Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

During his Asia tour, [President] Trump will also be meeting Chinese President Xi Jinping to lower the temperature after he threatened 100% tariffs on China. There's already been a bit of progress ahead of the summit. Chinese and U.S. officials have tentatively agreed to avert the massive tariffs, but that's a relief for me because all of my monologue jokes are designed in America. But they're assembled. They're assembled in Guangdong.

The big sticking point in the trade war is that the U.S. grows a ton of soybeans. And after Trump threatened his tariffs to retaliate, China stopped buying soybeans from America. It's a standoff over soybeans. It's a toe-feud. Are we still canceled?

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

A woman is suing SeaWorld for $50,000, claiming she was on one of their roller coasters and a duck hit her in the face. And for everyone else, it was the most entertaining thing they saw at SeaWorld.

Well, it's Day 27 [Oct. 27] of the government shutdown, and Trump's transportation secretary just warned that there could be even more flight delays due to a lack of air traffic controllers. Don't worry. For the time being, every plane will be controlled by the Domino's Pizza Tracker, so we should be OK.

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

We were off last week. I went on a family vacation. Our whole family, my kids, my brother and his kids, my sister and her kids, my parents, my granddaughter ... we packed up the whole family and went to Ireland. ... And in case you're wondering what other countries think about what's going on here in our country, I'll tell you, they're worried for us. They're very worried. They're worried about us in the same way you worry about a nephew who maybe you haven't seen for a few years who shows up at a Thanksgiving missing all his front teeth. That kind of worry like, "You're doing OK? Seems like you might be having a hard go of it."

Late Night With Seth Meyers

New York Times columnist John McWhorter recently published a list of the 10 old television series every kid needs to watch. I'll get right on that, said the one kid who reads the Times opinion section.

Producers have announced that a revival of the musical "Cats" is set to open next year on Broadway, in Mayor Adams' latest scheme to solve the rat problem.

Authorities in France this week charged a woman with stealing six gold nuggets from the Museum of Natural History in Paris. All right, what is going on at French museums? Do they not know about locking up at night? It's easier to steal from a French museum than it is to get razor blades at CVS.

Give thanks to 'Neighbors': Bastianich celebrates American communities

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Lidia Bastianich is a woman of many talents. In addition to a successful 27 years hosting cooking shows on PBS, the Italian-born chef is a real people person. For those who have followed her career over the past three decades, this proclamation of sociality is unlikely to come as a surprise, but for those who have jumped on the Bastianich bandwagon recently — or for those who happily stumbled across one of her specials on a cozy day in front of the television — yes, she really does care as much as it seems.

Since 2011, Bastianich has been showing her appreciation for the country she calls home in a series titled "Lidia Celebrates America" on PBS. Having covered everything from culturally significant holiday traditions and wedding ceremonies to the importance of giving back to first responders and front-line service workers, Bastianich has spent the bulk of her 60s and 70s giving back to the country that welcomed her family with open arms when she was just 11 years old.

The newest installment of "Lidia Celebrates America," subtitled "A Nation of Neighbors," premieres Tuesday, Nov. 25, on PBS, and continues Bastianich's rich tradition of warming hearts from coast to coast.

"It's the 14th year [of 'Lidia Celebrates America'], and it's my way of thanking America," Bastianich said in an interview with TV Media ahead of the special's release. "I find that sometimes it [the U.S.] is maligned ... so I said, 'I've got to go out there and really show through food' — because that's how I communicate that — 'that there's so many good elements and good people and good experiences in America.'"

And Bastianich certainly has a way of bringing out the best in people — often with a few joyful tears along the way — a talent that may harken back to her memories growing up in a small, tight-knit community before her family's immigration to the United States.

"When I grew up as a kid in a small town in Italy, we knew every house in town, more or less," recalled Bastianich of her childhood. "If you came home late from school or early from school [and] your mother wasn't home, you knocked on your neighbor's door [and] they fed you. ... The adults would get together, they have coffee together, sit under the mulberry tree in the summertime and talk."

"I think that that gives you a sense of [positivity] and stability, you know, to have these connections," Bastianich concluded, adding, "and here, maybe it is a little missing."

This is one of the many reasons Bastianich dedicates so much of her life to traveling the country and bonding with members of the communities she visits. And what better way to do that than with a table full of delicious, soul-nurturing food?

In "A Nation of Neighbors," Bastianich begins by visiting Altadena, California, a community hit hard by the wildfires that ravaged L.A. earlier this year. There, Firas Ayyad runs No Res Gourmet, a "501(c)3 non-profit organization dedicated to eradicating food insecurity with a holistic approach that blends nutrition, education and immersive experiences" (per No Res Gourmet's official website). Like many sustainable, community-run organizations across the United States, the team of dedicated staff and volunteers at No Res (short for No Reservations) serve as the backbone of their community, lifting others up when they most need support. Many of these volunteers, like Altadena local Cisco Licona, have also been affected by recent events and use that as their fuel to give back.

"Love is a state of being," Licona, a No Res volunteer who lost his own Altadena home during the 2025 wildfires, said to Bastianich in the documentary. "It's the tether that keeps us all together."

This tether, as Bastianich illustrates, stretches clean across the country and encapsulates all manner of methods.

In the documentary, viewers can feel the love as the PBS star visits TikTok inspiration Kiki Rough (@kikirough) in Porter County, Indiana, where together they consult wartime and recession-era cookbooks such as "Searchlight" and "The Canned Foods Cookbook" to give struggling families the skills and confidence to make satisfying meals on a budget.

In Denver, meanwhile, Bastianich visits backyard gardener Steph Grogan, who is just one of many in the area who contributes to SAME Cafe in a unique way.

SAME is an acronym that stands for "So All May Eat," and their model offers all diners a choice: in exchange for your lunch, you may volunteer your time, donate fresh produce (like Grogan) or pay with traditional currency. This way, all may eat, regardless of income, time constraints or one's access to food and other vital resources.

"There's no reason that anyone should be hungry," Bastianich said. "That's what the state is supposed to do, to take care of its inhabitants, in whichever way. If we have a hurricane, take care of that part. If we have an epidemic, they're supposed to be there. ... You can't punish people that way for your political gains."

Join the food security movement and share in Lidia Bastianich's joy as she travels to these locations and more in "Lidia Celebrates America: A Nation of Neighbors," premiering Tuesday, Nov. 25, on PBS. The last campaign: 'Stranger Things' ties up loose ends in final episodes

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Memories of the 1980s — with its distinctive fashion and hairstyles, music and pop culture — have fueled "Stranger Things" through a decade of its own. The hit science fiction series, which debuted more than nine years before its concluding season premieres, returns with its fifth and final season in three volumes, starting Wednesday, Nov. 26, when Netflix premieres the first set of four new episodes. Three more episodes drop on the streamer on Christmas Day before the two-hour series finale streams on Dec. 31, with limited theatrical screenings in Canada and the U.S. scheduled on the same day.

Eleven (Millie Bobby Brown, "Enola Holmes," 2020) and the crew of misfit kids are back again to save Hawkins, Indiana, and the world from what's crossed dimensional lines from the Upside Down. This season, according to Netflix, "with Hawkins under lockdown, El in hiding and danger lurking at every turn, the entire party unites with a single goal: to hunt and kill Vecna." Everything hidden beneath Hawkins Laboratory has finally been brought to light now that the fourth gate to the Upside Down was opened in last season's finale.

Vecna, the hulking crimson being portrayed by "Camelot" actor Jamie Campbell Bower in full-body, sinewy prosthetics, has been terrorizing the residents of Hawkins in order to get to Eleven and absorb her power. It all began when he captured Will Byers (Noah Schnapp, "Hubie Halloween," 2020) on his bike ride home from a Dungeons and Dragons hangout with his friends Mike Wheeler (Finn Wolfhard, "When You Finish Saving the World," 2022), Dustin Henderson (Gaten Matarazzo, "Honor Society," 2022) and Lucas Sinclair (Caleb McLaughlin, "The Book of Clarence," 2023) on Nov. 6, 1983.

Since then, Vecna has fought to open the gates between the real world and the Upside Down, where he turned punishment into an opportunity to rule over a dark world, killing kids in order to break through the dimensions. With the gates now wide open, Vecna plans to mould civilization to his evil whims, and the only ones who can stop him are the kids who've survived his torture and those who care for them.

This season, series co-creator Matt Duffer ("Wayward Pines") told Tudum that the kids are "not experiencing normal life. Nothing in Hawkins is normal anymore." With the town on military lockdown, literally ripped apart at the gates to the Upside Down, Duffer said about the gang, "their movement is restricted, and there are Big Brother cameras everywhere. So not only are they active — their everyday, normal lives are anything but."

Returning this season are Winona Ryder ("Show Me a Hero") as Joyce Byers, Will's mother; David Harbour ("Thunderbolts," 2025) as Hawkins Police chief Jim Hopper; Sadie Sink ("The Whale," 2022) as Max Mayfield; Natalia Dyer ("Based on a True Story") as Nancy Wheeler; Charlie Heaton ("Billy Knight," 2025) as Jonathan Byers; Joe Keery (" Fargo ") as Steve Harrington; Maya Hawke ("Do Revenge," 2022) as Robin

Buckley; Priah Ferguson ("The Curse of Bridge Hollow," 2022) as Erica Sinclair; Brett Gelman ("Lyle, Lyle, Crocodile," 2022) as Murray Bauman; Cara Buono ("Supergirl") as Karen Wheeler; and Amybeth McNulty ("Anne With an E") as Vickie.

Joining the cast this season are Nell Fisher ("Bookworm," 2024) as Holly Wheeler; Alex Breaux ("American Primeval") as Lt. Akers; Linda Hamilton ("Resident Alien") as Dr. Kay; and newcomer Jake Connolly as Derek. Though the upcoming season will be Breaux's first appearance in the series, it will not be his first time stepping into the "Stranger Things" universe. A prequel play, "Stranger Things: The First Shadow," which earned Laurence Olivier awards for its West End production and Tony awards for its Broadway run, brought Hawkins and the Upside Down to the stage. Breaux starred as Dr. Brenner in the early days of the experiments at Hawkins Laboratory.

The cultural impact that "Stranger Things" has had since it debuted on the streamer in 2016 cannot be ignored. Be it its role in introducing a generation of music lovers to Kate Bush with the perfect marriage of the 1985 hit "Running Up That Hill" with Max's escape from Vecna or the sheer amount of Eleven costumes you can spot to this day every Halloween, the series has inspired its audience far beyond just contributing to setting Netflix viewership records throughout its run.

Netflix has pulled out all the stops to make the end of one of its tentpole series into an event. From a premiere livestream to worldwide special events and a thorough merchandise market — complete with collectibles, apparel, candles, edible tie-ins, games, books and makeup — there is no chance that any fan of the series will feel abandoned in the Upside Down, unaware of premiere day when it comes.

Get ready to face Vecna and the rest of the creatures of the Upside Down one last time when the first volume of "Stranger Things" final season premieres Wednesday, Nov. 26, on Netflix.

Chris Hemsworth navigates neuroplasticity in new documentary

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Memories revisited: With more than 55 million people living with dementia, according to Alzheimer's Disease International, it's no surprise that many are impacted by the disease in question — both those diagnosed and those supporting family and friends living with it. Australian-born actor Chris Hemsworth ("Thor," 2011) shares his own family's experience navigating the disease in the all-new documentary "Chris Hemsworth: A Road Trip to Remember," making its debut on National Geographic Sunday, Nov. 23, before streaming on Hulu and Disney+ the following day.

In its synopsis, Disney explains: "In this intimate and uplifting documentary, Hemsworth turns the spotlight away from himself and toward his father, Craig, who was recently diagnosed with Alzheimer's. Determined to help, Chris designs a therapeutic 'road trip back in time,' revisiting key places from their past to explore the powerful science of social connection — a crucial but overlooked tool in protecting brain health. Along the way, Chris uncovers surprising research showing that connection isn't just good for the soul; it can also reduce the risk of dementia, slow cognitive decline and even prolong life. This emotional journey across Australia becomes a chance for Chris and Craig to deepen their bond, relive memories, and discover how love, community and nostalgia can be potent medicine."

While rekindling his relationship with his father, Hemsworth hopes to further explore the role that social connection plays in neuroplasticity — the brain's ability to form new connections. Guided by dementia specialist Dr. Suraj Samtani of the University of New South

Chris and Craig Hemsworth in "Chris Hemsworth: A Road Trip to Remember"

Wales' Centre for Healthy Brain Aging, Hemsworth spent a year planning, preparing for and executing this once-in-a-lifetime experience, ensuring every aspect suited his father's needs.

"My Dad and I had always spoken about taking a trip back to the Northern Territory, where our family had lived years ago, but we had never been able to set aside the time to actually do it," Hemsworth said. "More recently, the idea of taking that road trip reemerged with more pressing importance. The result was a more profound, more moving and more surprising journey than I ever anticipated."

With Darren Aronofsky ("Requiem for a Dream," 2000), Benjamin Grayson ("Limitless"), Ari Handel ("Black Swan," 2010), Brandon Hill ("Immigration Nation"), Arif Nurmohamed ("The World According to Jeff Goldblum"), Jane Root ("Secrets Declassified with David Duchovny"), Tom Watt-Smith ("Drowning in Plastic," 2018) and Hemsworth acting as executive producers, "Chris Hemsworth: A Road Trip to Remember" premieres on National Geographic Sunday, Nov. 23, streaming on Hulu and Disney+ the following day.

Ancient animals: Travel through the ice-ridden world of the Pleistocene era with the next chapter of this award-winning series. "Prehistoric Planet: Ice Age" premieres Wednesday, Nov. 26, on Apple TV.

Continuing the groundbreaking journey of the "Prehistoric Planet" natural history series, this five-episode adventure transports viewers far into the past. "Blending cinematic storytelling with photorealistic visual effects," the streamer explains, "the series brings

Combining cutting-edge visual effects and the latest in scientific research, "Prehistoric Planet: Ice Age" thaws a frozen world, utilizing cinematic visuals to share some of the most spectacular inhabitants of ancient Earth.

"From towering woolly mammoths to elusive snow sloths, terrifying saber-toothed tigers to resilient dwarf elephants (only three feet tall), the series reveals the epic struggles and unexpected stories of animals that once ruled the Ice Age," Apple TV promises. "Viewers will journey through vast tundras, barren deserts, expanding grasslands and melting permafrost as these creatures battle for survival in the face of extreme climates, shifting landscapes and the onset of 'The Big Freeze,' and ultimately, 'The Big Melt.'" The streamer also teases the appearance of carnivorous kangaroos, glyptotherium (a super-sized armadillo), the lesser-heard-of woolly rhino and more, as each episode "explores how life across the planet adapted to survive amid dramatic climate shifts and transformation."

Produced by BBC Studios Natural History Unit — the world-renowned team behind "Planet Earth" — this prehistoric adventure features photorealistic visual effects courtesy of Framestore, and an original score by Hans Zimmer ("Inception," 2010). With Jon Favreau ("Iron Man," 2008) and Mike Gunton ("One Life," 2011) serving as executive producers, "Prehistoric Planet: Ice Age" makes its debut on Apple TV Wednesday, Nov. 26.

"Jingle Bell Heist" (2025)

Love and larceny go hand in hand during a daring Christmas Eve heist. Catch "Jingle Bell Heist" Wednesday, Nov. 26, on Netflix, where at the height of the holiday rush, two desperate Londoners find an unexpected connection while plotting the crime of the season. Sophia Martin (Olivia Holt, "Cruel Summer"), a woman juggling multiple jobs to support her ailing mother, reaches her breaking point when she learns her mother's surgery won't be covered by insurance. Desperate for a quick payday, she makes an attempt at robbing her horrible boss, Maxwell Sterling (Peter Serafinowicz, "Spy," 2015), but instead crosses paths with Nick O'Connor (Connor Swindells, "Barbie," 2023), a single father and former security consultant barely making ends meet. Rather than turn her in, Nick proposes a partnership — one last, high-stakes job at the city's most luxurious department store. But as the plan spirals out of control, love turns out to be the most unpredictable twist of their holiday heist. Directed by Michael Fimognari ("The Haunting of Hill House") and written by Abby McDonald ("Bridgerton"), "Jingle Bell Heist" also stars Lucy Punch ("Into the Woods," 2014), Poppy Drayton ("The Little Mermaid," 2018), Michael Salami ("Hollyoaks") and Mariah Louca ("EastEnders").

"Missing: Dead or Alive" - Season 2

When every second counts, "Missing: Dead or Alive" returns Monday, Nov. 24, on Netflix, following officers who stop at nothing to bring the missing home. Season 2 of this gripping true crime docuseries follows the dedicated officers of the Richland County Sheriff's Department Missing Persons Unit in Columbia, S.C., as they race against time to locate those who have disappeared under mysterious circumstances. Veteran investigators Vicki Rains, JP Smith and Capt. Heidi Jackson work together to solve cases, where every lead could mean the difference between life and death. With more than 1,500 people reported missing in the United States each day, the team works tirelessly to piece together clues — from cellphone pings to abandoned vehicles — in hopes of bringing families closure. Through emotional interviews and real-time investigations, the series captures the urgency, compassion and determination behind every search. Meghan Just-Truelove ("Hospital") returns as executive producer.

A mystery 50 years in the making is unraveled in "The Stringer: The Man Who Took the Photo," a feature-length documentary making its debut on Netflix this Friday, Nov. 28.

Director Bao Nguyen ("Be Water," 2020) delves into the history behind one of the most iconic war photographs of all time, dubbed "Napalm Girl." In this bone-chilling image, a young girl is seen running down the road nude, after her clothes were burned off in a napalm attack during the Vietnam War. Once credited to Associated Press photographer Nick Ut, the photograph was often used as part of the anti-war movement, earning its creator multiple awards, including a Pulitzer prize. The problem, however, is that many believe that Ut never witnessed the Napalm Girl, and that the photo came from someone else entirely. Joined by journalists, photographer Gary Knight embarks on a tireless search to find the photograph's real creator — a man known only as "the stringer" — delving deep into history as he tracks down a freelance photographer who claims the image belongs to him.

"A PAW Patrol Christmas"

Get ready to save Christmas when "A PAW Patrol Christmas" premieres Saturday, Nov. 29, on Prime Video via the Paramount+ channel. In this festive special, Adventure Bay faces a holiday disaster when Christmas is canceled after Santa Claus comes down with a cold and can't deliver any presents. Seizing the opportunity, Mayor Humdinger (Ron Pardo, "Paw Patrol: The Movie," 2021) heads to the North Pole with plans to take all the gifts for himself. It's up to Ryder and the brave PAW Patrol team — Chase (Luke Dietz, "Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood"), Marshall (Jesse Gervasi, "Racewalkers," 2025), Skye, Rocky, Rubble (Lucien Duncan-Reid, "The Boys"), Zuma and Robo-Dog — to step up and save the day. Now, the pups must work together as they face tricky obstacles, clever traps and holiday mayhem to ensure every present reaches its rightful owner. "A PAW Patrol Christmas" is directed by Jamie Whitney ("A Tale Dark & Grimm") and Paul H. Brown ("World of Quest").

"Bel-Air" - Season 4

Inspired by Morgan Cooper's ("Bel-Air," 2019) viral short film that reimagined the beloved '90s sitcom

Saturday, November 22, 2025

"The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air," "Bel-Air" returns for its fourth and final season Monday, Nov. 24, on Prime Video via the Peacock channel. This series takes a dramatic, modern approach to Will's (Jabari Banks, "Bad Genius," 2024) journey from the streets of West Philadelphia to the gated mansions of Bel Air, California. In Season 4, Will faces the excitement and pressure of senior year while trying to live up to the expectations that brought him this far. Carlton (Ollly Sholotan, "Run Hide Fight," 2020) confronts the fallout from life-altering decisions that could jeopardize his future, while Phil (Adrian Holmes, "Are We There Yet?," 2005) and Geoffrey (Jimmy Akingbola, "Most Dangerous Game") find their loyalties tested in an unexpected power shift that threaten their brotherhood. Meanwhile, Viv (Cassandra Freeman, "Luke Cage") reevaluates her identity through motherhood and Ashley (Akira Akbar, "Captain Marvel," 2019) experiences growing pains in her rebellious freshman year. Hilary (Coco Jones, "Vampires vs. The Bronx," 2020), on the other hand, embarks on a journey of self-discovery as the Banks family adapts to change. Nick Copus ("Animal Kingdom") returns to direct, with "The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air" alum Janet Hubert — who played the original

Patrick Walshe McBride, Mark Benton and Jo Joyner in "Shakespeare and Hathaway: Private Investigators"

Aunt Viv — joining the cast this season as a wise woman whom Hilary meets and becomes instrumental to the Banks family.

"Shakespeare and Hathaway: Private Investigators" - Season 5

When mystery calls, "Shakespeare and Hathaway: Private Investigators" returns just in time with 10 new episodes Tuesday, Nov. 25, on Prime Video via the BritBox channel. The beloved detective dramedy created by Paul Matthew Thompson ("Midsomer Murders") and the late

Jude Tindall ("Doctors") is back for a fifth season of mind-puzzling cases and clever sleuthing in Stratford-upon-Avon. Frank Hathaway (Mark Benton, "Anna and the Apocalypse," 2017), a gruff ex-cop, and Lu Shakespeare (Jo Joyner, "Ackley Bridge"), a warm-hearted ex-hairdresser, reunite — reluctantly, that is — to take on a string of outlandish new cases. From a team-building retreat gone wrong, to a shocking on-site electrocution, to a murder mystery reunion that turns deadly, the pair discover plenty of trouble in every corner of their charming town. With the help of their weary assistant Sebastian (Patrick Walshe McBride, "Lake of Death," 2019) and tech expert Spider (Darren Evans, "The Fifth Estate," 2013), the team faces everything from influencers to would-be killers. But as a saboteur targets their agency, Frank and Lu must rely on loyalty and wit to survive one final act of Shakespearean intrigue. Paul Gibson ("Midsomer Murders") returns to direct, with Helen Munson ("Island Medics") executive producing.

Olly Sholotan, Jabari Banks, Akira Akbar and Coco Jones star in "Bel-Air"

Cake fake-out

'Is It Cake? Holiday' returns for super-charged second season

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Is it a cookie jar? A gingerbread man? A nutcracker? No! It's cake! Return to a world full of hyperrealistic cakes with the Season 2 premiere of "Is It Cake? Holiday," coming to Netflix Tuesday, Nov. 25.

With "Saturday Night Live" cast member Mikey Day returning as the competition's steadfast host, this holiday-themed spectacular will see six all-star bakers — three "Is It Cake?" alumni and three newbie challengers — facing off in the creation of festive cakes that are nearly indistinguishable from their real-life counterparts.

According to Netflix, this "truly tinselled-out showdown" follows the show's usual format, as "bakers will be creating cakes shaped into realistic replicas of common objects, and celebrity judges will be guessing which of them are fondant-covered fake-outs." The twist, however, is that each and every cake will be made to emulate items commonly seen around the holidays, including Christmas trees, advent calendars, extravagant meals, Santa-ready chimneys and more. In this second season, the bakers will face an additional challenge, as all cakes presented must be placed on a rotating platter, meaning there's no room for imperfection — the front, back and sides of every cake must be equally impressive. With a $75,000 prize pool and a spot in the season finale on the line, the stakes are higher than ever before.

This season, cakes will be presented to an impressive panel of judges, including Kristen Bell ("Frozen," 2013), Lacey Chabert ("Haul Out the Holly," 2022), Michael Urie ("Single All the Way," 2021), Dustin Milligan ("Hot Frosty," 2024), Kel Mitchell ("Kenan & Kel"), Lamorne Morris ("New Girl"), Wendi McLendon-Covey ("St. Denis Medical"), King Bach ("The Babysitter," 2017) and Pierson Fode ("The Wrong Paris," 2025).

"We are turning up the heat this season," Day says in a trailer for the upcoming season. "It's all going to come down to the taste and the details. It's going to be the most dramatic baking showdown in 'Is It Cake?' history."

Produced by Alfred Street Industries, with Dan Cutforth ("Top Chef"), Jane Lipsitz ("Project Runway"), Nan Strait ("Next Gen Chef"), Dan Volpe ("America's Next Great Restaurant"), Andrew Wallace ("Sugar Rush") and Cat Sullivan ("Nailed It!") acting as executive producers, Season 2 of "Is It Cake? Holiday" makes its debut Tuesday, Nov. 25, on Netflix.

Mark Hamill in "The Long Walk"

The Long Walk

Set in a dystopian future, the United States is a military dictatorship after a war that left the country in ruin. Every year, the military oversees an event called the "Long Walk," a brutal endurance contest where the boys must walk nonstop and without slowing down. Failing to do so results in three warnings, after which the participant is killed.

When only one walker remains, he is given a large cash prize and the fulfillment of one wish. Ray Garraty (Hoffman), a participant from Maine, meets some of the other boys, including Pete McVries (Jonsson), Billy Stebbins (Wareing), Art Baker (Nyuot), Collie Parker (Odjick), Gary Barkovitch (Plummer), Hank Olson (Wang) and Richard Harkness (Gonzalez). As the boys begin the march, what begins as a test of stamina becomes a harrowing reflection on human endurance, morality and rebellion. Overseen by a figure known as "The Major" (Hamill), the event transforms from a physical challenge into a brutal exploration of what it truly means to survive.
Director: Francis Lawrence. Stars: Cooper Hoffman, David Jonsson, Garrett Wareing, Tut Nyuot, Charlie Plummer, Ben Wang, Roman Griffin Davis, Josh Hamilton, Judy Greer, Mark Hamill. 2025. 108 min. Dystopian Survival Thriller.

FRUITFUL BRAND

Liquor & Wine Warehouse
LOOKING FOR NEW MIXES TO TRY!!
WE HAVE THEM FOR YOU!!

BLOOD ORANGE

This fruit game is in our blood, and thus, we bring you Fruitful Blood Orange. This sanguine, citrus liqueur is the ideal addition to your bar top, whether you're celebrating with mimosas or shaking it up margarita style. It has a sweet-tart flavor that's reminiscent of orange juice with a hint of lemonade, and with just enough of a kick to make it perfect for your favorite cocktail.

WATERMELON

This isn't just a watermelon liqueur. It's the taste of biting into a fresh watermelon—bright notes of melon rind, mixed with the cool and crisp flavor of summertime. It mixes beautifully with tequila and gin to make your favorite cocktails even better, but don't let that fool you—it's much more than just a mixer.

STRAWBERRY

Sweet, but not too sweet. Tart, but not too tart. And fresh, to death. I don't know about you but I'm dying for more already! The perfect addition for some springtime sparkling rose or adding some warm season freshness to your cocktail.

PUMPKIN SPICED

Sip it with cider, mix it into a latte, or create a pumpkin pie martini - the possibilities are endless. So go ahead, treat yourself to the taste of fall.

BLUEBERRY

We at Fruitful pride ourselves with being honest, and honestly we were never big on blueberries. But Fruitful Blueberry? Its true to blue, we love it! And you will too!

Tuesday Best Bets

Alfonso Ribeiro and Julianne Hough host "Dancing With the Stars"

NCIS: Origins

③ 8:00 PM
After the mysterious death of a naval officer in the '90s, Gibbs (Austin Stowell) and his team travel to the small town of Serenity, Calif., where they meet an uncooperative sheriff and residents keen on hoarding secrets. Mariel Molino also stars.

NBA Basketball

⑤ 8:00 PM
There'll be magic in the air — and on the court — when Orlando heads to the Xfinity Mobile Arena to take on the Philadelphia 76ers. During their last game, the 76ers earned a 136-124 win, leaving the Magic eager to prove themselves.

Dancing With the Stars

②② 8:00 PM
Grab your Dr. Scholl's, we're going to be hoofing it in this season finale. The remaining contestants have done everything from waltzes to foxtrots and made their professional partners proud, but tonight, one is crowned champion and grabs the mirror ball.

Lidia Celebrates America

③③ ⑤⑦ 9:00 PM
Chef Lidia Bastianich criss-crosses America to honor volunteers who've come together to form a "nation of neighbors." Uniting through food, these givers show how sharing meals and fighting hunger brings together communities and enriches lives.

Wednesday Best Bets

Robert Redford and Dustin Hoffman in "All the President's Men"

Sidelined: The QB and Me

(44) 8:00 PM

When headstrong dancer Dallas (Siena Agudong) meets quarterback Drayton (Noah Beck), she finds herself fighting against her feelings as their post-graduate futures threaten to keep them apart. Drew Ray Tanner also stars in this romance-filled flick.

Southern Charm

BRAV 9:00 PM

While Craig is the center of attention, Salley, along with other ladies, are needing some time. Then, Madison's new baby is already as demanding as she is. And, Austen and Audrey seem to be having issues the rest of the group sees.

Shark Tank

(22) 10:00 PM

Michael Strahan makes his debut as a guest Shark during an episode that features wild pitches such as an anti-snoring pillow, a chair that converts into a football game, an emotional support doll for dogs and ready-to-eat packaged chicken.

All the President's Men

TCM 10:15 PM

The story of the infamous Watergate burglary is told in this 1976 docudrama. Washington post-reporters Bob Woodward (Robert Redford) and Carl Bernstein (Dustin Hoffman) work together, eventually connecting the break-in back to the White House.

Rubble in "A PAW Patrol Christmas"

Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives

FOOD 7:00 PM

Making his way through the ABCs of road food, Guy Fieri celebrates "Q" — quick bites and quirky dishes — in this next episode. He eats oxtail and fried chicken in Richmond, Va., before heading to Reno, Nev., to try out a unique sandwich spot.

A PAW Patrol Christmas

3 8:00 PM

When Santa comes down with a cold and can't deliver his presents, Mayor Humdinger heads to the North Pole, where he plans on taking all the gifts for himself. Luckily, the PAW Patrol crew is close behind, ready to save Christmas no matter what it takes.

The More the Merrier

HALL 8:00 PM

Two rural hospital doctors (Rachel Boston, Brendan Penny) are snowed in on Christmas Eve and facing a baby boom when three women go into labor, all while trying to maintain a festive spirit at the hospital. It seems like they might deliver romance.

A Totally Funny Animals Holiday

WPix 9:00 PM

'Tis the season to be silly and these animals got the memo. From holiday hilarity to festive fails, the funniest and wildest animal antics will have you thinking there'll be even more gifts under the tree. You'll wish Christmas could be all year long.

“Bride Hard” (2025)

Weddings are an emotional affair – but who knew they could be deadly? From director Simon West (“Lara Croft: Tomb Raider,” 2001), the action-packed comedy flick, “Bride Hard,” makes its debut on Hulu this Friday, Nov. 28. While attending her best friend’s lavish big day, bridesmaid Sam (Rebel Wilson, “Bridesmaids,” 2011) finds herself far from relaxed, as a group of dangerous mercenaries crash the wedding’s reception, taking all the guests hostage. Luckily, Sam just so happens to be a secret agent, and uses her skills to protect the bride, groom and their families from certain death – all without blowing her cover or ruining the big day. While fighting off bad guys, however, Sam realizes that the real threat may prove to be closer than she thinks. With a screenplay written by Shaina Steinberg (“Chase”) and Cece Pleasants (“The Talk”), “Bride Hard” also stars Anna Camp (“Pitch Perfect,” 2012), Stephen Dorff (“Blade,” 1998), Justin Hartley (“This Is Us”), Anna Chlumsky (“My Girl,” 1991), Da’Vine Joy Randolph (“The Holdovers,” 2023), Sherry Cola (“Joy Ride,” 2023), Gigi Zumbado (“Heart Eyes,” 2025), Michael O’Neill (“Dallas Buyers Club,” 2013), Sam Huntington (“Detroit Rock City,” 1999) and Colleen Camp (“Clue,” 1985).

“Halloween Baking Championship” - Seasons 4-8

America’s top bakers battle it out in a kitchen filled with tricks, treats and haunted eats, in “Halloween Baking Championship,” a seasonal series making its way to Hulu this Saturday, Nov. 29, with four spooktacular seasons. Seeing the likes of Carla Hall (“The Chew”), Zac Young (“Unique Sweets”), Lorraine Pascale (“Worst Bakers in America”), Katie Lee (“The Kitchen”) and Stephanie Boswell (“Next Baking Master: Paris”) appearing as costume-clad judges, the “Halloween Baking Championship” asks its bakers to create countless desserts inspired by the fun and fantastical world of Halloween, including bundt cake pumpkin patches, “cereal killer” pies, deadly doughnuts, haunting (and edible) portraits, monster wedding cakes, 3D hedge mazes and more, all created during two weekly rounds of competition. Each season comes with its own terrifying theme – from haunted houses and creepy hotels to “Camp Devil’s Food Lake,” inspired by slasher films of the 1980s – seeing its ultimate winner earning themselves an impressive $25,000 prize. “Halloween Baking Championship” comes from Triage Entertainment and Sonic Dog.

“The Ugly Stepsister” (2025)

A fairy-tale turns ugly, in the satire-filled black comedy, “The Ugly Stepsister,” coming to Hulu this Tuesday, Nov. 25. After the death of her second husband, the recently-widowed Rebekka (Ane Dahl Torp, “Cold Lunch,” 2008) is left to care for her two biological daughters – Elvira (Lea Myren, “Kids in Crime”) and Alma (Flo Fagerli, “A Better Man”) – along with her newly adopted step-daughter, Agnes (Thea Sofie Loch Næss, “The Last Kingdom”). Left with a crippling debt to pay, Rebekkah concocts a plan to marry her daughter, Elvira, off to the wealthy Prince Julian (Isac Calmroth, “Evil”), but feels her plan will only be successful if Elvira is attractive enough to entice the prince. Rebekka subjects her daughter to a series of painful, primitive cosmetic surgeries, altering Elvira until she’s nearly unrecognizable. Acting as the directorial debut for Norwegian filmmaker Emilie Blichfeldt (“How Do You Like My Hair?,” 2013) – who also penned the film’s screenplay – “The Ugly Stepsister” also stars Malte Gårdinger (“Triangle of Sadness,” 2022), Ralph Carlsson (“Show Me Love,” 1998), Isac Aspberg (“Inga Lindstrom”), Albin Weidenbladh (“Those Half Hidden”), Katarzyna Herman (“The Lure,” 2015), Adam Lundgren (“Blue Eyes”) and Willy Ramnek Petri (“An Honest Life,” 2025), among others.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: Small detail, but I noticed that both "The Rookie" and "9-1-1" follow Engine 118. Are the two shows related at all?

A: "The Rookie" and "9-1-1" don't exist in the same universe, if that's what you're asking — and you wouldn't be the first to do so. In fact, the people behind "9-1-1" have almost made a joke of it at this point.

"9-1-1" started its life on Fox, but transitioned to ABC, home of the cop dramedy "The Rookie," for its seventh season.

At the time, people wondered what that meant for "9-1-1's" relationship with its spinoff, "9-1-1: Lone Star," which was remaining on Fox, and whether it made future crossover episodes impossible.

"I don't know, maybe it even opens us up to possible other crossovers with ABC procedurals," said "9-1-1" star Oliver

"9-1-1" showrunner
Tim Minear

Stark ("Into the Badlands") in an interview with Variety. "Maybe we end up on 'The Rookie.'"

That seems like an offhand, for-in-stance kind of comment, except that others did the same kind of speculating.

In an Entertainment Weekly interview a few months later, showrunner Tim Minear ("Firefly") teased that "9-1-1" would be doing a crossover but refused to say with whom. "Is it 'The Rookie'? Probably not since I just said 'The Rookie.'"

At this point, it's almost strange that they haven't crossed over yet. They're both first-responder shows, both set in LA and, as you say, both feature Fire Station 118 (which, for the record, is a real fire station number in Los Angeles County) in some capacity.

There's also the fact that they've shared more than one actor over the years — though perhaps that would make a crossover harder. For example, Bridget Regan has played Monica Stevens in "The Rookie" since 2022 but also played a different character, Moira Blake, in "9-1-1" last season.

Q: Now that he's no longer James Bond, is Daniel Craig finally going to do that "Layer Cake" sequel?

A: Someone's going to do the "Layer Cake" follow-up, but it won't be Daniel Craig ("Knives Out," 2019). And it may not actually be a "sequel," per se.

Before he debuted as James Bond in 2006's "Casino Royale," Daniel Craig played a different kind of stylish gunman in the 2004 crime thriller "Layer Cake." Indeed, reports at the time said that it was his roguish performance in "Layer Cake" that got him the Bond gig.

"Layer Cake" was based on a book of the same name by author J.J. Connolly, who also wrote a sequel called "Viva La Madness." A film version of that has been rumored since 2013, but with Jason Statham ("Crank," 2006) in the role Craig vacated, a character mysteriously just named X in both the books and the film.

Just a few weeks ago, Variety magazine reported that production would finally kick off in January. However, Variety also specified that, even though it is an adaptation of "Viva La Madness," it's no longer being called a "Layer Cake" sequel: "The film is being billed as a stand-alone, original feature and not a sequel, spinoff or continuation of any previous adaptation of Connolly's work."

Perhaps that's because they didn't want to have to explain the actor switch. While this goes ahead, Craig remains incredibly busy with his own high-profile projects. His new film, "Wake Up Dead Man," the third installment in the "Knives Out" mysteries, will be released in just a few weeks.

Meanwhile, he's currently filming "Narnia," a new adaptation of the beloved children's book "The Magician's Nephew" by C.S. Lewis. It's being promised as a "rock and roll" reimagining of the source material and is slated for release next November.
