Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

This weekend, while airports were in utter chaos and thousands [were] without food benefits across America, [President] Trump showed sensitive leadership and attended his second extravagant party at Mar-a-Lago in a week. ... The esteemed guests included far-right British politician Nigel Farage, disgraced butter junkie Paula Deen and “Hercules” star Kevin Sorbo. I think it’s pretty incredible Sorbo found the time considering production of “Hercules” wrapped only 26 years ago.

All over the United States, there’s the Arctic clippers coming down. Folks are getting hit with an Arctic blast. Down south, the cold is causing all kinds of problems. In Florida, residents were warned that iguanas paralyzed by the cold might start falling from trees. As opposed to the rest of the year in Florida when reptiles falling from the trees are thrown by Iguana Dave, the guy who throws iguanas.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

It’s Veterans Day [Nov. 11], and tonight’s audience is made up entirely of veterans, active military and their families and friends. I thank you for all the sacrifices you have made fighting overseas while the rest of us are at home fighting over bear-shaped cups at Starbucks.

I saw that today [Nov. 11] Red Lobster was offering free shrimp to all veterans. Red Lobster said, “It’s the least we can do.” And veterans were like, “We agree. That is the least you can do.”

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

Tom Brady yesterday [Nov. 4] announced that his current dog is a clone of the now deceased dog he had with his ex-wife when they were married. Just in case you were worried, he didn’t seem divorced enough. Tom said he cloned his dog, which is a pitbull mix, to teach his children the valuable lesson that none of them will ever die.

We’re now enduring the longest government shutdown of all time. This is Day 36 [Nov. 5]. This shutdown has officially now lasted longer than Dennis Rodman’s marriage to Carmen Electra, Mario Lopez’s marriage to Ali Landry and Britney Spears’ marriage to Jason Alexander combined.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

The fast-food chain Kentucky Fried Chicken is unveiling a new menu in honor of the Netflix series “Stranger Things,” including a 12-piece nuggets that you would swear was 25.

A group of right Senate Democrats broke last night with party leadership to support an agreement that would fund the government through January and does not include an extension for enhanced Obamacare tax credits. God, they’re so bad at this. It’s like going to a car dealership, seeing it’s $30,000 and saying, “I’ll give you $50,000, but you have to sleep with my wife.”

The doughnut chain Krispy Kreme last quarter closed nearly 1,000 locations, as well as nearly 6,000 arteries.

Off off-Broadway: NYC playwright returns home in first NZ musical sitcom

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

If you have ever seen a Broadway musical and wondered what the cast and crew do when they aren't selected for the show, "Happiness" is just the series for you. Premiering Sunday, Dec. 14, with back-to-back episodes, the musical comedy taps into the rejection and upset felt when dreams don't work out as you have planned and life sends you right back where you began. As it happens for "Happiness" lead Charlie Summers (Harry McNaughton, "Madam"), "back where he began" is more than 8,500 miles away.

Set in Tauranga, New Zealand, "Happiness" follows Kiwi theater director Charlie Summers, who, after working on Broadway in New York City, is forced to return to his hometown to renew his working visa when its initial renewal is denied mid-career. Although the news is understandably devastating for Charlie, his mother, Gaye (Rebecca Gibney, "Packed to the Rafters"), is more than happy to welcome him home, regardless of the reason. In fact, given her son's clear flair for high-end dramatic arts, Gaye is convinced she has just the thing to keep him occupied while he is back in town — not that he needs to be kept any busier than hosting rehearsals for a Broadway revival of "Cats" with two-time Oscar winner Sally Field ("Forrest Gump," 1994) as star.

And despite the clear downer at the crux of the plot, "Happiness" has a good heart. Chock-a-block with themes related to family obligation, societal politeness and one's ability to support various ludicrous misunderstandings to avoid mounting embarrassment, the series, directed by Robyn Grace ("Sweet Tooth"), has already been nominated for the C21 International Drama Awards, a U.K.-based awards program that aims to "recognize the best in global scripted creativity" (per C21media.net). Additionally, the series has already been awarded National Winner at this year's Asian Academy Creative Awards.

"I like to describe it as kind of 'Schitt's Creek' meets 'Glee'," Gibney told the Today Show Australia in early November. "My son comes home from New York and he has to help out. He doesn't tell her [Gaye] the truth about why he's back, so it's joyous, it's uplifting, it's light-filled, it's fun."

The light, quirky vibe of the series is also backed up by its breezy brevity. At just 20 minutes per episode, the six-episode season is a quick weekly palate-cleanser for the comedically inclined viewer. And although Gibney may be the only familiar face — if any — for PBS viewers, "Happiness's" cast is bursting with talent, as is its show-within-a-show "Trojan Horse: The Musical."

Marshayla Christie ("Whina," 2022) stars as Gloria, the high school music teacher behind the creation of "Trojan Horse: The Musical," while Jessie Lawrence's ("Elliott from Earth") Jacqui heads up the production alongside her co-stars Connor (Henry Auva'a, "First Place," 2025), Mia (Melody Lui-Webster, "Custard's World"), Adrian (Peter Hambleton, "The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey," 2012), Nicky (Bronwyn Bradley, "Heart Eyes," 2025) and Adam (Joel Granger, "Please Like Me"), to name a few.

Yvette Parsons ("The Power of the Dog," 2021), Brady Peeti ("Koka," 2025) and Maaka Pohatu ("Miles from Nowhere") also star, while makeup and costumes are provided by Sammy Salsa ("The Panthers"), Dianne Ensor ("M3GAN 2.0," 2025) and Tania Houghton ("The Blue Rose").

Hailed as New Zealand's first musical sitcom, per online magazine The Spinoff, "Happiness" was created by actor and writer Kip Chapman ("Top of the Lake") and new talent Luke Di Somma, who also composed the show's music. Choreography for "Happiness" is arranged by Liv Tennenet, who has previously worked on popular New Zealand crime procedural "The Brokenwood Mysteries."

On top of awards talk for the series' premiere season, "Happiness" has also been confirmed for a second season on New Zealand home network Three and its streamer ThreeNow, meaning PBS is also likely to have another season coming its way if all goes well during the Season 1 release. Season 2 filming is scheduled to begin in February or March 2026.

Replete with heartfelt moments, raw sincerity and approximately two original songs per episode, the titular happiness is clear from the jump, which is something leading actors McNaughton and Gibney credit to their instant behind-the-scenes connection.

"You have to do a lot of masking in this industry — socializing and being with people on set — but Bec [Gibney] and I don't have to mask around each other at all," McNaughton told New Zealand Woman's Weekly, as reported on the magazine's Instagram (@newzealandwomensweekly) in mid-May. "The connection was just there. It's lovely, knowing you don't have to put up a front and just be yourself."

As for the audience's connection to the cast and series, Gibney supposes that, too, will come rather naturally.

"If you want a bit of escapism," Gibney says, "pour yourself a glass of something and sit down and just be prepared to smile all the way through it."

"Happiness" is produced by Greenstone TV for New Zealand's Three and ThreeNow. Distributed by DCD Rights, "Happiness" premieres its first two episodes in North America Sunday, Dec. 14, on PBS.

Toxin city: 'Fallout' is back with a radioactive new season

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Not even a nuclear blast can silence the siren song of the once-whizzing slot machines on the strip in Sin City. A woman, her dog and a ghoulish trek across the Mojave wasteland toward New Vegas in the much-anticipated second season of "Fallout," premiering Wednesday, Dec. 17, on Prime Video. The eight-episode season drops new installments weekly.

Ella Purnell ("Yellowjackets") returns as Lucy, a former luxury Vault-Tec dweller who got a crash course in survival during the first season of "Fallout." After Lucy escaped the underground community she was raised in, she was forced to learn how to live on the post-apocalyptic surface. In search of the reason behind the attack on her vault that drove her outside, Lucy took her endless positivity and naiveté into a toxic, cynical world two centuries deep into a nuclear holocaust.

On the surface, Lucy encountered the Ghoul (Walton Goggins, "The White Lotus"), a foe-turned-friend whose disillusioned worldview broke her spirit as a courtesy. Maximus (Aaron Moten, "Next"), an armored squire of the Brotherhood of Steel, also found Lucy in the wasteland. While Maximus was just a cog in the machine of the Brotherhood at the beginning, a relatively routine mission gone wrong put him on Lucy and the Ghoul's path and revealed the complexities of the world he previously thought was simple.

This season, Lucy and the Ghoul trace the path of her father, Hank (Kyle MacLachlan, "The Lowdown"), across the desert with man's best friend, CX404. Having escaped the sinking ship of Los Angeles in an armored suit in the Season 1 finale, Hank took off toward the ruins of Las Vegas, where his daughter and her companions will fight to find him in the upcoming season. With the vision of her father as the ultimate benevolent leader shattered, Lucy must pick herself up and try to hold him accountable. Maximus, now a knighted member of the Brotherhood, must return to the life he learned too much about to truly believe in.

With lots of time to get to know each other on their way to Las Vegas,

Walton Goggins and Frances Turner in "Fallout"

the Ghoul asks Lucy in the upcoming season's trailer what exactly she plans to do once they find her father in Sin City. "I'm gonna bring him to justice. So people know that how they conduct themselves matters, and they don't give up hope." Eternally optimistic, even in the face of monsters and badlands, Lucy is determined to live by the ideals she was raised on, even if they were a facade.

Delightfully gruesome creatures molded by nuclear fallout continue to reveal themselves this season. Creepy crawlies have grown exponentially larger than what we're familiar with—a tarantula spanning the width of a set of double doors devours a cat-sized scorpion in the trailer—and characters are mutating before our very eyes.

Maximus' Brotherhood companion Thaddeus (Johnny Pemberton, "Superstore") is growing teeth from his collarbone after ingesting a life-saving radioactive elixir last season. Finally, it wouldn't be Vegas without The King. A roving gang of undead Elvis Presley impersonators still occupy the strip and make trouble for Lucy in the trailer.

Returning this season are Moises Arias ("The King of Staten Island," 2020) as Lucy's brother, Norm, still a member of the vault; and Frances Turner ("The Boys") as Barb, a Vault-Tec executive and wife of the Ghoul in his former human life before the Great War of 2077, when he was Hollywood actor and spokesperson Cooper Howard.

New cast member Justin Theroux ("Running Point") joins the series this season as Robert House, revealed in the teaser trailer in a scene before the war, where he's intimidating Cooper from the pilot's seat of his luxurious Las Vegas office-meets-command center. Macaulay Culkin ("The Righteous Gemstones") also joins the cast in a yet-unnamed role in the upcoming season.

Culkin made a brief appearance in the trailer, but aside from what video game fans can interpret from his armored costuming, there's no official word on his character yet. New cast member Kumail Nanjiani ("Only Murders in the Building") also popped up in the trailer, making a big entrance and telling members of the Brotherhood gathered in an aircraft hangar, "I understand we're discussing a civil war. I must not have gotten my invitation."

"Fallout" is inspired by one of the most successful video game franchises of all time. This season uses the setting of the franchise's fourth mainline release, 2010's Fallout: New Vegas. The series was co-created by Graham Wagner ("Silicon Valley") and Geneva Robertson-Dworet (Tomb Raider, "2018). The series is executive produced alongside Wagner and Robertson-Dworet by Jonathan Nolan ("Westworld"), Lisa Joy ("Burn Notice") and Athena Wickham ("Person of Interest") for Kilter Films, who also serve as showrunners.

Join the "Fallout" gang in the end of times when the new season premieres Wednesday, Dec. 17, on Prime Video. New episodes drop on the streamer weekly with its season finale available to watch Wednesday, Feb. 4.

Six-part docuseries brings wildlife to Apple TV+

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Wild things: Make your heart sing as the fluffiest, downiest and downright cutest animal babies grace television worldwide this Friday, Dec. 19, during the premiere of "Born to be Wild" on Apple TV. A six-part miniseries, this documentary follows a hand-picked selection of young creatures, all adorable — and, sadly, all endangered — as they grow and learn the skills required to ensure their successful return to the wild.

As Apple TV puts it, each of the featured animals must "grow up in our world but are destined to return to theirs."

"From their earliest days through their journey to life in the wild," reads the Apple press release, "the series highlights the challenges, triumphs and resilience that define their survival, both for the animals and the extraordinary people working to raise and protect them."

Among the series' presented animals are an elephant calf; a bear cub belonging to a species of Asian black bear known as the moon bear; a ring-tailed lemur pup; Iberian lynx kittens, which are native to the Iberian peninsula in southwestern Europe; some rescued African penguin chicks; and two young cheetahs. Focusing on one type of animal per episode, viewers will get an "intimate and emotional look at the powerful relationships between these animals and the heroic humans dedicated to raising, rehabilitating and rewilding them to help save their species" against all odds.

Another draw for the series is its narrator, Hugh Bonneville, a British actor best known to many for his portrayal of Robert Crawley, Seventh Earl of Grantham and one-time co-owner of the luxurious family estate on the hit period drama "Downton Abbey," which ran from 2010-2015 before releasing a film follow-up in 2019. Bonneville, although twice Emmy-nominated for this most illustrious role, would also be familiar to many children, thanks to his role as Henry Brown in the most recent Paddington Bear films, which began with 2014's "Paddington" and most recently continued with last year's "Paddington in Peru."

With such a familiar voice behind the documentary and such adorable animals on screen, there is no doubt that "Born to be Wild" is the perfect informative watch for the whole family to enjoy. Produced by Tailfeather Productions and Offspring Films for Apple TV+, this heartwarming series premieres Friday, Dec. 19.

Life of Luxury: Some people spend their entire lives searching for the perfect home; others live vicariously through the joy of helping their fellow citizens to find their personal paradise. David Bromstad ("Color Splash") does both.

Already familiar to many who consume home-and-garden renovation and decorating shows, Bromstad is best known as the chatty, upbeat, tattooed host of "My Lottery Dream Home" on HGTV. But now, after more than a decade of helping others to find their perfect palaces to call home, the designer and TV personality welcomes others into his own abode to share in his experience as he takes it from drab to fab, with a fairy-tale twist.

"My Lottery Dream Home: David's Happy Ending" airs Friday, Dec. 19, on HGTV.

Largely seen as a follow-up to his 2021 special titled "My Lottery Dream Home: David's Dream Home," in which he found the perfect building to remodel to his particular tastes, the new hour-long event follows Bromstad as he works with construction crews and fellow designers to transform his Orlando-based five-bedroom, four-bathroom Tudor into a magical, cozy home. Although originally inspired by fairy tales and his love of Disney, Bromstad rethought his initial plan after a life-changing trip to his "ancestral homeland" for his 50th birthday.

"I decided to celebrate in Norway to see how my ancestors lived and the air they breathed," Bromstad wrote in an Aug. 17, 2023, birthday post on his Instagram account (@bromco, for those interested). "Being here has answered so many questions about why I love the things I do. It was a perfect day hiking, kayaking and communing with nature and all her glory. Thank u for allowing me another trip around the sun."

And just like that, the fairy-tale dream had evolved into something even more personal.

Careful readers may well have already noticed the two-year span from house purchase to Norwegian vacation — as well as the following two from then to now — and that time is well accounted for, too. Unfortunately, as Bromstad was beginning work on the home in 2022, the Orlando area was hit by a huge storm, which flooded part of his newly acquired house and ultimately caused an infestation of mold. After "demo[ing] the entire house down to the studs," Bromstad and his crew are ready to get back to work in

"David's Happy Ending." But for all his fans, no one is more excited than Bromstad to finish the house.

"This is the first house I've owned on my own," Bromstad told Realtor.com shortly after his purchase. "With all my other houses I had a partner, so there was always a second opinion. Now, I have no second opinion. It's going to be delicious, tasteful, bold, but yet really comforting. Oh, I can't wait."

Join the excitement when "My Lottery Dream Home: David's Happy Ending" airs Friday, Dec. 19, on HGTV.

Lily Collins stars in "Emily in Paris"

By Kimberly Tremblay
TV Media

"Emily in Paris" - Season 5

Grab your passport! Emily's next adventure awaits when Season 5 of "Emily in Paris" debuts Thursday, Dec. 18, on Netflix. Now the head of Agence Grateau, Emily (Lily Collins, "To the Bone," 2017) finds her life split between Paris and Rome as she launches the agency's new Italian office — a "tale of two cities" that brings fresh professional and romantic complications. Just as everything seems to click, a bold work idea backfires, sending ripples through her career and personal life. Seeking stability, Emily embraces her French routine while navigating growing chemistry with Marcello (Eugenio Franceschini, "Don't Leave Me") and long-standing tension with Gabriel (Lucas Bravo, "Mrs. Harris Goes to Paris," 2022). However, a major secret soon jeopardizes one of her closest relationships. Through honesty and unexpected self-discovery, Emily gains deeper connections and renewed clarity. Season 5 also stars Ashley Park ("Only Murders in the Building"), Philippine Leroy-Beaulieu ("Two Brothers," 2004) and William Abadie ("Gossip Girl").

Saturday, December 13, 2025

"10Dance" (2025)

Passion meets rivalry when "10Dance" premieres Thursday, Dec. 18, on Netflix. Dancers Shinya Suzuki (Ryoma Takeuchi, "Rakujitsu") and Shinya Sugiki (Keita Machida, "Glass Heart") are champions in their own right — Suzuki rules the Latin floor, while Sugiki dominates the ballroom. When Sugiki challenges Suzuki to a grueling 10-dance competition that demands mastery of both styles, their lives collide in a fierce way during their fight for victory. As they push each other to their limits, old resentments surface and sparks fly, revealing deep ambition, jealousy and unexpected desire. Backed by their trusted partners — Suzuki's fiery Latin partner Aki (Shiori Doi, "Chosen Home") and Sugiki's graceful ballroom partner Fusako (Anna Ishii, "Blue Moment") — they must learn to trust each other, redefining both their dance and themselves along the way. "10Dance" is directed by Keishi Otomo ("Hagetaka: Road to Rebirth"), with a screenplay written by Tomoko Yoshida ("Blue Spring Ride," 2014).

"What's in the Box?"

- Season 1

Big boxes. Big prizes. Big surprises. Get ready to test your trivia skills, strategy and nerve when Netflix's thrilling new game show "What's in the Box?" premieres on the streamer Wednesday, Dec. 17. Hosted by Emmy- and Tony Award-winning actor Neil Patrick Harris ("Gone Girl," 2017), this competition show challenges pairs to face off in fast-paced, addictive trivia rounds — all for the chance to unlock the giant boxes hiding jaw-dropping prizes, wild surprises and unexpected reveals. But winning a prize is only the beginning. As the game unfolds, shifting alliances and clever strategies keep players on their toes, while twists and turns can change the outcome in an instant. Contestants must combine strategy, quick thinking and a little luck if they hope to hold onto their winnings and claim ultimate victory. With Harris guiding this season, each reveal becomes a thrilling, laugh-out-loud moment, keeping both players and viewers guessing what's next. From dazzling prizes to shocking surprises, "What's in the Box?" delivers nonstop excitement, proving that in this high-stakes competition, the real challenge isn't just opening the box ... it's keeping what's inside. "What's in the Box?" is executive produced by James Fox ("Pretty Slick," 2016), Dom Waugh ("Pointless Celebrities"), Wes Kauble ("Are You Smarter Than a Celebrity?") and Leanne Witcoop ("Little Mix: The Search").

Keita Machida and Ryoma Takeuchi in "10Dance"

"The Madame Blanc Mysteries" - Christmas Special

A festive night of art and intrigue takes a perilous turn when "The Madame Blanc Mysteries" Christmas special premieres Monday, Dec. 15, available on Prime Video via the Acorn TV channel. This year's Christmas special sends Jean White (Sally Lindsay, "Still Open All Hours") to the Musée de Sainte Victoire, where she's asked to authenticate a newly acquired treasure — a rare Ormolu box once owned by Marie Antoinette herself. Joined by Dom (Steve Edge, "Cruella," 2021), Judith (Sue Holderness, "EastEnders") and Jeremy (Robin Askwith, "Coronation Street") for an exclusive Christmas Eve event, Jean's routine assessment unravels when she discovers a ticking bomb concealed inside the historic piece. With only 90 minutes before it explodes, the museum goes into lockdown, a security guard turns up dead and the group must decipher a hidden code before disaster strikes. Created by Lindsay and Sue Vincent ("Bad Move") — who stars as Gloria in the series — returning cast members include Alex Gaumond ("Derry Girls") and Tony Robinson ("Maid Marian and Her Merry Men"), with John Thomson ("Coronation Street"), Kacey Ainsworth ("EastEnders"), Raji James ("Hollyoaks") and Manjinder Virk ("Midsomer Murders") also joining the cast for the special.

"The Elephant"

A team of acclaimed animators embarks on an unpredictable creative experiment when Adult Swim's "The Elephant" debuts Saturday, Dec. 20, available on Prime Video via the HBO Max channel. "The Elephant" brings together four visionary creators — Patrick McHale ("Guillermo Del Toro's Pinocchio," 2022), Ian Jones-Quartey ("Steven Universe"), Rebecca Sugar ("Steven Universe") and Pendleton Ward ("Adventure Time with Finn & Jake") — for an animated special unlike anything they've attempted before. Designed as a narrative experiment, the project unfolds in three acts crafted independently, with Sugar and Jones-Quartey collaborating on one segment and McHale and Ward each guiding their own. Acting as "game masters," Jack Pendarvis ("Adventure Time with Finn & Jake") and Kent Osborne ("Kiff") provide prompts that shape the story's direction, allowing the creators to surprise one another as their distinct pieces ultimately merge into a single, unexpected narrative. Alongside the special, Adult Swim presents "Behind the Elephant," a documentary offering a rare look into the creative process with interviews and production footage, highlighting the challenges, discoveries and spontaneity that define this boundary-pushing collaboration.

"Joker: Folie a Deux" (2024)

The next chapter of Arthur Fleck's story unfolds in "Joker: Folie a Deux," streaming on Prime Video Tuesday, Dec. 16. From director Todd Phillips ("Due Date," 2010), this 2024 thriller brings Joaquin Phoenix ("Walk the Line," 2005) back as Arthur, picking up in the aftermath of his violent, chaotic rise at the end of 2019's "Joker." Now incarcerated at Arkham State Hospital and awaiting trial for multiple murders, Arthur struggles with the weight of his dual identity and the divide between the man he once was and the persona the world now sees. Within Arkham's rigid routines and unyielding walls, Arthur meets Harley Quinn, played by Lady Gaga ("A Star Is Born," 2018), a fellow patient who offers him a rare sense of understanding and connection. Through Harley, Arthur begins exploring the music he believes has always lived inside him, turning his inner life into something vivid and expressive. "Joker: Folie a Deux" is written by Phillips and Scott Silver ("The Fighter," 2010), and stars Brendan Gleeson ("The Guard," 2011), Catherine Keener ("Get Out," 2017), Zazie Beetz ("Atlanta"), Steve Coogan ("The Sandman") and Harry Lawtey ("The Pale Blue Eye," 2022).

Meghan, Duchess of Sussex, impresses guests in holiday special

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

“ [Giving] viewers a front-row seat to how she decks the halls — and sets the table,” (per Elle Decor), the sensational seasonal special, “With Love, Meghan: Holiday Celebration,” is now available to stream on Netflix. Archewell Productions released a press release ahead of the special’s debut, stating that viewers will “join Meghan in [Montecito, California], for a magical holiday celebration. Together, friends and family deck the halls, create holiday feasts, craft heartfelt gifts and share lots of laughs — with simple how-tos to follow at home. It’s a holiday wonder with warmth, tradition and a generous dose of joy.”

During the Fortune Most Powerful Women Summit in October, Meghan, Duchess of Sussex, herself teased that the special was “a really good one,” revealing it would include “lots of gift wrapping techniques.” The California-based royal first picked up the skill while teaching advanced gift wrapping at Paper Source during her early acting days, picking up shifts to make extra money between auditions. Now, her wrapping techniques prove more useful than ever before. “That’s not the full circle I was expecting,” she said, “but here we are.”

Meghan, Duchess of Sussex, in “With Love, Meghan: Holiday Celebration”

A trailer for “Holiday Celebration” sees its host shopping for Christmas trees and completing some festive crafts, even sharing sneak peeks of two special guests: Meghan’s husband, Prince Harry, and four-time Grand Slam tennis champion Naomi Osaka. According to Women’s Wear Daily, appearances will also be made by chef Tom Colicchio (“Top Chef”), restaurateur Will Guidara, author Lindsay Roth (“What Pretty Girls Are Made Of”) and close friend to Meghan, Kelly Zajfen.

“I love the holiday season,” the Duchess of Sussex says in the aforementioned trailer. “It’s about finding time to connect with the people we love, embracing traditions and making new ones. Let the festivities commence and embrace the special touches that bring you joy.”

While Netflix has not yet renewed “With Love, Meghan” for a third season, fans can expect more content in the coming months and years as the streaming service recently extended its partnership with Archewell Productions, led by Meghan and Prince Harry. The partnership promises a multiyear, first-look deal for future film and television projects, promising more content to come.

In the meantime, however, fight off the winter blues with plenty of festive fun courtesy of “With Love, Meghan: Holiday Celebration,” now available to stream on Netflix.

Good Fortune

Gabriel (Reeves) is a low-level, well-meaning angel whose job is fairly modest: he mostly monitors the people who text and drive. He grows concerned about Arj (Ansari), a man juggling multiple odd jobs and barely making ends meet. One of Arj's employers, Jeff (Rogen), is a very wealthy and carefree venture capitalist. Gabriel tries to teach Arj that money isn't the answer to all of life's problems. To do that, he orchestrates a "life swap," with Arj taking over Jeff's luxurious life and Jeff taking on Arj's struggling existence. The plan backfires when Arj enjoys thriving in his new rich life and doesn't want to go back. As a result, Gabriel loses his wings and is forced to live on Earth as a human. Gabriel and Jeff try to deal with the struggles of the "real" world while Gabriel also tries to fix his celestial mistake.

Keanu Reeves and Sandra Oh in "Good Fortune"

Director: Aziz Ansari. Stars: Keanu Reeves, Aziz Ansari, Seth Rogen, Keke Palmer, Sandra Oh. 2025. 97 min. Comedy.

Tuesday Best Bets

Wilmer Valderrama in “NCIS” NHL Hockey

TNT TRUTV 7:30 PM

The legendary rivalry heats up at PPG Paints Arena in Pittsburgh as generational superstar Connor McDavid leads the Edmonton Oilers against veteran captain Sidney Crosby and the Penguins. Two of the NHL’s top offensive talents battle for critical points.

NCIS

③ 8:00 PM

In the next episode, McGee (Sean Murray) and Torres (Wilmer Valderrama) find themselves on the hunt for a stolen truck filled with toys for the Navy’s annual Christmas drive. Meanwhile, Knight (Katrina Law) searches for a former member of the team.

Beat Bobby Flay: Holiday Throwdown

FOOD 8:00 PM

It’s blustery here if you get our drift. Eddie Jackson brings in chefs Mei Lin, Tiffani Faison and Michael Voltaggio to turn Bobby’s kitchen into a winter rumbleland. Looking for total domination, the trio brings the storm — hoping to snow Bobby over.

Fixer Upper: Colorado Mountain House

HGTV MAGN 9:00 PM

Sometimes, your neighbors pick you. And as things progress in a start-stop manner at Chip and Jo’s Colorado fixer upper, some projects fall by the wayside. But as they debate the next step, wildlife such as bears and foxes make some surprise visits.

Wednesday

Best Bets

Ed Sheeran to perform during "iHeartRadio Jingle Ball 2025"

Survivor

③ 8:00 PM

There can only be one! This season finale will finally reveal just which castaway did their best to outlast their rivals and went the distance. There's been infighting and angry exchanges, but Jeff Probst will hand someone a check for $1 million.

The Floor

(12) (44) 8:00 PM

Hosted by Rob Lowe, this trivia battle comes to a dramatic close in this season finale. The last remaining contestants stand on the floor as they compete in the final show-down, hoping to win the $250,000 grand prize. Only one survives the trivia gauntlet.

iHeartRadio Jingle Ball 2025

(22) 8:00 PM

The year's biggest pop stars take the stage for this iconic holiday music event. The all-star lineup features huge names like Ed Sheeran, Jelly Roll, The Kid LAROI, René Rapp, Nelly and others performing their greatest hits and holiday classics.

The Challenge

MTV 8:00 PM

This is for all the marbles. As the finalists battle through blood, sweat and tears, they must rely on their partner to make it through this final push. In order to become Challenge Champions, they must be first up a dangerous path to a peak in the Andes.

Lily Gladstone stars in "The Unknown Country"

"The Unknown Country" (2022)

A journey of love and loss hits the road when 2022's "The Unknown Country" arrives on Hulu Monday, Dec. 15, with Lily Gladstone ("Winter in the Blood," 2013) starring as Tana, a young woman navigating life after a devastating personal loss. Pulled out of isolation by an invitation to her cousin's wedding, she climbs into her late grandmother's Cadillac and leaves Minnesota for South Dakota, beginning a journey she never planned to take. After reconnecting with her Oglala Lakota relatives, Tana sets off to retrace the same route her grandmother traveled decades earlier, hoping to find the location captured in an old family photograph. As she travels across backroads and wide-open landscapes, Tana finds connection in the stories of everyday people who've settled down far off the main roads, including Isaac (Raymond Lee, "Top Gun: Maverick," 2022), whose insight provides a crucial clue to the lost place she seeks. Directed by Morrisa Maltz ("Ingrid," 2018), "The Unknown Country" stars

Ali Lopez-Sohaili ("Manifest"), Richard Ray Whitman ("Four Sheets to the Wind," 2007) and Jasmine Shangreaux ("Jazzy," 2024), with a script written by Maltz, Gladstone and Lainey Shangreaux ("Jazzy," 2024).

"iHeartRadio Jingle Ball 2025"

This year's "iHeartRadio Jingle Ball" brings holiday cheer to screens when it arrives on Hulu Wednesday, Dec. 17, returning for a festive, star-packed celebration featuring many of the biggest names in music. Presented by Capital One, the 2025 tour made stops in major cities across the United States, including New York, Los Angeles, Miami and Chicago, with unforgettable performances and surprising moments for fans. This year's lineup boasts an eclectic mix of artists such as Alex Warren ("Headlights"), BigXthaPlug ("Hit List"), Conan Gray ("Maniac"), Ed Sheeran ("Perfect"), Jelly Roll ("Wild Ones"), Jessie Murph ("High Road"), Laufey ("Falling Behind"), Machine Gun Kelly ("Bad Things"), MONSTA X ("Beautiful Liar"), Myles Smith ("River"), Nelly ("Just A Dream"), Olivia Dean ("Dive"), Ravyn Lenae ("Love Me Not"), Renee Rapp ("Not My Fault"), Shinedown ("Simple Man"), The Kid LAROI ("GIRLS") and Zara Larsson ("Lush Life"). Now celebrating its 30th year, the Jingle Ball continues its tradition of spreading holiday joy, with the tour and network special executive produced by iHeartMedia and Diversified Production Services.

"Kumail Nanjiani: Night Thoughts"

Comedian Kumail Nanjiani ("Life as We Know It," 2010) brings his signature sense of humor to a set centered on all the things in his life that go bump in the night when "Kumail Nanjiani: Night Thoughts" debuts Friday, Dec. 19, on Hulu. Nanjiani returns to the stage for his first stand-up special in nearly a decade with an hour of sharp, offbeat thoughts shaped by the odd, anxious and often hilarious ideas that keep him awake after dark. Drawing on the same wit that carried him through his Broadway turn as Mary's husband in "Oh, Mary!," Nanjiani explores the quirks of everyday life and the unexpected moments that unsettle him. The special also marks a new chapter in his creative work behind the scenes, joining Hulu's "Hilarious" slate with Nanjiani serving as an executive producer alongside Elan Gale ("The Life of Chuck," 2024) and Bernie Schaeffer ("Edge of Alaska").

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: What's going on with the second season of "The Night Manager"? Didn't they announce that a while ago?

A: They've been slowly announcing a second season of "The Night Manager" for years now, but suddenly it's all happening quickly. A teaser trailer was released a few weeks ago, and then, a premiere date, which is now just a few weeks away.

Season 2 of "The Night Manager" will premiere on Prime Video Sunday, Jan. 11, in North America (those lucky Brits get to see it early — New Year's Day on the BBC).

With the trailer, the producers also finally shared some plot details. Having helped bring down international arms dealer Richard Roper (Hugh Laurie, "House"), Jonathan Pine (Tom Hiddleston, "Loki") is now in London,

Tom Hiddleston in

working as a low-level MI-6 surveillance officer. But, according to the official description, "a chance sighting of an old Roper mercenary prompts a call to action" and pits him and his old spy-runner, Angela (Olivia Colman, "The Favourite," 2018), against a new foe (Diego Calva, "Babylon," 2022), this time in the sunny climes of Colombia.

These details have been a long time coming, as the show's first season aired way back in 2016.

At first, it was assumed to be a miniseries — it was based on a novel by John le Carre and told that whole story across its six episodes. But it was a runaway success, prompting increasing calls for more.

The producers finally relented in 2024, but they did so in a big way: the BBC announced a renewal for two seasons at the same time. Hopefully the wait for Season 3 won't be quite so long.

Q: I was just rewatching "Holiday in the Wild" (it's one of my Christmas go-tos) and it got me wondering: what's Kristin Davis up to now?

A: I'm going to assume you're wondering what Kristin Davis has been doing besides the incredibly high-profile "Sex and the City" reboot series "And Just Like That..." But if that's the case, the answer is not much — "And Just Like That..." has taken up nearly all of her time since its debut in 2021.

She found time to squeeze in a lead role in the 2024 indie action film "Cash Out," opposite John Travolta ("Pulp Fiction," 1994), but that's about it.

To be fair, "And Just Like That..." was a pretty all-consuming job. Not only is series television famously demanding, but this wasn't just any show — it was one of the most famous series of the decade, and required huge amounts of promotional work on top of the filming.

It ran for three seasons on HBO, from 2021 until its cancellation earlier this year.

That cancellation brought one big, final flurry of media work. Davis was all over the headlines expressing her surprise at its cancellation ("I just assumed that we were gonna keep going," she said on "The Drew Barrymore Show" in September) and at negative responses to the final season ("People have some super-strong feelings," she said on her own podcast, "Are You a Charlotte?").

She's also busy with other pursuits, most notably charity work. As a "Holiday in the Wild" fan, you may like to know that she's an active participant in elephant conservation, working with the Sheldrick Wildlife Trust to protect wild elephants in East Africa. Indeed, it was this charitable work that led to the creation of the film in the first place.
