Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

Last night [May 6] was the Met Gala. ... Every year, here in New York City, the Met throws the most exclusive and opulent party. Last night's theme was the Garden of Time, based on a 1962 short story about elites living in a utopia of leisure, art and beauty while an encroaching and chaotic mob draws nearer every hour. A little on the nose, guys. I'm guessing next year's theme is going to be "Ah! They've breached the doors! Quick, hide behind the Chagall!"

Today's [May 7] breaking "zoos" comes from China, where zoogoers were outraged to discover the panda exhibit was actually dogs dyed black and white. Of course, there's a simple explanation: the dogs are in a Kristi Noem protection program.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

Equinox is launching a $40,000 membership aimed at helping people live longer. You don't even have to work out. Just look at the price, and your heart rate goes way up.

Speaking of [Donald] Trump, yesterday [May 7] during his hush-money trial, he got a warning from the judge because he was overheard cursing during Stormy Daniels' testimony. It's not great when a court transcript has worse language than the roast of Tom Brady.

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

[Kristi Noem] writing about shooting her puppy, her goat and three horses might be the most damaging unforced error anyone has ever made. Not since Plaxico Burress of the New York Giants shot himself in the leg outside a nightclub to end his season and do 20 months of jail has a high-profile human being done this much damage to herself. ... Now she's trying to spin it like the ghostwriter somehow screwed her over. ... Maybe the ghostwriter was the ghost of the goat.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

Yesterday [May 5] was Cinco de Mayo. Kendrick Lamar celebrated with his favorite piñata. [Puts up picture of rapper Drake]

President [Joe] Biden shared a video with actor Mark Hamill in honor of Star Wars Day [May 4], while South Dakota Gov. Kristi Noem shared a video of herself shooting and killing Chewbacca.

Judge Juan Merchan ruled today [May 6] that former president [Donald] Trump violated his gag order for a 10th time and warned that he will put Trump in jail if he has to. Please. You think Trump is scared of jail? That place is full of mobsters and white supremacists. He'll walk into jail the way Norm walks into Cheers.

Russian President Vladimir Putin was inaugurated today [May 7] for another six-year term. Putin sailed to victory after his opponent dropped out ... of a window.

Darkness and light: 'The Acolyte' rises on Disney+

By Raye Smith
TV Media

A new threat to the Jedi way of life rises. "The Acolyte," the newest entry into the Star Wars universe, makes its series premiere Tuesday, June 4, on Disney+. Based, as always, on the world, characters and original stories by Star Wars creator George Lucas, this new series takes a turn to the thrilling and mysterious side of sci-fi. Set in the High Republic era — for the first time in a live-action series — "The Acolyte" moves from the intergalactic battles of the Empire to smaller, more personal battles during this time of rare peace in the galaxy far, far away.

In the waning days of the High Republic, a time when Jedi Knights reigned supreme under the rule of the Senate, this story takes place about a century before any of the Star Wars universe's most famous live-action characters — including Luke Skywalker (Mark Hamill, "The Fall of the House of Usher"), Leia Organa (Carrie Fisher, "When Harry Met Sally...", 1989), Han Solo (Harrison Ford, also star of the Indiana Jones franchise) and Obi-Wan Kenobi (played by both Alec Guinness, "The Bridge on the River Kwai," 1957, and Ewan McGregor, "A Gentleman in Moscow") — came to prominence.

"In 'Star Wars: The Acolyte,'" says the official Disney+ news release, "an investigation into a shocking crime spree pits a respected Jedi Master [Lee Jung-jae, "Squid Game"] against a dangerous warrior from his past [Amandla Stenberg, "The Hunger Games," 2012]. As more clues emerge, they travel down a dark path where sinister forces reveal all is not what it seems..."

While further plot details are being kept tightly under wraps, series creator and showrunner Leslye Headland ("Russian Doll") — who also directs the series' first two episodes and writes for the show — assures audiences that the series is set to move beyond the binaries of a battle of good versus evil, with twists and turns that are sure to keep viewers on their toes.

"If Star Wars is about the underdog versus the institution, [in 'The Acolyte,'] the Jedi are the institution," Headland said in an interview with Kristin Bayer, associate editor of StarWars.com. "I was so interested in a storyline where the Jedi were at the height of their power — and I don't mean ['The Phantom Menace'], because at that point, there's a Sith Lord in the Senate that they're not picking up on."

She later continued, "If the bad guys are actually the underdog, it just seemed like a cool reversal."

Included in the main series cast are Jung-jae as the wise and highly respected Jedi Master Sol, alongside Carrie-Anne Moss ("The Matrix," 1999) as Master Indara, "a Jedi Master of great physical and mental skill," as described by StarWars.com. Stenberg's character is Mae, a former padawan who grew to become a dangerous warrior.

Also included in the series ensemble cast is Jodie Turner-Smith ("The Last Ship") as Mother Aniseya, the leader of a coven of witches. While it is yet to be seen how her character folds into the story, Smith, when speaking to Collider's editor-in-chief Steve Weintraub, revealed that: "I'm allowed to say ... I'm really powerful. I use the Force, but I'm not a Jedi or a Sith. ... My character is a very powerful leader."

The remainder of the series cast is filled out by Manny Jacinto ("The Good Place") as Qimir, a smuggler-turned-trader; Dafne Keen ("His Dark Materials") as Jecki Lon, Master Sol's padawan apprentice; Charlie Barnett ("Russian Doll") as Yord

Fandar, a by-the-book Jedi Knight and guardian from the Jedi Temple; Rebecca Henderson ("Single Drunk Female") as elder Jedi Master Vernestra Rwoh, who became one of youngest Jedi Knights in a generation; Dean-Charles Chapman ("Game of Thrones") as Jedi Master Torbin; and Joonas Suotamo ("Solo: A Star Wars Story," 2018) as Kelnacca, a solitary Wookiee Jedi.

Also being introduced to audiences in the series is the pint-sized, handheld droid Pip, a "handheld repair droid with a wide array of tool attachments, [who] has a chipper, can-do personality" (per StarWars.com).

Like any good droid — including iconic characters like R2-D2 and C-3PO (Anthony Daniels, "Star Wars: Episode IV: A New Hope," 1977), and more recently BB-8 and K-2SO (Alan Tudyk, "Resident Alien") — Pip is set to bring some levity to the drama-packed adventure, as an adorable technological sidekick. As the StarWars.com description continues: "The pocket-sized droid is always eager to help, often suggesting just the right tool for the task at hand."

Behind the scenes, "The Acolyte" sees Hanelle M. Culpepper ("True Story"), Alex Garcia Lopez ("Cowboy Bebop") and Kogonada ("Pachinko") directing alongside Headland. The writing team, meanwhile, includes Headland, Jason Micallef ("Heathers"), Kor Adana ("Mr. Robot"), Charmaine DeGrate ("House of the Dragon"), Jocelyn Bioh ("Tiny Beautiful Things"), Claire Kiechel ("Watchmen"), Jen Richards ("Her Story"), Eileen Shim ("Light as a Feather"), Cameron Squires ("Final Space") and first-time screenwriter Jasmyne Flournoy ("The Falcon and the Winter Soldier").

Don't let your eyes deceive you, this is a Star Wars adventure like never before. As Headland noted to Bayer, "Whatever you think 'The Acolyte' is, it's not that. It's a drop in the bucket, baby. Just hang in there and check it out."

Taking fans on another Force-filled adventure, "Star Wars: The Acolyte" premieres Tuesday, June 4, on Disney+.

A bittersweet goodbye: 'Sweet Tooth' streams its final season

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

One boy's long, adventurous quest to be reunited with his mother comes to a close when "Sweet Tooth," the award-winning Netflix fantasy drama, returns for its third and final season on Thursday, June 6. The family series, based on the comic book series by Canadian author Jeff Lemire, follows human-deer hybrid boy Gus, portrayed by Christian Convery ("Mom," 2024), living in a post-apocalyptic world.

In the upcoming season, Gus travels to Alaska in search of his mother, Birdie (Amy Seimetz, "The Killing"), a geneticist who has been researching the origin of "the virus" for years in the land of the midnight sun. Joining Gus on his adventure are fellow hybrid Wendy (Naledi Murray, "The Undoing"), Animal Army founder Becky (Stefania LaVie Owen, "Messiah") and their protector, Tommy Jepperd (Nonso Anozie, "Ted Lasso"). The race to find a cure for the virus has scientists going to extreme lengths to conduct their research, including Dr. Aditya Singh (Adeel Akhtar, "Fool Me Once"), who encounters Gus on his trek north.

Threats come at Gus and his friends from all directions, and a new group, the Wolf Boys, appears on their radar. Led by Helen Zhang (Rosalind Chao, "3 Body Problem") and her daughter Rosie (Kelly Marie Tran, "Sorry For Your Loss"), the group sees Gus as the answer to its objective to restart human birth.

It seems all roads point to Gus when it comes to not only a cure for the Sick, but a greater future for humanity, but all he wants is to be reunited with Birdie, his family.

While even some of the most anticipated and beloved fantasy streaming series in recent memory have been abruptly cut short — think "The OA" and "The Dark Crystal: Age of Resistance" on Netflix and "Willow" on Disney+ — "Sweet Tooth" has been bestowed a different, more pleasant fate.

Showrunner Jim Mickle ("Hap and Leonard") talked to Netflix

about "Sweet Tooth" ending with its third season, saying, "In a lot of ways, it's exactly the story that I imagined we would tell, and in a lot of ways, it takes on its own life."

About having a vision for adapting the comic book, Mickel said, "At the beginning, I think you set out to tell these landmark pieces of Gus's story and the big pieces of the comic book, but the beauty of long-form storytelling and Gus's journey over 24 episodes is the characters themselves tell you what they want to be."

Praising everyone who helped make the show come to life, Mickel added, "The crew and cast bring so much depth and point of view to who the characters are and where they've come from and where they're going."

The story of "Sweet Tooth" began 10 years after the events of "The Great Crumble," which brought societal collapse following the devastation brought by the mysterious H5G9 virus. "The Sick," as they called it, killed nearly half of the global population, and suddenly babies were being born with animal characteristics. Whether the two events were connected, no one knew, and without answers, a dangerous division was drawn.

These hybrid children and their families lived in fear of those who sought to hurt them, protecting themselves from being hunted by poachers guided by their fear of the unknown. To keep Gus safe, his father, whom he called Pubba (Will Forte, "MacGruber"), raised him deep in the woods in a secure site, as far as possible from threatening people and the Sick.

When Pubba unexpectedly dies, Gus is left an orphan at only nine years old, naive to how vulnerable he is as a hybrid child in the cruel world outside of his forest home. After nearly being trapped by poachers, Gus is saved by a stranger, Tommy, who reluctantly agrees to accompany Gus as he begins his search for his mother. Unbeknownst to Gus, Tommy is a reformed member of the Last Men who has left his hunting days behind him in search of a better way.

All Gus had to go on is a photograph he believed to be of his mother, Birdie, that he found in a box of things that Pubba buried. The only clue the pair have to go on is the word "Colorado," which was written on the photo, so off they went in the direction of the Rockies.

Gus's journey took him from the only home he ever knew to Yellowstone and back again, and now on to Alaska, dodging certain death at nearly every turn. Along the way, he has encountered factions all motivated by their feelings toward the Sick or hybrids, whether it's the hybrid-protecting Animal Army or the ruthless Last Men.

Don't miss the sure-to-be thrilling final eight-episode season of "Sweet Tooth" when it premieres Thursday, June 6, on Netflix.

'The 1% Club' makes its American network debut

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Question quest: Time to shake the cobwebs off your logic and critical thinking skills, as this once-British game show, "The 1% Club," makes its American debut Monday, June 3, on Fox.

Having initially dropped on Prime Video eight days earlier, "The 1% Club" acts as the first game show to make its debut on the streaming service, further spreading the reach of this international format. Since its launch in the U.K., the series has since found its footing in the Netherlands, Australia, Germany, France, Israel, Spain and Turkey, now finding yet another home in the U.S. with this brand-new version.

In each episode of the game show, funnyman Patton Oswalt — from the likes of "Ratatouille" (2007), "The King of Queens," "The Goldbergs" and "The Sandman" — asks contestants a series of "increasingly difficult, logic-based questions," says Fox.

Based on a scientific survey made to test the nation's problem-solving skills, this compelling and hilarious game show "does not test intelligence; instead, it inquires on the way your brain works through 15 entertaining questions," the network went on to explain.

The questions begin easy with the "90% question" — one that 90 out of 100 surveyed people answered correctly — and from there, each question builds in difficulty until the final, "1% question," which was only answered correctly by one person asked.

"Whether you're a contestant vying for the cash prize or a viewer playing with your friends and family on the app, answer enough questions correctly and you could earn yourself a place in the 1% Club: an elite group of people who can honestly say they've outwitted 99% of the population," Fox concludes.

Patton Oswalt hosts "The 1% Club"

Speaking to Deadline, Oswalt chimed in with his classic sense of self-aware humor: "As a proud member of the 90%, it's a privilege to host this show."

Lauren Anderson, head of AVOD Originals, unscripted and targeted programming at Amazon MGM Studios, added: "Patton exudes all attributes of an iconic host, and we are thrilled he has joined us for the first-ever game show on Prime Video. [His] distinct combination of warmth and wit made him the ideal person."

Produced by BBC Studios Los Angeles Productions and Magnum Media, "The 1% Club" premieres Monday, June 3, on Fox.

Rental rodeo: The latest endeavor for "Property Brothers" Drew and Jonathan Scott, "Backed by the Bros," premieres Wednesday, June 5, on HGTV.

According to the network, this brand-new series features a 10-episode run, showcasing "another side" of the real estate moguls, as they "relinquish total control of renovations to advise bewildered entrepreneurs, short-term rental owners and residential developers on high-stakes investment properties. To get each project across the finish line in an unforgiving housing market, the popular twins will back investors with their professional expertise, experience, invaluable insights and top-notch resources — gratis."

HGTV's description continues: "In every episode of 'Backed By The Bros,' Drew and Jonathan will consider two potential real estate investments. After assessing the properties and meeting the owners, they will decide who to back with their full suite of support. Offering their expert mentorship, project management capabilities, trusted trade contacts, a team of designers and a warehouse full of construction materials, furniture and decor, Drew and Jonathan will bring every resource to the table. The Brothers are ready to help the investors avoid pitfalls, but there's no guarantee they will listen. Protégés may push back or go rogue, but if they make the right decisions, they'll get the best return on their investment."

Jonathan — who, fun fact, was born four minutes before his twin brother, Drew — explained that the pair plan to help people reach their full potential as property investors. "We made so many mistakes early on in our renovation and real estate careers," he explains. "We wished we could have had a mentor to help us."

"We want to help investors make the best choice possible and we want to educate them along the way on what we've learned over the years," Drew added. "We have a lot on the line, too. ... We are here to support, not take the reins."

In the series premiere, for example, Drew and Jonathan review two projects taking place in Southern California: one project in North Hollywood, described as being "more than $100,000 in the hole," and another in Burbank — a detached garage the owners hope to transform into a rental unit. One of the two will be "backed by the brothers," while the other will still see the benefits of Drew and Jonathan's help through a consultation, featuring invaluable advice.

See which property the brothers move forward with in the series premiere of "Backed by the Bros," airing Wednesday, June 5, on HGTV.

"Hit Man" (2024)

Take a walk on the dark side of society with the new action comedy "Hit Man," premiering Friday, June 7, on Netflix. Inspired by an unbelievable true story, the film stars Glen Powell ("Top Gun: Maverick," 2022) as strait-laced professor Gary Johnson, who discovers he is extraordinarily gifted at inhabiting different guises and personalities. Moonlighting for the New Orleans Police Department as a fake hit man, Gary uses his skills to catch hapless criminals (and would-be criminals) who are hoping to take out their enemies. But when Gary meets his new client, Madison (Adria Arjona, "True Detective"), he quickly falls for her, while she falls for one of his many hit man personas. As the pair descend deeper into their steamy affair, the stakes for all parties skyrocket higher. Directed by Richard Linklater ("Boyhood," 2014), "Hit Man" is based on the Texas Monthly article by Skip Hollandsworth ("Bernie," 2011) with a screenplay written by Linklater and Powell.

drive the getaway car. Retelling the story of Seattle's most prolific bandit, 2024's "How to Rob a Bank" makes its streaming debut this Wednesday, June 5, on Netflix. Scott Surlock — once a pre-med student — began a bank-robbing spree in the 1990s, stealing millions of dollars worth of cash from Emerald City banks as he donned masks and facial prosthetics, with his oddly cinematic tendencies earning him the moniker "Hollywood." Evading police left and right, Surlock's "Point Break" inspired antics soon resulted in a thrilling, real life game of cops and robbers — only this time, with life-and-death level stakes. This documentary, directed by Stephen Robert Morse ("Amanda Knox," 2016) and Seth Porges ("Class Action Park," 2020), features interviews with those closest to Surlock (including accomplices, friends and family), with the journalists who covered the story as it unfolded in real time, and with the detectives who ultimately stopped the robberies once and for all.

"How I Met Your Mother" — Complete Series

It's going to be legen ... wait for it ... dary. From blue french horns to yellow umbrellas, the entirety of "How I Met Your Mother" will be able to stream on Netflix as of Monday, June 3. Starring Josh Radnor ("Fleishman Is in Trouble"), Jason Segel ("Forgetting Sarah Marshall," 2008), Cobie Smulders ("The Avengers," 2012), Neil Patrick Harris ("A Series of Unfortunate Events"), Alyson Hannigan ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer") and more, this much-loved comedy series follows as late-in-life Ted Mosby (Radnor) recounts a wide-spanning tale to his children: the story of how he met their mother. Back in early-2000's New York City, Ted and his closest friends — Marshall (Segel), Robin (Smulders), Barney (Harris) and Lily (Hannigan) — experience the highs and lows of dating, relationships, career changes, family dramas and more. Featuring fan-favorite couples, cornerstone gags and, of course, some of "Robin Sparkles" top hits, "How I Met Your Mother" spans 9 seasons, and comes from creators Carter Bays ("The Goodwin Games") and Craig Thomas ("American Dad!"). Lyndsy Fonseca ("Kick-Ass," 2010), David Henrie ("Wizards of Waverly Place"), Cristin Milioti ("Palm Springs," 2020), Marshall Manesh ("The Big Lebowski," 1998), Joe Nieves ("Stuck in the Middle"), Charlene Amoia ("American Reunion," 2012) and Ashley Williams ("The Jim Gaffigan Show") also star.

"Marlon Wayans: Good Grief"
Marlon Wayans ("White Chicks," 2004) is back in the game and back on the stage when his newest stand-up special, "Marlon Wayans: Good Grief," premieres Tuesday, June 4, on Prime Video. Showcasing Wayans' signature comedic stylings, "blending physical humor and hilarious commentary, with a surprising amount of heart," this special, filmed live from the iconic Apollo Theater in Harlem, New York, sees "comedy [meet] therapy as Wayans works through his grief after recently losing both of his parents. He shares how his father taught him to be a man, the requirements to join the 'Dead Mama Club,' the surprises you encounter when changing your aging parents' diapers, and who is the funniest Wayans" (per Prime Video). From Amazon MGM Studios and Rick Alvarez's Ugly Baby Productions, the special is executive produced by Wayans, Rick Alvarez ("Marlon"), Michael Rotenberg ("Office Space," 1999), Steve Harris ("Mountain Men"), Craig Wayans ("My Wife and Kids") and Troy Miller ("Flight of the Conchords"), with producer Michelle Nguyen ("The Standups"). "Marlon Wayans: Good Grief" is directed by Troy Miller ("Arrested Development").

"Counsel Culture" - Season 1

Comedian, television host, actor and rapper Nick Cannon ("The Masked Singer") takes his health and fitness podcast from your RSS feeds to small screen when all nine half-hour episodes of "Counsel Culture's" first season premiere Thursday, June 6, on Prime Video and Amazon Freevee. Cannon hosts this new talk show alongside a rotating selection of guest co-hosts. Per Amazon MGM Studios, the show "seeks to help destigmatize topics around male mental health" by addressing "issues including grief, loyalty, financial security, marriage, trust, and emotional vulnerability." As such, each episode sees Cannon, the guest co-host and guest panelists — including the likes of actor-comedian Howie Mandel ("Bobby's World"), NFL legend T.J. Slaughter, singer Ne-Yo ("Give Me Everything"), BEAM founder Yolo Akili Robinson, psychic medium John Edward, plastic surgeon Dr. Sheila Nazarian and grief expert David Kessler — and discuss timely topics and how they're affecting their well-being. From Cannon's production company NCredible and Amazon MGM Studios, "Counsel Culture" is executive produced by Cannon, Benjamin Sumpter ("Nick Cannon's Big Drive") and Michael Goldman ("Big Fat Lair," 2002), and directed by Edgar Martin.

"Cry Macho" (2021)

At nearly 90 years old (at time of filming), it's an incredible feat to watch legendary actor-director Clint Eastwood ("Unforgiven," 1992) still work his movie magic in front of the camera. You can catch Eastwood's latest film, "Cry Macho," streaming now on Prime Video. Based off of N. Richard Nash's ("Here Come the Brides") 1975 novel of the same name, the film follows former rodeo star and washed-up horse breeder Mike Milo (Eastwood) as he's hired to take a young boy, Rafo (Eduardo Minette, "The Legend of Tomiris," 2019), from his alcoholic mother, Leta (Fernanda Urrejola, "Party of Five"), and back to his father (Dwight Yoakam, "Sling Blade," 1996), which is also Mike's former boss. However, this isn't a simple job as Leta doesn't give up Rafo so easily. While on the run from Leta's henchman, Mike and Rafo start forming a bond. With a screenplay by Nash and Nick Schenk ("Gran Torino," 2008), "Cry Macho" also stars Horacio Garcia Rojas ("Narcos: Mexico") as Aurelio, Ivan Hernandez ("The Cleaning Lady") as Lucas, Lincoln A. Castellanos ("Minx") as Zafiro, Natalia Traven ("Collateral Damage," 2002) as Marta, Marco Rodríguez ("The Crow," 1994) as Porfirio, Jorge-Luis Pallo ("Minority Report," 2002) as Deputy Diaz, Ana Rey ("Loot") as Señora Reyes, Rocko Reyes ("Squealer," 2023) as Capt. Garcia and Paul Lincoln Alayo ("Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.") as Sgt. Perez.

Eduardo Minette, Natalia Traven and Clint Eastwood in "Cry Macho"

Chefs say 'hello' to Puglia in 'Ciao House' Season 2

By Caroline Colacutt
TV Media

It's time to say "bentornato!" (or, "welcome back!") to Alex, to Gabriele and to Italy as Season 2 of "Ciao House" premieres Sunday, June 2, on Food Network.

Both returning from Season 1, hosts Alex Guarnaschelli ("Alex Vs. America") and Gabriele Bertaccini ("Wildcard Kitchen") are excited to leave the rolling hills of Tuscany behind, trading in one picturesque locale for another: the seaside region of Puglia, where they — alongside this season's contestants — will be staying on the beautiful grounds of a villa in Lecce, located in the "heel" of Italy's boot.

For those who missed the series' first season, "Ciao House" "[takes] rising culinary stars on the journey of a lifetime to live in a breathtaking Italian villa and compete against each other as individuals and in teams to prove their mastery of Italian cooking techniques and dishes" (per Food Network).

In each episode, the 12 competing chefs are tasked with culinary challenges "steeped in tradition," made even more difficult by the alliances and rivalries made between chefs as they pick their own teammates each week, with the losing team voting off one of their own. At the end of the day, all who remain return to their Lecce villa, where they must regroup and reorganize with their fellow competitors in order to dominate the next task.

Gabriele Bertaccini and Alex Guarnaschelli host "Ciao House"

Only one can win, however, putting teamwork on the back burner as the last chef standing will receive an immersive culinary education across Italy, training with renowned Italian master chefs.

Throughout this second season, the chefs will: meet "authentic, Italian nonnas," learning how to make pasta from scratch; visit an authentic Italian bakery, where they must create a menu incorporating bread into every dish; travel to Otranto, Italy, where they purchase fresh seafood right from the docks; take on a three-dish pasta challenge, which proves disastrous for some; step inside Italian butcher shops that go back generations; and host the first "Ciao House" pizza festival, where the chefs must make enough pies to feed 50 hungry guests, alongside so much more.

Filled with good food, fresh flavors and endless insights into Italian cuisine, "Ciao House" — produced by Super Delicious for Food Network — premieres Sunday, June 2, on Food Network.

The Old Oak

The Old Oak is the last remaining pub in a village in northeast England. Once thriving with miners and their families, many moved away after the closure of the mines. The houses left behind attract many Syrian refugees, creating tension among the locals. The empathy and compassion exhibited by TJ Ballantyne (Turner), the owner of The Old

Oak, towards Yara (Mari), a young Syrian woman, challenges these hostilities as TJ and Yara bond over her love for photography and open up to one another. TJ shares photographs of what the village used to look like with her and the struggles many had faced living there. In turn, Yara shares with TJ the losses she suffered on her journey to be free.

Founders Day

After a series of strange and vicious attacks perpetrated by a figure clad in a judge's robes and wig, the residents and local authorities of a small town attempt to uncover the assailant responsible. As the body count rises, the town is on the verge of complete chaos as a tense mayoral election looms on the horizon.

Director: Erik Bloomquist. Stars: Naomi Grace, Devin Druid, William Russ, Amy Hargreaves, Catherine Curtin, Emilia McCarthy, Olivia Nikkanen, Jayce Bartok, Andrew Stewart-Jones. 2023. 106 min. Horror.

Lambrusco is a true symbol of northern Italy. It's an ancient wine made from a grape variety that has been unique to the Emilia region since before the Roman empire. Made in a frizzante style, it is a lightly sparkling, fruit-forward wine with some floral notes. Its lush, crisp, and semi-sweet taste makes it the perfect crowd-pleaser at parties and go-to for intimate moments of joy and delight.

Tuesday Best Bets

Jay Pharoah hosts “The Quiz With Balls”

America’s Got Talent

⑤ 8:00 PM

Singers, dancers, magicians and the occasional fire-eating ventriloquist prove that talent in the United States remains top-notch as aspiring performers hope to win that $1 million prize. Simon Cowell, Heidi Klum, Howie Mandel and Sofia Vergara judge.

Women’s International Soccer Friendlies

TNT TRUTV 8:00 PM

This second of two matchups between the U.S.Women’s National Team and the Korea Republic takes place at Allianz Field in Saint Paul, Minn. New USWNT head coach Emma Hayes will get a test from the Koreans as the Summer Olympics in Paris get closer.

Police 24/7

WPIX 8:00 PM

Taking a raw, unfiltered look into the world of sheriff and police departments across the United States, this new episode follows officers as they search for four men involved in a shooting, try to help a mother and her children find shelter, and more.

The Quiz With Balls

④④ 9:00 PM

Watch your back ... and your answers. During the second-ever episode of this game show, the Byars’ and the Banks’ answer quizzical questions on movies, sports, literature and world trivia, all the while knowing one wrong answer may throw them in the pool.

Wednesday Best Bets

Chef Gordon Ramsay as seen in "MasterChef"

MasterChef

(12) (44) 8:00 PM

The generational battle blazes on, as the audition rounds continue. This time, the Baby Boomers take to the kitchen and fight it out for a spot in the top 20, joining their Gen X, Millennial and Zoomer competitors in the main, Ramsay-approved gauntlet.

Killer Cases

A&E 9:00 PM

A case takes a shocking turn when, after 20 years with no leads, a new clue is discovered regarding the mystery of a six-year-old boy found dead in the woods when an artist's age progressed portrait makes waves online and uncovers new information.

Backed by the Bros

HGTV 9:00 PM

Everyone's favorite brothers, Drew and Jonathan Scott, are back in this series premiere. The two look into two potential real estate investments, consider the variables, then pick one to support with their knowledge, team of experts and trade contacts.

Reginald the Vampire

SYFY 10:00 PM

What's the best way to kill an angel? Reginald (Jacob Batalon) and company consider their options for dealing with this dangerous threat from the heavens and land on working with a de-ranked vampire witch. What's the worst that could happen?

"Clipped"

Based on the hit ESPN "30 for 30" podcast "The Sterling Affairs," the new limited series "Clipped" premieres Tuesday, June 4, on Hulu. When famed coach Doc Rivers (Laurence Fishburne, "The Matrix," 1999) takes over as coach of the Los Angeles Clippers in 2013, with a roster of big personalities that have massive potential, he finds himself in a dysfunctional organization under the thumb of team owner Donald Sterling (Ed O'Neill, "Modern Family"), who is well known for being cheap, erratic and a bully, amongst other less-than-flattering traits. As power struggles rage on all fronts, "Clipped" takes viewers behind the scenes of the headline-busting story of Sterling's notorious racist remarks, which were captured on a tape heard around the world, as this "Obama-era story of racial reckoning delivered via meme, in which [V. Stiviano, played by Cleopatra Coleman, "Rebel Moon — Part One: A Child of Fire," 2023] and the Sterlings discover who really has the power in the internet age, and which leaves Rivers and his players wondering if the expulsion of one bad apple brings about the transformative change the media wants to celebrate" (per FX). From creator and showrunner Gina Welch ("Castle Rock"), the series also stars J. Alphonse Nicholson ("They Cloned Tyrone," 2023), Jacki Weaver ("Silver Linings Playbook," 2012), Kelly Au-Coin ("Billions"), Rich Sommer ("Mad Men"), Corbin Bernsen ("The Resident"), Clifton Davis ("Madam Secretary") and Harriet Sansom Harris ("Shining Vale").

"Becoming Karl Lagerfeld"

Brought to life by journalist Raphaëlle Bacqué's insightfully written biography, "Kaiser Karl," the stunning new mini-series, "Becoming Karl Lagerfeld," brings the designer's story to screens this Friday, June 7, on Hulu. Known as the force behind the modern-day revival of the fashion brand Chanel, Lagerfeld, here played by Daniel Bruhl ("Inglourious Basterds," 2009), took the Parisian fashion scene by storm as he rose to fame throughout the 1970s, despite a growing rivalry between him and friend Yves Saint Laurent (Arnaud Valois, "Good Grief," 2023) — due in part to Laurent's partnership with the redoubtable Pierre Bergé (Alex Lutz, "Strangers by Night," 2023) — and his secret, sultry relationship with the ever-ambitious Jacques de Bascher (Théodore Pellerin, "Never Rarely Sometimes Always," 2020). "Between glamor and clashes of egos, grandiose parties and destructive passions," Hulu describes, Lagerfeld takes his talents across Europe in pursuit of fame and fashion, with his rise to power documented throughout the series' run. From directors Audrey Estrougo ("An Ordinary Story," 2014) and Jérôme Salle ("The Odyssey," 2016), "Becoming Karl Lagerfeld" also stars Agnès Jaoui ("The Taste of Others," 2000), Julia Faure ("Love Me If You Dare," 2003), Jeanne Damas ("Rock'n Roll," 2017), Théodora Breux ("Galatée," 2017), Geoffrey Carlassare ("La Révolution"), Georgia Sinicorni ("Missions") and Laura Masci ("Don Juan," 2022).

"Queenie" — Season 1

Starring Dionne Brown ("Criminal Record") as the titular character, the first season of the UK-based series, "Queenie," makes its debut Friday, June 7, on Netflix. The series, based on Candice Carty-Williams' eponymous novel, follows Queenie Jenkins, a 25-year-old British-Jamaican woman living in south London, as she attempts to balance a life lived between two vastly different cultures, feeling as though she doesn't quite fit into either. With her life already feeling uneasy, Queenie then experiences a messy break up with her long-term boyfriend,

Laurence Fishburne, Ed O'Neill and Jacki Weaver in "Clipped" finding her world in total upheaval. After seeking comfort in all the wrong places, Queenie comes to realize that she must face her past before walking into the future, and begins to reckon with her complicated sense of self. Also created by Carty-Williams, the cast of "Queenie" Season 1 features Harrison Daniels ("The Inside Man"), Tilly Keeper ("EastEnders"), Jon Pointing ("Big Boys"), Elisha Applebaum ("Fate: The Winx Saga"), Joseph Ollman ("Throw Me to the Dogs," 2015), Laura Whitmore ("Finding Joy"), Yennis Cheung ("Skyfall," 2012), Samuel Adewunmi ("The Last Tree," 2019), Tom Forbes ("Morbis," 2022) and Mim Shaikh ("Die Before You Die," 2024).

Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: Why are all the characters leaving "S.W.A.T."? Is Shemar Moore planning on leaving? Is this the last season for the show?

A: This was going to be the last season of "S.W.A.T.," but then suddenly it wasn't. Again.

CBS first canceled the cop drama in 2023 at the end of its sixth season, but then changed its mind and renewed it for a miniature seventh season (13 episodes instead of the usual 22) to allow the show to wrap up its storylines. But then, just a few weeks ago, CBS surprisingly un-canceled it again, ordering a full, 22-episode Season 8.

That is, of course, great news for fans. But unfortunately, in all the tumult, a number of stars left the show, as you say. The exodus started with Lina Esco ("Kingdom"), who left at the end of Season 5, but she was followed by Alex Russell ("Chronicle," 2012) and Kenny Johnson ("The Shield").

But, even here there's some potentially good news: series lead Shemar Moore ("Criminal Minds") — who plays the delightfully named Hondo and will be back for Season 8 — pointed out that if a show can be canceled twice and come back, anything's possible.

"Nobody died," he told Deadline.com. "And in the world of Hollywood, anything can happen."

With that in mind, this time no one's saying whether Season 8 (scheduled for the fall) is the last one.

Though it was written with the idea that it would be the show's last episode, Moore said the Season 7 finale was also written so that it could be a launchpad for more. "We shaped it in a way that it's either our swan song or our new beginning."

Shemar Moore in "S.W.A.T."

cause star Timothy Olyphant ("Daisy Jones & The Six"), who played Givens, has signed on for an incredibly high-profile new project: the TV adaptation of the 1979 horror classic "Alien."

This, too, will air on FX, and is being written and produced by Noah Hawley, who previously gave us another great cinema-to-TV adaptation, " Fargo." (Olyphant also starred in the fourth season of " Fargo," so everyone's going to know each other on set, which is nice.)

The "Alien" series is reportedly still filming and won't likely see release until 2025.

Given that eight years passed between the end of "Justified" and the revival, it could be even longer before we see another installment, if it happens.

But, everyone involved seems to be OK with that. When asked at a press event if he'd return if and when the series came calling again, Olyphant said simply, "I would show up."

Q: What's Jessica Simpson doing these days?

A: That question is a lot harder than it sounds.

Jessica Simpson has never had the sort of career that was easy to pin down. "Pop star" doesn't cover it, though that's definitely how she came to fame, with a string of hits — including "I Wanna Love You Forever" and "These Boots Are Made for Walkin'" — around the turn of the millennium. But that title ignores her reality TV career, which has been equally important to making her a household name, starting with the pioneering celeb-reality show "Newlyweds: Nick & Jessica." And there was also her business career, and even her forays into acting.

The best answer is to say she's still dabbling in all of it.

She released a memoir in 2020, called "Open Book," and accompanied that with the release of new music. She even produced a TV pilot based on it last year, but it wasn't picked up to series.

She still pops up regularly on screen, often in celebrity shows like "Entertainment Tonight" and "Access Hollywood." Her most recent appearance was in the star-studded "Dolly Parton's Pet Gala" special on CBS.

In a recent "Entertainment Tonight" interview, Simpson ruled out doing another reality series: "I definitely would not ever do a reality show again. I don't really trust putting my life into other people's hands to edit."

However, she did say she'd be open to doing a "docuseries" instead. In fact, she said she's shopping one around right now, which would feature "some real-life stuff" with her and her family. How that differs from a reality show is currently unclear, and will probably stay unclear until someone actually produces it.

Q: Is Timothy Olyphant going to do another season of "Justified"?

A: Another season of "Justified" is a distinct possibility, but it doesn't look likely any time soon.

The series, which originally ran on FX from 2010 to 2015, returned last year for a limited series called "City Primeval." That was always intended as a one-and-done installment — a sort of update on the life of Deputy U.S. Marshal Raylan Givens — but with the understanding that others could follow in the same fashion.

It's unlikely to be soon, though, be-
