Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert (R)

A study says that if we exercise for 30 minutes a day but spend the rest of the time sitting, “it’s almost as if we had not worked out at all.” Well, that’s great news, because it means that if all I do is sit all day, it’s almost as if I had worked out.

Hold onto your beakers, nerds, because there’s some news from the world of science. Down in Antarctica, a “doomsday glacier” is disintegrating faster than previously thought. OK, that’s terrifying. And I [have] got to say, it doesn’t help that we’re calling in the “doomsday glacier.” Can’t we pick something happier? Like the “free guac glacier” or the “have you lost weight iceberg?”

When [Donald Trump] does pay his lawyers, he has some fun with it, because we learned that the former president once tried to pay a lawyer with a horse. I don’t know why we’re surprised. After all, he did describe himself as a stable genius.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon (R)

A popular craft beer in Australia was recalled over concerns of “excess alcohol.” Meanwhile, the people who bought it were like, “We can’t recall anything.”

Apparently, Amazon has a policy not to show ads for alcohol, which means there are no beer commercials during their football games. I don’t know why Amazon does that, because drunk people ordering stuff on Amazon is 90% of their business.

Ferrari unveiled its first-ever four-door car. Yeah, right now people who own Ferraris are like, “Oh, if only I had three friends.”

Jimmy Kimmel Live! (R)

NASA went full “Armageddon” (1998) and successfully hit an asteroid with a spacecraft, in what is — they say — the world’s first planetary defense mission. Which is exciting news for everyone other than the Space Force. They were like, “Can’t you let us have anything?”

You know Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis and [how] he duped that plane full of Venezuelan families into flying to Martha’s Vineyard? Well, word is Trump’s upset about that. Not because he cares about the people — he’s upset because he thinks Ron DeSantis stole that idea from him. Can you imagine being such a despicable creep, you’re mad at someone for being a despicable creep sooner than you? It’s like taking credit for being the first guy to put pineapple on pizza.

[Ron] DeSantis is that guy you went to high school with who desperately wanted to be prom king but didn’t have the charisma, so instead, he just pulled the fire alarm and ruined the dance for everybody.

Late Night With Seth Meyers (R)

After receiving criticism from viewers, Netflix removed the LGBTQ tag from its series about serial killer Jeffrey Dahmer. On the downside, they left the food and travel tag.

President Biden’s plan to forgive $10,000 per borrower in Federal Student Loan debt will cost nearly $400 billion, or in student loan terms, $27 per month for 30 billion years.

Elon Musk’s college girlfriend is auctioning off personal items from their relationship, including photographs, a birthday card and upwards of three kids.

President Biden spoke to Britain’s King Charles ... for the first time since Queen Elizabeth’s passing. “I can’t believe you waited your entire life for this lousy job!” said both of them at the same time.

Two Air France Pilots were suspended after a physical fight in the cockpit during a flight. The fight was reportedly so intense that one of them dropped his cigarette.

A large spill of Alfredo sauce shut down an interstate highway in Tennessee. Well, it wouldn’t be the first time Alfredo sauce clogged a major artery.

Tides of crime: Secrets and murder abound in Season 2 of 'Annika'

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

It's Scottish crime with a Scandinavian twist this autumn as Season 2 of the BBC series "Annika" premieres on PBS Masterpiece, Sunday, Oct. 15. An interesting clash of northern European cultures, the two worlds meet seamlessly due to the titular character's Norwegian roots and the often-folkloric nature of the crimes she encounters at work.

The series' main character, DI Annika Strandhed, has been a hit with audiences across the pond since the original radio series premiered in early January 2017 on the U.K.'s BBC Radio 4. The radio series, titled "Annika Stranded," wrapped Sept. 4, 2020, but for lovers of the series, the story continues on television, complete with Nicola Walker ("MI-5") in the role of Annika — no doubt a familiar voice for fans who jumped over from the radio play.

Both series follow Strandhed, a former Oslo-based "murder squad" police officer, as she relocates to a remote region of Scotland to head up the country's first-ever Marine Homicide Unit (MHU). Given her dedication to the job and a lifelong love of fast-moving boats, Strandhed seems poised as the perfect fit to lead the new team. That said, her cohort DS Michael McAndrews (Jamie Sives, "Guilt") has other opinions.

McAndrews attended police college with Strandhed, but the two detectives selected career paths that took them in opposite directions, causing them to drift apart. While McAndrews is clearly supportive of Strandhed and finds her to be a very intelligent leader, he still believes himself to have been a better candidate for her position as leader of the MHU. Nevertheless, the pair must find a way to work together — thankfully McAndrews' duties as head diver keep him busy and away from Strandhed much of the time.

Working alongside the two team leads are DC Blair Ferguson (Katie Leung, "Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire," 2005), who provides data analysis and tech support for the team; DS Tyrone Clarke (Ukweli Roach, "Blindspot"), a former drug unit investigator who prefers to work alone; and DCI Diane Oban (Kate Dickie, "The Green Knight," 2021), who oversees all police proceedings within the precinct and often has the final say on how the MHU operates.

Joining the MHU this season is DC Harper Weston (played by Varada Sethu, "Jurassic World Dominion," 2022), a motorcycle-riding trainee who, given her youth, may act as a second person to provide Strandhed a bit of insight regarding her daughter, Morgan (Sylvie Furneaux, "Red Rose"). This guiding role has previously only been played by Ferguson, who is of a similar age to Weston and only a few years older than Morgan herself.

What we do know headed into Season 2 — and there is quite a bit, given that the season (or "series," as it is referred to in the U.K.) has already premiered on its home channel of BBC One — is that the very first episode centers on a "brutal drowning" death that has been recorded on a mobile phone. When the cellphone is turned in to police and passed over the the MHU, Strandhed and her team jump into action to try to identify and catch the murderer responsible.

Meanwhile, the aftereffects of Morgan's 16th birthday are still hanging in the air at the Strandhed home- stead, and old family secrets have now begun to seep into the detective's workplace as well. As Strandhed struggles to share important information with McAndrews, Ferguson and Clarke have a shared secret of their own.

As this new season progresses, fans of the show can expect to learn more about Morgan Strandhed's father, meet new members of the MHU team, say goodbye to a beloved character or two, and discover even more shocking connections between Scotland's (fictional) water-based crimes and several pieces of literature and folklore from northern Europe and Scandinavia.

Audiences can also expect Strandhed to continue breaking the fourth wall, a trait for which the procedural drama has become known. A unique plot-driving device, Strandhed's tendency to address the viewers directly adds a layer of sincerity and intimacy while building suspense by giving away specific details that remain unknown to the rest of the characters.

"Annika," like "Annika Stranded," is created by Nick Walker, who is of no known relation to the franchise's leading actress. Despite the popularity of both series, "Annika" remains Walker's only credit to date on IMDb.

Season 2 of "Annika" also sees the return of Paul McGann ("Queen of the Damned," 2002) as Jake Strathearn, Taylor Goodwin ("Goodbye Charlie," 2015) as Femi Talla, and budding star Sophie Sloan as Madison McAndrews, while Sven Henriksen ("Varg," 2008), Cora Bissett ("High Times") and new talent Mya Milne join the cast.

Don't miss a new collection of cases and family drama when the second season of BBC One's "Annika" premieres Sunday, Oct. 15, on PBS Masterpiece.

Welcome to Miami: A young artist dreams of making it big in 'Neon'

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

There may be a chill in the air, but a new comedy series brings the heat from Miami beaches and dance floors to your screen. "Neon" premieres on Netflix Thursday, Oct. 19, dropping all eight episodes and immersing audiences in the world of up-and-coming reggaeton artist Santi (Tyler Dean Flores, "Miguel Wants to Fight," 2023) as he tries to make it to the big time in Magic City.

Packing their lives up into a 2009 Toyota Corolla, Santi and his friends Ness (Emma Ferreira, "Unstable") and Felix (Jordan Mendoza, "Kaleidoscope") leave small-town Florida behind and hit the road that leads to Miami. The three best friends have a lot of inroads to make once they arrive in the big city, but their hopes of stardom for Santi keep them afloat.

In a teaser trailer for "Neon" released by Netflix, the trio's temporary Miami lodgings are parked within view of the more comfortably cramped suites of a Sheraton hotel. Humble beginnings for sure, but the trailer also sees the dreamers working hard, making connections and taking to the stage, enjoying the nightlife they hope to become fixtures of soon.

Though they're starting from the bottom and sleeping in their car to start, the "Neon" trailer teases some pretty glamorous upgrades afforded to the crew. Santi shoots a music video, lays down a track in the studio, embraces his friends backstage of a very important performance, gets invited to swanky house parties and tosses cash in the air. "You are a star," Ness proclaims in the trailer before further declaring, "We have to show them we're not loser wannabes."

Whether Santi is on the rise or a wannabe, the music fanatics of Miami decide his fate — he'll either get set off to stardom or back to his hometown.

The friends stumble over the difficult path to making it — sometimes even getting tackled on stage — but Santi's got an edge to set himself apart. In the trailer, the friends meet with A&R rep Mia (Courtney Taylor, "The Company You Keep") who lays out her first impression of Santi, telling them, "You write, produce, perform. Do you know how rare that is?" Santi in turn assures Mia that she's about to join something major, predicting, "I'll be the biggest reggaeton star in the world." Santi's got a vision, and if it's all about who you know, then a notable cameo suggests that he's about to skyrocket out of Miami's scene and take over the world.

Tyler Dean Flores in "Neon"

"Neon" is executive produced by the "King of Reggaeton" himself, Daddy Yankee, whose hits "Gasolina" and "Despacito" have defined the genre on a global level. His tunes have appeared on various soundtracks over the years, and he's racked up a few credits as himself in on-screen projects over the years, but "Neon" is the most involved that the musician has been in the world of TV. Having announced his retirement from music in 2022, the legendary artist seems to have turned his mind to expanding reggaeton's impact to a new medium in TV.

Busy both behind the scenes and in a cameo role in "Neon," Daddy Yankee pops up in the series trailer, causing manager-mode Ness to ramble on about how exactly to address him. "You will not regret this, Daddy," she starts with, before correcting herself with a hesitant "Mr. Yankee," then making a swift exit from the interaction before her idol can chime in.

Also starring in "Neon" are Santiago Cabrera ("The Flight Attendant") as Oscar, Zach Fox ("Abbott Elementary") as Zale and Jordana Brewster ("Fast X," 2023) as Gina. The series features new music from Grammy-winning producer Tainy, known for his work on hits like Cardi B's 2018 chart-topper "I Like It." Joining Tainy as executive music producers for "Neon" are producers Lex Borrero and Ivan Rodriguez. An official playlist for "Neon" is available to stream on Spotify and Apple Music, featuring the new Tainy-produced track, "Exagerao," credited to Santi.

"Neon" series premiere director Oz Rodriguez ("A.P. Bio") talked to Tudum about the upcoming series in August, saying, "The fact that it was the story about these Latino kids trying to make it [excited me]." He praised the chemistry on Team Santi, adding, "When you see these characters together, you're like 'Oh, this fits.'"

"Neon" creator Shea Serrano, whose semi-autobiographical comedy series "Primo" debuted on Amazon Freevee in May, has joined with showrunner Max Searle ("Dave") for the new series. Serrano is a writer and author with three New York Times bestsellers to his name and co-wrote the 2023 Hulu/Disney+ teen comedy movie "Miguel Wants To Fight" with fellow former Ringer writer Jason Conception.

Get ready to cheer on some underdogs trying to break into Miami's reggaeton scene when "Neon" premieres Thursday, Oct. 19, on Netflix.

New documentary highlights wealth and racial discrepancies through one family's story

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Harrowed Household: From director Raoul Peck ("I Am Not Your Negro," 2016), the 2023 documentary "Silver Dollar Road" premieres Friday, Oct. 20, on Prime Video.

Having premiered at the Toronto International Film Festival earlier this year in September, this documentary draws upon reporting done by Lizzie Presser for the nonprofit organization ProPublica, following one Black family's battle to save the land they've owned for generations. Reels family members have inhabited their waterfront property for over 100 years, but as the property-hungry land developers began to endlessly harass them, the once-picturesque homestead became a symbol for the ever-growing wealth and racial discrepancies across the county.

"More than a century ago, a generation removed from slavery, the Reels family acquired a 65-acre plot of coastal land in North Carolina," a recent article by Vanity Fair shares. "They built it up over generations into a haven for Black Americans in the South, a welcoming and safe community rich with outdoor resources and social activities. ... Anchored by Silver Dollar Road, a bustling residential street that ran through the middle of the plot, the land was designated low value at sale, but that changed with consistent investments, the beautiful waterfront homes and surrounding nature. With that came interest from white developers, and with that came a cruel exploitation of tenuous existing legal protections for ancestral holdings."

Raoul Peck, 'Silver Dollar Road' follows the story of the Reels family as told by the matriarch, Mamie Reels Ellison, and her niece Kim Renee Duhon, two fierce and clear-eyed women bending to safeguard valiantly their ancestors' land and their brothers and uncles Melvin and Li-curtis, who were wrongfully imprisoned for eight years — the longest sentence for civil contempt in North Carolina history."

With 90 hours of footage captured as videographers followed Lizzie Presser through her investigation, the film gives an in-depth look at one individual family's story — one that mirrors that of many.

Produced by Peck, Remi Grellety ("The Young Karl Marx," 2017), Blair Foster ("Taxi to the Dark Side," 2007) and Herbert Peck ("Fatal Assistance," 2013), with executive producers Viola Davis ("The Woman King," 2022), Julius Tennon ("Dazed and Confused," 1993), Rob Williams ("The Man in the High Castle"), Lizzie Presser ("Baby God," 2020) and Almudena Toral ("Seeking Asylum in Mexico: A Family Divided," 2017), Peck's poignant 2023 documentary, "Silver Dollar Road," makes its streaming debut Friday, Oct. 20, on Prime Video.

Mystery history: Celebrating the 35th anniversary of this beloved true crime series, "Unsolved Mysteries: Behind the Legacy" delves into the impressive history of this documentary series when it premieres, Thursday, Oct. 19, on major streaming platforms, including Amazon Freevee, Tubi, The Roku Channel, Pluto TV, Samsung TV Plus and Film-Rise's various streaming apps.

A news release issued for the special describes the following: "In

The Reels family from "Silver Dollar Road"

1987, actor Robert Stack lent his distinctive voice and donned his trademark trench coat for the very first episode of 'Unsolved Mysteries.' No one knew at the time that the series would become one of the longest-running programs in the history of television and kick off a true-crime genre that continues to explode to this day. In honor of the iconic series' 35th anniversary, Film-Rise and series creators Cosgrove/Meurer Productions are premiering a compelling documentary that will give viewers a fascinating glimpse behind the scenes of the groundbreaking true crime show."

"'Unsolved Mysteries,' a unique hybrid of news magazine and drama offering a mix of true crime stories, legends of the paranormal and tales of loved ones separated by time and geography, spent nine seasons on NBC before moving to CBS for two more seasons — and was the very first program that enabled audiences to play a role in helping an investigation by submitting their own story or sending in a tip."

Now, 35 years later, this special unravels the mystery of the series itself, as — to date — not only has "Unsolved Mysteries" solved more than 260 cases with the help of loyal viewers, bringing more than 180 fugitives to justice while reuniting over 100 families, it has also launched the acting careers of many A-list celebrities, including Matthew McConaughey ("The Wolf of Wall Street," 2013), Daniel Dae Kim ("Joy Ride," 2023), Taran Killam ("River Wild," 2023) (Killam also being Robert Stack's great-nephew), Cheryl Hines ("Curb Your Enthusiasm") and David Ramsey ("Arrow"), among others, each eager to explore the world of true crime.

As the series claims: "For every mystery, there is someone, somewhere, who knows the truth. Perhaps that someone is watching. Perhaps it's you."

"Unsolved Mysteries: Behind the Legacy" premieres Thursday, Oct. 19, on major streaming platforms.

"Bodies"

The new, time-bending British limited series "Bodies," based on the graphic novel by Si Spencer, premieres Thursday, Oct. 19, on Netflix. A police procedural with a twist, the series follows detectives from London's East End in 1890, 1941, 2023 and 2053 as a body — the same body — is found dead on Longharvest Lane. As one detective from each period investigates, connections are drawn across the decades as a conspiracy spanning over 150 years emerges. The series stars Jacob Fortune-Lloyd ("The Great") as DS Charlie Whiteman, Shira Haas ("The Conductor") as DC Iris Maplewood, Amaka Okafor ("The Split") as DS Shihara Hasan and Kyle Soller ("Andor") as DI Alfred Hillinghead. Tom Mothersdale ("Treadstone"), Synnove Karlsen ("The Midwich Cuckoos"), Stephen Graham ("Boiling Point," 2021), George Parker ("Shadow and Bone") and Michael Jibson ("The Essex Serpent") also star. Created and written by Paul Tomalin ("No Offence"), "Bodies" is also written by Danusia Samal ("The Great") and directed by Marco Kreuzpaintner ("The Lazarus Project") and Haolu Wang ("Doctor Who").

"Old Dads" (2023)

Actor, writer and comedian Bill Burr ("Bill Burr: Live at Red Rocks") makes

Saturday, October 14, 2023

his directorial debut with the new comedy film "Old Dads," premiering Friday, Oct. 20, on Netflix. A story about parenthood, friendship and navigating the world, "Old Dads" follows Jack (Burr), Connor (Bobby Cannavale, "The Watcher") and Mike (Bokeem Woodbine, " Fargo"), best friends and business partners, as they do their best to navigate their lives and growing families. When the trio sells their company of 23 years to a millennial CEO (Miles Robbins, "Halloween," 2018), they're forced to get caught up with the times and adapt to a rapidly changing business culture on top of everything else. Written by Burr and Ben Tishler ("What Would You Fight For?"), the movie is executive produced by Jamie D. Boscardin ("Bosch"), Joshua A. Foster ("Character Study," 2015) and Thomas Zadra ("The Holdovers," 2023). Katrina Bowden ("30 Rock"), Rachael Harris ("Lucifer"), Katie Aselton ("Legion"), C. Thomas Howell ("SEAL Team"), Natasha Leggero ("He's Just Not That Into You"), Josh Brener ("Silicon Valley") and Rory Scovel ("Physical") also star.

"Big Mouth" - Season 3

The "Big Mouth" kids are moving on and moving up to take on high school in Season 7 of "Big Mouth," premiering Friday, Oct. 20, on Netflix. As the kids are faced with a new school, new friends, new adversaries and new Hormone Monsters, they'll have to do everything they can to keep their lives and relationships together while everything they know is upended by puberty. The series was created by Mark Levin and Jennifer Flackett (writers of "The Adam Project," 2022), Andrew Goldberg ("Family Guy") and voice star Nick Kroll ("History of the World: Part II"). "Big Mouth's" main voice cast also includes John Mulaney ("John Mulaney: Baby I," 2023), Jessi Klein ("Inside Amy Schumer"), Ayo Edebiri ("The Bear"), Maya Rudolph ("Bridesmaids," 2011), Jason Mantzoukas ("Brooklyn Nine-Nine"), Jordan Peele ("Nope," 2022) and Fred Armisen ("Portlandia"), while Season 7 guest stars include rapper Megan Thee Stallion ("Sweetest Pie"), Lupita Nyong'o ("Black Panther," 2018), Stephanie Beatriz ("Brooklyn Nine-Nine"), Zazie Beetz ("Atlanta"), Padma Lakshmi ("Top Chef"), Maitreyi Ramakrishnan ("Never Have I Ever"), Billy Porter ("Pose"), Rosie Perez ("The Flight Attendant"), Brian Tyree Henry ("Atlanta"), Zach Galifianakis ("The Beanie Bubble," 2023), Randall Park ("WandaVision"), Chloe Fineman ("Saturday Night Live"), Beck Bennett ("Sing," 2016), Zach Woods ("Silicon Valley"), Mark Duplass ("The Morning Show"), Thandiwe Newton ("Westworld"), Paul Scheer ("The League"), Brandon Kyle Goodman ("Alive in Denver"), Jon Daly ("The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," 2013) and Andy Daly

Bokeem Woodbine, Bobby Cannavale and Bill Burr star in "Old Dads"

("American Dad").

"Surviving Paradise" - Season 1

In Netflix's newest reality series, "Surviving Paradise," premiering Friday, Oct. 20, unsuspecting contestants will have to fight for their right to party — literally. Thinking they are heading off to a luxury, oceanside villa, the series' 12 contestants get an unwelcome surprise when they discover they'll have to start out by living in the woods with nothing. Building friendships and alliances, they'll have to team up to earn a spot in the villa and a chance at the $100,000 grand prize. Even then, no one is safe: when the "outsiders" in the woods become "insiders" in the villa, they can take the place of an existing insider, kicking them back out into the cold. Hosted by Jessimae Peluso ("The Opening Act," 2020), "Surviving Paradise" comes from executive producers Dimitri Doganis ("Gold Rush") and Bart Layton ("The Deepest Breath," 2023).

The beyond is not as far away as one might think. Dive back into the future of life after death when Season 3 of "Upload" premieres Friday, Oct. 20, on Prime Video. In a world where one's consciousness can be uploaded into a virtual realm after death, dying might not seem quite so scary, right? Set in a technologically advanced future where people are "uploaded" to a virtual reality afterlife and enjoy all the comforts of a world-class resort — provided you can afford it. In Season 3, the series meets back up with "Nora (Andy Allo, "Chicago Fire") and freshly downloaded Nathan (Robbie Amell, "The Flash") as they navigate their relationship while racing to stop the mysterious conspiracy that threatens to destroy millions of lives" (per Prime Video). Meanwhile, in Lakeview, a backup copy of Nathan has been activated, with Ingrid (Allegria Edwards, "Briarpatch") set on a second chance at love. From creator, writer and director Greg Daniels, who has produced comedy hits including "The Office," "Parks and Recreation," "Space Force" and many more, the series also stars Josh Banday ("Hacked," 2016), Zainab Johnson ("Tab Time"), Kevin Bigley ("Stretch," 2014), Owen Daniels ("Space Force") and Andrea Rosen ("The Ten," 2007).

"Bosch: Legacy" - Season 2

The "Bosch" series spinoff, "Bosch: Legacy," returns to Prime Video's Freevee streaming service Friday, Oct. 20, with its second season. After seven seasons, the original series came to a close in 2021 with Det. Harry Bosch (Titus Welliver, "Argo," 2012) leaving his job at the LAPD. "Legacy" follows him into the next chapter of his life as a private investigator, as his daughter, Maddie (Madison Lintz, "The Walking Dead"), is just starting her own career with the LAPD. As he takes on new cases, Bosch finds himself working alongside his one-time enemy, Honey Chandler (Mimi Rogers, "Lost in Space," 1998). Now, in Season 2, Bosch and Chandler work together to find a killer before the killer can find them, while they grapple with kidnapping, murder and the FBI. Once again based on the novels of Michael Connelly, the series is created by "Bosch's" Tom Bernardo and Eric Ellis Overmyer. The series also stars Stephen A. Chang ("Artificial"), Denise G. Sanchez ("Mayans M.C."), David Moses ("Small Wonder"), Alex Loynaz ("Mondo Hollywoodland," 2019), Anthony Gonzales ("Boujetto"), Scott Klack ("Bosch"), Danielle Larracuente ("Snowfall"), Max Martini ("The Unit"), Guy Wilson ("Days of Our Lives"), Jolene Kay ("The Force," 2018) and Jessica Camacho ("All Rise").

"Sayen: Desert Road" (2023)

From director Alexander Witt ("Resident Evil: Apocalypse," 2004), written by Patricio Lynch ("No One Uses Type-writers Anymore," 2020) and Carla Stagno ("Solamente Julia"), the Spanish-language action-mystery film, "Sayen: Desert Road" (2023) will be available to stream on Prime Video as of Friday, Oct. 20. Rallen Montenegro, Katalina Sanchez and Jorge Lopez in "Sayen: Desert Road" negro, "No Nos Quieren Ver"), who is now one of the most wanted criminals in the country after having discovered a dangerous conspiracy led by an extremely powerful international corporation: Actaeon — the corporation also responsible for the loss of her family and for endless destruction around Chile. Searching for retribution, Sayen arrives in the Atacama Desert, where she finds new allies who join her on her perilous journey to take down Actaeon's director, Máximo Torres (Enrique Arce, "Money Heist"). "Sayen: Desert Road" also features the talents of Alfredo Castro ("The Club," 2015), Jorge López ("Soy Luna"), Eyal Meyer ("The First of the Condor," 2023), Camilo Arancibia ("The Settlers," 2023) and Katalina Sanchez ("La Jauria").

Duff Goldman and Rosanna Pansino host creepy cookie contest

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Sugar, spice and everything spooky: Season 2 of "Halloween Cookie Challenge" airs Mondays through October on Food Network. "Celebrity pastry chef Duff Goldman and social media sensation Rosanna Pansino celebrate the wildest and most colorful holiday of the year!," Food Network describes. "They'll bring together the best cookie makers in the country to compete in two challenges and create the creepiest, spookiest and tastiest Halloween cookies ever made! The winner takes home a trick-or-treat bag filled with $10,000!"

And that's $10,000 every episode. New contestants park their brooms at the kitchen door and take on Goldman and Pansino's cookie challenge every week, showcasing talent from far and wide.

So far this season, the competing cookie confectioners have faced monsters big and small, exploring what would happen if our favorite Halloween treats had a taste for us, too. Bakers have been asked to: make two-sided trick-or-treat bags — with one side being light and fun while the other is dark and spooky — out of lemon candies, black licorice and peach rings; decorate cookies with scary self-portraits; craft life-size oozing zombie parts out of cookies, overflowing with goopy marmalades and jams; and create creepy, 3D haunted mirrors — each old and cracked with crunchy treats like kettle chips, pretzels and corn chips.

Rosanna Pansino co-hosts "Halloween Cookie Challenge"

This week, "Edible stained glass is one of the most colorful and bewitching trends in the cookie world, and four cookie experts make glowing Halloween stained-glass cookies," the network promises. "After one cookier is eliminated, the remaining three masters build giant, elaborate Halloween fun houses that would thrill any Halloween carnival-goer. The judges will really feel like they are at a carnival as the bakers must incorporate fun fair flavors like caramel apples, grilled corn, popcorn balls and deep-fried sandwich cookies."

In the season's final episode, the final four competing cookie makers hope to scare the pants off hosts Goldman and Pansino by making edible, three-story haunted houses. Then, in the last round, Food Network has shared that, "The three remaining cookiers host a séance by making playable spirit boards. To make sure there is maximum 'spirit' in their boards, they will include spirits like apple brandy, cinnamon whiskey, coffee rum and black currant liqueur."

A rambunctious carnival filled with delicious treats, Season 2 of Food Network's "Halloween Cookie Challenge" airs new episodes Mondays through October.

"Living for the Dead" - Season 1

The producers of "Queer Eye" turn their gaze to the paranormal with executive producer Kristen Stewart ("Twilight," 2008) with the new reality series "Living for the Dead," premiering Wednesday, Oct. 18, as a part of Hulu's Huluween lineup. Criss-crossing the country on a supernatural adventure, five fabulous, queer ghost hunters work to help the living by healing the dead. Exploring some of the world's most infamous haunted locations, the team — made up of Alex Le May, Juju Bae, Ken Boggle, Logan Taylor and Roz Hernandez — "shed light on those not seen and illuminate untold stories," while "[pushing] past boundaries to bring acceptance to the misunderstood — living and dead" (per Hulu).

"Fright Krewe" - Season 1

From creators Eli Roth ("Cabin Fever," 2002) and James Frey (author of "A Million Little Pieces," 2003), the entirety of Dreamworks Animation Studios' first 2D-animated horror series, "Fright Krewe," is now available to stream on both Hulu and Peacock. With ten exciting episodes, the series promises adventure and mystery in The Big Easy, as the series' official tagline reads: "An ancient prophecy and a Voodoo Queen put misfit teens in charge of saving New Orleans from the biggest demonic threat it's faced in almost two centuries. But, honestly? Saving the world might be easier than becoming friends." Crawling with vampires, ghosts, rougarous, monsters and demons, "Fright Krewe" acts as the perfect gateway for older kids and teens alike to dive into the horror genre.

Pat, Stanley, Soleil, Maybe and Missy from "Fright Krewe"

"Cobweb" (2023)

Starring Woody Norman ("The Last Voyage of the Demeter," 2023), Lizzy

Caplan ("Cloverfield," 2008), Antony Starr ("Wish You Were Here," 2012) and Cleopatra Coleman ("Infinity Pool," 2023), the 2023 horror-thriller, "Cobweb," will be available to stream on Hulu as of Friday, Oct. 20. Samuel Bodin's ("Lazy Company") feature-length directorial debut, the film boasts a screenplay written by Chris Thomas Devlin ("Texas Chainsaw Massacre," 2022), and follows as an eight-year-old boy — Peter (Norman) — struggles to connect with his emotionally distant parents. In the midst of his neglect, the boy begins to hear tapping outside of his bedroom window — tapping that eventually morphs into the voice of a woman named Sarah (Aleksandra Dragova, "Memory," 2022). As they talk, Sarah claims that she has been trapped in the walls of Peter's house by his "evil" parents, and soon begins encouraging the boy to act out aggressively against them, causing chaos both for Peter and throughout the home. Chilling and captivating, "Cobweb" also stars Luke Busey ("Change of Heart," 2011), Jay Rincon ("The Sandman"), Steffanie Sampson ("Protecting the King," 2007), Anton Kottas ("After We Fell," 2021) and many more.

"Slotherhouse" (2023)

Don't rush, die slow — so says the tagline for this one-of-a-kind thriller. 2023's "Slotherhouse" makes its streaming debut, Sunday, Oct. 15, on Hulu. College senior Emily Young (Lisa Ambalavanar, "Titans") acts as the film's protagonist, eager to be elected as her sorority's (Sigma Lambda Theta) president, just as her late mother once was. Lacking the necessary popularity, however, forces Emily to search for a way to stand out from the rest, soon leading the young woman into a chance encounter with a man who thinks he has the perfect solution: a (seemingly) sweet and harmless three-toed sloth. After adopting the exotic creature — whom she names Alpha — Emily makes her new pet the house mascot, soon learning that Alpha may be more bloodthirsty than he is cuddle-crazy as he rips through the sorority one popular kid at a time. From director Matthew Goodhue ("Woe," 2020), "Slotherhouse" also stars Olivia Rouyre ("High School"), Stefan Kapicic ("Deadpool," 2016), Sydney Craven ("Jeepers Creepers: Reborn," 2022), Tiff Stevenson ("GameFace"), Bianca Beckles-Rose ("You Should Know Better," 2017), Grace Patterson ("What's My Name Again?," 2023), Kelly Lynn Reiter ("Deadlock," 2021) and others.

Q: I watched "Jurassic World" and noticed that Claire apparently wore high heels during the entire movie, including outrunning a T-Rex. Did Bryce Dallas Howard actually wear them the whole time or was it CGI or something?

A: The choice to have Claire Dearing, the straight-laced park operations manager in "Jurassic World" (2015), wear heels proved to be surprisingly controversial.

Of all the fantastical, giant-sized events that happen in the film, the one that many fans took issue with was seeing Claire sprint around the revived dinosaur theme park entirely in very impractical footwear.

While that might seem like an insignificant detail in the film's grand scheme, star Bryce Dallas Howard ("The Help," 2011) said it was a deliberate choice, on her part, that said a lot about her character.

"The takeaway from 'Jurassic World' is not, at all times, be ready to run from a dinosaur," she told fashion magazine Hello Giggles. "The takeaway is that if she could outrun a T-Rex in high heels, how badass is she? And so of course she's going to wear heels to the office, and that was something that kind of felt, I don't know, I was like, 'There was no other choice.'"

And, of course, having made that decision, she knew it wouldn't be OK to fake it with special effects. "I felt like I needed to get myself sorted and learn how to run in heels," she told Made In Hollywood TV. "Now I can put that on my resume under special skills."

So, whether it was the "takeaway" or not, Howard herself is now ready to run away from a dinosaur at all times, regardless of the shoes she's wearing.

Jim O'Heir stars in "Where Are You, Christmas?"

College Football

③ 12:00 PM

No matter who wins the battle between the Air Force Falcons and the Midshipmen of Navy when the two meet at Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium in Annapolis, Md., no one loses from a patriotic point of view. Historically, Air Force leads the series 33-22.

Where Are You, Christmas?

HALL 8:00 PM

Some may relate to Addy's (Lyndsay Fonseca) wish for a year without Christmas. Really, who wants to deal with all that? Bah hum-bug! Unfortunately, it's not what Addy expected, so she must team up with the town mechanic (Michael Rady) to fix her mistake.

Q: Is Lone Skye still acting? I was such a fan of hers when I was younger.

A: You can still be a fan of Lone Skye's today — she's just a little harder to find.

In contrast with her it-girl '80s period, these days she mostly pops up in quirky supporting roles on TV or in indie films.

For example, she showed up for a single episode of the buzzy Netflix series "Beef" earlier this year, playing a literal witch who gives an ominous warning to a younger version of the main character (played in the present day by Ali Wong, "Always Be My Maybe," 2019).

And she had a supporting role on the Australian surfer-themed drama
 "Barons," which was cancelled by CW this summer after just four episodes.

She can get these sorts of roles now thanks to the fame she built in her '80s heyday when she was appearing in stylish, cool and talked-about projects such as "Say Anything" (1989) and "River's Edge" (1986). That plus (let's be honest) a pretty distinctive name, a famous pedigree (she's the daughter of '60s folk-pop star Donovan) and a series of relationships with edgy rock stars that got her into the tabloids, meant that in the late '80s, Lone Skye was a pretty big deal.

As is almost always the case, that kind of fame doesn't last. And while she lost some of her buzz, she didn't lose her impeccable taste in roles.

She appeared — now as a supporting star — in some of the coolest movies of the '90s, such as the high-concept anthology movie
 "Four Rooms" (1995), the small indie picture "But I'm a Cheerleader" that only later was adopted as a gay-cinema classic, and the zeitgeist-grabbing "Wayne's World" (1992).

That has continued into the present day. Her roles in "Beef" and, a few years ago, on "Arrested Development," mean she's still a fixture in buzzy projects.

Q: What has the actor who played Linda on "Blue Bloods" been doing since she was written off the show?

A: Amy Carlson ("Blue Bloods," "Third Watch") has been pounding the pavement again — virtually, at least.

After [six-year-old spoiler alert] her "Blue Bloods" character was killed off in 2017, Carlson is back to chasing supporting roles, indie films and shorts, much like she did earlier in her career.

Most notably, she did a two-episode arc as Jackie Ward on "FBI: Most Wanted" (another police procedural) in the 2020-21 season, and two episodes of the sci-fi drama
 "The Society" in 2019.

But the process of finding roles has changed a bit since the days before she was a prime-time fixture.
 She posted a refreshingly frank message on Instagram, saying she's discovered that actors now are required to record their own audition tapes at home, whereas earlier (particularly pre-pandemic), they had casting directors helping them to record their audition performances.

"Early in my career, casting directors guided me, taught me and helped me do my best work. I miss

Fans are still reeling from her "Blue Bloods" departure — judging by the comments she received on that post and everything else she's put on social media — so it seems like just a matter of time before Carlson finds another full-time gig.
