Kevin Sussman in "Stuart Fails to Save the Universe"

A full-page photograph of actor Kevin Sussman. He is bald, has a wide-eyed, open-mouthed expression of shock or panic, and is covered in water droplets. He is wearing a dark, patterned jacket over a red shirt. He is holding a black, futuristic-looking device with both hands. The background is dark with some out-of-focus green and yellow lights, suggesting a sci-fi or industrial setting.

Late Laughs

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

This Sunday [June 14], President Trump is hosting a UFC fight on the White House lawn. Yes, Trump is the only 80-year-old yelling, "Get on my lawn!"

I just saw that Dunkin' Donuts just announced a new collaboration with Barbie. The Dunkin'-Barbie collaboration is great. You can now bend the doughnuts backwards, and a flat white will be called "Ken's Junk."

A woman in Arizona was pulled over for allegedly going over 100 miles an hour and she claimed that she was rushing home for "Love Island." Everyone in the county jail was like, "A new bombshell has entered the Villa."

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

Even the city of Los Angeles seems to have come down with a case of Knicks fever this week [June 7-13]. I will ask the question that everyone is asking today [June 11]. Did you watch that game last night? You watched it, right? Yeah, that was a crazy game. Seemed like it was going to be a blowout, seemed like a visit to the dry bar, but the Knicks somehow pulled off what statistically speaking was the greatest comeback in NBA Finals history. They're down 29 points in the third quarter and came back to win, and if there is anything we've learned from our president [Donald Trump] this week, is the only explanation for a comeback like that is ballot harvesting. We demand an investigation. The Democrats are at it again, cheating like dogs.

This was the biggest victory for the city of New York since defeating Vigo the Carpathian in "Ghostbusters II." It was huge. It leaves them one win away from becoming the champions or three games away from becoming the Mets.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

A seven-year-old in Pennsylvania recently set a Guinness World Record after putting on 50 sweaters because his dad made it very clear what would happen if he touched the thermostat!

The congressional baseball game was won last night by the Republicans, who defeated the Democrats 11-2. And I'm not saying they cheated, but I'm pretty sure there's no Senator Ohtani from South Dakota.

First Lady Melania Trump hosted an event at the Treasury Department today [June 11] to celebrate the launch of a new initiative that provides foster children with savings and investment accounts so that, God willing, none of them will ever have to marry for money.

Customs officials in Ohio recently seized more than 100 pieces of fake designer goods, including 44 Rolex watches. Authorities suspected they were fake when they were in Ohio.

An Idaho man who holds the most concurrent Guinness World Records recently set another record by juggling three flaming torches for more than six minutes. The record is expected to stand until any juggler finds out about it.

Our only hope: Infinite chaos ensues in 'Stuart Fails to Save the Universe'

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Wherever you go, there you are. Whether it is on vacation in Italy or in an alternate reality straight out of a science fiction novel, you can only be yourself, no matter where you end up. A new addition to the Big Bang Theory franchise puts one of its least-likely characters front and center, ready to be a hero. "Stuart Fails to Save the Universe," a multiverse-hopping sci-fi comedy, premieres on HBO Max Thursday, July 23. New episodes of the 10-part series drop weekly on the streamer.

Kevin Sussman ("Lessons in Chemistry") reprises his role as bumbling comic book store owner Stuart Bloom from the originating series, this time with a sci-fi twist. A new device built by his buddies Sheldon (Jim Parsons, "The Normal Heart," 2011) and Leonard (Johnny Galecki, "Roseanne") catches Stuart's eye. It looks unassuming, like a modified air conditioner, but it is more fragile than it appears, Stuart learns, when he breaks it and brings on an armed-don of alternate realities.

As it goes in any shop, you break it, you buy it; this time, though, it is reality as we know it that is broken. Forced to become a hero, Stuart steps into the web of universes he has set off and tries to find a way to restore order. Though he is not the typical kind of person who volunteers for a brave and dangerous journey, he is assured by a reliable source (an alternate version of himself) that he is the man for the job. He also gets by with a little help from his friends.

Also starring in "Stuart Fails to Save the Universe" are Lauren Lapkus ("Good Girls") as Denise, Stuart's girlfriend; Brian Posehn ("New Girl") as geologist Bert Kibbler; and John Ross Bowie ("Speechless") as the antagonistic physicist Barry Kripke. Together, the four friends travel across the multiverse in search of a fix that will undo the apocalypse. It's a tall order, but the collective knowledge of sci-fi that this troupe of lovable nerds possesses makes up for any lack of action-hero bravado.

Recurring cast members include Ryan Cartwright ("Bones") as Kyle, Josh Brener ("Silicon Valley") as Trev-

or and Tommy Walker ("Daredevil") as Gary. "Stuart Fails to Save the Universe" was co-created by Chuck Lorre ("Two and a Half Men"), Zak Penn ("The Incredible Hulk," 2008) and Bill Prady ("Gilmore Girls"), who also executive produced and wrote the series for HBO Max. Kyle Newacheck ("Happy Gilmore 2," 2025) executive produced the show and directed multiple episodes.

In the official trailer for the upcoming series, Stuart finds himself first in a "Star Wars"-esque outpost alongside Bert before running into a well-disguised Denise, who lowers her weapon and pulls off her hood once she recognizes her old friends. Settled into the new reality, Denise tells them that she's been "robbing, mostly," as they catch up, before joining Stuart's crusade to fix his mistake. The trailer offers glimpses into other sci-fi settings that the crew of friends drop in on, including a precarious icy mountain top, a fiery military battle, a warehouse occupied by sinister-looking drones and, of course, a world where they are bald and lying in a few of an infinite number of goo-filled egg pods.

The Big Bang Theory universe is almost as vast as the one Stuart unleashes, and the show promises some familiar faces as the crew members are on their quest. From HBO Max, "along the way, they meet alternate-universe versions of characters we've come to know and love from 'The Big Bang Theory.'"

One of the most successful television franchises in recent memory, "The Big Bang Theory" has produced several spinoff sitcoms since it first hit TV screens in 2007. "Young Sheldon" premiered in 2017 and aired for seven seasons before wrapping up in 2024. The series explored the unusual childhood of Sheldon Cooper — portrayed by Parsons in the original series and by Iain Armitage ("Big Little Lies") in "Young Sheldon" — and led to another prequel series, "Georgie and Mandy's First Marriage," about Sheldon's brother Georgie (Montana Jordan, "The Legacy of a Whitetail Deer Hunter," 2018).

This spinoff uses the world of "The Big Bang Theory" in an entirely new way. Placing the characters in other-worldly settings rather than fleshing out their backstories is new territory for the franchise. Lorre spoke about the big swing last June during the Banff World Media Festival, saying, "You know, for me in my career, a big production number was two people sitting on a couch, drinking coffee! This is different."

Lorre continued, "This is trying to incorporate some of that world of science fiction/fantasy into a comedy. And I'm completely out of my element, which is what I wanted. Which is what I was hoping to do, something that I had no experience with. And maybe I can learn as we go."

Hop into the portal and come along for a ride through alternate reality when "Stuart Fails to Save the Universe" premieres Thursday, July 23, on HBO Max. Stream new episodes weekly on Thursdays.

30 YEARS EXPERIENCE

'King' and country: 'King of the Hill' revival renewed until 2028

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

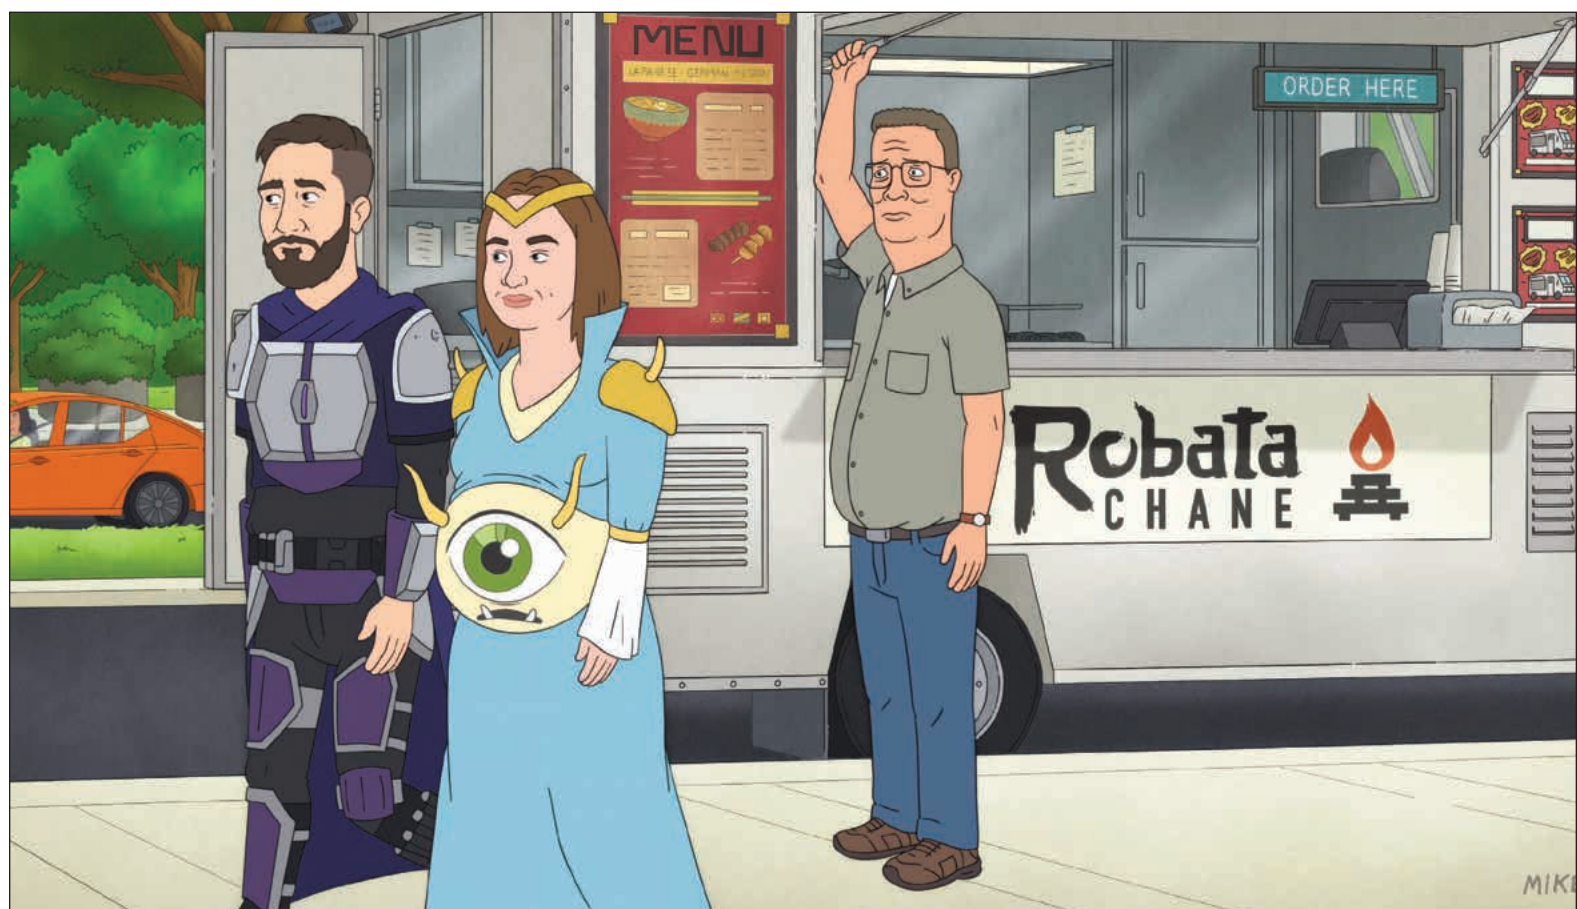

Up, it seems the old aphorism is right: "the more things change, the more they stay the same." To some degree, that statement has been central to "King of the Hill's" plot since the height of the show's fandom in the late '90s and early 2000s.

At that time, societal fears included the effects of growing internet access, the supposed inevitability of the Y2K bug and then-President George W. Bush's "war on terror." But now that the Hills have experienced life abroad and returned to Arlen, Texas, for last year's 14th season, it's fair to say that Hank (Mike Judge, "Office Space," 1999) would be the first to admit (as stated of a broken lawnmower in Season 4) that maybe "we're putting extra stress on a structure that wasn't up to code in the first place."

"King of the Hill," the twice Emmy-winning animated comedy series that has already been renewed for seasons 16 and 17, returns for Season 15 Monday, July 20, on Hulu.

Co-created by Judge and Greg Daniels ("Parks and Recreation") and first released in 1997 on Fox, where it would stay for the remainder of its 12-year run on cable, "King of the Hill" wasted no time cementing itself as the gold standard for adult animation. Although "The Simpsons" (which premiered in 1989) and "South Park" (which also premiered in 1997) are also eligible for top honors in the adult animation category, "King of the Hill" is truly unique in that the humor does not mutually cater to younger audiences. Rather than lean into bathroom humor like "Family Guy" and "South Park" or the silly, repeat-gag humor of "The Simpsons," "King of the Hill" tackles politics, religion, human rights and community expectations — essentially all the things you are not supposed to discuss at the dinner table — in a pragmatic and largely observational manner.

The series, which follows a conservative Texan family but is not itself staunchly conservative, ended its initial run in 2009. Shortly thereafter, four more episodes were released by way of syndicated television in 2010. By January 2023, Saladin K. Patterson ("The Wonder Years") had signed on as showrunner for the Hulu-commissioned revival, and a 14th season was streaming by August 2025.

"King of the Hill's" newest iteration features a greying Hank, who has returned with Peggy (Kathy Najimy, "Hocus Pocus," 1993), from a decade of work in the Saudi Arabian oil and gas industry. Settling into retirement back home on Rainey Street in Arlen, the Hills spend most of their newfound free time "attempting to keep their neighbors from going off the rails" (per Hulu's logline for Season 15).

Additionally, Hulu notes that Bobby (Pamela Adlon, "Better Things"), now visibly older and holding down a job as a chef in Dallas, "navigates old friendships while dealing with the stresses of being an entrepreneur" this season.

It's worth noting that, although there are very few details about the plot for the series' 15th season, Hulu did release a poster that contains several Easter eggs for longtime fans and a few clues for what is to come during the next 10 episodes.

"Bill (holding a plant), Hank (in a Strickland Propane jacket and holding a leash), Dale (holding two caged rats and a magnet for his beer can) and Boomhauer (with three chickens at his feet) stand in their usual spot in the alley, while Peggy and Kahn look over the fence," reads a Hollywood Reporter article from Television Business Editor Rick Porter. "Peggy is blowing her hair with a portable fan. A discarded and ragged cow stuffie is on the ground next to Bill, and the Texas State Fair mascot, Big Tex, looms in the background."

Stephen Root ("Barry"), Toby Huss ("White House Plumbers") and Ronny Chieng ("The Daily Show") return to voice Bill, Dale and Kahn, respectively, while Judge continues double duty as the voice of both Hank and his friend Boomhauer. "Futurama" and "Rick and Morty" voice actress Lauren Tom also returns as the voice of Bobby's friend Connie, while Tai Leclair ("Rutherford Falls") and Ki Hong Lee ("The Maze Runner," 2014) complete the friend group as Joseph and Chane.

According to Deadline, "King of the Hill" Season 14 "was the most viewed adult animation season premiere in five years across Disney+ and Hulu, with 4.4 million views globally after seven days of streaming." The Hollywood Reporter made similar claims, reporting that the revival "record[ed] 1.21 billion minutes of viewing time in its premiere week, according to Nielsen." With these stats in mind, it's no surprise that Hulu renewed the series for two additional seasons last October, meaning the series is now expected to run until at least 2028.

Don't miss new insights from an established animated comedy when "King of the Hill" Season 14 releases all 10 episodes on Hulu Monday, July 20.

Celebrities 'phone in' famous friends in 'Who Wants to Be a Millionaire'

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Clever(ish) contestants: Kimmel's got some tough questions to ask. Season 5 of "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire" kicks off on ABC Wednesday, July 22, seeing its comedy-loving centerpiece, Jimmy Kimmel ("Jimmy Kimmel Live!"), welcoming a new class of celebrity contestants.

This star-studded reboot of the original "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire" — revived by Kimmel in 2020, marking the show's 20th anniversary — sees its players pairing up with co-stars and colleagues to fight their way towards a $1 million charity donation. With enough trivia knowledge, charisma and pure grit, these famous duos just might make it to the next episode.

While this year's contestants have yet to be revealed, Kimmel saw an exciting parade of guests throughout "Millionaire's" fourth season, which saw "Jeopardy!" champion-turned-host Ken Jennings teaming up with Kimmel's "sworn enemy," Matt Damon ("The Rip," 2026).

Later episodes in the season saw pairings of "Saturday Night Live" cast members such as Chloe Fineman and Jillian Bell; comedians like Mike Birbiglia ("Mike Birbiglia: The Good Life," 2025) and Atsuko Okatsuka ("Atsuko Okatsuka: Father," 2025); hosts such as Drew Carey and Aisha Tyler of "Whose Line Is It Anyway?"; and co-stars like Oscar Nunez and Kate Flannery of "The Office." There should be plenty of exciting new pairings to come in Season 5.

"[This] show is a lot of fun because there's so much drama when you start getting up into the high dollar amounts," Kimmel has previously teased. "It doesn't matter who you are, it becomes very tense, especially when they're playing for charities that are meaningful, not just to them but to everybody."

"And that's one thing you don't get on a talk show: real drama and excitement. You get a lot of laughs, but you don't experience that kind of emotional roller coaster that you do hosting a game show. When you're making a joke, it's great because when it's so quiet, you can hear a pin drop. There's no better time to drop a pin," he quips.

From Sony Pictures Television's Embassy Row and Kimmelot — with Michael Davies ("Pop Culture Jeopardy!") and Kimmel serving as executive producers — Season 5 of "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire" begins Wednesday, July 22, on ABC, with all new episodes streaming the next day on Hulu.

History with Hiddleston: Experience ancient Rome through "a fusion of cinematic scripted drama and investigative documentary storytelling" (per Disney) with "Pompeii: Out of Time With Tom Hiddleston," a three-part docudrama exploring the catastrophic eruption of Mount Vesuvius making its debut on National Geographic Wednesday, July 22.

As its title suggests, "Pompeii" sees Golden Globe winner Tom Hiddleston ("The Night Manager") at the series' helm, taking part in scripted, evidence-based cinematic sequences that follow the lives of real Romans caught in Vesuvius' path.

"Following a teenage apprentice, a powerful businesswoman and a mysterious Praetorian Guard, [Hiddleston] pieces together how each confronted impossible choices as disaster loomed. As the volcano awakens and the countdown to catastrophe begins, the evidence converges in a gripping race against time to uncover who survived, who perished and what determined their fate," Disney's press release explains.

With the expert help of archaeologists, historians, geologists and disaster experts, "Pompeii" challenges long-standing beliefs about the volcano's infamously deadly eruption, offering a realistic and captivating look at Pompeii's final hours.

"The ancient world has compelled my imagination and curiosity for as long as I can remember: I've been fascinated by it all my life," says Hiddleston. "Classical Antiquity is the foundation and cornerstone of Western and European culture. To visit Pompeii is to feel the distance of the 2,000 years between now and then compress. The past becomes the present; the past feels so close. Tangible, honest and real. Our relationship with the past is alive — studying who we were in order to understand who we are."

"Pompeii is a gateway for that conversation," he concludes. "It's a privilege to host this visually immersive and dynamic series. Pompeii is often remembered for how its story ended. But by looking closer, we can uncover the details of people's lives, the choices they made, and the moments that came before the city was buried. To revisit the final hours of those ordinary people, caught in an extraordinary moment, and to help bring these remarkable human stories back into the light, is a genuine honor."

Jimmy Kimmel to host "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire?"

Seeing a continued partnership between Hiddleston and executive producer Kevin R. Wright ("Loki"), "Pompeii: Out of Time With Tom Hiddleston" premieres Wednesday, July 22, on National Geographic, before streaming the next day on Disney+ and Hulu.

"Ransom Canyon" – Season 2
Passion runs deep in this small Texas town, as three ranching family dynasties fight for their land, their legacies and the people they love. Season 2 of "Ransom Canyon" premieres on Netflix this Thursday, July 23, with Josh Duhamel ("Safe Haven," 2013) returning as Staten Kirkland and Minka Kelly ("Just Go with It," 2011) as Quinn O'Grady. Season 2 picks up six months after last season's cliffhanger, with Staten fighting to reclaim his legacy after being unseated as trustee of his family's Double K Ranch — a betrayal that runs closer to home than he'd like, since his own father has teamed up with Davis Collins (Eoin Macken, "Resident Evil: The Final Chapter," 2016) to oust him. Meanwhile, Quinn returns home after pursuing her dreams in New York City, only to discover that time and distance have complicated her relationship with Staten more than either expected. Created by April Blair ("You," "Wednesday"), who serves as showrunner and executive producer, this season also stars Lizzy Greene ("Nicky, Ricky, Dicky & Dawn," "A Million Little Things"), Garrett Wareing ("Manifest"), Jack Schumacher ("Chicago P.D.," "S.W.A.T.") and Marianly Tejada ("Orange Is the New Black").

"The Truthers" (2026)

After the death of her mother, one woman finds herself questioning everything she thought she knew about her family in "The Truthers," premiering Friday, July 24, on Netflix. After years of estrangement, Ruth (Stephanie Magnin, "Advantages of Travelling by Train," 2019) returns home following the mysterious death of her mother. There, she reunites with her father, Martin (Jose Coronado, "The Body," 2012), who is no longer the man she remembers. Retirement has turned him into someone bitter, volatile and consumed by a sinister conspiracy theory. As he becomes increasingly erratic, Ruth begins to suspect that her father might know about her mother's death than he's willing to admit. What begins as suspicion soon spirals into a tense game of cat and mouse, as father and daughter circle one another in search of the truth while hiding secrets of their own. Directed by Roger Gual ("Gangs of Galicia") and written by Carlos Montero ("The Mess You Leave Behind") and Dario Madrona ("Elite"), the film also stars Fanny Gautier ("Olympo"), Alberto Olmo ("Bad Influence," 2025), Israel Ruiz ("No One Could Live Here") and Olaya Lopez ("The Road Trip").

"72 Hours" (2026)

One accidental text message sends a desperate executive on the most chaotic weekend of his life in "72 Hours," premiering Friday, July 24, on Netflix. Kevin Hart ("The Secret Life of Pets," 2016) stars as a 40-year-old executive who is mistakenly added to a group chat planning an epic bachelor party. Hoping to save his flailing career, he joins the group of 20-somethings on a wild three-day bachelor party. As the weekend grows wilder by the hour, he'll have to decide whether he's chasing a fresh start or simply running from the life he's built. Starring Marcello Hernandez ("Saturday Night Live"), Mason Gooding ("Scream 7," 2026), Teyana Taylor ("One Battle After Another," 2025), Andy Garcia ("Ocean's Eleven," 2001), Kam Patterson ("Saturday Night Live"), Ben Marshall ("Saturday Night Live") and Zach Cherry ("Severance," "You"), the comedy is directed by Tim Story ("Think Like a Man," 2012), with a script penned by Jon Hurwitz ("Harold & Kumar Go to White Castle," 2004), Hayden Schlossberg ("A Very Harold & Kumar Christmas," 2011), Kevin Burrows ("Gentlemen Lobsters") and Matt Mider ("Gentlemen Lobsters"), with Ross Fanger ("Planet of the Apes," 2001) serving as an executive producer.

"The Wild Robot" (2024)

When a robot becomes stranded on an island, she finally finds the family she's always dreamed of having in director Chris Sanders's ("How to Train Your Dragon," 2010) 2024 animated adventure, "The Wild Robot," arriving on Prime Video this Friday, July 24. When a storm sends six robot units tumbling into the sea, only Roz (Lupita Nyong'o, "Black Panther," 2018) survives the wreck, waking alone on an island where every creature sees her as a threat. Desperate to find purpose, she accidentally destroys a goose family's nest, sparing only a single egg. As the gosling hatches and imprints on her, Roz becomes a mother, enlisting the help of a wily fox named Fink (Pedro Pascal, "The Last of Us") to raise Brightbill (Kit Connor, "His Dark Materials") and prepare him for the coming migration. Along the way, she earns the trust of an opossum named Pinktail (Catherine O'Hara, "For Your Consideration," 2006), a falcon named Thunderbolt (Ving Rhames, "Pulp Fiction," 1994) and a wise goose leader named Longneck (Bill Nighy, "Love Actually," 2003), even as her bond with Brightbill is tested by the truth of what happened to his family. When Roz's makers send a fleet of retrieval robots to reclaim her, the island's animals must decide whether to fight for the machine who taught them what family means, and Roz must decide what she's willing to risk to protect the son she never meant to have.

"Silo" – Season 3

The search for the truth expands beyond the silo. A new episode from Season 3 of "Silo" premieres Friday, July 24, on Prime Video via the Apple TV channel. Based on Hugh Howey's ("Beacon 23") bestselling trilogy, the 10-episode third season continues the story of a society of 10,000 people living underground, cut off from a world they barely understand. In the aftermath of rebellion, Juliette Nichols (Rebecca Ferguson, "The Greatest Showman," 2017) survives her ordeal outside the silo, only to return with memory loss and to find her home facing a dangerous new threat. As she struggles to piece together the truth, the story reaches back centuries to the "Before Times," where journalist Helen Drew (Jessica Henwick, "The Royal Hotel," 2023) and Congressman Daniel Keene (Ashley Zukerman, "Manhattan") uncover a conspiracy that sets humanity on an irreversible path. Spanning two timelines, this season promises long-awaited answers about the origins of the silos and the events that changed the world forever.

"The Amateur" (2025)

A grieving widower is out for vengeance in director James Hawes's ("Black Mirror") 2025 action thriller "The Amateur," available now on Prime Video. Charlie Heller (Rami Malek, "Mr. Robot") is a brilliant but painfully introverted CIA cryptographer, more at home decoding intelligence from a windowless Langley basement than working in the field — until his wife, Sarah (Rachel Brosnahan, "House of Cards"), is killed in a London terrorist attack. When his supervisors, Director Alex Moore (Holt McCallany, "Mindhunter") and Caleb Horowitz (Danny Sapani, "Black Panther," 2018), refuse to pursue those responsible, Charlie blackmails his way into training with an instructor named Robert Henderson (Laurence Fishburne, "The Matrix," 1999), who's determined to hunt down the people responsible himself. Guided by a mysterious source known only as Inquiline (Caitriona Balfe, "Outlander") and shadowed by his worried friend, field agent Jackson O'Brien (Jon Bernthal, "Fury," 2014), Charlie leaves a trail of exposed secrets as he crosses Paris, Marseille and Madrid, closing in on the mastermind behind it all, Horst Schiller (Michael Stuhlbarg, "Boardwalk Empire"). All the while, CIA Director Samantha O'Brien (Julianne Nicholson, "Blonde," 2022) grows suspicious of her own agency's true motives. Armed with nothing but his intellect, Charlie proves that a mind sharpened by grief can be more lethal than any weapon. Written by Ken Nolan ("Only the Brave," 2017) and Gary Spinelli ("Impulse"), "The Amateur" is based on the 1981 novel by Robert Littell ("Legends").

Little Miss Marker

TCM 8:00 PM

A gruff bookie, Sorrowful Jones (Walter Matthau), finds his life turned upside down when he’s given a six-year-old girl (Sara Stimson) as collateral for a bet. Julie Andrews, Bob Newhart, Tony Curtis and Brian Dennehy also star in this 1980 comedy.

The Vampire Lestat

AMC 9:00 PM

Lestat (Sam Reid) has seen his band’s popularity — and his own star power — rising in tandem with his influence over fellow vampires. But what price does an immortal man pay for temporary popularity? Jacob Anderson and Assad Zaman also star.

100 Cooks

FOOD 9:00 PM

Down to the final eight, America’s sharpest home cooks face a marathon gauntlet of breakfast, lunch and dinner, each plate edging someone closer to a $100,000 windfall. Terry Crews hosts as Alex Guarnaschelli and Nick DiGiovanni crown the champion.

WWE LFG

A&E 10:00 PM

Coach Bubba watches closely as Nathan Cranton, perhaps too hasty in picking a new ring name, headlines against the magnetic Jaime Garcia. Booker T and Harley Riggins clash over strategy, while Nikkita Lyons and Masyn Holiday push a fierce bout too far.

Goodbye Irvine

'Restaurant Impossible' takes new direction in 'Last Call' spinoff

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Longtime Food Network viewers will recognize the name "Restaurant Impossible," but its newest version, subtitled "Last Call," has a few surprises up the sleeves of its chef whites for returning audiences. Firstly, Robert Irvine, "Restaurant Impossible's" famously tough-love British-American host, will not return for the unscripted series' new edition. After hosting the series for 22 seasons across 12 years, Irvine has graciously stepped back in favor of Food Network's evolving vision.

"Restaurant Impossible: Last Call," the series spinoff hosted by Aaron Sanchez ("MasterChef: USA") and Jen Agg ("W5"), premieres Thursday, July 23, on Food Network.

According to Rogers Sports & Media, owner/operator of the Food Network's Canadian channel, the series follows its new hosts as they "operat[e] with a limited 48-hour timeframe and a $20,000 budget, [to] rescue struggling North American restaurants by overhauling dining rooms, rebuilding menus and generating local buzz."

Sanchez oversees back-of-house operations. As chef/owner of New Orleans restaurant Johnny Sanchez and founder of the Aaron Sanchez Impact Fund, an Emeril Lagasse Foundation program designed to "uplift the lives of Latino youth through food," Sanchez is dedicated to making food the center of the dining experience. It seems like an obvious concept, but creating and maintaining a functional, timely and successful kitchen is paramount to financial and reputational success (and not always simple).

Agg, meanwhile, takes care of front-of-house matters. Determined to improve the "service and vibe" of these failing restaurants, Agg uses her nearly four decades of experience owning and operating Toronto restaurants to curate a feast for the soul — from timely, polite and helpful table service to decor, glassware, crockery and overall ambiance.

The changes to "Restaurant Impossible's" brand are positive, but Irvine's presence will, of course, be missed.

"Folks and friends," begins a June 8 X post from Irvine, "I have to tell you I do miss the show and my amazing team, but Food Network has chosen a different route from the show that I built and made into a world-wide brand. I wish them luck and it's life folks ... [sic] there is no anger seriously I'm busy helping so many folks ... [love] you all."

Don't miss "Restaurant Impossible's" new direction when its spinoff series, "Restaurant Impossible: Last Call," premieres Thursday, July 23, on Food Network.

Normal

Ulysses Richardson (Odenkirk) is a weary lawman who takes a temporary assignment as sheriff in the quiet, snowbound town of Normal, Minnesota. Hoping for a fresh start after personal and professional setbacks, Ulysses quickly settles into the seemingly friendly community, where the mayor (Winkler) and residents appear eager to welcome him. The town's peaceful facade is shattered when a bank robbery spirals out of control. As Ulysses responds, he discovers that the crime is only the beginning of a much larger conspiracy. Hidden beneath Normal's wholesome image is a network of corruption involving local officials, law enforcement and an international criminal organization. Forced to question everyone he has come to trust, Ulysses reluctantly teams up with unlikely allies to survive and expose the truth.

Starbright

Aisling (Dowling) is a young orphan living a quiet life on her grandparents' rural farm while dreaming of something greater. During a rare eclipse, a mysterious star falls from the sky and the archangel Raphael (Rhys-Davies) entrusts his living light to Aisling, placing it within a locket close to her heart. Suddenly, she becomes the guardian of a powerful celestial force that attracts dangerous criminals eager to exploit its miraculous abilities. Forced to flee, Aisling joins forces with Raphael and Joshua (Boneta), a courageous stranger with a troubled past. As they race across the countryside to evade relentless pursuers, the trio discovers the fallen star's true power.

Director: Francesco Lucente. Stars: John Rhys-Davies, Diego Boneta, Alexandra Dowling, Ted Levine, Becky Ann Baker, Gbenga Akinnagbe, Tom Carey, John Westley, Christine Ebersole. 2026. 148 min. Fantasy.

Animal Farm

After failing to make mortgage payments, Farmer Jones (Serkis) attempts to sell his farm to billionaire Frieda Pilkington (Close), who plans to slaughter the livestock. A group of farm animals overthrow their neglectful owner and seize control of the farm, determined to build a society founded on freedom, equality and cooperation. For a brief period, their dreams seems within reach as the animals work together to create a better future. As time passes, however, the revolution begins to unravel. Power gradually becomes concentrated in the hands of a few, and the pigs, particularly the ambitious Napoleon (Rogen), start to manipulate the farm's rules and rewrite its history to maintain control. While many of the animals continue to believe in the original ideals, others begin to question whether their new leaders are any different from the humans they replaced. The film is adapted from George Orwell's book of the same name.

Director: Andy Serkis. Stars: Seth Rogen, Gaten Matarazzo, Steve Buscemi, Glenn Close, Laverne Cox, Kieran Culkin, Woody Harrelson, Jim Parsons, Andy Serkis, Kathleen Turner, Iman Vellani. 2025. 94 min. Animated Comedy.

Akbar Gbajabiamila co-hosts "American Ninja Warrior"

The Quiz With Balls

(12) 8:00 PM (44) 9:00 PM

Jay Pharoah hosts a new episode that sees hunters and vegetarians answering rapid-fire trivia questions in an epic duel of knowledge. Answering correctly earns the player points and safety, but wrong answers send them flying into the waters below.

Below Deck Mediterranean

Chef Joy and Aesha find themselves tested when a primary client enlists a familiar matchmaker to help her and her dog find love. Cooper, meanwhile, experiences a health scare that threatens to end his charter season earlier than expected.

American Ninja Warrior

(5) (12) 9:00 PM

From every corner of the U.S., men and women chase a single shared dream: conquering Mount Midoriyama, the planet's most brutal obstacle course. Grips slip and jumps go wrong, but the challenge is everything. Matt Iseman leads the hosting trio.

POV

(33) (57) 10:00 PM

Three bachelors check into a weeklong dating camp, where the gap between who they really are and who they pretend to be slowly narrows. The goal is the confidence to finally land a date (or two) and land a relationship in this season premiere.

Gordon Ramsay hosts “Kitchen Nightmares”

④④ 8:00 PM

Failing restaurants get one last lifeline as Gordon Ramsay storms in to drag them back from the brink, laying bare the brutal, high-pressure grind of running a kitchen. The chef returns in this season premiere to rescue more crisis-stricken eateries.

Dunkman

The planet’s most explosive dunkers throw down in a high-flying show-down, with a panel of TNT Sports analysts and celebrity judges whittling the field one jaw-dropping slam at a time until a single champion is left standing in this season premiere.

Extreme Buyers Club

HGTV 9:00 PM

House hunting takes a wild turn as one realtor takes on clients whose wish lists run far outside the ordinary, tracking down homes built to satisfy their most unusual and oddly specific demands. Buyers know exactly what they want, however strange.

Customer Wars

A&E 10:00 PM

A Georgia hotel guest melts down demanding his visitor be tossed out. At a Florida airport, police swarm a jet-bridge dustup between two sisters and a gate agent. Tempers ignite anew as everyday service turns combustible in this season premiere.

Jay & Pamela

tlc 10:00 PM

In this second season, Jay and Pamela embrace a new chapter in life. Now that they’re married and living on their own — with Cheddar the dog, of course — the couple is ready to contemplate big ideas, like potentially adding to their family.

Wednesday

Jack Whitehall hosts
"Nation's Dumbest"

The Valley

BRAV 8:00 PM

While Jesse and Michelle take a major step towards divorce, Kristen and Luke meet with a couples' therapist, hoping to find a way forward together. Zack, meanwhile, struggles with the decision to have kids with his long-term boyfriend, Benji.

The Thomas Crown Affair

Restless millionaire Thomas Crown (Steve McQueen) orchestrates a flawless Boston bank heist without lifting a finger. But insurance investigator Vicki Anderson (Faye Dunaway) sets her sights on him and their cat-and-mouse turns dangerously romantic.

Alone

HIST 9:00 PM

Survival comes down to preparation as the dwindling field scrambles to lock down food, shelter and warmth. A few crucial catches spark fresh hope, but creeping exhaustion and an approaching medical check threaten to undo every hard-won gain out there.

Nation's Dumbest

(44) 9:00 PM

During this latest episode, the remaining celebs compete in a mind-boggling lightbulb game and a challenge that has them answering questions before a balloon bursts. Later, they must team up for a spelling bee. Jack Whitehall hosts.

Million Dollar Nannies

FREEFORM 10:00 PM

Summer's end brings a billionaire family's Paris invitation, and it splinters the entire household. One nanny quietly triggers a scheme years in the making, while Sydney agonizes over an offer that might cost her a close friendship.

"Saturday Night" (2024)

Ninety minutes to airtime and nothing is ready... Welcome to the night television changed forever. Premiering Saturday, July 25, on Hulu, director Jason Reitman's ("Juno," 2007) "Saturday Night" (2024) follows the chaotic night of the premiere of NBC's "Saturday Night," later known as the hit comedy series "Saturday Night Live." It's Oct. 11, 1975, and producer Lorne Michaels (Gabriel LaBelle, "Dead Shack," 2017) is racing the clock inside NBC Studios to get the first-ever episode of "Saturday Night" on air. Cast members clash with writers, Jim Henson (Nicholas Braun, "Succession") frets over his Muppets and George Carlin (Matthew Rhys, "The Americans") questions the whole premise of the show. Just as Lorne loses hope, the cast finally takes the stage — live, unscripted and ready to make television history. Starring Rachel Sennott ("I Love LA"), Cory Michael Smith ("Transatlantic") and Ella Hunt ("Dickinson").

"Gold Rush: Mine Rescue with Freddy & Juan" – Season 6

Gold recovery experts Freddy Dodge ("Gold Rush: South America") and Juan Ibarra ("Gold Rush: Alaska") continue helping struggling mine owners in the sixth season of "Gold Rush:

Gabriel LaBelle, Kaia Gerber and Cory Michael Smith in "Saturday Night"

Mine Rescue with Freddy & Juan," arriving on Hulu this Saturday, July 25. With gold prices soaring to record highs, the pressure on small-scale miners has never been greater — and Freddy and Juan are often their last hope before financial ruin. This season, the duo takes on some of their biggest and most demanding rescues yet, from a rookie Idaho miner who left behind a 30-year auto business to chase gold, to a massive 6,000-acre, 288-claim operation in Yukon. In British Columbia, they help a family battling debt and setbacks by constructing Juan's largest-ever build, while in Alaska, "Gold Rush" veteran Dave Turin ("Gold Rush: Freddy Dodge's Mine Rescue") joins Juan for an ambitious plant rebuild and later teams up on the franchise's first-ever double rescue. The challenges continue in Arizona, where Freddy and Juan design their first pay dryer system to help a struggling crew of military veterans after monsoon rains threaten the operation. Executive produced by John Slaughter ("Killing Fields") and Carter Figueroa ("Gold, Lies & Videotape").

"Suddenly Amish" – Season 1

Available now on Hulu, six strangers leave behind everything they know for a chance to join the Amish community in Season 1 of "Suddenly Amish." At a time when many young Amish are choosing to leave their communities, Bishop Vernon embarks on an unprecedented experiment of inviting six non-Amish outsiders to immerse themselves in Amish life and consider converting. "Suddenly Amish" follows the participants as they trade their modern lifestyle for horse-drawn buggies, hard physical labor and a way of life guided by their new close-knit Amish community in Lancaster, Pennsylvania — with "each [participant] driven by deeply personal reasons and the hope for transformation," according to the series' synopsis. Alongside supportive Amish hosts, they wrestle with questions of identity, sacrifice and belonging, while romantic tensions, personal setbacks and unexpected conflicts test their limits. "Suddenly Amish" is executive produced by Alexander Block ("The Curious Case of Natalia Grace"), Jack Cole ("America's Top Dog"), Eric Evangelista ("The Many Lives of Benjamin Kyle") and Shannon Evangelista ("Return to Amish") for TLC by Hot Snakes Media.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
 TV Media

Q: I haven't seen Cher on screen in a while. Has she given up acting?
A: Cher ("Moonstruck," 1987), the seemingly superhuman star of song, screen and stage, is showing no signs of retiring anytime soon.

Cher last appeared in "Gregg Allman: The Music of My Soul"

But she has, indeed, been a bit scarce in front of the camera.

Lately, she's taking on more voice parts — see, for example, her most recent film role in 2020's "Bobbleheads: The Movie." And why not, since her voice is what made her famous in the first place?

She's continuing down this track. Just a few weeks ago, news broke that she and fellow musical great Bob Geldof ("Rat Trap") would be voicing central characters in the feature-length animated film "Fly Squad — First Strike," an Australian production still in its early stages.

However, the level of Cher's celebrity means she's as often called upon to just do cameos as herself.

She recently showed up in last December's holiday episode of "Saturday Night Live" as a musical guest who appeared in a couple of sketches — most notably in the final sketch of departing cast member and Cher superfan Bowen Yang ("Isn't It Romantic," 2019).

Plus, she was interviewed in "Gregg Allman: The Music of My Soul," a documentary about the life of her ex-husband and fellow musician released just a few weeks ago.

It's worth noting that she's maintaining all this activity at 80 years old (her birthday was in May), and that she's been a pop-culture staple for more than 60 years.

Q: What's the guy who played Donald Ressler in "The Blacklist" doing now?

A: NBC's paranoid crime drama "The Blacklist" was such a phenomenon for so long (10 seasons, from 2013 to 2023) that we all assumed its stars would jump straight into another big project.

But that ignores decades of TV history when that's rarely happened. Instead, actors usually struggle to be accepted as anything other than the role that made them a star.

That seems to be the case with Diego Klattenhoff ("Pacific Rim," 2013), who played FBI agent Donald Ressler in every episode of "The Blacklist."

In the three years since, he's appeared in just three projects (though, to give him his due, they've been pretty high profile).

He guested in a 2024 episode of megahit "Blue Bloods" and a 2025 installment of the equally successful action-drama "Tracker." Later the same year, he appeared in the Canadian miniseries "The Borderline" opposite beloved stars Stephen Amell ("Arrow") and Minnie Driver ("Circle of Friends," 1995).

For further proof that this has more to do with "The Blacklist's" shadow than Klattenhoff's potential, consider the fact that he jumped straight onto the set of "The Blacklist" from that of another buzzy hit, "Homeland." He had a central role in that but left to take on the larger "Blacklist" part.

Fans may also have noted that "The Blacklist's" biggest star, James Spader ("Boston Legal"), also hasn't appeared in anything since.
