Today [July 21], Health Secretary RFK Jr. said the parasite outbreak linked to iceberg lettuce is under control. Well, that's good enough for me. Yeah, this is the type of strong leadership we needed two months after the outbreak began. But RFK Jr. is spinning it. He's like, "Hey, look at it this way. We just gave every American a free colonoscopy prep."

Meanwhile, amid the parasite outbreak, Taco Bell has seen a drop-off in customers. I didn't even know Taco Bell used real lettuce. I assumed it was just shredded health inspections dyed green.

A new statement from the American Heart Association said that drinking five cups of coffee a day is safe and might benefit heart health. Even the American Cocaine Association was like, "Are you sure about that?"

I read that amid the ongoing war in Iran, the Pentagon is running out of money. You can tell they're short on cash. The military isn't using missiles against Iran. They're just launching heads of lettuce at them.

CVS announced that they can now fill pet prescriptions at 9,000 pharmacies nationwide. Yeah, you know some guy's going to walk in there like, "Hi, I'm here to pick up a Viagra order for Cowboy."

A recent study found that backyard bug spray might be breeding stronger mosquitoes. Yeah, Kash Patel is like, "Stronger mojitos? Yes, please."

This planet is home to at least eight million different species. Some scientists believe the true number could be more than a trillion. There is so much to learn about our animal friends. And in studying them, we learn a lot about ourselves. For instance, researchers from Australia and Sweden are doing a study about drug pollution in the water and they found that salmon that are exposed to cocaine swim nearly twice as far as those that do not have a coke problem. The study found that the cocaine salmon swim around 20% faster. And also, they never shut up.

In an interview before Sunday's [July 19] FIFA World Cup Final, President Trump said that soccer stars like Cristiano Ronaldo have a much easier life than his and added that he would "like to switch for about a month or so." "Or longer," yelled Melania.

President Trump criticized Canada in a post last week [July 12-18] on Truth Social for failing to take preventative measures to avoid wildfires that sent smoke into the U.S., and added, "The cost is incalculable." So he didn't write that post.

Homeland Security officials in Newark recently announced that during the World Cup tournament, they seized more than 3,000 counterfeit jerseys. Just as well, because they weren't great counterfeits.

Quiet terror: Chilling thriller film 'The Whisper Man' hits streamer

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

For some, proximity to their greatest fear is a curative tool, but even being an expert on crime does not prepare someone to handle the roller coaster that is an investigation of a loved one's disappearance.

Widower Tom Kennedy (Adam Scott, "Severance") is a crime writer at the center of the new streaming film "The Whisper Man," premiering Friday, Aug. 28, on Netflix. Father to eight-year-old Jake (Acston Luca Porto, "Dora and the Search for Sol Dorado," 2025), Tom lives his worst nightmare when Jake is abducted and he finds an unsettlingly close connection between himself and the likely kidnapper.

Against all logic, the evidence left at the scene of Jake's abduction all points to a serial murderer who was convicted 30 years ago, locked up by Tom's own father, now-retired former police detective Pete Willis (Robert De Niro, "Zero Day"). Known as the "Whisper Man" for the tapes with hushed voice recordings he sent to police, murderer Frank Carter (Michael Keaton, "Dope-sick") lured children away from their homes and taunted investigators until his arrest and conviction decades ago. Heading the new investigation into Jake's abduction is Det. Amanda Beck, portrayed by "The White Lotus" star Michelle Monaghan. With Frank behind bars, who is the copycat who abducted Jake?

The connection between Jake's disappearance and the Whisper Man serial murder case quickly makes itself evident, sending Beck down into the police department's archives, where she finds a chilling poem in the file. It reads, "If you leave a door half open, soon you'll hear the whispers spoken. If your window's left unlatched, you'll hear him tapping at the glass. If you're lonely, sad and blue, the Whisper Man will come for you."

Rounding out the cast of "The Whisper Man" are Hamish Linklater ("Widow's Bay"), Owen Teague ("You Hurt My Feelings," 2023), Will Brill ("The Beast in Me") and John Carroll Lynch ("Big Sky"). The thriller is an adaptation of author Alex North's bestselling 2019 novel of the same name. Screenwriters Ben Jacoby ("The First Omen," 2024) and Chase Palmer ("It," 2017)

Saturday, August 22, 2026

Robert De Niro and Michelle Monaghan in "The Whisper Man"

adapted the novel for the screen and the film is directed by James Ashcroft ("The Rule of Jenny Pen," 2024).

Jake's abduction bringing the old Whisper Man case and Pete as its investigator into the fold is a double-edged sword for Tom. The father and son have become estranged, but Pete knows the Whisper Man case better than anyone. Riddled with loss already, Tom is so desperate for help finding his son that he reaches out to Pete.

Cautiously optimistic about the call from his son, Pete apologizes for the circumstance that brought them together again in the official trailer, however Tom is not interested in becoming family again. "No, we're not together, this is me asking you for help," Tom tells Pete, letting the wall he's put up between them down just enough to ask for his father's guidance.

The identity of the person who has brought the terror of the Whisper Man back to this tormented community is unknown, and glimpses of them in the trailer reveal only a figure slipping away into the darkness wearing a black hoodie. One distinguishable feature of the Whisper Man is that he is always wearing bright blue nitrile gloves. Those gloves make a frightening scene ripped straight from the book even more eerie. Called to the front door in the middle of the night, Jake crouches next to the mail slot as a blue, gloved hand slowly slips through the opening.

Author North spoke to Tudum about the scene that is featured prominently in the trailer, saying, "It's an inherently frightening idea, the idea that anybody could be reaching out to your child or talking secretly to them." North added, "It works really, really well in the film. I was pleased it was there."

Fear of what or who could be influencing your child manifested in a thriller film's villain is a clever take on modern parenting anxieties, and mixed with a strained parent and grown child relationship makes for an interesting examination of generational divides. The frayed family bonds in the book are what drew the director of "The Whisper Man" to the film project.

"Despite the genre and the trappings of a serial killer thriller, it was the characters and the father-son relationship that's mirrored throughout the story that really made me sink in," Ashcroft told Tudum, calling North's novel "irresistible."

Known for orchestrating the Marvel Cinematic Universe and producing genre-defining sitcoms such as "Arrested Development" and "Community," the Russo Brothers (Anthony and Joe Russo) co-produced the film with Netflix. "The Whisper Man" is Netflix's sixth partnership with the Russo Brothers' production company AGBO. Past collaboration has included last year's sci-fi action film "The Electric State" as well as the Chris Hemsworth ("Thor: Ragnarok," 2017) led graphic novel adaptation "Extraction" in 2020 and its 2023 sequel.

Make sure your doors and windows are shut tightly before the premiere of "The Whisper Man" Friday, Aug. 28, on Netflix.

Summer lovin': Love, duty and chronic illness explored in 'The Last Sunrise'

Maia Reficco in "The Last Sunrise"

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

As the last sunrises of the summer crest on the horizon and the weather returns to a cooler standard, things are just starting to heat up on Prime Video. "The Last Sunrise," a new film based on the popular romance novel by Anna Todd, premieres Wednesday, Aug. 26, on Prime Video.

Directed by "Scream: The TV Series" actress Carlson Young, who has previously also directed the psychological horror/thriller films "The Blazing World" (2021) and "Trust" (2025) as well as the Prime Video rom-com "Upgraded" (2024) starring Camila Mendes ("Riverdale"), "The Last Sunrise" stars "Desperate Housewives" diva and recent Nespresso representative Eva Longoria as a mother keeping secrets from her daughter (Maia Reficco, "La Dolce Villa," 2025) on a summertime trip to Spain.

"The Last Sunrise" follows Ry [Reficco], a college student with a chronic illness, on a summer escape to Mallorca with her mother [Longoria]," reads the official description, per Prime Video. "As she unexpectedly falls for Julián [Fernando Lindez, "Elite"] and begins to embrace living in the moment, her worsening condition and long-hidden family secrets threaten to unravel everything before the summer ends."

The teen romantic drama is based on the novel of the same name by American YA novelist Anna Todd, who also penned the wildly popular After series, which has sold over 12 million copies worldwide (according to AnnaTodd.com) and includes the 2014 novels "After," "After We Collided" and "After We Fell" as well as the author's 2015 additions, "After Ever Happy" and "Before." Although not a part of the After series itself, "The Last Sunrise" has no doubt profited from the author's glowing bestseller reputation, with the adaptation of the May 2025 novel having been greenlit less than three months later.

The news was initially reported by Deadline, which wrote in July 2025 that "Todd's involvement as producer of 'The Last Sunrise' continues her transition from bestselling author to filmmaker," citing the 2017 creation of Frayed Pages Media, a new entertainment company, and the fact that Todd also "recently produced the Colleen Hoover adaptation 'Regretting You' [2025]," which premiered in theaters Oct. 24, 2025, before landing on Paramount+ Dec. 23.

There has also been talk of a possible sequel to "The Last Sunrise," as reported by Deadline this past June when senior film reporter Matt Grobar wrote that "Last Sunrise" writer and relative newcomer "Anna Klassen has returned to pen the second film, based on a previously unannounced new novel by Todd, who will ultimately be putting out a book trilogy." The entertainment journal did make sure to mention, however, that "reps for the studio declined comment" when approached to confirm the rumour.

As for "The Last Sunrise," the first film in Todd Klassen's potential trilogy, the Prime Video trailer points to several fun beach romps, club nights and romantic moments between Ry and Julián, the heir to a local fishing business, before the tone shifts to imply waves on the horizon for the young pair.

"That's the boy you're seeing? A Garcia?" says Ry's mother, Isolde (Longoria), midway through the film's trailer, explaining that, "The Garcias own some of the most valuable docks on the island and we can't build the hotel unless we buy them."

This revelation, of course, spells certain emotional disaster for Ry, who will inevitably be forced to choose a side in the escalating battle at the heart of their Mallorcan town. Although, on one hand, Ry's mother represents a devotion to her own family, Isolde's career in the real estate business means a large Americanized hotel on the quaint Spanish island, something that could sink Julián's multigenerational family business and cost them their hard-earned livelihood in the process.

Proof that life is full of tough choices and that answers aren't always cut and dried, "The Last Sunrise" tests one young woman's boundaries and convictions as she wrestles with a massive moral dilemma amid flare-ups of tuberous sclerosis and the side effects of navigating a change in medication.

This complicated tug-of-war is part of the reason that lead actress Maia Reficco accepted the project.

"To be completely honest, the second I read the script, I was in," Reficco shared at Amazon's Obsessed Fest this past June in LA. "There was a wide plethora of reasons why I wanted to join this project and it did not disappoint."

The actress elaborated to Colin Berry at a separate Obsessed Fest event, saying, "I'm quite anxious and hyper and I go through life in a bit of an intense kind of way. ... I think with this character, there is an awareness of time ... [and] I've tried to take on a bit of this consciousness that every day is as important [as the last]."

"The Last Sunrise" also stars Chloé Sweetlove ("Bergerac"), Sabrina Bartlett ("Bridgerton"), Molly B. Thomas ("CODA," 2021), Razan Nassar ("Get Even") and Alex Peracaula ("Dies d'estiu i de pluja," 2025) in supporting roles.

Don't miss your chance to find love on Prime Video this week. "The Last Sunrise" premieres Wednesday, Aug. 26.

'90s TV stars go face-to-face in HGTV's 'Totally '90s House'

Jaleel White hosts "Totally '90s House"

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Be kind, rewind: Honey oak cabinets, sponge-painted walls and patterns galore — what's more iconic than '90s interior design? Across six nostalgia-filled episodes, celebrities bring some modern-day "Full House" charm to poorly designed spaces in "Totally '90s House," a brand-new series making its debut on HGTV Wednesday, Aug. 26.

Hosted by "Family Matters" star Jaleel White, the competition features a cast of design-inclined '90s icons, who are split into teams led by renovation experts Carter Oosterhouse ("The Great Christmas Light Fight") and Sabrina Soto ("The Sabrina Soto Show"). These stars — including Brian Austin Green ("Beverly Hills 90210"), Beverly Mitchell ("7th Heaven"), Jodie Sweetin ("Full House"), Melissa Joan Hart ("Clarissa Explains It All"), Keshia Knight Pulliam ("The Cosby Show"), Matthew Lawrence ("Boy Meets World") and Joey Lawrence ("Blossom") — will be sent on a mission to find the most '90s homes across the U.S., then asked to walk down memory lane as they receive their first challenge via VHS tape.

After each task, the stars' renovations will be judged by a rotating cast of design experts and celebrities alike, including the likes of 98

Degrees singer — and recent "Rock the Block" competitor — Drew Lachey, former "Trading Spaces" host Paige Davis, designer Jonathan Adler and television personalities such as Mina Starsiak Hawk ("House Hunters: All Stars"), Vern Yip ("Home Reimagined") and Brian and Mika Kleinschmidt ("100 Day Dream Home").

"Everybody loves the '90s again," says White. "The fits are back, the playlists are on repeat, and kids who weren't even born yet are binge-watching the shows we made famous. But while some things from the '90s are timeless ... some of y'all never got the memo that the decade ended."

He continues: "We asked America to show us the homes still living in the past, and the response was incredible. Now, it's time for the ultimate throwback transformation. Get ready for the biggest '90s house battle ever."

Travel back in time with "Totally '90s House" — a production of Big Table Media — making its debut Wednesday, Aug. 26, on HGTV.

Bold, bright and beautiful: It takes more than just beauty to earn a title this monumental. The 2026 Miss Teen USA pageant and the 75th Miss USA Diamond Celebration are set to air Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 27 and 28, respectively, on The CW, spotlighting kindness, confidence and leadership with every smile, walk and answer.

With both events broadcasting live from the Ziff Ballet Opera House in Miami, this partnership comes after a new, multi-year deal between BDE Miss USA and The CW was settled by the network and the pageant's new owner, Thom Brodeur, who took over as chairman, president and CEO of the Miss USA Organization in September 2025. This new partnership overrides The CW's April 2024 deal, which ended with the replacement of owner-designer Laylah Rose and the resignation of Miss USA 2023 Noelia Voigt and Miss Teen USA 2023 UmaSofia Srivastava, who publicly accused the pageant's former organizers of abuse and bullying.

"In each competition, 51 of the most accomplished young women in the country — representing all 50 states and the District of Columbia — will compete for the world-renowned titles of Miss Teen USA and Miss USA," explains Nexstar, parent company of The CW. "Following her crowning, the new Miss Teen USA will travel to Phnom Penh, Cambodia, where she will compete — for the first time in history — in the international Miss Teen Universe competition in late October. The newly crowned Miss USA will then make her journey to the Miss Universe competition, hosted this year in November in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Together, the Miss Teen USA and Miss USA telecasts will give The CW's national audience a front-row seat to two of the most accomplished classes of titleholders in the history of either competition."

"Bringing Miss USA and Miss Teen USA back to The CW for both competitions is a defining moment as we celebrate 75 years of Miss USA," Brodeur explained. "The CW reaches audiences in every corner of the country, and there is no better stage on which to showcase these 102 extraordinary women as they compete for two of the most iconic titles in the world. From the Arsh Center in Miami to the international stages in Cambodia and Puerto Rico, this is a landmark year for our titleholders, and we are proud to share every moment of it live with the American public."

A new era of excellence begins when the 2026 Miss Teen USA and Miss USA pageants air Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 27 and 28, respectively, on The CW.

"Leanne" – Season 2
If you're craving more jello salad, big hair and Southern charm, you're in luck. Season 2 of "Leanne" is streaming Thursday, Aug. 27, on Netflix. Thirty-three years of marriage, a house full of memories and a grandbaby on her hip — that's the life Leanne (Leanne Morgan, "You're Cordially Invited," 2025) thought she'd hold onto forever. Last season unfolded after Leanne learned her husband (Ryan Stiles, "The Drew Carey Show") was having an affair with another woman, and everything she built her identity around disappeared overnight. Now, in the thick of menopause and newly on her own, Leanne has to figure out who she is in the aftermath of her divorce. She doesn't do it alone, though. Her sister Carol (Kristen Johnston, "Going Dutch"), who moved in with her, is here to help pick up the pieces, while Margaret (Celia Weston, "You're Cordially Invited," 2025) and John (Blake Clark, "Toy Story 5," 2026) are also at her side. Set in Knoxville, Tenn., Season 2 sees the return of Tim Daly ("Wings") as Andrew, Jayma Mays ("American Made," 2017) as Kelly, Graham Rogers ("The Kominsky Method") as Tyler, Hannah Pilkes ("Sorry Not Sorry") as Josie, and more.

"Mousetrap"
A stolen identity sparks a relentless hunt for the truth when the Korean thriller, "Mousetrap," premieres Friday, Aug. 28, only on Netflix. When reclusive novelist Moon-jae (Ryu Jun-yeol, "A Taxi Driver," 2017) suddenly finds himself locked out of his own life, nothing makes sense. His phone no longer recognizes his fingerprint, his closest ally vanishes without a trace and every record that once proved his identity has been erased. Elsewhere, a mysterious figure known only as "The Rat" has stolen his name, face and fortune, leaving him trapped as a stranger in his own world. Desperate to reclaim everything he has lost, Moon-jae is forced into an uneasy alliance with No-ja (Sul Kyung-gu, "Memento of a Murderer," 2017), a relentless loan shark who has spent years trying to recover the money that Moon-jae owes him. As a detective named Sun-yong (Lee Kyoo-hyung, "All of Us Are Dead") follows the trail, the three men become entangled in a dangerous pursuit where every clue raises more questions than answers. Adapted from the popular webtoon Field Mouse, "Mousetrap" is directed by Kim Hong-sun ("The Age of Blood,"

Ryu Jun-yeol stars in "Mousetrap"

2017) and written by Lee Jae-gon ("Special Affairs Team TEN").

"Graveyard" – Season 3
Commissioner Onem and her team return to the "Graveyard" for Season 3 of this hit Netflix series, streaming Friday, Aug. 28, on the streamer. For years, Chief Inspector Onem Ozulku (Birce Akalay, "As the Crow Flies") and her team gave a voice to women who lost their lives to femicide. Their work came to a grinding halt at the end of Season 2, however, when deep-rooted corruption within the justice system fractured the unit and forced them to disband. Now, a disturbing new case brings the team back together, and it's a case that's deeply personal for Onem. With a life on the line, the team must figure out how to work together again before it's too late, even as old wounds and tensions threaten to stand in their way. The Turkish crime drama also stars Olgun Toker ("Last Summer"), Sehsuvar Aktas ("Halka"), Hakan Mericiler ("The Valley of the Wolves") and Sezgin Uzunbekiroglu ("Runaway").

A scene in "Barreda"

By Kimberly Tremblay
TV Media

"Barreda" (2026)
Based on one of the most shocking crimes in Argentina's history, "Barreda" premieres Friday, Aug. 28, on Prime Video. In 1992, dentist Ricardo Barreda appears to be an ordinary family man living quietly in La Plata, Argentina. Behind closed doors, however, years of resentment and hostility are building toward an unthinkable act. After murdering his wife, Gladys, his mother-in-law, Elena, and his two adult daughters, Cecilia and Adriana, Barreda casts himself as the mistreated victim of the household, turning a brutal crime into a national spectacle. As both the media and the public become consumed by his story, the women whose lives were taken are pushed further into the background, reduced to supporting figures in the mythology surrounding their killer. "Barreda" revisits one of Argentina's most notorious domestic crimes, shifting the focus away from the man who commanded the headlines and toward the four women who were denied the chance to tell their own stories. Their experiences emerge from the silence, challenging the narrative that captivated the country. Directed by Daniela Goggi ("The Rescue: The Weight of the World," 2023), the film stars Luis Machin ("Brave Father John"), Carla Peterson ("The Eternaut"), Mercedes Moran ("The Swamp," 2001), Maite Lanata ("100 Days to Fall in Love"), Margarita Paez ("Women on the Edge," 2023), Marcelo Subiotto ("The Eternaut"), and more.

"Dark Matter" - Season 2

After one journey through the multiverse nearly destroyed his family, Jason Dessen (Joel Edgerton, "The King," 2019) is pulled back toward the Box when "Dark Matter" returns for its second season Friday, Aug. 28, on Prime Video via the Apple TV channel. After surviving countless alternate realities and fighting his way back to his family, Jason believes he has finally found a world where the three of them can live in peace. But the safety surrounding Jason, Daniela (Jennifer Connelly, "House of Sand and Fog," 2003) and Charlie (Oakes Fegley, "Pete's Dragon," 2016) proves painfully temporary when an unimagin-nable threat sends the Dessens running once again. As Jason becomes increasingly consumed by the Box and the endless lives hidden behind its doors, across the multiverse, Amanda (Alice Braga, "I Am Legend," 2007) and Ryan (Jimmi Simpson, "Black Mirror") join forces as they desperately search for a path home. Meanwhile, Blair (Amanda Brugel, "The Handmaid's Tale") sets out to stop Jason before his obsession causes more damage, and Leighton (Dayo Okeniyi, "Rise," 2022) continues pursuing his dream of building a perfect world, no matter what it costs or who is left behind. This season, every doorway offers salvation — or disaster.

"Women Talking" (2022)

They have two days to decide: forgive, fight or disappear before dawn. The 2022 film, "Women Talking," is available to stream now on Prime Video. It's 2010 in an isolated Mennonite colony, and the women who live there have just learned a horrifying truth: for years, the men have been drugging and sexually assaulting them in their sleep. When the attackers are arrested and the colony's remaining men leave to post bail, the women are left completely alone for two days — their only window to decide what comes next. Gathered in a hayloft, unable to read or write, they ask the colony's schoolteacher, August (Ben Whishaw, "Perfume: The Story of a Murderer," 2006), to record their debate as they weigh three options: do nothing, stay and fight or leave everything behind and run away. Mothers, daughters and sisters clash over faith, forgiveness and survival as old wounds surface and the clock ticks toward the men's return. Adapted from Miriam Toews' novel and directed by Sarah Polley ("My Life Without Me," 2003), "Women Talking" won the Academy Award for Best Adapted Screenplay and stars Rooney Mara ("The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo," 2011), Claire Foy ("The Crown"), Jessie Buckley (seen recently in last year's film, "Hamnet") and Judith Ivey ("Sweet Magnolias") in a quietly devastating story about the courage it takes to choose your own path.

Carolina Caroline

Desperate to escape her dead-end life in a small West Texas town, Caroline Daniels (Weaving) impulsively leaves with Oliver Anderson (Gallner), a charming drifter and con artist. What begins as an exciting road trip and a series of harmless confidence scams gradually spirals into a dangerous life of crime as the pair travel across the American south searching for Caroline's estranged mother (Sedgwick). As the stakes rise, Caroline finds herself pulled deeper into Oliver's world. Their relationship is fueled by romance, adrenaline and a shared desire to outrun their pasts, but each new heist pushes them closer to crossing moral and legal lines they never imagined.

Disclosure Day

Margaret Fairchild (Blunt), a Kansas City, Missouri, meteorologist who experiences a terrifying unexplained event during a live television broadcast. At the same time, cybersecurity expert Daniel Kellner (O'Connor) uncovers evidence that a powerful corporation, Wardex, has spent decades helping conceal proof of extraterrestrial life from the public. As both become targets of those determined to keep the secret buried, they join forces to expose the truth. Their investigation reveals a decades-long cover-up stretching back to the Roswell incident, with governments and private interests suppressing evidence of alien contact and experimenting on recovered extraterrestrial beings. Pursued by mercenaries and corrupt officials, Margaret and Daniel race to broadcast the classified evidence before it can be destroyed.

Capt. Sandy Yawn features in
"Below Deck Mediterranean"

Dancing With the Stars: The Next Pro

(22) 8:00 PM

While living under one roof, 12 up-and-coming dancers grind through a brutal audition process, vying for a single coveted pro slot for Season 35 of "DWTS." Only the sharpest technique will survive to join the ballroom's next class of professionals.

Below Deck Mediterranean

BRAV 8:00 PM

Capt. Sandy welcomes some unexpected guests during Aesha's bachelorette party. While Hannah Ferrier wanders the yacht, Joy and Kayley search for their own redemption. Max, meanwhile, finds himself making an unprecedented decision.

Pitmasters

Food 9:00 PM

Down to three teams, the live-fire battle turns brutal as competitors transform a whole hog into one competition-ready feast worth $8,000 and a finale slot. Judges also demand a different lunch dish, dangling another $4,000 for whoever delivers it best.

It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia

FX 9:00 PM

During this latest episode, the gang is surprised when Dennis (Glenn Howerton) and Dee (Kaitlin Olson) are diagnosed with ADHD. As a result, Dennis and Dee decide to give school another chance now that they understand their brains better.

Ken Jennings hosts "Jeopardy! Masters"

America's Got Talent

⑤ 8:00 PM

The show must go on — but not for everyone. Singers, dancers, musicians, comedians and the like compete for a life-changing jackpot as Simon Cowell, Howie Mandel, Sofia Vergara and Mel B decide which dreams advance and which get cut short.

Jeopardy! Masters

⑫ ⑫ 8:00 PM

Six of the highest-ranked living "Jeopardy!" champions return to battle for this season-opening showdown. Two action-packed, high-stakes games raise the intensity as trivia's sharpest minds clash, proving even buzzer masters have plenty left to prove.

Kitchen Nightmares

④ 8:00 PM

During this all-new episode, Gordon steps in to help Café Notte, an Italian restaurant on the verge of collapse. To avoid collapse, Gordon must try his best to help the head chef and his stepson deal with their unresolved tension between them.

wPIX 8:00 PM

The road to Heatwave hits its final stop as the stars of WWE's silver brand collide once more before the event. Competitors lay everything on the line, proving why the brand remains the definitive launching pad for tomorrow's biggest wrestling names.

Cape Fear

AMC 2:30 PM

After spending 14 years in prison, violent criminal Max Cady (Robert De Niro) plots his deadly revenge against Sam Bowden (Nick Nolte) — the attorney who withheld the evidence that would've set him free — in this Martin Scorsese epic.

MasterChef

(12) (44) 8:00 PM

Under the watchful, all-knowing eyes of Gordon Ramsay, Tiffany Derry and Joe Bastianich, amateur cooks battle through grueling tests. One slip means elimination, but the last chef standing claims $250,000 and the coveted MasterChef title.

All Elite Wrestling: Dynamite

TBS 8:00 PM

Scotland gets one more dose of AEW before the promotion's massive night in London, England. Live from The Hydro in Glasgow, a stacked roster, including Kenny Omega, Will Ospreay and Willow Nightingale, gives it their all in this final show before All In.

Miss Teen USA 2026

WPIX 8:00 PM

Young women from across the U.S. converge on Miami's Ziff Ballet Opera House at the renowned Adrienne Arsht Center for the Performing Arts, all vying for one coveted crown. Talent, poise and ambition collide as a new titleholder is crowned.

Owen Thiele and Lucy Freyer in "Adults"

Restaurant Impossible: Last Call

FOOD 8:00 PM

A struggling Peruvian family bistro gets one last shot at survival. Chef Sánchez and Jen Agg dig into failing systems and mounting debt, delivering the kind of crash-course intervention that could mean reopening strong or closing for good this time.

Accused: Guilty or Innocent?

A&E 9:00 PM

After helping his partner by stopping a violent fight with a neighbor, a boyfriend is shocked to find himself arrested the following day. The neighbor's allegations blur lines between truth and fiction during this Season 8 finale.

Adults

FX 9:00 PM

New York's messiest roommates — Samir (Malik Elassal), Billie (Lucy Freyer), Anton (Owen Thiele), Issa (Amita Rao) and Paul Baker (Jack Innanen) — are back for a new season. During this premiere episode, the housemates discover Paul's long-kept secret.

Monsters of God

HBO 9:00 PM

While the breeding of genetically modified rare animals becomes a bigger and bigger market across the U.S., authorities are given enough information to uncover a vast trafficking network that entangles dealers and major zoo institutions.

Friday Best Bets

Frank Vincent and Joe Pesci in "Casino"

NFL Football

③ 8:00 PM

Lincoln Financial Field hosts this pre-season tune-up as the Cincinnati Bengals face the Philadelphia Eagles. Both rosters will use this exhibition game to sharpen depth charts ahead of the regular season as plenty of roster spots are on the line.

Casino

AMC 8:00 PM

In this Martin Scorsese's crime epic, mobster Sam "Ace" Rothstein (Robert De Niro) builds a Vegas empire inside the Tangiers Casino. Loyalty crumbles once enforcer Nicky Santoro (Joe Pesci) and Ace's wife, Ginger (Sharon Stone), enter the picture.

Great Performances

③③ ⑤7 9:00 PM

The gardens of Austria's Schönbrunn Palace host the Vienna Philharmonic for a magical open-air evening. Bass-baritone Bryn Terfel joins the orchestra beneath the palace sky for arias from "Falstaff," Tevye's song from "Fiddler on the Roof" and more.

Women's College Volleyball

④④ 9:00 PM

From the Sanford Pentagon in Sioux Falls, S.D., two nationally ranked programs open their seasons looking for victory. Minnesota and Arizona State trade kills and blocks in this non-conference measuring stick before conference play begins in earnest.

"Heartland" – Seasons 1-19

Through heartbreak, new beginnings and everything in between, the Fleming family grows together across 19 seasons of "Heartland," available Monday, Aug. 24, on Hulu. When Amy Fleming's (Amber Marshall, "Love in Harmony Valley," 2020) mother dies suddenly, the world she knew collapses — and in its place, a ranch called Heartland becomes the only ground steady enough to stand on. Alongside her sister Lou (Michelle Morgan, "Diary of the Dead," 2007) and their gruff, grieving grandfather Jack (Shaun Johnson, "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee," 2007), Amy begins to slowly rebuild her life. She soon discovers she's inherited more than her mother's ranch, but also her gift — an uncanny ability to heal the broken, frightened horses no one else can reach. As the seasons unfold across the sweeping foothills of Alberta, love comes and goes, careers rise and fall, and children are born and grow into the next chapter of the family's story. But through it all, the Flemings stick together in both happy and trying times. Graham Wardle ("Supernatural"), Alisha Newton

"Adults" – Season 2

This group of 20-somethings still haven't perfected the art of "adulting," but Season 2 finds them well on their way when "Adults" premieres Thursday, Aug. 27, on Hulu. Samir (Malik Elissal, "Office Romance," 2026), Billie (Lucy Freyer, "Jake's Unemployment Summer"), Paul (Jack Innanen, "The Office Movers"), Issa (Amita Rao, "Deli Boys") and Anton (Owen Thiele, "Overcompensating") are as close as friends can be — literally. The five 20-somethings share a house, a group chat, and pretty much every milestone and meltdown that comes with figuring out your 20s together in New York. While living under the same roof, they contend changing relationships and big questions like: how do you bicker and get through problems without losing track of why you love each other? Season 2 picks up with the group still dealing with the fallout from Season 1's dramatic finale, including some very unfinished business between Paul and Anton, as new pressures test whether this makeshift family can really hold it all together. But, most importantly: whose turn is it to do the dishes? Created by Ben Kronengold and Rebecca Shaw (both of "The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon"), Season 2 has guest appearances from Raven-Symone ("That's So Raven"), Susie Esman ("Curb Your Enthusiasm") and Gaten Matarazzo ("Stranger Things").

"Desert Warrior" (2026)

From "Rise of the Planet of the Apes" (2011) director Rupert Wyatt and executive producers Erica Beaney ("It Might Get Loud," 2008) and Charbel Tayeh ("Embassy 87"), one princess's defiance ignites a war that will change history when "Desert Warrior" premieres Friday, Aug. 28, on Hulu. In seventh-century Arabia, where rival tribes have long battled for power, Princess Hind (Aiysha Hart, "Line of Duty") faces a terrifying choice when Emperor Kisra (Ben Kingsley, "Iron Man 3," 2013) demands that she become his concubine. Refusing to surrender her freedom, Hind flees into the desert with her father, King Numan (Ghassan Massoud, "Kingdom of Heaven," 2005), but Kisra sends ruthless mercenaries after them. But Hind finds an unlikely protector in Hanzala (Anthony Mackie, "Captain America: The Winter Soldier," 2014), a legendary bandit whose own history has put him at odds with the emperor. Forced to leave her royal life behind, Hind learns to fight and discovers a strength she never knew she possessed. As Kisra's forces closes in on them, she and Hanzala travel across the desert, bringing together tribes that have spent generations fighting one another. Their journey leads them to the Battle of Dhi Qar, where Hind must rally warriors from across Arabia to take a final stand against Kisra.

Anthony Mackie and Aiysha Hart star in "Desert Warrior"

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: Where did the name "Monty Python" come from?

A: The short answer is that the group of six comedians known collectively as "Monty Python" made it up, figuring it sounded like a typical sleazy entertainment executive. The full answer is the stuff of legend and maybe lost to time.

The "Monty" part is what's still up for debate. The group — made up of John Cleese ("Fawlty Towers"), Eric Idle ("The Adventures of Baron Munchausen," 1988), Graham Chapman ("Monty Python and the Holy Grail," 1975), Michael Palin ("Time Bandits," 1981), Terry Jones ("The Wind in the Willows," 1996) and Terry Gilliam ("Brazil," 1985) — all agree that it was Idle who contributed "Monty."

But Idle has given different explanations for why: it either refers to Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, a British hero of the Second World War, or a fat guy named Monty who was a beloved regular at Idle's local pub.

The "Python" part is straightforward: they decided they needed a surname that sounded slippery and one of them (reportedly Cleese) suggested the obvious "Python."

But, of course, at the time that was only half of the name.

It all began with their groundbreaking series "Monty Python's Flying Circus," which ran from 1969 to 1974 on the BBC.

The BBC wanted to do a sketch show, and network executive Barry Took ("Marty") was in charge of bringing the members together. The story goes that the BBC itself came up with "Baron von Took's Flying Circus," a play on Took's own name, as a working title for the show.

But after the members of the group came together and started workshoping names (their proposals included "Owl Stretching Time" and "The Toad Elevating Moment"), they were informed that the BBC had already printed up schedules with "Flying Circus" in the listings and they didn't want to reprint. So the members only had creative control over the other half of the name.

That could be why they left the "Flying Circus" part behind after the show ended and continued just under the name "Monty Python" — as seen in their first follow-up (also their biggest), the big-screen classic "Monty Python and the Holy Grail," released in 1975.

Q: What has John Slattery been doing lately? He was my favorite part of "Mad Men."

A: John Slattery — best known, as you say, for playing Roger Sterling on the modern-classic series "Mad Men" from 2007 to 2015 — was a versatile character actor before "Mad Men," and he's gone back to that since.

These days he splits his time between high-impact supporting roles on film — see, for example, his turn as Dwight Eisenhower in 2017's "Churchill" — and lengthy arcs on hit shows — such as his run as Dr. Lyle Betencourt in the sixth season of "The Good Fight."

He just finished a pretty sweet gig playing himself in the big-screen comedy "Gail Daughtry and the Celebrity Sex Pass" (2026), along with his old buddy Jon Hamm, also of "Mad Men" fame, also playing himself.

And Slattery also just finished co-starring in the new Netflix dark-comedy series "Vladimir."

He managed to squeeze both of those in between seasons of his main gig, "The Rainmaker," a USA Network series that he co-stars in, based on the novel by John Grisham.

Season 1 ended in October, and it's been renewed for a second, likely to debut this fall.
