Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

Everybody feeling good tonight [Dec. 3]? Not for long because a highly contagious winter vomiting disease is surging across the country. Now, it's hard for me to tell if I'm going to catch it because I watch the news for a living and I vomit all year round.

Now, if you're thinking, "How can I get more Melania [Trump] into my life?" You're in luck because the first lady has released a new version of her seven-hour audiobook where she's reading from her memoir in Spanish. It's the perfect listen on a long road trip inside a windowless ICE van.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

Well, everyone, it's Dec. 1, and the holiday season is here. Dec. 1. It's that magical time when you see a house decorated for Christmas next to a house still decorated for Halloween.

Just remember that not everyone celebrates the same holiday. I mean, for instance, many celebrate Happy Honda Days, while others celebrate Lexus' December to Remember.

There's actually a gingerbread White House built out of 120 pounds of gingerbread. Yeah, and just like the real White House, Trump demolished half of it in one weekend.

Today [Dec. 1] is Cyber Monday. Now, you know how Cyber Monday works. You get great deals today on the items that will be stolen off your front porch tomorrow.

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

We're three weeks from Christmas and the end of the year lists have begun to emerge this morning [Dec. 3]. You get that annual Spotify-wrapped list on your phone of what we've been listening to this year. Did you get this thing? It's always interesting. You get a little taste of how secretly old or gay you are. [For] the fourth year, the most played artist on Spotify in the world is Puerto Rican superstar Bad Bunny. You know the guy Trump said he's never heard of? Bad Bunny's No. 1. So, I guess somebody's heard of him.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

A group of progressive senators nicknamed "The Fight Club" are reportedly challenging Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer's strategy for mid-term elections. Well, leave it to the Democrats to immediately break the first rule of Fight Club.

KFC recently released its Extra Crispy Festive Feast, which includes a new gravy flight featuring three different flavors. Gravy flight is also what they call the helicopter ride to the hospital afterwards.

After the social media platform X unveiled a new feature that allows users to see where an account is based, researchers discovered that popular MAGA-movement accounts that claim to be run by Americans are actually based outside of the U.S., and popular Democratic accounts don't exist.

Back to bankers: Fintech fat cats travel the world in fourth season on HBO

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Money makes the world go 'round. We all know the phrase, but now more than ever, wealth — and the wealth gap — has become a central part of our social and political discourse. In a world where billionaires run everything from marathons to entire countries, there exists, for better or for worse, a cultural obsession with “the haves,” and television remains the perfect medium to explore extreme money-making ventures from the comfort of one’s own couch.

This new year, HBO’s hit financial business drama “Industry” begins its fourth season. Don’t miss your chance to buy in when it premieres Sunday, Jan. 11, on HBO and HBO Max.

Following the success of other top-rated business series such as “Suits,” “Billions” and “Succession,” “Industry” first hit the screen in November 2020, half a year into the COVID-19 pandemic. Although the show capitalized upon the success of its predecessors and a somewhat captive audience — as many were still staying home to practice social-distancing measures at the time of its premiere — “Industry” made a poignant entry to network and streaming television by mirroring much of the financial uncertainty felt by the general public in the midst of a global crisis.

The series follows a group of up-and-coming bankers and financial traders who are hoping to make it big and land the job of a lifetime following another major catastrophe: the 2008 recession. Counting Myha’la (“Leave the World Behind,” 2023), Sagar Radia (“The Good Karma Hospital”), Marisa Abela (“Back to Black,” 2024) and Ken Leung (“Lost”) among the main cast, “Industry” has seen significant growth in viewership since it released its third season in September 2024.

“For three seasons, ‘Industry’ has been unflinching in its examination of ambition and class, solidifying itself as a marquee HBO drama,” Francesca Orsi, executive vice-president of HBO Programming and head of HBO drama series and films, wrote in a statement to the media. “Under Mickey [Down] and Konrad [Kay]’s [both of “Hoff the Record”] singular vision, this twisted, thrilling look at London finance has redefined the contemporary workplace show.

“We’re so excited that viewers and critics have recognized Season 3 as bigger and better than ever, buoyed by sublime performances from our unparalleled cast.”

For those who may not recall, Season 3 ended as (spoilers!) Rishi (Radia) defaulted on his debts to some seedy loan sharks and his wife (Emily Barber, “MobLand”) was murdered in return. As Rishi faced the life-altering consequences of his pecuniary choices, Yasmin (Abela) accepted a proposal from old money Lumi CEO Henry Muck (Kit Harington, “Game of Thrones”), further solidifying her rise in status by association. Harper (Myha’la), meanwhile, was also on the rise in the Season 3 finale, thanks to her funds secured by Robert’s (Harry Lawtey, “Joker: Folie a Deux,” 2024) godfather, Otto (Roger Barclay, “The Bay”), and her ambition to tackle the American market from her native New York.

Robert, too, is stateside, having left the U.K. after one final tryst with Yasmin. And, given that he has now settled in a cushy Silicon Valley job out west, Deadline has confirmed that Lawtey’s character will not be returning for Season 4. Myha’la, Abela, Harington, Radia, Leung and Barclay are all returning, however, as are Miriam Petche (“The Worst Witch”) and Andrew Havill (“The King’s Speech,” 2010).

As for what the future of the series has in store for fans of the show, writer-creators Down and Kay told Elle that they have “broadened the canvas again,” claiming that the eight-episode season “should make for the most compulsively watchable week-to-week viewing experience we’ve presented since we first aired.”

In the same Elle exclusive interview, the pair noted that the new plot points have “slotted seamlessly into the ‘Industry’ universe” and “made it feel richer than ever.”

Per the official logline: “At the top of their game and living the lives they set out to have as Pierpoint grads, Harper and Yasmin are drawn into a high-stakes, globetrotting cat-and-mouse game when a splashy fintech darling bursts onto the London scene. As Yasmin navigates her relationship with tech founder Sir Henry Muck and Harper is pulled into the orbit of enigmatic executive Whitney Halberstram [Max Minghella, “The Social Network,” 2010], their twisted friendship begins to warp and ignite under the pressure of money, power and the desire to be on top.”

Toheeb Jimoh (“Ted Lasso”), Charlie Heaton (“Stranger Things”), Amy James-Kelly (“Safe”), Kiernan Shipka (“Chilling Adventures of Sabrina”), Kal Penn (“Harold & Kumar Go to White Castle,” 2004), Jack Farthing (“Spencer,” 2021), Stephen

Campbell Moore (“The Bank Job,” 2008), Claire Forlani (“Departure”) and Edward Holcroft (“Kingsman: The Secret Service,” 2014) also star in Season 4.

“We have no doubt that Mickey [Down] and Konrad [Kay], alongside the amazing team under executive producer Jane Tranter [“Succession”] at Bad Wolf and executive producer Kathleen McCaffrey [for Little Gems], will take Season 4 to even greater heights,” said Orsi.

Kate Crowther (“Wanderlust”) and Ryan Rasmussen (“His Dark Materials”) executive produce with Tranter for Bad Wolf, while Rebecca Ferguson (“Doctor Who”) executive produces for BBC. Down and Key serve as series directors, as do Michelle Savill (“Sex Education”) and Luke Snellin (“Feel Good”).

Be sure to invest in Season 4 of “Industry” when it premieres Sunday, Jan. 11, on HBO and HBO Max.

'Agatha Christie's Seven Dials': McKenna-Bruce and Freeman lead Netflix mystery

By Kimberly Tremblay
TV Media

The candlelit halls of a grand estate in 1925 England conceals more than what meets the eye in Netflix's three-part series "Agatha Christie's Seven Dials." Premiering on the streamer Thursday, Jan. 15, the series takes fans from the pages of Agatha Christie's 1929 best-selling novel "The Seven Dials Mystery" to the suspenseful screen of creator Chris Chibnall's ("Doctor Who") latest series.

The Chimneys estate, with its polished silverware and perfectly manicured lawns, acts as both playground and trap as the brittle niceties of the upper class create the perfect pressure cooker for secrets ready to explode. And in the middle of it all is none other than Lady Eileen "Bundle" Brent (Mia McKenna-Bruce, "Vampire Academy"), a young, inquisitive aristocrat who "unravels a chilling plot that will change her life" (per Netflix).

When a practical joke at a dinner party involving eight alarm clocks goes "horribly, murderously wrong," says Netflix, and a guest (Corey Mylchreest, "Queen Charlotte: A Bridgerton Story") staying the night winds up dead, it's up to Bundle and Superintendent Battle (Martin Freeman, "The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey," 2012) to figure out what happened that fateful evening.

"Chris Chibnall's scripts are brilliant, and I'm thrilled to be part of this new interpretation of the iconic Agatha Christie's storytelling," McKenna-Bruce said in an interview with Netflix's Tudum.

Helena Bonham Carter ("Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix," 2007) also joins the cast, starring as the elegant Lady Caterham, who offers a stern warning to Bundle in a teaser, saying: "People who go looking for trouble usually find it."

Netflix dropped the first trailer for "Agatha Christie's Seven Dials" in November 2025, opening with glimpses of a grand fireplace, a clock's relentless ticking and sweeping shots of the Chimneys estate before a blanket is pulled over the body of Gerry Wade (Mylchreest), a party guest murdered with nothing left behind at the scene except for seven clocks. Tension ripples through the mansion as Dr. Cyril

Mia McKenna-Bruce in "Agatha Christie's Seven Dials"

Matip (Nyasha Hatendi, "Swan Song," 2021) cautions that the guests among them know far more than they're letting on.

In another clip, their investigation leads them to London, with a confused Bundle saying, "None of this adds up," as Battle begs her to, "Please, stay away from anything to do with Seven Dials." But she shakes him off, promising: "I'm not going to stop until I find out the truth." The following clip shows Bundle creeping up a dark staircase, a mysterious man roaming the garden as he searches for clues, and a hooded figure whose face is hidden behind a mask etched with an analog clock. It's clear from Netflix's trailer that Bundle and Battle certainly have their work cut out for them.

Also featuring in the series are Edward Bluemel ("Killing Eve") as Jimmy Thesiger, a young man whose charm and secrets stir unease among the upper-crust guests; Nabhaan Rizwan ("Kaos") as Ronny Devereux, a lively partygoer; Alex Macqueen ("The Trial of Christine Keeler") in the role of George Lomax, a blustering official who attempts to maintain order at Chimneys; and Guy Siner ("Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl," 2003) as Tredwell, Lady Caterham's impeccably discreet butler.

From director Chris Sweeney ("The Tourist"), "Agatha Christie's Seven Dials" is written by Chibnall, who also serves as executive producer alongside Suzanne Mackie ("The Crown"), Chris Sussman ("Good Omens"), Andy Stebbing ("The Crown") and Joanna Crow ("The Luminaries").

"I am excited to be bringing 'Agatha Christie's Seven Dials' to life and to be introducing a new generation of iconic Christie characters to the screen," Mackie said about the series. "It has been a joy to work with Chris Chibnall in creating this bold, authored and ambitious vision for the series."

James Prichard ("Murder on the Orient Express," 2017), a relative of Christie's and an executive producer on the series, notes the Bundle character is one of his great-grandmother's raft of "interesting, humorous and sharp young female characters," adding that "seeing her brought to life through the words of Chris Chibnall and this production with Orchid Pictures and Netflix is a dream come true."

When asked if the series lives up to Christie's novel, Prichard believes fans will be pleased with the series.

"I think viewers will love this world that we have created, and hope for more."

Celebrating decades of gripping whodunits, Netflix promises there's still more of Christie to discover.

"Agatha Christie's storytelling has been thrilling mystery lovers for generations, but there is still more for us to explore for audiences at Netflix," Anne Mensah, vice president of Original Series at Netflix, said in a statement.

As the elegant facade of the upper crusts begins to reveal the greed hidden behind polite smiles, clinking champagne glasses and glittering jewels, Netflix's "Agatha Christie's Seven Dials" arrives Thursday, Jan. 15, for viewers to step into the suspense and unravel the secrets of the Chimneys estate.

Johnny Knoxville to host 'Fear Factor' reboot

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Knoxville knows best: "Jack-ass" star Johnny Knoxville has willingly taken part in car crashes, boxing matches, rocket launches and bull fights. But what level of danger can the average person handle?

Knoxville puts daring competitors to the test in the all-new series "Fear Factor: House of Fear," premiering Wednesday, Jan. 14, on Fox.

Acting as a spinoff of the original "Fear Factor" series — which ran for six seasons on NBC, from 2001 to 2006 — this vamped-up reboot will see its contestants taking part in shockingly extreme stunts and challenges, much like its predecessor, while welcoming the addition of a new psychological twist: the players will be living together for the duration of the competition, dropped in a remote location where they'll have no one to rely on but each other.

According to the series logline, "House of Fear" promises to be "bigger, bolder and more daring" than the original. "Dropped into an unforgiving, remote location," it reads, "a group of strangers will live together under one roof and face mind-blowing stunts, harrowing challenges and a twisted game of social strategy where trust is fleeting — and fear is a weapon. Only one contestant will conquer all their fears and walk away with the massive grand prize!"

A trailer shared for the upcoming series offers a taste of what is to come, showcasing challenges that have competitors crawling through snake cages, being buried under concrete and tasting some stomach-churning eats. Plus, Knoxville can be seen jumping headfirst into the action, dripping hot wax on one player before engineering an electrocution challenge.

Johnny Knoxville hosts "Fear Factor: House of Fear"

"Johnny Knoxville is the champion of fearless entertainment," says Michael Thorn, president of Fox Television Network. "His wild sense of humor, unmatched ability to push boundaries and take on the extreme makes him the perfect fit to lead this bold new reinvention of 'Fear Factor.'"

With Kevin Lee ("The Real Housewives of Orange County"), Anthony Carbone ("Fear Factor"), Sharon Levy ("Time: The Kalief Browder Story"), Michael Heyerman ("Extreme Makeover: Home Edition") and Sean Loughlin ("Deal or No Deal Island") on board as executive producers, "Fear Factor: House of Fear" premieres Wednesday, Jan. 14, on Fox.

Close to home: Laurel, Mississippi, will see the return of renovators Ben and Erin Napier for the milestone 10th season of "Home Town," which airs a new episode on HGTV Sunday, Jan. 11. New episodes will premiere weekly on the network.

"Attracting 23.3 million viewers across linear and streaming to their last run, the small-town sweethearts and home renovation experts will revive outdated homes and historical locations in their small town of Laurel, Mississippi," reads the series' description, given by Warner Bros. Discovery. "In each hourlong episode, the Napiers will take on projects for new residents and longtime friends and neighbors, while exploring new design styles and navigating their busy family life."

To celebrate their double-digit accomplishment, Ben and Erin have some big projects planned, including a maternity ward makeover, a renovation for Ben's brother, Jesse, and a complete home remodel for a newly engaged couple looking to host their wedding on their own property.

In the season premiere, the Napiers begin their largest "Home Town" overhaul yet, fixing up a space that has belonged to the same homeowner for the past five decades. "The gigantic transformation, which unfolds across two episodes, will bring much-needed updates to the historic property, while preserving the house's original features," the network shares.

In addition to the return of "Home Town," Ben and Erin have also shared excitement over a spinoff series — "Home Town: Inn This Together" — set to air later in 2026.

"[Ben and Erin] will now join forces with their family and friends Jim, Mallorie and Josh to restore the dilapidated 1930 Kress building in downtown Laurel," the new show's logline reads. "The trio believes the 25,000-square-foot space will be the perfect setting for a hotel, food venue and storefront, but they'll need Ben and Erin's magic touch to make their dream a reality."

Shortly after the show's announcement, however, the Napiers shared that the space featured in the series — dubbed The Heirloom — was severely damaged in a devastating fire that destroyed the family's hard work shortly after the project's completion. While the building's fate remains unknown, Ben has promised the episodes will still air in 2026, paying homage to the historic space.

Seeing spaces brought back to life, Season 10 of "Home Town" continues Sunday, Jan. 11, with a new episode airing on HGTV.

"The Upshaws" - Season 7

Closing out the comedic family saga with one last set of stories, "The Upshaws" returns to Netflix Thursday, Jan. 15, for its seventh and final season. Set in Indianapolis, the series follows the Upshaws, a working-class blended family, through their daily lives. As family patriarch Bennie (Mike Epps, "Dolemite Is My Name," 2019) tries to find peace while raising his four kids — Bernard Jr. (Jermelle Simon, "Sojourn," 2018), Kelvin (Diamond Lyons, "Colin in Black & White"), Aaliyah (Khali Spraggins, "Empire") and Maya (Journey Christine, "Let it Snow," 2019) — and balancing his relationships with his wife, Regina (Kim Fields, "The Facts of Life"), and ex-Tasha (Gabrielle Dennis, "A Black Lady Sketch Show"), Bennie's perpetually unimpressed sister-in-law, Lucretia (Wanda Sykes, "Monster-in-Law," 2005), keeps an eye on them all. In this new season, according to Netflix, "the Upshaws continue to ride life's ups and downs, including new jobs, bigger dreams, health struggles and some major life surprises but still hanging on with the love that comes with family." Created by Regina Y. Hicks ("Girlfriends") and series star Wanda Sykes, "The Upshaws" also stars Page Kennedy ("S.W.A.T.," 2003), Michel Estime ("Last Holiday," 2006), Daria Johns ("Animator," 2018) and Leonard Earl Howze ("Kevin Can Wait").

"Love Through a Prism" - Season 1

Set in early-1900s London, Season 1 of "Love Through a Prism" premieres on Netflix Thursday, Jan. 15. The series follows Lili Ichijoin (voiced by Atsumi Tanezaki, "Spy x Family"), a young Japanese exchange student who travels to England to enroll at the prestigious Saint Thomas Art Academy, determined to make her mark in the art world. Under pressure from her parents to rise to the top of her class within six months — or return home — Lili immerses herself in painting, only to discover that her fiercest rival is Kit Church (Koki Uchiyama, "Soul Eater"), an aristocratic student known for his talent and detachment. Their rivalry quickly sparks something unexpected, as shared dedication to art turns tension into a budding romance that begins to reshape both of their lives. Alongside Lili and Kit, the academy features a vibrant cast, including exchange students Shinnosuke (Yuki Kaji, "Attack on Titan") and his sister Sakura (Akari Kito, "Gnosia"), Lili's roommate Dorothy (Megumi Han, "A Silent Voice," 2016), the charismatic Joffrey (Yohei Azakami, "Dusk Beyond the End of the World") and Kit's friend, Peter (Shogo Sakata, "Chain-saw Man - The Movie: Reze Arc," 2025). "Love Through a Prism" is directed by Kazuto Nakazawa ("Kill Bill: Vol. 1," 2003) and written by Yoko Kamio ("Boys Over Flowers").

"Southland" - Complete Series

From rookie officers to seasoned detectives, all five seasons of "Southland" hit Netflix this Friday,

A scene from "Love Through a Prism"

Jan. 16. "Southland" brings viewers into the raw, unpredictable world of Los Angeles police work, following patrol officers and detectives as they confront crime and personal struggle on the city's streets. Season 1 introduces rookie Officer Ben Sherman (Ben McKenzie, "Gotham") during his first shift with veteran cop John Cooper (Michael Cudlitz, "The Walking Dead"), whose no-nonsense training pushes Sherman to question if he's cut out for the job as they respond to a violent call that leads to a sudden, deadly shoot-out. Meanwhile, Detective Lydia Adams (Regina King, "If Beale Street Could Talk," 2018) juggles relentless caseloads while caring for her ailing mother, patrol officer Chickie Brown (Arija Bareikis, "The Purge," 2013) dreams of joining the SWAT team, and gang squad detectives Sammy Bryant (Shawn Hatosy, "The Pitt") and Nate Moretta (Kevin Alejandro, "Arrow") chase dangerous leads and protect vulnerable witnesses. "Southland" is created by Ann Biderman ("NYPD Blue") and written by Sara Gran ("Chance").

"The Night Manager" - Season 2

Making its much-anticipated return a decade after it first aired, the star-studded, action-packed drama "The Night Manager" premieres on Prime Video Sunday, Jan. 11. Based on John le Carré's novel of the same name — which has wowed audiences and critics alike, earning awards and nominations around the world — the series follows soldier-turned-hotel manager Jonathan Pine (Tom Hiddleston, "Avengers: Endgame," 2019), who was tasked with infiltrating the operations of a high-profile arms dealer (Hugh Laurie, "House") in its first season. Now, the drama catches up with Pine — now living as Alex Goodwin, a low-level MI6 officer running a quiet surveillance unit in London — who thought he'd left his past behind him where it belongs. But when an old foe reappears, it leads Pine to an encounter with a new opponent: Colombian businessman Teddy Dos Santos (Diego Calva, "Midnight Family"). As Pine gets back in the field, he finds a reluctant new partner in businesswoman Roxana Bolanos (Camila Morrone, "Daisy Jones & The Six"), who helps Pine unravel a deadly plot and a vast conspiracy. Created and executive produced by David Farr ("Hanna"), "The Night Manager" Season 2 is directed by Georgi Banks-Davies ("Kaos"). The cast also includes Olivia Colman ("The Roses," 2025), Indira Varma ("Game of Thrones"), Paul Chahidi ("This Country"), Hayley Squires ("No Way Home," 2023), Alistair Petrie ("Andor"), Douglas Hodge ("The Great"), Michael Nardone ("Traces") and Noah Jupe ("Franklin").

"Ponies" - Season 1

Never judge a book by its cover — especially in the covert world of espionage. From co-creators David Iserson ("Mr. Robot") and Susanna Fogel ("The Flight Attendant"), the premiere of the new spy thriller "Ponies" is available to stream on Prime Video Thursday, Jan. 15, via the Peacock channel. Set in 1970s Russia, the series follows two "PONIES" — or "persons of no interest" — who work in anonymous roles as secretaries in Moscow's American embassy. But when their husbands are killed under mysterious circumstances, Bea (Emilia Clarke, "Game of Thrones") and Twila (Haley Lu Richardson, "The White Lotus") find themselves thrust into a high-stakes new world as CIA operatives. Though vastly different women, the duo work together "to uncover a vast Cold War conspiracy and solve the mystery that made them widows in the first place" (per Peacock). The series also stars Adrian Lester ("Hustle"), Artjom Gilz ("Das Boot"), Nicholas Podany ("Hello Tomorrow!"), Petro Nivovskiy ("The Silence") and Vic Michaelis ("Very Important People").

"Hijack" - Season 2

From the skies to the subways, there's tension everywhere in Apple TV's "Hijack," the thriller series returning for its second season Wednesday,

Jan. 14, available on Prime Video via the Apple TV channel. Playing out over eight episodes, the series finds Sam Nelson (Idris Elba, "Beast," 2022), an accomplished negotiator in the business world, in the midst of another high-stakes crisis — this time on the Berlin underground. When a train and its commuters are taken hostage, authorities above ground scramble to salvage the situation. All the while, Sam is on board the train in the middle of the chaos, using his extensive skill set to diffuse the volatile situation. Counterterrorism officer Zahra Gahfoor (Archie Panjabi, "The Good Wife") returns to the series, alongside Christine Adams ("Malice") and Max Beesley ("Bodies"). This season also stars Christian Nathe ("Balloon," 2018), Clare-Hope Ashitey ("Funny Woman"), Lisa Vicari ("Dark"), Toby Jones ("Mr Bates vs The Post Office"), Karima McAdams ("Deep State") and Christiane Paul ("Counterpart").

'Worst Cooks in America' welcomes reality TV stars to the kitchen

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Television personalities test out their skills in the kitchen during "Worst Cooks in America: Reality Check," which airs a new episode on Food Network this Sunday, Jan. 11.

While they might be talented in their field of work, these all-stars will be transformed from "cooking disasters to kitchen masters," according to Food Network, as mentoring chefs Jeff Mauro ("The Kitchen") and Tiffany Derry ("The Great American Recipe") share skills, techniques and recipes that (hopefully) strengthen their culinary chops.

The stars in question include Lisa Barlow ("The Real Housewives of Salt Lake City"), Val Chmerkovskiy ("Dancing With the Stars"), Reza Farahan ("The Valley: Persian Style"), Amara La Negra ("Love & Hip Hop: Miami"), Manila Luzon ("RuPaul's Drag Race"), Beverly Mitchell ("7th Heaven"), CT Tamburello ("The Traitors USA"), Romeo Miller ("Growing Up Hip Hop"), Downtown Julie Brown ("Club MTV") and Olympic swimmer Ryan Lochte.

During the season's premiere episode — which aired Jan. 4 — the recruits took part in a baseline challenge, which saw the celebs making red carpet-worthy dishes that showcased their maker's strengths and weaknesses. Afterwards, in the main dish challenge, the competitors were split into teams (one led by Mauro and another by Derry) and taught how to make spicy piri piri chicken.

"Some recruits rise to the occasion, while others fizzle out," Food Network teased.

Week by week, players will be eliminated until only two remain. As the season's most-improved recruits, these finalists must create a three-course, restaurant-quality meal for a panel of surprise guest judges. The winning contestant will earn themselves $25,000 for charity and, of course, bragging rights — for both themselves and for their team's leader.

"The kitchen is not where this season's celebrity recruits shine, but Jeff and Tiffany are determined to change that," said Betsy Ayala, head of content, food at Warner Bros. Discovery. "Worst Cooks is where comedy and cooking chaos collide, but in the end there are some impressive culinary transformations that will blow our audience away."

Thursday

(33) 7:00 AM

Wild Kratts

While snowboarding across the Arctic tundra, the Kratt brothers encounter a polar bear cub and a walrus calf, who are enemies. When Zach kidnaps the calf and cub, Chris, Martin and the animals unite for a rescue in the frozen North.

Friday

DISN 1:00 PM

Hey AJ!

AJ, an imaginative young girl, and her stuffed bunny sidekick, Theo, turn everyday moments into playful adventures. From rocket-ship space quests to superhero missions, no moment is too small to feel extraordinary with family and friends by her side.

FREEFORM 6:00 PM

Freaky Friday

Celebrate Friday the 13th with this "freaky" flick, in which a busy, working mom (Jamie Lee Curtis) and her rebellious teenage daughter (Lindsay Lohan) magically switch bodies, forced to experience each other's daily lives.

Saturday

(57) 6:00 AM

Mister Rogers' Neighborhood

Mister Rogers introduces the musicians behind the show: pianist Johnny Costa, percussionist Bob Rawshtorne and bassist Carl McVicker. In Make-Believe, King Friday declares a Bass Violin Festival, and the neighbors all find creative ways to celebrate.

FREEFORM 7:00 AM

Dr. Seuss' Horton Hears a Who!

Proving a person's a person, no matter how small, this 2008 animated feature finds Horton the elephant on the precipice of a new friendship. When he claims that his new friend lives on a tiny speck of dust, however, his community begins to doubt him.

Woody and Buzz, from "Toy Story"

Siggi, AJ, Theo and Marty, from "Hey AJ!"

Evan Peters in "Tron: Ares"
Tron: Ares

Ares (Leto) is a highly advanced program created as part of a next-generation initiative designed to bring digital intelligence into physical reality. Engineered for precision, obedience and dominance, Ares is sent into the human world to carry out a mission that will permanently alter the balance between humanity and technology. Once inside the human world, Ares witnesses a world operating on emotion, contradiction and moral uncertainty — elements that are absent from his original programming. As he navigates human society, Ares begins to develop self-awareness and curiosity, forcing him to question the purpose he was designed to serve.

Director: Joachim Ronning. Stars: Jared Leto, Greta Lee, Evan Peters, Jodie Turner-Smith, Hasan Minhaj, Arturo Castro, Gillian Anderson, Jeff Bridges. 2025. 119 min. Science Fiction.

Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan in "It's a Great Feeling"

Baking Championship: Next Gen

FOOD 8:00 PM

It's a family affair as 12 teams of siblings compete in numerous challenges in hopes of winning $25,000, in addition to the title of Baking Champions. Pastry and baking masters Duff Goldman and Kareem Brown mentor the challengers.

The Wall

⑤ 9:00 PM

Season 6 of this competition series finds more teams looking to cash in on what the titular wall will give them. However, the second round puts players into isolation and increases the stress level. Level three ramps things up and adds more balls.

VOCES: American Sons

③③ ⑤7 10:00 PM

Witness how deep the scars of war can run in the latest episode of PBS's acclaimed docuseries. A decade after their deployment to Afghanistan, a brotherhood of marines still deals with the trauma of combat and the loss of their comrades.

It's a Great Feeling

TCM 10:00 PM

Judy Adams (Doris Day) is a waitress in the Warner Bros. cafeteria that dreams of being a movie star. Fortunately for her, actors Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan are looking for a co-star in their next picture. However, things don't go as planned for Judy.

Shawn Ashmore stars in “The Rookie”

Doc

④④ 9:00 PM

The search for Amy’s (Molly Park-er) hacker intensifies when the hospital finally brings in the FBI in this new episode. Meanwhile, Hannah (Emma Pfitzer Price) works with Amy to treat a sick older man whose daughter be-lieves has been poisoned.

Moonshiners

disc 9:00 PM

Moonshiners and taxes go to-gether like oil and water, and Mark, Digger and Tim look into the bloody battles of Civil War-era Brooklyn, when the government sent Marines to enforce liquor taxes, causing urban moonshiners to fight back, setting a trend.

The Rookie

⑫ ②② 10:00 PM

Things are looking very interna-tional for Nolan (Nathan Fillion) and other members of the squad in Season 8 of this police proce-dural. In a unique situation, the LAPD are required to assist the Feds on a mission in Europe. Bon voyage!

NHL Hockey

TNT TRUTV 10:00 PM

The top teams in the Western Con-ference duke it out when Jake Oettinger and the Dallas Stars head to the Honda Center in Ana-heim, Calif., to take on Leo Carls-son and the Anaheim Ducks. Who will come out on top in this major showdown?

Shifting Gears

(12) 7:30 PM

As an owner of a successful classic car restoration shop, Matt (Tim Allen) knows what's needed to restore any car to tip-top shape. However, does he have what it takes to restore his strained relationship with estranged daughter, Riley (Kat Dennings)?

Chicago Med

(5) 8:00 PM

Sharon (S. Epatha Merkerson), Dr. Charles (Oliver Platt) and the elite medical team at Gaffney Chicago Medical Center try to balance their personal and professional lives while doing their best to serve the people of the Windy City.

Nature

(33) (57) 8:00 PM

From their drive for dominance to the unique bonds that form between males, viewers get a rare look at the complex lives of elephant bulls living around Mount Kilimanjaro and the open plains of Amboseli during the newest episode of this docuseries.

Fear Factor: House of Fear

(12) (44) 9:00 PM

Housed in a remote location, contestants live together to face crazy stunts, terrifying challenges and a social element where fear is a weapon. How living together changes the dynamics of the premise is anyone's guess, but the challenges are no joke.

"Tell Me Lies" - Season 3

Explore the emotional journey of one couple and their tumultuous relationship in Season 3 of the coming-of-age drama "Tell Me Lies," premiering Tuesday, Jan. 13, on Hulu. Based on Carola Lovering's 2018 novel of the same name, the series began with Long Island, New York, native Lucy Albright (Grace Van Patten, "Nine Perfect Strangers") heading off to a small California college, more than happy to have hundreds of miles of space between herself and her mother (Jessica Capshaw, "Grey's Anatomy"). Quickly finding a kindred spirit in handsome, charming and beyond-complicated Stephen DeMarco (Jackson White, "Mrs. Fletcher"), the pair tumble into an addictive roller coaster of a relationship. This new season picks up with Lucy and Stephen, who have rekindled their relationship (again) in time for the spring semester. But while the couple enters this new phase of its relationship determined to make healthy changes, the past refuses to stay behind them, as "past indiscretions hinder their best intentions, and Lucy finds herself embroiled in a controversy she wants nothing to do with. ... [and] the disastrous repercussions from the previous year also force Lucy and Stephen's friends to face their own destructive behaviors" (per Hulu). Written for the screen by executive producer and showrunner Meaghan Oppenheimer ("Queen America"), "Tell Me Lies" also stars Catherine Missal ("Vacation," 2015), Spencer House ("Teenage Bounty Hunters"), Sonia Mena ("The Deuce"), Branden Cook ("Masters of the Air"), Alicia Crowder ("The Society") and new cast addition Costa D'Angelo ("Neighbours").

"Twinless" (2025)

Premiering Friday, Jan. 16, on Hulu, writer-director James Sweeney's ("Straight Up," 2019) "Twinless" follows two strangers brought together by a devastating loss. The film centers on Roman (Dylan O'Brien, "The Maze Runner," 2014), a young man reeling from the sudden death of his identical twin brother, Rocky (also played by O'Brien). Struggling with a loss few can understand, Roman joins a support group for "twinless twins," where he meets Dennis (Sweeney), a fellow attendee who shares the same pain. The two form a close friendship that carries them through their grief, though one is harboring a shocking secret that could threaten their friendship. Starring Lauren Graham ("Gilmore Girls"), Aisling Franciosi ("The Nightingale," 2018), Arkira Chantaratananond ("Night Always

Grace Van Patten and Jackson White star in "Tell Me Lies"

Comes," 2025), Kody Harvard ("The Great Divide," 2024) and Tasha Smith ("Couples Retreat," 2009), "Twinless" is executive produced by O'Brien and Sweeney, alongside Liz Destro ("Longlegs," 2024), David Gendron ("The Girlfriend Experience") and Ali Jazayeri ("The Monkey," 2025).

"Fremont" (2023)

"Fremont" makes its streaming debut on Hulu this Monday, Jan. 12, offering viewers a moving portrait of one woman's search for connection. From director Babak Jalali ("Radio Dreams," 2016), "Fremont" follows a young Afghan refugee (Anaita Wali Zada, "SAG-AFTRA Foundation Conversations") as she struggles to rebuild her life after working as a translator for the U.S. military in Afghanistan. Each day she commutes from her modest Fremont apartment to a Chinese fortune cookie factory in San Francisco, where she packages cookies alongside co-workers and is unexpectedly tasked with writing the for-tones. In a moment of sudden revelation, she embeds a personal message in a cookie — a small but meaningful act that sets her on an uncertain path toward human connection and hope. With a script co-written by Jalali and Carolina Cavalli ("Amanda," 2022), "Fremont" also stars Gregg Turkington ("Ant-Man," 2015), Jeremy Allen White ("The Bear") and Hilda Schmelling ("Forevertown," 2024), with Nickhil Jakatdar ("Knock Out Girl") serving as the film's executive producer.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: I heard somewhere that the producers of "The Hunt for Red October" approached Harrison Ford for the lead first, before going with Alec Baldwin. But that can't be right because Ford replaced Baldwin for the sequels, didn't he?

A: To quote Marko Ramius (as played by Sean Connery in 1990's "The Hunt for Red October") himself, "Your conclusions were all wrong, Ryan."

You're right that Harrison Ford ("Star Wars: Episode IV - A New Hope," 1977) replaced Alec Baldwin ("Working Girl," 1988) as cinematic spy Jack Ryan, after Baldwin launched the role in "The Hunt for Red October."

However, Ford was actually offered the role first. He turned it down but then changed his mind later.

The (unconfirmed) story goes that

Harrison Ford in "Patriot Games"

Baldwin asked for more money to appear in a sequel after "Red October" was a runaway hit. After receiving his salary demand, producers supposedly said, "For that price, we could get Harrison Ford" (and, having approached him before, they would have known his price).

Ford was a much bigger star at the time — already the face of two of the biggest film franchises in history, Indiana Jones and Star Wars.

Baldwin, on the other hand, was still in the early part of his career. He'd been in a couple of minor hits already, but "Red October" was by far his biggest.

Thus, it was Ford who starred in the sequel, 1992's "Patriot Games."

I should note that there are other stories for why the star swap happened. For example, "Red October" director John McTiernan told Movieline in 2001 that he and Baldwin both left the franchise because they had Irish backgrounds and didn't want to do "Patriot Games," in which Irish republican terrorists are the villains. But no one denies that Ford turned down the role before Baldwin got it.

Q: What's Pierce Brosnan been doing lately? I feel like I haven't seen him in anything for a while.

A: It's a frustrating effect of the modern TV era, with its dozens of traditional channels and an ever-growing number of streaming services, that people — even fans like yourself — can be unaware of one of the biggest hits of the year.

Perennial Irish heartthrob Pierce Brosnan ("The World Is Not Enough," 1999) was one of the stars of the Paramount+ crime drama "MobLand," which premiered in March and became the biggest hit on the streaming service.

It was quickly renewed for a second season, which began filming in November, so a new season should be on its way to screens soon.

Incredibly, despite all that activity, that's not even close to the only thing Brosnan's been up to lately. He actually appeared in three different films in 2025, and has already gotten one out this year.

He starred in the Netflix mystery "The Thursday Murder Club," was a chief support in the big-screen spy drama "Black Bag" and did a voice in the religious animated film "The King of Kings," all in 2025. And just a few days ago, his new boxing biopic, "Giant," was released in theaters (he plays real-life Irish boxing coach Brendan Ingle).

This kind of output is frankly remarkable for a star of Brosnan's status. Having led dozens of major films and TV series — including the famously coveted role of James Bond for nearly a decade — you'd think he'd be easing his way into retirement at this point, not setting a pace most younger actors would shy from.
