international soccer superstars begin their search for love, traveling to Los Angeles to meet single women from across America. The catch? While they know they're involved in a dating game, the women in question have no concept of their potential partner's fame overseas or their skills as an athlete. Any and all connections must be built of first impressions and first impressions alone.

In a news release regarding the show, Peacock explained: "Today's athletes are mega stars with extreme wealth, giant fandoms and lavish lifestyles. You could even call them royalty. And naturally, with any royal story, a fairytale is never too far away. 'Love Undercover' is a modern-day fairytale meets buddy comedy about an elite group of international soccer stars who come to the United States on a secret quest for true love. We'll follow them on an epic journey filled with drama, heartbreak and self-discovery."

The description continues: "Can they win over the ladies without their fame and fortune? Will they manage to keep their true identities a secret?

Ryan Babel as seen in "Love Undercover"

And will any of them fall for an American princess before inviting them back to their home countries and testing their relationships on the global stage? For these men, finding love is the No. 1 goal."

The athletes joining the experiment for its inaugural run include Premiere League stars Jamie O'Hara (36, United Kingdom), Ryan Babel (36, Netherlands) and Lloyd Jones (27, United Kingdom). Joining the trio are Olympic gold medalist Marco Fabián (33, Mexico) and football champ Sebastián Fassi (29, Mexico). Together, the men must leave their lavish lives behind, taking on secret identities to complete their dating "mission."

Packed with twists, turns and gasps galore, "Love Undercover" comes from executive producers Alycia Rossiter ("The Bachelor"), Jessica Nahmias ("Where To I Do?"), Sonya Wilkes ("Pooch Perfect UK"), Michael Krupat ("Battle of the Decades") and John Luscombe ("MythBusters"), and premieres Thursday, May 9, on Peacock.

Reality TV rodeo: They may be the best in their own right, but to be the Greatest of All Time, it takes something special. Putting familiar faces from reality TV through a gauntlet unlike any other, this all-new series — "The GOAT" — premieres its first three episodes Monday, May 6, on Prime Video and Freevee.

From the islands of Fiji to the dating pods of "Love is Blind," this reality series asks 14 television superstars — "from Bachelorettes to Housewives to Survivors to Drag Racers and everyone in between" (per Amazon MGM Studios) — to live within the gilded walls of "GOAT Manor," where they will reside alongside their competition, building relationships that could make or break their game.

All the while, the competitors will be "hosted and roasted" by comedian Daniel Tosh ("Tosh 2.0"), who presides over the house and the game itself, leading his guests in endlessly grueling challenges — over 20 of them, to be exact. As they earn and break one another's trust, battling it out in games that activate their wit, grit and spirit, the stars compete to be the audience's new favorite, with one winner eventually earning $200,000 and the coveted title of "Greatest of All Time" (aka: The GOAT).

First to be put through this series' physical, social and emotional roller coaster will be some of today's most popular reality stars from across all networks, including the likes of Tayshia Adams ("The Bachelor"), Joe Amabile ("Dancing with the Stars"), Kristen Doute ("Vanderpump Rules"), Reza Farahan ("Shahs of Sunset"), CJ Franco ("FBoy Island"), Wendell Holland ("Survivor"), Teck Holmes ("The Real World"), Justin Johnson/Alyssa Edwards ("RuPaul's Drag Race"), Paola Mayfield ("90 Day Fiancé"), Da'Vonne Rogers ("Big Brother"), Joey Sasso ("The Circle"), Jason Smith ("Holiday Baking Championship"), Lauren Speed-Hamilton ("Love Is Blind") and Jill Zarin ("The Real Housewives of New York City").

Plucked from the minds behind mega-hits such as "The Bachelor," "FBoy Island" and "The Office," "The GOAT" is produced by Elan Gale ("The Bachelor"), Bill Dixon ("FBoy Island"), Anthony Anderson ("Blackish"), Lee Eisenberg ("Jury Duty") and Howard T. Owens ("Running Wild with Bear Grylls"), and premieres Monday, May 6, on Prime Video and Freevee.

"Mother of the Bride" (2024)

What happens when the guy your daughter is marrying turns out to be the son of your ex? Well, hilarity ensues. Netflix's newest romantic comedy, "Mother of the Bride," premieres on the streamer Thursday, May 9. Upon returning from a year abroad, Emma (Miranda Cosgrove, "iCarly") surprises her mother, Lana (Brooke Shields, "Pretty Baby," 1978), with news of her destination wedding in Phuket, Thailand, in a month's time. Being the loving mother that she is, Lana tries to take the surprise in stride. However, when she arrives in Thailand, Lana learns that TJ (Sean Teale, "The Gifted"), the groom, is the son of the ex that broke her heart decades ago, Will (Benjamin Bratt, "Miss Congeniality," 2000). Over the course of the wedding, Lana tries her best to avoid rekindling feelings for Will. But does their love deserve another chance? Rounding out the cast are Rachael Harris ("Lucifer") as Janice, Chad Michael Murray ("Sullivan's Crossing") as Lucas, Michael McDonald ("Mad TV") as Clay, Wilson Cruz ("Star Trek: Discovery") as Scott, Tasneem Roc ("Heartbreak High") as Camala, Dalip Sondhi ("Half Girlfriend," 2017) as Harley, Sue Swallow ("Lockdown Lifeline") as Katrina and Sahajak Boonthanakit ("Only God Forgives") as Pastor Harit. "Mother of the Bride" is directed by Mark Waters ("500 Days of Summer," 2009) and written by Robin Bernheim ("The Princess Switch," 2018).

"Bodkin" - Season 1

Dark secrets lie hidden beneath the charming exterior of Bodkin, Ireland, and it's up to a ragtag crew of podcasters to unearth the truth when "Bodkin" premieres Thursday, May 9, on Netflix. The seven-episode series stars Will Forte ("The Last Man on Earth"), Siobhán Cullen ("The Dry") and Robyn Cara ("We Die Young," 2019) as the podcasters Gilbert, Dove and Emmy, respectively. The trio set off to the titular Irish coastal town to uncover the truth behind the disappearances of three people 21 years ago. However, when the podcasters arrive in Bodkin, they are greeted with a cold reception from the townsfolk. Believing this is a sign that they're on the right track, the trio dig further — only to find themselves in over their heads. Created by Jez Scharf ("The UnDream," 2013), "Bodkin" also stars David Wilmot ("Anna Karenina," 2012), Chris Walley ("The Last Voyage of the Demeter," 2023), Seán Óg Cairns ("Find Me in Paris"), David Pearse ("The Banshees of Inisherin," 2022), Kerri McLean ("The Ritual," 2017), Peter Bankolé ("DI Ray"), Marouane Zotti ("I May Destroy You"), Charlie Kelly ("The Siege of Jadotville," 2016), Clodagh Mooney Duggan ("Dub Daze," 2019), Fergus Mulligan ("Foundation"), Pano Masti ("A Private War," 2018) and Charlotte Carway ("The Tourist").

"Maxton Hall - The World Between Us" - Season 1

Based on the first novel in Mona Kasten's bestselling trilogy — "Save Me" — the drama-filled, German series "Maxton Hall – The World Between Us" makes its worldwide debut Thursday, May 9, on Prime Video. Starring Damian Hardung ("Stella: A Life," 2023) as millionaire James Beaufort and Harriet Herbig-Matten ("Teenosaurus Rex," 2017) as Ruby Bell, a quick-witted scholarship student and classmate to James, this series follows the duo — first enemies — throughout their star-crossed romance, as they attempt to face a world of secrets, prestige and glamor side-by-side. In the description for the series, Amazon Prime writes: "When Ruby unwittingly witnesses an explosive secret at Maxton Hall private school, the arrogant millionaire heir James Beaufort has to deal with the quick-witted scholarship student for better or worse." Directed by Tarek Roehlinger ("A State of Emergency," 2016) and Martin Schreier ("Dreamfactory," 2019), this six-episode season also stars the likes of Sonja Weißer ("Tatort"), Martin Neuhaus ("SOKO Wismar"), Clelia Sarto ("Knockin' on Heaven's Door," 1997), Fedja Van Huêt ("Character," 1997), Eli Riccardi ("Mandy und die Mächte des Bösen"), Julia-Maria Köhler ("Dora Heldt"), Runa Greiner ("The Interpreter of Silence") and Andrea Guo ("Die geschenkte Familie," 2023).

"The GOAT" – Season 1

Putting familiar faces from reality TV through a gauntlet unlike any other, the all-new series "The GOAT" premieres its first three episodes Thursday, May 9, on Prime Video. From the islands of Fiji, to the dating pods of "Love is Blind," this reality series asks 14 television superstars — "from Bachelorettes to Housewives to Survivors to Drag Racers and everyone in between" (per Amazon MGM Studios) — to live within the gilded walls of "GOAT Manor," where they will reside alongside their competition, building relationships that could make or break their game. All the while, the competitors will be "hosted and roasted" by comedian Daniel Tosh ("Tosh 2.0"), who presides over the house and the game itself, leading his guests in endlessly grueling challenges — over 20 of them, to be exact. As they earn and break one another's trust, battling it out in games that activate their wit, grit and spirit, the stars battle it out to be the audience's new favorite, with one winner eventually earning $200,000 and the coveted title of "Greatest of All Time" (aka: The GOAT). Competing for the title are Tayshia Adams (The Bachelor franchise), Joe Amabile (The Bachelor franchise, "Dancing with the Stars"), Kristen Doute ("Vanderpump Rules"), Reza Farahan ("Shahs of Sunset"), CJ Franco ("FBoy Island"), Wendell Holland ("Survivor"), Teck Holmes ("The Real World," "The Challenge"), Justin Johnson/Alyssa Edwards ("RuPaul's Drag Race"), Paola Mayfield ("90 Day Fiancé"), Da'Vonne Rogers ("Big Brother," The Challenge), Joey Sasso ("The Circle," "Perfect Match"), Jason Smith ("Holiday Baking Championship"), Lauren Speed-Hamilton ("Love Is Blind") and Jill Zarin ("The Real Housewives of New York City").

"The Holdovers" (2023)

Starring Paul Giamatti ("Cinderella Man," 2005), Da'Vine Joy Randolph ("Dolemite Is My Name," 2019) and newcomer Dominic Sessa, Alexander Payne's ("Nebraska," 2013) latest, Oscar-winning film, "The Holdovers," is now available to stream on Prime Video. With a screenplay written by David Hemingson ("Whiskey Cavalier"), this heartwarming flick begins as a cranky, alcohol-dependant history teacher (Giamatti) at a snow-covered prep school is asked to remain on campus over the holidays, to supervise the campus "holdovers" — students who will not be picked up by their parents for the approaching Christmas break. As the time passes, the number of students and faculty still on grounds dwindles until all who remain are the teacher, a cook struggling with her grief (Randolph), and a wise-cracking, troubled student named Angus Tully (Sessa). Together, the trio attempt to celebrate the holidays with a little levity, despite the ever-present storm cloud hanging above their heads. Carrie Preston ("Claws"), Brady Hepner ("The Black Phone," 2021), Ian Dolley ("Spirited," 2022), Jim Kaplan ("Clara Is Awake," 2023), Michael Provost ("Fear Street: Part Two – 1978," 2021), Naheem Garcia ("Madame Web," 2024), Stephen Thorne ("Don't Look Up," 2021), Gillian Vigman ("The Hangover," 2009), Tate Donovan ("Manchester by the Sea," 2016) and Andrew Garman ("Dead Ringers") also star.

American bakers take on French pastries in new competition series

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Kicking off with a mouth-watering, 90-minute premiere episode, the new series "Next Baking Master: Paris" premieres Monday, May 6, on Food Network.

Hosted by talented and acclaimed pastry chef Stephanie Boswell, alongside French chef-slash-restaurateur Ludo Lefebvre ("Ludo Bites America"), this brand-new series — shot on location in Paris, France — offers 10 ambitious, highly skilled bakers from across America the opportunity to travel to one of the pastry capitals in the world, where they can visit iconic pastry shops and gain mentorship from renowned French baking experts.

As they travel, train and try their hand at some complicated recipes, the bakers will be asked to "prove their mettle in the pillars of great baking and pastry: technique, artistry, flavor, innovation and inspiration" (per Food Network) with each and every skill, from sifting flour to laminating dough, tested throughout this competitive gauntlet. Any who can't perform will be eliminated from the game, leaving one winner standing.

Whoever proves their talent best (and proves their croissants the fluffiest) will not only earn bragging rights but a full suite of France's top-of-the-line professional kitchen appliances and baking equipment, valued at $25,000.

Chef Ludo Lefebvre co-hosts "Next Baking Master: Paris"

Excited for his next chapter, Ludo Lefebvre shared: "Though my culinary career and restaurants brought me to the United States more than 20 years ago, I was born, raised and grew up as a chef in France. It's so cool to now welcome these competitors to Paris to live and breathe the amazing baking and pastry culture the city offers — it's the best in the world."

His co-host, Stephanie Boswell, chipped in, adding: "This Paris experience is a once-in-a-lifetime dream for the chefs. ... I know the inspiration they received by visiting the city's most renowned patisseries and meeting the supremely talented experts was life-changing for these up-and-comers."

In the series description, Food Network also shared a bit of what's to come in the season's premiere episode, promising that: "Stephanie and Ludo welcome the bakers to Paris for their first challenge: make a dessert that represents their culinary point of view while demonstrating their knowledge of French techniques. The bakers are then whisked away on a field trip to the luxurious Royal Monceau Hotel to meet pastry chef Quentin Lechat, sample his delicacies and learn about a fundamental French ingredient: cream."

From basic ingredients to brilliant finishing touches, the bakers will put their best bites to the test in "Next Baking Master: Paris," premiering Monday, May 6, on Food Network.

The Voice

5 8:00 PM

The Cleaning Lady

44 8:00 PM

The group puts the odd couple to shame, as Ramona (Kate del Castillo) considers an offer from Thony (Elodie Yung) that causes a shift in their dynamic, and Jorge (Santiago Cabrera) teams up with Nadia (Eva De Dominici) as a way to use her connections.

WPIX 8:00 PM

Reminiscent of "Cops," this action-packed series premiere offers raw and unfiltered access to various police and sheriff's departments across the U.S. as they work 24/7 to keep the streets safe. From drug dealers to car chases, the police are on the job.

FBI: Most Wanted

3 10:00 PM

Season 5 of this popular "FBI" spinoff series continues, with each new episode following as a highly-trained division of the Bureau is tasked with tracking and capturing notorious criminals placed on the "Most Wanted" list. Roxy Sternberg stars.

Joel McHale in "Animal Control"

Survivor

③ 8:00 PM

As the 46th season of this long-running competition continues, the chances of winning the million-dollar prize grows larger and larger for the remaining castaways. With only a few challenges left to face, they must take every opportunity to win.

Nature

㉝ ㊼ 8:00 PM

Under most circumstances, you would do anything to avoid contact with a grizzly bear. But Grizzly 399 is a celebrity of sorts in Grand Teton National Park. This documentary follows 399 as she raises a large litter of cubs in the spotlight.

Animal Control

㊹ 9:00 PM

Can Frank (Joel McHale) finally get the redemption he so desperately seeks from his old job in this season finale? Or has his cold heart been warmed by the fuzzy, cute and weird co-workers he spends time with? Also stars Vella Lovell and Ravi Patel.

Chicago P.D.

⑤ 10:00 PM

Every city runs on carefully constructed infrastructure, from the waterlines running underneath the streets to the dedicated civil servants walking above. A new episode airs, following as Voight (Jason Beghe) and the team keep things running smoothly.

"Black Twitter: A People's History"

Discover the origins and evolution of an influential collective of users for the platform formerly known as Twitter when "Black Twitter: A People's History" makes its streaming debut Thursday, May 9, on Hulu. Based on Jason Parham's three-part series of Wired articles titled "A People's History of Black Twitter," the three-episode documentary miniseries "charts the rise, the movements, the voices and the memes that made Black Twitter an influential and dominant force in nearly every aspect of American political and cultural life" (per Hulu). Throughout the miniseries, many different people involved with the community provide interviews, including, as stated in an article by The Hollywood Reporter, "Parham, stand-up comic W. Kamau Bell ['We Need to Talk About Cosby'], 'The Read Podcast' co-host Kid Fury, journalists Jemele Hill, Wesley Lowery and April Reign, authors Roxane Gay and Luvvie Ajayi, trans activist Raquel Willis, hashtag originators, academics, former members of Twitter's leadership and more." Directed by multihyphenate and former "Insecure" showrunner Prentice Penny, "Black Twitter: A People's History" comes from executive producers Penny, Alex Soler ("Pause with Sam Jay"), Chris Pollack ("The Walking Dead: Webisodes"), Sarah Amos ("Marvel 616"), Helen Estabrook ("Whiplash," 2014), Agnes Chu ("Spiderhead," 2022), Raeshem Nijhon ("The Hair Tales"), Carri Twigg ("Growing Up"), Nicole Galovski ("Growing Up"), Joie Jacoby ("London 2012: Games of the XXX Olympiad"), Shawna Carroll ("Ladies First: A Story of Women in Hip-Hop") and Andrew Whitney; co-executive producer Allison Klein ("Top Chef"); producers Parham, Bethlehem Dereje ("Say Her Name: The Untold Story of Breonna Taylor") and Cherice Hunt ("Ladies First: A Story of Women in Hip-Hop"); and line producer Meghan-Michele German ("Grantham & Rose," 2013).

Lundgren stars as police officer Travis Johansen, who is tasked with going to Mexico in order to retrieve an eyewitness, Rosa (Christina Villa, "River," 2017), to the murder of two undercover DEA agents. Upon trying to escort Rosa back to the U.S., Travis is attacked by the cartel. With nowhere left to turn, Travis puts his trust in Rosa's family and his old running mate, Brynner (Kelsey Grammer, "Frasier"), to help him complete his mission. Rounding out the main cast are Michael Paré ("Gone," 2012) as Tinelli, Roger Cross ("Continuum") as Hernandez and Aaron McPherson ("A Million Ways to Die in the West," 2014) as Hilts, while the supporting cast includes to likes of Rocko Reyes ("Cry Macho," 2021), James Joseph Pulido ("Chip 'n Dale: Rescue Rangers," 2022), Daniela Soto-Brenner ("Rosario Tijeras"), Jay Stratton ("Motel Acqua," 2020), Jack Lutz ("Radio Silence," 2018), Sherrie Prose ("Attack of the Unknown," 2020), Emma Krokdal ("Castle Falls," 2021), Julian Cavett ("News of the World," 2020), Molly Reid ("Forsaken Past"), Pam Moralde ("The Locksmith," 2023) and newcomers Erma Giron and Jose Trujillo. Along the way, the two are joined by experts, celebrity friends and family, who share their knowledge of the delicious cooking technique. From Propagate, the first season of "Kings of BBQ" is produced by executive producers Anderson, Cedric, Drew Buckley ("Running Wild with Bear Grylls"), E. Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: I would like to know why every time I look to see if "The Enemy Within" with Forest Whitaker is available free, it always has a price to pay. They play so many older movies on a lot of different channels. Do you know what stops them from playing certain movies?

A: The 1994 political thriller "The Enemy Within," in which Forest Whitaker plays an army colonel who uncovers a secret military plot against the president, essentially has two strikes against it.

First, it was a made-for-TV movie produced by HBO, and its broadcast rights remain with the company. And second, it was a made-for-TV movie that was produced 30 years ago.

These two factors together make it a little difficult to find.

The fact that its rights are held by HBO and its parent company, Warner Bros. Discovery, means other companies have to pay HBO to make "The Enemy Within" available to their audiences. And those companies will generally pass that cost along to you.

If you have an account with HBO's streaming service, Max, you can stream "The Enemy Within" for free online any time you want, because it's an HBO movie. However, it never gets a spot on the HBO channel because it is, after all, a 30-year-old TV movie. And, it's just not popular enough now to get that kind of airplay.

That brings us to your broader question of what stops TV providers or broadcasters from offering certain movies, and the answer is essentially the same. It comes down to broadcast rights and popularity.

A provider is generally only going to air films that it already owns the rights to, or that it has deals for. And among those, it's only going to offer the ones that it figures enough people will want to watch.

Q: Bruce Willis seems to play a cop a lot — was he ever in law enforcement?

A: Modern great Hollywood leading man Bruce Willis ("Pulp Fiction," 1994) does seem to lean towards police roles — including in his recent Detective Knight movies.

While he was never a cop in real life, as he played in "Die Hard" (1988), he was a security guard, as he played in "Unbreakable" (2000). Thus, as his "Unbreakable" antagonist, Mr. Glass (played by his "Pulp Fiction" co-star Samuel L. Jackson) told his character, he "chose to protect people."

But that was just a brief gig he took after high school before enrolling as a drama student at Montclair State University. In fact, it was always going to be acting for Willis.

Much of that acting, as you say, has been as a cop. And it's telling that he returned to type for his last few roles, taking the lead in the independently produced Detective Knight franchise, starting with "Detective Knight: Rogue" in 2022. The third — and now, it seems, final — Detective Knight film, "Detective Knight: Independence," was released last year.

I say "final" because, sadly, Willis has retired from acting since being diagnosed with frontotemporal dementia. This rare disease leads, among other things, to difficulty with the simple act of speaking.

Q: Is Don Johnson still acting?

A: It can be easy to dismiss Don Johnson ("Miami Vice") as just an '80s icon (not that that's anything to sneeze at). But he has, in fact, transitioned smoothly from hunky leading man to high-profile supporting star, and he still holds that status today.

Indeed, while some of his most famous roles came a long time ago, it might surprise you to know that in the 2010s alone, he had key roles in four different films that grossed more than $100 million at the box office: "Django Unchained" (2012), "The Other Woman" (2014), "Book Club" (2018) and "Knives Out" (2019).

But your question was if he's "still" acting, and you'll be pleased to hear the answer is yes.

He recently completed work on "Rebel Ridge," a Netflix-produced action-thriller that's just waiting for a release date. And he has two more films currently underway, though their futures seem a little more murky.

The first is "Unit 234," a thriller starring Isabelle Fuhrman ("The Novice," 2021) as a storage facility employee who finds a dead body in one of the lockers (presumably No. 234). Johnson has a yet-unidentified role and is also serving as executive producer. "Unit 234" is currently in post-production, but it's been there since 2022, with no word on a release date.
