Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

Love is in the air because today [Dec. 12] we learned that Selena Gomez and Benny Blanco are engaged. Congratulations to both Selena Gomez and Benny Blanco, or, as they're known by their celebrity couple name: Selena Gomez.

[Luigi] Mangione has now been charged with second-degree murder, but he's not pleading guilty and he's fighting attempts to extradite him to New York. Well, that makes sense. No one wants to be extradited to New York during the holidays. You got to wait in a two-hour line just to be cavity searched at the M&M's store.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

Google just released their "Year in Search," which shows the things people around the world Googled the most in 2024. Yeah, it's Google's nice little way of saying, "We're absolutely spying on you."

Chili's and Applebee's are now fighting online about who has the better value meal. Not since the Great Chicken Sandwich War of 2019 has the country been so divided. Yes, Chili's versus Applebee's. This might be the only peace agreement that Trump is qualified to negotiate.

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

The mayor of New York, Mayor Adams, announced the arrest [of Luigi Mangione] at a press conference today [Dec. 9], which is interesting because Mayor Adams himself was arrested in September and then there he is announcing the arrest of another alleged criminal. It's like that Spider-Man meme.

The other big story in New York is the highest-paid athlete in the history of sports. The New York Mets last night [Dec. 8] signed outfielder Juan Soto to a $765 million deal, stealing him from their hated crosstown rivals, the Yankees, and as a Mets fan, I have to say, I am very excited to see how terribly this will inevitably go for us.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

The New York Mets have reportedly signed former Yankees star Juan Soto to a 15-year, $765 million contract. And if you're wondering how they can afford that, Mr. Met started an OnlyFans.

A music company in Thailand has released a song about the pygmy hippopotamus Moo Deng called "Moo Deng Moo Deng." Hopefully, it's more popular than Shakira's song about her "Hippos Don't Lie."

The dean of a Massachusetts high school was arrested recently for allegedly operating a drug trafficking ring that sold large amounts of cocaine. On the bright side, their track team dominated at State.

From novel to Netflix: 'The Night Agent' premieres second season

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Luciane Buchanan and Gabriel Basso in "The Night Agent"

Who is the real bad guy in "Night Agent"? To those unfamiliar with the drama, the question points to several shifting plots and potential double-crosses within the storyline. For those following along with the series and patiently awaiting a second season, this question comes across as completely understandable given that series is "filled with baddies" (per Netflix).

With 10 45-minute episodes already on Netflix from Season 1 and a recent confirmation that Season 3 is already in the casting stages, Netflix welcomes "The Night Agent" Season 2, premiering Thursday, Jan. 23.

Based on the novel of the same name by American journalist and New York Times bestselling author Matthew Quirk, "The Night Agent" follows Peter Sutherland (played on screen by Gabriel Basso, "Juror #2," 2024), a low-level FBI agent who "works in the basement of the White House, manning a phone that never rings" (per Netflix). One evening, however, the phone does ring, prompting Sutherland to take on a case so big it would impact the entire country.

As it turns out (and now may be a good time to mention that several mild spoilers from Season 1 lay ahead), the basement phone is tied to "an emergency line for undercover spies" (per Netflix). When Sutherland answers the call, he hears a woman's voice explain that a double homicide has just taken place and she fears she may be next. Springing into action to protect the civilian who somehow managed to find the night agents' helpline, what follows is an action-packed season filled with assassination attempts, double-crosses, brazen attacks, mistaken identities, terrorist plots and oh so much running.

"Imagine 'All the President's Men' [1976] with car chases," said creator Shawn Ryan ("The Shield") to Netflix's online publication, Tudum. "If you like the Jack Ryan books, the Jack Reacher books, if you like the Bourne Identity stuff, if you like political intrigue, then 'The Night Agent' is for you."

On the note of "political intrigue," the spy series holds nothing back. With all the twists and turns of a good murder mystery and shady, motivated characters akin to "House of Cards" and "Game of Thrones," "The Night Agent" all but urges viewers not to get too attached to any one character. While audiences now know who committed the D.C. Metro bombing in Season 1, matters become far more sinister when it is revealed that others have been pulling the strings behind the scenes.

This season, the series dives into an increasingly shadowy world. After Peter's success in Season 1, he has earned the opportunity to work in the secretive organization Night Action, which pushes him "into a world where danger is everywhere and trust is in short supply" (per Netflix).

"There are people here who make bad choices for what they think are the right reasons," Ryan explains to Netflix during another interview. "But that's a slippery slope that leads to increased bad decisions, where suddenly you look up and ... you've lost your soul."

Peter is trying very hard not to lose his soul, despite everything around him pushing toward the contrary. As the first season closes, main characters have been shot and/or killed, parents are using their children as political pawns and innocent bystanders have lost their lives in the proverbial (albeit sometimes literal) crossfire. Needless to say, it was anyone's guess as to who would be returning for Season 2 as of the first-season finale. Luckily, thanks to casting reports provided by Netflix, we now have that precious information.

In addition to the titular night agent played by Basso, returning actors include Luciane Buchanan ("The New Legends of Monkey"), who plays emergency-line caller Rose Larkin, and BAFTA nominee Fola Evans-Akingbola ("Siren"), who plays Secret Service agent Chelsea Arrington. Joining the cast this season is Amanda Warren ("The Leftovers") as Catherine, a "veteran of the top-secret Night Action investigative program who trains and oversees various Night Agents" (per Netflix's Tudum).

Also starring in recurring roles in Season 2 are Arienne Mandi ("The L Word: Generation Q") as Noor, an Iranian woman who works as an aide for the Iranian mission to the United Nations in New York and who has a personal motive to seek a better life for her family; Louis Herthum ("Westworld") as connected international businessman Jacob Monroe; Michael Malarkey ("The Vampire Diaries") as Markus, a military leader with ties to his dictator uncle; Berto Colon ("Orange Is the New Black") as U.S. Marine-turned-fixer Soloman; and Keon Alexander ("Tyrant") as Javad, the head of security for the Iranian mission in New York.

Other confirmed cast members include Brittany Snow ("X," 2022), Teddy Sears ("The Flash"), Navid Negahban ("The Old Man"), Rob Heaps ("Imposters"), Marwan Kenzari ("Aladdin," 2019), Elise Kibler ("The Sunlit Night," 2019) and Dikran Tulaine ("The Blacklist").

The observant reader may have noticed a couple of references to the United Nations during their perusal of this article, and that would be correct: Season 2 is largely scheduled to take place in New York City — a change of scenery from the Washington, D.C., landscapes of Season 1. But don't get too comfortable; Season 3 is set to begin filming in Istanbul, Turkey, before cameras return stateside to New York once again. Thus is the life of a Night Agent — one never stays still for long.

Don't miss the Season 2 premiere of "The Night Agent," on Netflix beginning Thursday, Jan. 23.

What's your emergency?: '9-1-1: Lone Star' and 'Rescue: HI-Surf' are new on Monday nights

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Rob Lowe stars in "9-1-1: Lone Star"

Calling all units: Fox's saviors are back to rescue your week. New winter premiere episodes of "9-1-1: Lone Star" and "Rescue: HI-Surf" air Monday, Jan. 20, on Fox, as they return from hiatus.

Hang 10 with a brand-new episode of "Rescue: HI-Surf," back after a fall finale that saw a couple of lifesavers ready to risk it all. After growing closer all season, lifeguard exes Em (Arielle Kebbel, "Ballers") and Will (Adam Demos, "UnREAL") try to navigate the rough waters of their near-affair in the upcoming episode.

Plus, just three thrilling episodes of "9-1-1: Lone Star" remain before the procedural drama's series finale on Monday, Feb. 3. Over five seasons, New York City transplant Capt. Owen Strand (Rob Lowe, "Unstable") has rebuilt Firehouse 126 in Austin, Texas, and helped respond to some outrageous, life-or-death calls along the way.

The show's midseason finale, which aired back in December, saw Owen consider the invitation to return to the Big Apple to become the city's fire chief. In the end, his ties to his new home led him to turn down the offer and remain in Texas.

Meanwhile, ranger Carlos Reyes (Rafael L. Silva, "The Corps") finally got closure on the death of his father, learning that Chief Bridges (Alan Autry, "In the Heat of the Night") was the one responsible.

And what are work friends for if not distracting you at just the right moment? Tommy (Gina Torres, "Suits") began experimental treatment for breast cancer, with fellow EMS first responders TK (Ronen Rubinstein, "Dead of Summer") and Nancy (Brianna Baker, "House of Lies") by her side to keep her mind occupied with news from their own lives.

"9-1-1: Lone Star" also stars Natacha Karam ("The Brave") as firefighter Marjan Marwani, Brian Michael Smith ("After") as firefighter Paul Strickland and Julian Works ("The Affair") as rookie firefighter Mateo Chavez.

While one first responder procedural comes to a close, another picks up speed. A second season renewal for "Rescue: HI-Surf" has not yet been announced, but its debut season continues with 10 more new episodes — a welcome change after watching so many procedurals return from the strikes last year with significantly shortened episode runs.

Set on the North Shore of O'ahu, Hawaii, "Rescue: HI-Surf" follows the lives of heavy-water lifeguards who keep the notoriously dangerous waters as calm as they can. Lifeguard Capt. Harlan "Sonny" Jennings (Robbie Magasiva, "Wentworth") oversees a team of dedicated beach guardians who watch over Hawaii's Seven Mile Miracle.

Just as rocky as the ocean's waves are the personal lives of the brave lifesavers. Em and Will are in deep trouble with their rekindled romance in the upcoming new episode now that his fiancé, Julie (Hayley Malia Johnson, "Squad Issues"), is back in town.

Meanwhile, Hina (Zoe Cipres, "Roswell, New Mexico") and Kainalu (Alex Aiono, "Pretty Little Liars: Original Sin") aren't quite seeing eye-to-eye on their hookup. Relationship or situationship? It's "to be defined" for now.

Rifts and grudges mean nothing, though, when everyone needs to come together to deal with a serious threat. Never mind the explosive relationship troubles that all of the lifeguards seem to be facing, as an underwater bomb placed on the picturesque shore must be diffused in this midseason premiere.

Kekoa Kekumano ("The White Lotus"), Sea Shimooka ("3 Body Problem"), Shawn Hatosy ("Animal Kingdom") and Ian Anthony Dale ("The Resident") also star in the drama series. "Rescue: HI-Surf" was created by Matt Kester ("Outsiders") and is executive produced by John Wells ("Shameless"), who has also directed episodes of the series.

Kebbel spoke with Bell Media's The Lede about how the lifeguards of the North Shore enjoy the thrills as much as the tourists and locals who get in over their heads in the wild water.

"It's a fascinating thing, because lifeguards are adrenaline seekers in a way — it's honestly part of the job," Kebbel explained, "but I feel like anyone who enters that seven-mile radius of the North Shore is also, on some level, an adrenaline seeker, because the water and the waves there are like nowhere else in the world."

About Em's very close relationship with her ex-boyfriend and current coworker Will, Kebbel said, "In the past, I've had the pleasure of also playing a police officer, a detective, a firefighter and so on. And for all those first-responder roles, when I've interviewed people and done research, a very real, consistent part of the discussion is always about how close you get to your partner."

Don't miss two can't-miss new episodes as "9-1-1: Lone Star" and "Rescue: HI-Surf" both return with winter midseason premieres Monday, Jan. 20, on Fox.

Four CW shows make their return following winter break

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Magic and mischief: There's no better time to watch TV than in the cold and dark of late January. Thankfully, The CW has us covered, as four series are returning with premieres the week of Sunday, Jan. 19.

Starting off with a night of true crime, both "Police 24/7" and "Crime Nation" return to the small screen for a second season this week, with back-to-back premieres airing Thursday, Jan. 23. Up first comes "Police 24/7" — from executive producer SallyAnn Salsano ("Jersey Shore") — which, according to the network, "delivers raw, unfiltered access into the world of sheriffs and police departments across the United States." From high-stakes drug busts to everyday traffic stops, the series follows officers into situations big and small as they do whatever it takes to keep their communities safe.

Then, immediately afterwards, The CW's first-ever true crime anthology series, "Crime Nation," returns for a gripping new season, sharing episodes that dig further into real cases that have fascinated the nation by offering case updates and never-before-seen interviews with crime enthusiasts, social media sleuths, podcasters and digital detectives.

The following evening, on Friday, Jan. 24, both "Penn & Teller: Fool Us" and "Masters of Illusion" make history-making returns as they enter their 11th seasons, each bringing some big shocks to the small screen. Hosted by Brooke Burke ("Dancing with the Stars"), "Penn & Teller: Fool Us" — the first of the night's debuts — invites aspiring magicians to perform their best tricks in front of the most capable critics around: Penn and Teller themselves, a pair of renowned illusionists. As audiences watch, the performers showcase their magic tricks once before leaving the stage — and before leaving Penn and Teller to see if they can figure out the trick behind the trick and recreate the magic themselves. If the performers succeed in tricking the pair, they earn themselves the right to perform alongside Penn and Teller in their celebrated show, held at the Rio Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas. After Penn and Teller's curtain call, "Master of Illusion" keeps the magic going, returning with host Dean Cain ("Supergirl") to showcase more great escapes, sleight-of-hand tricks and large-scale illusions, all performed by cutting-edge illusionists and escape artists.

Whether it is magic or mischief, The CW has a premiere in store for everyone, with "Police 24/7," "Crime Nation," "Penn & Teller: Fool Us" and "Masters of Illusion" returning the week of Sunday, Jan. 19.

Penn Jillette and Teller host "Penn & Teller: Fool Us"

Asia's animals: Presented by the legendary Sir David Attenborough ("Planet Earth"), the breathtaking new series "Asia," which allows viewers to see the extraordinary wildlife and stunning natural wonders of our planet's largest continent, premieres Saturday, Jan. 25, on BBC America. The series is available to stream the same day on AMC+.

According to AMC Network's description, "The cinematic series explores each corner of this remarkable part of our planet and journeys through Asia's most stunning landscapes, uncovering stories of extraordinary unseen animal behavior." Featuring seven episodes — and a "Making Of" special that took nearly four years to complete — this series marks the first time that Asia, home to the "highest mountain range, the deepest ocean, the tallest jungles and the biggest cave" (per AMC), acts as the focus for a BBC America wildlife series, making history with its stunning content.

Throughout this first season, viewers will bear witness to rhinos playing "kiss chase" in Nepal; meet Asia's shyest mammal, the red panda, living in the foothills of the Himalayas; travel 5,000 meters up the Tibetan Plateau, where a lone wolf continues her relentless hunt for hours on end, stalking a herd of antelope; join elephants on a spree of highway robberies as they delay buses in Sri Lanka, attempting to get food from unsuspecting passengers; and float along the waters of the Western Pacific, where sea snakes have joined forces with the nearby fish to better hunt for supper.

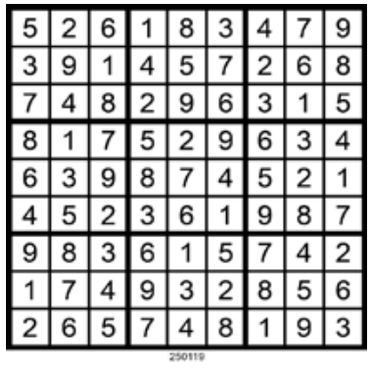

Additionally, episodes discuss ongoing challenges regarding conservation of the continent's natural spaces. Shining a light on potential solutions being researched and implemented by the area's most dedicated conservationists, it follows along as they each face different challenges across Asia's diverse landscape, which stretches from the vast and dry Gobi Desert to the bustling jungles of Borneo, to Siberia's polar wilderness and the vast, coral-filled seas of the Indian Ocean.

The journey begins with creatures living beneath the water's surface, as the series premiere dives head first into never-before-seen spectacles found at various ocean depths. Viewers can expect to see giants lurking in the deep, fish that climb trees and squids with the ability to light up the darkness, making nighttime hunting that much easier. Boasting the longest coastline of any continent, Asia's seas are connected by some of the world's strongest currents, containing nearly 60% of all marine species discovered on Earth.

Made by BBC Studios Natural History Unit and co-produced by BBC America, "Asia" premieres Saturday, Jan. 25, on BBC America, and is available to stream the same day on AMC+.

"W.A.G.s to Riches" - Season 1

Ambition is a lifestyle for the driven cast of the new reality series "W.A.G.s to Riches," which makes its Netflix debut Wednesday, Jan. 22. Centered on a group of women living in Miami, the docs-soap follows their lives as they break the mold of what the world thinks the wives and girlfriends of elite athletes, musicians and power players of the world are. As they balance everything from their own thriving careers to motherhood and making a relationship work in the spotlight, these fierce women "are out to prove they're more than just the trophies behind the men, with some even outearning their famous male counterparts" (per Netflix). Starring Sharelle Rosado, Alexis Welch Stoudemire, Lastonia Leviston, Sadé Vanessa, Keeta Hill, Maranda Johnson, Porsha Berto and Ashley Wheeler, the series comes from Wheelhouse's Spoke Studios. Rasheed J. Daniel ("Black Ink Crew New York"), Liz Fine ("Life Matters with Dr. Michelle Gordon") and Gardner Reed ("Designing Miami") are executive producers.

"With Love, Meghan" - Season 1

Take on a brand-new venture with Meghan, Duchess of Sussex, with the lifestyle series "With Love, Meghan," available now on Netflix. Prepare to get your hands dirty with the former "Suits" actor as she "[blends] practical how-[tos] and candid conversation with friends, new and old," everywhere from the kitchen to the garden — and even at the beehive (per Netflix). As Meghan prepares to host her friends, she shares some of her favorite cooking, gardening and crafting tips, along with so much more, as she "reveals how even the most minute details can help add beauty to our lives and, most importantly, help bring people together" (Netflix). Getting guests down in the dirt with her (literally), this premiere season features personalities including Roy Choi ("The Chef Show"), Mindy Kaling ("The Office") and Alice Waters ("Soul of a Banquet," 2014), along with additional acclaimed chefs and special friends. Spanning eight episodes, "With Love, Meghan" comes from Archewell Productions and The Intellectual Property Corporation (IPC), a part of Sony Pictures Television. Michael Steed (The Mind of a Chef") directs.

"NCIS" - Seasons 1-5

Relive the early days of "NCIS" when the series' first five seasons land on Netflix this Thursday, Jan. 23. Beloved by many, this procedural series follows Naval Criminal Investigative Service Special Agent Leroy Jethro Gibbs (Mark Harmon, "Chasing Liberty," 2004) as he leads his team in solving crimes — ranging from homicide to espionage to terrorism — that are connected to Navy and Marine Corps personnel. Special agents Caitlin Todd (Sasha Alexander, "Rizzoli & Isles"), Ziva David (Cote de Pablo, "The Jury") and Tony DiNozzo (Michael Weatherly, "Dark Angel") aid Gibbs in his investigations, alongside cybersecurity expert Timothy McGee (Sean Murray, "Harts of the West") and forensic specialists Abby Sciuto (Pauley Perrette, "Almost Famous," 2000) and Dr. Donald "Ducky" Mallard (David McCallum, "The Great Escape," 1963).

"Castlevania: Nocturne" - Season 2

From creator Clive Bradley ("Trapped"), Season 2 of the animated series, "Castlevania: Nocturne," is now available to stream on Netflix. In the midst of the French Revolution, vampire-and-monster hunter Richter Belmont continues the fight to uphold his family's legacy, now joined by a ruthless band of fellow hunters. Despite their combined strengths, Richter and his newfound companion, Alucard, find themselves racing the clock as a seemingly invincible Vampire Messiah threatens to plunge their world into a never ending darkness. Edward Bluemel ("The Commuter," 2018), James Callis ("Slow Horses"), Thuso Mbedu ("The Woman King," 2022), Sydney James Harcourt ("Tell Me a Story") and Nastassja Kinski ("Paris, Texas," 1984) star.

"Harlem" - Season 3

Back for another season of dreams, careers and rocky romances, the coming-of-age comedy series "Harlem" premieres its third season Thursday, Jan. 23, on Prime Video. From series creator, writer and executive producer Tracy Oliver ("First Wives Club"), "Harlem" follows four friends with four distinctly different personalities and career paths as they move on after college, grow together and chase their dreams in the Big Apple. After Season 2 ended on a shocking cliffhanger, Prime Video claims that the new season finds friends Camille (Meagan Good, "Shazam!" 2019), Tye (Jerrie Johnson, "Mother's Milk," 2021), Quinn (Grace Byers, "Empire") and Angie (Shoniqua Shandai, "The Obituary of Tunde Johnson," 2019) "on the precipice of change like never before. Whether it be motherhood, singlehood, sisterhood, complicated career journeys or even more complicated families, our stylish and ambitious best girlfriends strive to finally choose themselves above all else." This season features new cast members Kofi Siriboe ("Queen Sugar"), Logan Browning ("Dear White People"), Robin Givens ("Riverdale") and Gail Bean ("Snowfall") in recurring roles, alongside series regulars Whoopi Goldberg ("Sister Act," 1992), Tyler Lepley ("P-Valley"), Luke Forbes ("Dog," 2022), Jonathan Burke ("Bridge and Tunnel") and Bevy Smith ("Fashion Queens").

"Blink Twice" (2024)

As the age-old adage says: "don't talk to strangers." Written and directed by Zoë Kravitz ("Big Little Lies"), alongside co-writer E.T. Feigenbaum ("High Fidelity"), "Blink Twice" (2024) comes to Prime Video this Tuesday, Jan. 21. While working at a fundraising gala, cocktail waitress Frida (Naomi Ackie, "Lady Macbeth," 2016) meets the charming billionaire Slater King (Channing Tatum, "White House Down," 2013), who – after a bit of flirting – invites Frida to join himself and some friends as they venture out to his private island for a dream getaway. Frida agrees, but as the vacation draws on and days turn into nights, strange things begin to happen around her, causing Frida to question her own reality. In order to escape, she must rely on her own instincts and uncover a darker truth, relying on the few other female attendees to help make sense of the impossible. A psychological thriller sure to have you on the edge of your seat, "Blink Twice" also stars Alia Shawkat ("Arrested Development"), Christian Slater ("True Romance," 1993), Simon Rex ("Red Rocket," 2021), Haley Joel Osment ("The Sixth Sense," 1999), Liz Caribel ("God's Time," 2022), Levon Hawke ("The Crowded Room"), Trew Mullen ("The Bright Side of Things," 2020), Geena Davis ("Thelma & Louise," 1991), Kyle Maclachlan ("Twin Peaks") and more.

"How to Get Away with Murder" - Complete Series

From creator Peter Nowalk ("Scandal") and producer Shonda Rhimes ("Grey's Anatomy"), the entirety of "How to Get Away with Murder" comes to Prime Video, with all six seasons now available. Starring Academy Award-winner Viola Davis ("Fences," 2016) as Annalise Keating – a renowned defense attorney and law professor – this thrilling, mystery-filled series begins as Annalise and five of her best students find themselves tangled in a complex murder plot that could potentially implicate each and every one of them. Using knowledge gained from the job, Annalise must help her students (and herself) remain unscathed, as an arduous hunt for justice takes place. "How to Get Away with Murder" features a star-studded cast, including Billy Brown ("Star Trek," 2009), Jack Falahee ("The Song of Sway Lake," 2018), Aja Naomi King ("The Birth of a Nation," 2016), Matt McGorry ("Orange Is the New Black"), Charlie Weber ("After We Collided," 2020), Liza Weil ("Gilmore Girls"), Conrad Ricamora ("How to Die Alone"), Karla Souza ("Day Shift," 2022), Alfred Enoch ("The Couple Next Door"), Amirah Vann ("Underground"), Rome Flynn ("With Love"), Tom Verica ("Zodiac," 2007) and more.

Catch up on the culinary world with three exciting series on Netflix

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

While dinner's in the oven, delve into a three-course meal of another kind with these three fascinating culinary series, all of which are available to stream now on Netflix.

Having recently premiered its second season, "High on the Hog: How African American Cuisine Transformed America" follows host Stephen Satterfield — a popular food writer, producer and media entrepreneur — as he "travels across the United States to uncover how African American cuisine has fueled social justice movements, transformed communities and awakened cultural creativity in America in powerful and lasting ways" (per Netflix). Throughout a series of four episodes, Satterfield heads to New Orleans, Chicago, New York and Atlanta, taking time at each stop to meet local chefs, discussing African ingredients and recipes that inspired regional cuisines across the country. All the while, Satterfield listens in as trailblazers and luminaries tell stories of their ancestors' connections to food.

For those interested in watching something more competitive, "Culinary Class Wars," a show that sees 100 talented cooks competing to earn themselves a spot as Korea's top chef, is available. Competitors are divided into two groups: the "Black Spoons," consisting of 80 chefs who found their acclaim through typical means, and the 20 "White Spoons," who received their culinary training specifically within one-of-a-kind fine dining establishments. Part culinary show, part high-stakes reality competition, "Culinary Class Wars" offers its winner a life-changing grand prize of 300 million won (roughly $220,000), and will soon be returning for a second season, promising even more chaos in the kitchen.

Paris Hilton and Nikki Glaser in "Cooking With Paris"

Finally, indulge in a taste of something sweet and lighthearted as "Cooking With Paris" joins reality television sweetheart Paris Hilton ("The Simple Life") as she faces one of her biggest challenges to date: learning how to master the kitchen. Paris invites audiences to join in as she orchestrates meals from grocery store to final table spread, picking up hints, tips and tricks with the help of a few celebrity friends, such as Kim Kardashian ("Keeping Up With the Kardashians"), comedian Nikki Glaser ("FBoy Island") and singers Saweetie ("Best Friend") and Demi Lovato ("Give Your Heart a Break"). As she practices her sautéing, learns foundational skills and experiments with new ingredients, Paris keeps a lighthearted, open-minded demeanor, making the kitchen seem that much more inviting.

No matter your taste, Netflix has a show to satisfy all palates, with the likes of "High on the Hog: How African American Cuisine Transformed America," "Culinary Class Wars" and "Cooking With Paris" all available to stream on the platform.

Demi Moore in "The Substance"

The Substance
On her 50th birthday, Elisabeth Sparkle (Moore), a successful film star who is now fading in popularity due to her age, is fired from her long-running aerobics show by the producer, Harvey (Quaid). Distraught, Elisabeth crashes her car when she is distracted by the removal of one of her billboards. At the hospital, one of the nurses slips her a flash drive advertising a black market serum called "The Substance," which promises to transform the user into a perfect, younger version of themselves. Desperate, Elisabeth orders The Substance, which generates a younger version of herself, Sue (Qualley), in a separate body. The two versions of Elisabeth must switch consciousness every seven days, and Sue must be sustained with stabilizer fluid extracted from the original body. Initially, Elisabeth enjoys reliving her youth and success through Sue but is soon faced with the consequences of Sue's independent actions.

"Whiskey on the Rocks"

Based on an intense, 11-day standoff between Sweden and the U.S.S.R. in the '80s, the limited political satire series "Whiskey on the Rocks" streams Wednesday, Jan. 22, on Hulu. On Oct. 28, 1981, Swedish military personnel discovered that a Soviet nuclear Whiskey class submarine was spotted aground inside one of their restricted military areas. With the whole world on edge amid the Cold War, cataclysmic events seemed like they could take place at any moment. With one submarine turning the eyes of the global superpowers to Sweden, the country's "calm and collected prime minister, Thorbjorn Falldin [Rolf Lassgard, 'A Man Called Ove,' 2015], a former sheep farmer … faced the immense challenge of keeping [the] peace between Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev [Kestutis Stasys Jakstas, 'Parade,' 2022] and U.S. President Ronald Reagan [Mark Noble, 'All Creatures Great & Small']" (per Disney). Based on a true story that director Bjorn Stein ("Midnight Sun") calls "both dramatic and absurd," the series is created and written by Henrik Jansson-Schweizer ("Midnight Sun"), with a story by Jonas Jonasson, author of the novel "The 100 Year-Old Man Who Climbed Out the Window and Disappeared." Elsa Saisio ("Hymya!"), Anders Mossling ("The Bridge"), Niklas Engdahl ("Rebecka Martinsson"), Filip Berg ("Blue Eyes"), Adam Lundgren ("The Restaurant"), Andrius Bialobzeskis ("Rezidentai") and Per Lasson ("Eagles") also star.

Theresa Caputo stars in "Theresa Caputo: Raising Spirits"

"Theresa Caputo: Raising Spirits" - Season 1

Following her hit TLC series, "Long Island Medium," the self-proclaimed psychic medium Theresa Caputo returns to delight viewers in Season 1 of "Theresa Caputo: Raising Spirits," coming to Hulu this Tuesday, Jan. 21. While she still lives in Long Island, Theresa has experienced many changes since last being on TV – now divorced, a new grandmother, and on the precipice of a big U.K. tour. This latest series invites viewers to follow along on Theresa's latest adventures, as she tackles everything from line-dancing in Dallas, to high tea in London, to her son's wedding in Lake Como, Italy. At every stop, Theresa connects with the spirits around her, sharing messages from the dead with friends, family, passers-by and even celebrity clients, like Gloria Estefan ("Don't Wanna Lose You"), Cynthia Nixon ("Sex and The City") and more.

"Arcadian" (2024)

Starring Nicolas Cage ("Face/Off," 1997), Jaeden Martell ("It," 2017) and Maxwell Jenkins ("Lost in Space"), 2024's "Arcadian" makes its streaming debut this Friday, Jan. 24, on Hulu. Set fifteen years after a pandemic has wiped out most of the population and caused civilization to self-destruct, a father (Cage) and his twin sons (Martell, Jenkins) find themselves living in a rundown farmhouse, busy trying to make ends meet during the day while hiding from monstrous, light-sensitive creatures come nighttime. Directed by Benjamin Brewer ("Reptile," 2023) and written by Mike Nilson ("Braven," 2018), the film also stars Sadie Soverall ("Saltburn," 2023), Samantha Coughlan ("Damaged," 2024), Joe Dixon ("The Mummy Returns," 2001, Joel Gillman ("Ripper Street") and Daire McMahon ("Borderline").

"City of Dreams" (2023)

Written and directed by Mohit Ramchandani ("Devil's Creek," 2009), "City of Dreams" (2023) will be available to watch on Hulu this Friday, Jan. 24. Inspired by a true story, this feature follows a young Mexican boy, Jesús (Ari Lopez, "Broken Borders," 2023), on a heartbreaking journey that spans across countries. While busy dreaming of one day becoming a soccer star, Jesús is smuggled across the border into California, where he's sold to work at a sweatshop in downtown Los Angeles. Jason Patric ("The Lost Boys," 1987), Paulina Gaitan ("The River"), Adriana Paz ("Emilia Pérez," 2024) Samm Levine ("Inglorious Bastards," 2009), Renata Vaca ("Saw X," 2023) and Diego Calva ("Babylon," 2022) also star.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: How did they get all those people to do cameos in "Bullet Train"?

A: Big, blanket spoiler alert: I'm about to reveal multiple gasp-worthy cameos in the 2022 action comedy "Bullet Train," along with cameos in a couple of other recent action comedies. And even mentioning the names of those films in this spoiler alert would in itself be a spoiler.

The cameos in "Bullet Train" essentially all came about through a series of favor trades that are nearly as complex as the plot of the film.

Entertainment Weekly got star Brad Pitt ("Fight Club," 1999), director David Leitch ("Atomic Blonde," 2017) and a few of the film's other stars together for a 2022 interview to explain it all.

They said Sandra Bullock ("The Proposal," 2009) did her brief, and mostly audio-only, role as a favor to Pitt, an old friend.

Meanwhile, at the same time they were shooting "Bullet Train," Bullock was making "The Lost City" (also released in 2022), which co-starred Channing Tatum ("21 Jump Street," 2012). And so Tatum got on board "Bullet Train" for a cameo as well. Pitt later returned the favor by popping up in "The Lost City."

The other big-name pop-in was Ryan Reynolds ("Deadpool & Wolverine," 2024"), who appears on screen for seconds as an assassin named Carver. He did the film to pay Pitt back for doing an equally short cameo in his movie "Deadpool 2" (2018).

Leitch directed that movie as well, so this was kind of a favor to him, too.

Pitt summed up this tangled web of reciprocity pretty simply. "This idea of cross-pollinating each other's projects was really good fun."

Q: I love Derek Hough in "Dancing With the Stars." Has he ever done any acting roles? Does he have any coming up?

A: Oddly enough, "Dancing With the Stars" dance pro Derek Hough's first screen role was a straight-ahead acting gig — no fancy feet required. He had an uncredited role as a Hogwarts schoolboy in "Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone" in 2001, years before the reality TV dance craze that made him famous.

Since then, his screen work has tended mostly toward dancing rather than acting, though he's gotten to do a few characters along the way.

His next role won't be dancing or acting, but it could be his toughest gig yet: he'll be producing and appearing in a documentary about his own life.

The reason it might be tough is that it won't be about the fun parts — the stage triumphs or the Emmy-winning choreography jobs — it will be about the time his wife, fellow dancer Hayley Hough, collapsed backstage and nearly died, and her grueling recovery from brain surgery. The as-yet-untitled documentary is filming now, with no distribution or release date set.

He is at least accustomed to appearing as himself on screen — most of his 150-odd appearances have been as a dancer, including most notably "Dancing With the Stars" as well as several Disney specials.

However, as you suspect, there have been some outliers when he's played characters — though they have at least been musically inclined.

The biggest was the 2013 film "Make Your Move," a sort of dance-themed "Romeo and Juliet," except the star-crossed lovers come from rival underground dance clubs.

He also did a three-episode acting arc in "High School Musical: The Musical: The Series" in 2021, as well as a five-episode arc, split across two seasons in 2014 and 2016, in ABC's music industry drama "Nashville." Plus, he acted in the 2016 special "Hairspray Live!," though his dancing was pretty key here as well.

Q: I was in a bookstore the other day and saw some novels written by Chris Colfer. Is that the same guy who starred in "Glee"? Is he an author now?

A: Chris Colfer, best known for starring as Kurt in the musical-comedy series "Glee" from 2009 to 2015, is indeed an author now, but not exclusively.

In fact, he was still starring in "Glee" when he signed a book deal in 2011 to write a series of children's novels. The first one, "The Land of Stories: Wishing Spell," was released the following summer and it was a hit. Multiple sequels and a couple of prequels followed.

Those are likely the books you saw, though he has others, including a novelization of the 2012 indie comedy "Struck by Lightning," which he wrote and starred in. This past summer he published "Roswell Johnson Saves the World," the first in what's intended as a new kids book series.

But even with all this writing success, Colfer's never given up acting. Most recently, he did a four-episode voice-acting arc in the Netflix kids series "Ridley Jones" in 2021.

He's also currently working on a new, more grown-up project. He has the lead role in the indie horror film "The Restoration at Grayson Manor," which wrapped principal filming in the summer, though no release date has been announced yet.
