Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

You know something? No, you don't because things cannot be known anymore. What you thought you knew is just history. Especially history because the Smithsonian has now removed Trump from the impeachment exhibit in the American History Museum. Oh, now you care what's in the American History Museum. Where was that enthusiasm when Dad worked so hard to plan the family trip to D.C.?

In 2021, after the whole "Trump sent a mob to storm the capitol" thing, they added a label that included content about Trump's two impeachments. But then, according to an insider last month, they removed the label as part of a content review following pressure from the White House. That kind of pressure explains why the Smithsonian exhibit on the 1960s now says that the Vietnam War was started by Jimmy Kimmel.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

After a shockingly weak jobs report, [President] Trump claimed the numbers were rigged to make him look bad, so he fired the commissioner in charge of reporting the unemployment numbers. On the way out, the commissioner was like, "And that's one less job for August. Bye."

Trump said that he'll announce a new commissioner in the next few days. So far, the front-runner is Sydney Sweeney, but we'll see where we land.

Jimmy Kimmel Live! With Alan Cumming

Good evening, America. I am Alan, your traitorous host for the evening and also the first person to host "Jimmy Kimmel Live!" who has never actually appeared on the show as a guest. I know. It's weird, right? Yes. They just never asked me. I feel a bit like it's the best man speech at the wedding and I have not been invited to the actual wedding. But I will gladly shag the bridesmaids and the groomsman.

I split my time between New York City here in the United States, and Scotland, my homeland. But as the host of "The Traitors," which is all about backstabbing and treachery and full of people with plastic surgery, I feel right at home here in Hollywood.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

President Trump unveiled the plans last week for a new $200-million ballroom he's planning to add to the White House. Doesn't sound like he's planning to leave in three years. Back when I was renting apartments, I never even painted.

A Florida man recently found 50 pounds of cocaine floating off the coast of the Keys, and turned the drugs in to local authorities. Authorities described the man as an upstanding citizen who already had plenty of his own drugs.

Pope Leo held an event last week at the Vatican for more than 1,000 social media influencers. Of course, the most popular Catholic influencer is Mr. Priest.

On deadline: Mockumentary 'The Paper' dives into a drowning local newspaper

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Breaking news: a familiar mockumentary crew have picked their cameras back up and settled into a new office. From the creator of "The Office" comes "The Paper," a new sitcom premiering its first four episodes Thursday, Sept. 4, on Peacock, with two new episodes streaming every Thursday through September 25. Set in a struggling Midwestern newspaper office, "The Paper" follows the news team and office staff as they try to keep the Toledo Truth-Teller alive.

Domhnall Gleeson ("The Patient") stars as Ned Sampson, the paper's new editor-in-chief, whose desperate, earnest attempts at reviving the paper yield Michael Scott-esque (Steve Carell, "The Big Short," 2015) awkward moments in the newsroom. Reprising his role from "The Office" is Oscar Nunez ("The Lost City," 2022) as accountant Oscar Martinez, who has left Scranton, Pennsylvania, behind for the slightly more cosmopolitan city of Toledo, Ohio, and a new kind of paper business.

Also starring in "The Paper" are Sabrina Impacciatore ("The White Lotus"), Chelsea Frei ("Animal Control"), Melvin Gregg ("Nine Perfect Strangers"), Gbemisola Ikumelo ("A League of Their Own"), Alex Edelman ("Unfrosted," 2024), Ramona Young ("Never Have I Ever") and Tim Key ("The Ballad of Wallis Island," 2025).

Guest stars include Eric Rahill ("Friendship," 2024), Tracy Letts ("Winning Time: The Rise of the Lakers Dynasty"), Molly Ephraim ("Perry Mason"), Mo'Nique ("Life in Pieces"), Allan Havey ("Billions"), Duane Shepard Sr. ("American Crime Story"), Nate

Duane Shepard Sr. and Oscar Nunez in "The Paper"

Jackson ("Young Rock") and Nancy Lenehan ("Tom Clancy's Jack Ryan").

In an official trailer for the upcoming series, Ned introduces himself to the staff, who are largely impressed by a new regime at their floundering paper. The office exudes an energy that says, "Why try?" The company is more proud of its custodial paper products than the Truth-Teller, which is used in-house as a bird cage tray liner.

Undeterred by the general malaise he's stepped into, Ned knows what he's working with. "It sucks," he honestly tells one of the reporters when asked for his appraisal of the Truth Teller. "But we are going to make it better," Ned promises. With a vision for the paper and a set of volunteers who don't quite have the skills to execute it just yet, Ned takes stock, saying, "Seven highly motivated, tenacious Buckeyes are out there hunting for news. You'd be a fool to bet against that."

The Truth Teller's volunteer reporters gather their experience writing middle school essays, tweeting and participating in group chats, and set out to find stories worth telling across Toledo. Over 10 episodes, Ned hopes to transform the paper from something that's most useful as a janitorial product to a — readable at minimum, must-read at best — source of community news.

Gleeson, who has incidentally recently worked closely with two of the stars of "The Office" in the past — Carell in "The Patient" and John Krasinski in the 2025 Apple TV+ film "Fountain of Youth" — told People that they had similar wisdom to share with him about starring in "The Paper." "Their advice was, if it's Greg Daniels, you should do it because getting to work with him is a treat that not many people get to have," Gleeson said.

The new series comes from television legend Greg Daniels, who adapted the original British series for the American version of "The Office," created beloved and recently rebooted animated sitcom "King of the Hill" and produced five seasons of "The Simpsons" and the whole run of "Parks and Recreation." Co-creator of "The Paper" is Michael Koman, who also co-created "Nathan for You" on Comedy Central with Nathan Fielder ("The Rehearsal"), so expect expert cringe comedy in the upcoming series.

Daniels spoke about "The Paper" in an interview for The Hollywood Reporter's oral history of "The Office," explaining that the newspaper's reduced budget has the publisher hiring volunteer reporters, an unfortunate reality of small-town local journalism today. "They're completely untrained and they don't know what they're doing," Daniels said, adding, "It's a fruitful premise. There's a tremendous history for local papers. The villain here is the internet and the ability to look at everybody's news for free, and all the ad revenue going to Google."

Consistently ranked as one of the greatest sitcoms of the century so far, "The Office" has remained a top watch since it ended in 2013, whether through syndicated broadcast or streaming views, not to mention how frequently its endlessly quotable dialogue is uttered in real life. Following the success of the American adaptation, there were several international adaptations of "The Office," including the French Canadian "La Job," as well as versions set in France, India and Germany, to name a few.

Most adaptations aired during the American version's run, but there has been a resurgence in international editions of "The Office," perhaps inspired by a world affected by the COVID-19 pandemic and a workforce suffering return-to-work policies. Saudi Arabia aired two seasons of their version of the show from 2022-2023, and a recent Australian adaptation, which premiered in 2024 on Prime Video, put a twist on the concept by casting the first female lead in all of "The Office" franchises, with Felicity Ward ("Time Bandits") starring as Hannah Howard, managing director of a Sydney-based packaging company.

Catch "The Paper" premiere, hot off the press Thursday, Sept. 4, on Peacock.

That's a wrap: 'Dexter,' 'ANW' and more end summer seasons

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Now that the dog days of summer are behind us, we move into the dog days of summer television — that weeklong period when fan-favorite series reach their boiling point and leave audiences wanting more heat as the chillier weather rolls in.

More than ever, audiences are spoiled for choice when it comes to TV options, but one particular scripted series has had viewers in a chokehold this summer — and tensions are high headed into its final Season 1 episode, given that two previous finales within the franchise have proven disappointing. With that in mind, longtime "Dexter" fans are cautious (but hopeful) as they prepare for the Season 1 finale of the franchise's newest series, "Dexter:

Resurrection."

Slated for release Friday, Sept. 5, on Paramount+ Premium (formerly Paramount+ with Showtime), the season's 10th episode, titled "And Justice for All...," may just be a make-it-or-break-it event for some fans.

When "Dexter," the flagship series about bloodstain pattern analyst-turned-vigilante serial killer Dexter Morgan (Michael C. Hall, "Six Feet Under"), first began in 2006, it was a marked success, pulling in an average of two million weekly viewers, per Reuters. The show's reputation only improved in Season 2, but by the time the series finale aired in September 2013, viewers and critics alike had been disappointed by the "sloppy" (per Variety) and "needlessly damning" (per ScreenCrush) end to the series.

Eight years later, fans of the series had high hopes for the first of the franchise's sequels, "Dexter: New Blood." Once again, the series was well received overall, but the finale lacked the impact and gravitas fans had come to associate with the franchise, leading them to wonder if finales are perhaps not Dexter's strong suit.

Now 12 years since the original "Dexter" series finale and just three and a half since the end of "New Blood," fans are hoping they will not be let down for a third time.

"Dexter: Resurrection" sees Hall return as Dexter, this time alongside his son, Harrison (Jack Alcott, "The Good Lord Bird"), with whom he has a somewhat tumultuous relationship after a shocking encounter at the end of "New Blood." As Dexter tries to sort matters out with his equally twisted son in New York City, the pair must outrun Miami detective Angel Batista (David Zayas, "Michael Clayton," 2007) while facing off against a series of other foes, including rival serial killers.

Uma Thurman ("Kill Bill: Vol. 1," 2003), Kadia Saraf ("Law & Order: Special Victim's Unit"), Ntare Guma Mbaho Mwine ("The Lincoln Lawyer"), James Remar ("Oppenheimer," 2023) and Peter Dinklage ("Game of Thrones") also star this season.

Those who simply can't wait until Sept. 5 for some good ol' finale fun may consider tuning in Monday, Sept. 1, to NBC for the Season 17 finale of "American Ninja Warrior."

Entertaining audiences for more than 15 years now, the current iteration of "American Ninja Warrior" — which is based on its predecessor "American Ninja Challenge" and, in turn, on the Japanese game show "Sasuke" — follows some of the United States' strongest athletes as they compete for the best time in a series of complicated obstacle courses. Although the series is now in its 17th season, this year's finale looks rather different than in previous years.

The new format, which was announced this summer, spans four weeks as 60 athletes, split into 15 groups of four based on their performance in the semifinals, each compete in three side-by-side races during a bracket-style tournament. The winner from each bracket then goes on to play the other winners until the "ANW" champion is crowned on Sept. 1.

For those who prefer their unscripted television with a side of love rather than athletics, ABC airs the Season 10 "Bachelor in Paradise" finale Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Previously known for helping former Bachelor franchise still-singles find love while vacationing in Mexico, Season 10 of this love-match offshoot moved the magic to sunny Costa Rica's Azura Beach Resort ahead of its July 7 premiere. And while some viewers aren't thrilled about the change — one X user posted that they "miss the little crabs they show in between different segments" — the change appears to work for the cast of the unscripted romance series, which this time also includes contestants from 60-plus "The Golden Bachelor/Bachelorette" seasons.

Whether you have been rooting for a particular couple from the start or just love to tune in for the romantic chaos, this 10th season of "Bachelor in Paradise" has a little something for everyone.

Lastly, for those who have a bit of a darker side (and who are presumably also awaiting that Sept. 5 "Dexter" finale), why not take in a real-life disaster tale when "Survival Mode" tackles the sinking of the Costa Concordia Monday, Sept. 1, on NBC?

New this year, "Survival Mode" is a harrowing documentary series that follows in the footsteps of "I Survived," chronicling the experiences of ordinary people who have lived through some of the world's most terrifying and bizarre events to date.

Don't miss the dog days of summer programming when "Dexter: Resurrection," "American Ninja Warrior," "Bachelor in Paradise," "Survival Mode" and more wrap their seasons from Monday, Sept. 1, to Friday, Sept. 5, across cable and streaming.

Michael C. Hall stars in "Dexter: Resurrection"

Megan Thee Stallion and more to star in 'K-pop' competition series

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Genre-jumping superstars: You might know the artists — you may even love their songs — but you've never heard them quite like this before. "KPOPPED" is now streaming on Apple TV+, with all eight episodes available to watch.

In Seoul, South Korea, host Soojeong Son ("The Brothers Sun") stands alongside Megan Thee Stallion ("Savage") and PSY ("Gangnam Style") as they lead this fun-filled competition series, which sees Western artists working alongside some of the most recognizable K-pop idols to revamp some of their most popular songs as iconic K-pop performances.

As a series description given by The Wrap reads, "The eight-part competition series gives artists the chance to reimagine some of their most popular songs with the help of their K-pop counterparts. The show's teams are then tasked with performing their new remixes in front of a live audience in a competition to decide which songs were K-popped the best."

While the first "KPOPPED" trailer offers viewers a glimpse at some of the collaborations they can expect to see throughout this series' first season — including a "Savage" remix performed by Megan Thee Stallion and K-pop girl group Billie ("GingaMingaYo") — there are plenty of impressive remixes to enjoy, including Vanilla Ice's "Ice Ice Baby," Kylie Minogue's "Can't Get You Outta My Head," TLC's "Waterfalls," "Wannabe" by the Spice Girls, "Karma Chameleon" from Boy George and plenty of others.

This season also sees the appearance of Kesha ("Die Young"), Patti LaBelle ("On My Own"), Taylor Dayne ("Tell it to My Heart"), Eve ("Let Me Blow Ya Mind"), J Balvin ("Loco Contigo"), Ava Max ("Kings & Queens"), Boyz II Men ("End of the Road") and Jess Glynne ("Hold My Hand"), who team up with K-pop superstars such as ITZY ("DAL-LA DALLA"), JO1 ("Love seeker"), Kiss of Life ("Sticky"), Blackswan ("Cat & Mouse"), STAYC ("Cheeky Icy Thang"), KEP1ER ("Shooting Star") and Ateez ("WORK") for their performances.

PSY and Megan Thee Stallion feature in "KPOPPED"

With Megan Thee Stallion, Lionel Richie ("We Are the World"), Moira Ross ("The Masked Singer"), Miky Lee ("Parasite," 2019), Greg Foster ("To the Arctic 3D," 2012), Chris Culver ("Stars on Mars"), Paul Franklin ("The Mole"), Wesley Den-ing ("Australian Idol"), David Tibballs ("Finding Magic Mike") and Bruce Eskowitz ("The Greatest Night in Pop," 2024) acting as executive producers, "KPOPPED" is available for music lovers of every genre to enjoy only on Apple TV+.

Tennis trailblazer: Following the career of renowned tennis player Naomi Osaka as she returns to the game following the birth of her child, "Naomi Osaka: The Second Set" is now available to stream on Tubi.

Described by its star as "a love letter to her daughter, Shai," "The Second Set" offers an intimate look at how Osaka balances her career with first-time motherhood as one of the most recognizable tennis players in the world.

While her early career deserves a celebration of its own, with ISPO recognizing her countless achievements including her first Grand Slam tournament in 2016, her win against Angelique Kerber in the first round of the U.S. Open in 2017, her defeat of Serena Williams in the 2018 U.S. Open final, her first-ever Grand Slam title — the first of its kind to be earned by a Japanese woman — and the three additional Grand Slam titles that soon followed, not to mention holding the World No. 1 spot for 25 weeks, Osaka returned

There, Osaka made headlines once again, showing her love for the game remained one of her top priorities as she downed Tamara Korpatsch in the first round. Despite her loss in the second round, Osaka made it very clear: she wasn't ready to hang up the racket just yet.

In line with Osaka's 2024 return, tennis writer Ben Rothenberg spoke with Sports Illustrated, sharing only positive remarks. "I think she can absolutely contend and be one of the best players in the world again, sometime this year — if not immediately this month in Australia, then definitely sometime later this year," Rothenberg said. "She's more experienced now and has a good team around her. Maybe it'll be easier this time, but it's still gonna be tough and it'll be fascinating to see her grow and develop."

In her own statement, the tennis superstar shared some of her sentimental reasons behind the creation of "The Second Set": "This film is special to me because I've learned so much about life through Shai and she brings me so much joy. I'll always look fondly on this period of our lives."

Sentimental, inspiring and exciting, see Osaka shine on the court once again in "Naomi Osaka: The Second Set," now available to stream on Tubi.

"Pokemon Concierge" – Season 2

You're invited back to the Pokemon Resort! The animated series "Pokemon Concierge" returns to Netflix Thursday, Sept. 4, with four episodes. Season 2 follows Haru (Karen Fukuhara, "The Boys"), a kind-hearted concierge learning life lessons through her daily encounters with Pokemon guests. She's no longer a newbie concierge at the Pokemon Resort, and alongside her loyal sidekick Psyduck (Hiroshi Kosaka, "Made in Abyss: Dawn of the Deep Soul," 2020), they welcome guests such as Tyler (Josh Keaton, "Hercules," 1997), Alisa (Imani Hakim, "Everybody Hates Chris") and Watanabe (Lori Alan, "Inside Out," 2015). Amid sunny and relaxing days at the resort, Haru receives a surprise visit from her ex-boyfriend, Kent (Jacob Bertrand, "Rise of the Guardians," 2012). Also checking in is Dan (Craig Lee Thomas, "How I Met Your Mother"), accompanied by his Arcanine and a quiet sadness that follows closely behind him. As Haru grows more confident in her role, she handles unexpected challenges and deepens her bond with the Pokemon in this warm, heartfelt season. The series is directed by Iku Ogawa ("I Think You're a Little Confused," 2016), written by Harumi Doki ("Re/Member," 2022) and executive produced by Hide-naga Katakami ("Pokemon the Movie: The Power of Us," 2018), Taiki Sakurai ("Eden") and Yuji Yamano ("B: The Beginning").

Saturday, August 30, 2025

"Love Con Revenge" – Season 1

Unveiling the dark world of romance fraud, "Love Con Revenge" makes its debut Friday, Sept. 5, on Netflix with six episodes. In this new series, former romance fraud victim Cecilie Fjellhoy ("The Tinder Swindler," 2022) joins forces with private investigator Brianne Joseph to track down scammers and help victims fight back. Each episode follows the duo as they take on cases from people who have been deceived by their online suitors, often left without legal recourse. Drawing from Fjellhoy's own harrowing experience — which was featured in 2022's "The Tinder Swindler" — she and Joseph set out to expose con artists, uncover their tactics and give victims the support to reclaim control of their lives. "I never imagined my personal story would resonate the way it has," Fjellhoy told Netflix. "Since 'The Tinder Swindler,' I've heard from people all over the world who've been targeted by criminals hiding behind love. 'Love Con Revenge' is a way for me to use what I've learned to help others heal, reclaim their voices, their power and their lives." "Love Con Revenge" is directed by Max Shapira ("Inside Birmingham Children's Hospital"), with Ruth Kelly ("Britain Behind Bars: A Secret History") serving as executive producer.

"Wednesday" – Season 2, Part 2

Following Part 1's thrilling cliffhanger, Season 2, Part 2 of "Wednesday" premieres on Netflix — fittingly — this Wednesday, Sept. 3. While the season began with Wednesday (Jenna Ortega, "Beetlejuice Beetlejuice," 2024) digging into a new mystery taking place at Nevermore Academy, she has since found more questions than answers, leaving her to wonder what's going on with the local crows and if Tyler (Hunter Doohan, "Your Honor") has anything to do with the school's weird happenings. Fans, meanwhile, have plenty of questions of their own: is Marilyn Thornhill (Christina Ricci, "The Addams Family," 1991) truly dead? Who is Aunt Ophelia? Will Wednesday find romance with Tyler? Packed with plenty of answers (and more than a few surprises), Season 2, Part 2 of this bone-chilling drama also stars Emma Myers ("A Good Girl's Guide to Murder"), Catherine Zeta-Jones ("The Mask of Zorro," 1998), Luis Guzman ("Punch-Drunk Love," 2002), Isaac Ordonez ("7th & Union," 2021), Jamie McShane ("Bloodline"), Joy Sunday ("Under the Influencer," 2024), Gwendoline Christie ("Game of Thrones") and more.

"The Runarounds" – Season 1

A tight-knit group of friends risks everything one summer to chase their rock 'n' roll dreams in Season 1 of "The Runarounds," premiering Monday, Sept. 1, on Prime Video. "The Runarounds" tells the coming-of-age story of a group of recent high school graduates from North Carolina who spend the summer chasing their shared dream of stardom. Fueled by their passion for music, they form a band and soon experience the highs and lows of chasing their big break. Over one unforgettable summer, they navigate the exhilaration of first love, the sting of heartbreak, the challenges of friendship and the risks of pursuing a dream that feels out of reach. With episodes directed by Jonas Pate ("Outer Banks"), "The Runarounds" stars William Lipton ("General Hospital"), Zende Murdock ("The Voice Kids"), Lilah Pate ("The Summer I Turned Pretty"), Maximo Salas ("Stranger Things"), Marley Aliah ("Abigail Falls," 2018), Kelley Pereira ("The First Lady") and Mark Wystrach ("Scavengers," 2013), with newcomers Jeremy Yun, Jesse Golliger and Axel Ellis. The series is executive produced by Pate, David Wilcox ("Law & Order") and Dana Goldberg ("Star Trek Beyond," 2016).

"Lynley" – Season 1

Based on Elizabeth George's best-selling Inspector Lynley novels, Season 1 of "Lynley" premieres Thursday, Sept. 4, available on Prime Video via the BritBox channel. The four-episode mystery-crime drama follows aristocratic detective Thomas Lynley (Leo Suter, "Victoria") and intuitive, working-class sergeant Barbara Havers (Sofia Barclay, "Ted Lasso") as they join forces to solve complex and often brutal cases. With seemingly nothing in common, the unlikely duo defy expectations to become a formidable team, united by their determination to see justice served. Through working side-by-side, they uncover not only the truth behind each crime but also a mutual respect that transcends their differences. Daniel Mays ("Magpie Murders"), Niamh Walsh ("The English Game"), Michael Workeye ("Black Mirror") and Joshua Sher ("Vera") round out the stellar ensemble cast. "Lynley" is created, written and executive produced by Steve Thompson ("Vienna Blood"), with Edward Bazalgette ("Marie Antoinette") serving as director.

"Lady Chatterley's Lover" (2022)

Inspired by author D. H. Lawrence's final novel, director Laure de Clermont-Tonnerre's ("The Mustang," 2019) 2022 film adaptation of "Lady Chatterley's Lover" is now available to stream on Prime Video. Set following the turn of the 20th century, the story follows an unhappily married aristocrat, Lady Constance "Connie" Chatterley (Emma Corrin, "A Murder at the End of the World"), begins a torrid affair with Oliver Mellors (Jack

Jack O'Connell and Emma Corrin in "Lady Chatterley's Lover"

O'Connell, "Rogue Heroes") — the groundskeeper of her husband's estate — while her husband Clifford (Matthew Duckett, "All's Well That Ends Well," 2023) struggles after being injured in World War I. When Connie realizes she's pregnant, however, secrets eventually come to light. With a screenplay written by David Magee ("Life of Pi," 2012), "Lady Chatterley's Lover" also stars Joely Richardson ("The Patriot," 2000), Faye Marsay ("Game of Thrones"), Ella Hunt ("Horizon: An American Saga - Chapter 2," 2024), Anthony Brophy ("The Night Caller"), Rachel Andrews ("Call the Midwife"), Eugene O'Hare ("Death and Nightingales"), Jonah Russell ("The Glamour of Evil," 2025), Nicolas Bishop ("An American in Austen," 2024), Alistair Findlay ("The Mitchin Murders," 2024), Sandra Huggett ("The Devil's Hour"), Ellie Piercy ("Belgravia: The Next Chapter"), Rachel Pedley ("Bob," 2017) and Marianne McIvor ("The Bombing of Pan Am 103"), among many others.

'Bobby's Triple Threat'

Flay welcomes new titan Nurdjaja

By Kimberly Tremblay
TV Media

A fresh wave of culinary talent steps into Bobby Flay's ("BBQ Brawl") competitive arena for Season 4 of "Bobby's Triple Threat," premiering Tuesday, Sept. 2, on Food Network, and stream the following day on HBO Max.

Hosted by celebrity chef Bobby Flay, this competition series pits some of the country's most accomplished chefs against his elite team of titans in three intense cooking rounds.

Stepping into a spot previously held by Tiffany Derry ("The Great American Recipe"), New York chef and restaurateur Ayesha Nurdjaja ("Her Name Is Chef," 2021) joins returning titans Michael Voltaggio ("Young & Hungry") and Brooke Williamson ("Beachside Brawl") to "take on highly skilled competitors in three head-to-head cooking rounds with surprise featured ingredients for a chance to win $25,000" (per Food Network).

Nurdjaja's arrival marks a major change for the series, with Flay calling her the obvious choice to join titans Voltaggio and Williamson.

"I'm excited to introduce new titan Ayesha Nurdjaja, [whom] I handpicked from the many candidates across the country," Flay said in a statement.

Bobby Flay, Ayesha Nurdjaja, Michael Voltaggio and Brooke Williamson as seen in "Bobby's Triple Threat"

Her presence, he added, has already shifted the show's competitive energy in the kitchen.

"Her food is dynamite," Flay said (via People). "The competing chefs underestimated who she was, which was the greatest thing to watch, because she just brought it. It was so great."

This season, the titans defend their kitchen against a formidable lineup of contestants, including Maneet Chauhan ("Festive Cooking with Maneet"), Dale Talde ("Buddy's Holiday Recipe Rumble"), Jet Tila ("Family Restaurant Rivals"), Bryan Voltaggio ("24 in 24: Last Chef Standing"), Karen Akunowicz ("Top Chef"), Avishar Barua ("Top Chef"), Adrienne Calvo ("Chopped"), Martel Stone ("House of Knives") and Michelle Wallace ("BBQ Brawl"). Flay isn't taking it easy on the titans as he also invites top-tier competitor Nini Nguyen ("24 in 24: Last Chef Standing") to face them in three rounds judged by culinary royalty Daniel Boulud ("The Bear").

"Bobby's Triple Threat" is executive produced by Teri Weideman ("Project Runway"), Kim Martin ("Bobby Flay's Barbecue Addiction") and Kirsty Nordan ("BBQ Brawl").

Tune in to the Season 4 premiere of "Bobby's Triple Threat" Tuesday, Sept. 2, on Food Network, with all episodes available to stream the next day on HBO Max.

Jesse Palmer hosts “Bachelor in Paradise”

The Big Bang Theory

(12) 8:00 PM

Brilliant physicists Leonard (Johnny Galecki) and Sheldon (Jim Parsons), along with their geeky friends, find it challenging to fit into normal society. This season, Sheldon and Amy (Mayim Bialik) adjust to life as a married couple.

Bachelor in Paradise

(22) 8:00 PM

It’s been a magical run of love, lust and leftovers, but all good things must come to an end. This final episode of Season 10 sees the “Bachelor,” “Bachelorette” and “Golden Bachelor” contestants waving goodbye to their drama-filled tropical paradise.

Bobby’s Triple Threat

FOOD 8:00 PM

New Titan Ayesha Nurdjaja is being put to the test early and often in this season premiere as Bobby Flay invites Chef Nini Nguyen, winner of “Last Bite Hotel,” to the challenge. However, the true test may be the discerning taste of judge Daniel Boulud.

Alien: Earth

FX 8:00 PM

Starring Sydney Chandler, Timothy Olyphant, Alex Lawther, Lily Newmark and more, this fledgling sci-fi series acts as a continuation of the “Alien” franchise, following as Earth reckons with the sudden and unexpected arrival of a mysterious space vessel.

Gordon Ramsay hosts "MasterChef"

Match Game

(12) 7:00 PM

A star-studded panel of six celebrities answer humorous and often naughty fill-in-the-blank questions while four clever contestants must try to guess their answers in this classic reboot. Contestants include Joel McHale and Selena Gomez.

America's Got Talent

(5) 8:00 PM

The quarterfinal results are in as America's votes decide which three acts advance to the semifinals. Plus, one standout act from the previous night secures a coveted spot in the finals with the powerful new live show Golden Buzzer.

MasterChef

(12) (44) 8:00 PM

It's time for the duos to face their biggest test yet, as this semifinals challenge sees the top four pairs attempting to make one of Gordon's Michelin star dishes at the same speed Gordon gets it done. However, they must take turns cooking.

Mike Judge's Beavis and Butt-Head

com 10:30 PM

Season 3 returns to Comedy Central, and the boys are living the dream as Butt-Head finds out he's beautiful after losing his braces. Then, it's up to Beavis to save his middle-aged best friend after he suffers a heart attack.

"Blood & Myth" (2025)

Based on the Audible Original "Midnight Son," Hulu's "Blood & Myth" is coming to the streamer Thursday, Sept. 4. "Blood & Myth" is a haunting true crime documentary that journeys deep into the Alaskan wilderness to unravel a mystery where legend and reality blur. When a series of violent crimes devastates a remote Inupiaq village, all evidence points to an unlikely suspect: Teddy Kyle Smith ("Wildlike," 2014), a celebrated actor and respected member of the community. Upon capture, Teddy makes a startling claim: his actions were driven by a chilling encounter with the Inukuns, sinister beings from Inupiaq lore. In court, it's an unbelievable story. But for journalist James Dommek Jr., who grew up hearing such tales — it strikes a nerve. Determined to uncover the truth, James embarks on a yearslong investigation, retracing Teddy's path through the untamed Alaskan wilderness. Directed by Kahlil Hudson ("Young Men and Fire," 2018), "Blood & Myth" is executive produced by Hudson and Isaac Kestenbaum ("POV").

"Clueless" (1995)

A stylish Beverly Hills teen's matchmaking skills lead her to discover more about love. In celebration of the 30th anniversary of "Clueless," the 1995 flick is coming to Hulu Monday, Sept. 1. Director Amy Heckerling ("Red Oaks") reimagines Jane Austen's novel, "Emma," through the lens of '90s Beverly Hills high school life, with Alicia Silverstone ("Batman & Robin," 1997) starring as Cher Horowitz, a wealthy, stylish and confident teen ruling the school hallways with her best friend Dionne (Stacey Dash, "Clueless"). Convinced she has a knack for matchmaking, Cher successfully orchestrates a romance between two of her teachers, then turns her attention to transforming new student Tai (Brittany Murphy, "Girl, Interrupted," 1999) into a popular girl while attempting a match between her with Elton (Jeremy Sisto, "Thirteen," 2003). Only, Cher's carefully crafted plans spiral when Tai becomes more popular than her. Meanwhile, Cher's ex-stepbrother Josh (Paul Rudd, "Ant-Man," 2015) challenges her superficial worldview, and as Cher grapples with the meaning of love, she unexpectedly finds romance closer to home. Starring Breckin Meyer ("Road Trip," 2000), Elisa Donovan ("Sabrina, the Teenage Witch") and Donald Faison ("Scrubs"), "Clueless" remains a heartfelt coming-of-age story, proving that kindness and authenticity never really go out of style.

"Sacramento" (2024)

Two old friends hit the road and discover that growing up doesn't always mean moving on in "Sacramento" (2024), coming to Hulu on Friday, Sept. 5. Directed by Michael Angarano ("Almost Famous," 2000), "Sacramento" is a heartfelt road trip comedy about friendship, grief and the uneasy leap into adulthood. Rickey (Angarano), an energetic drifter with a Peter Pan complex, shows up unannounced at the home of his long-time friend Glenn (Michael Cera, "Juno," 2007), who has built a stable life with his wife Rosie (Kristen Stewart, "Twilight," 2008) and is preparing for fatherhood. Restless and searching for meaning after his father's death, Rickey con-

James Dommek Jr. in "Blood & Myth"

vinces Glenn to put his responsibilities on pause and join him on an impromptu drive across California. As the miles roll by, their journey shifts from lighthearted detours and awkward encounters to deeper conversations about purpose, loss and the choices that shape them. Starring Maya Erskine ("Bob's Burgers"), Rosalind Chao ("Better Things") and Michael Angarano Sr. ("Bondage," 2006), "Sacramento" is written by Angarano and Christopher Nicholas Smith ("Enough Said," 2013), with Stephen Braun ("The Last Girl," 2024) as a producer.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: I've heard Demi Lovato and others discuss something called a Coogan account for actors. What is that?

A: A Coogan account is a trust (bank) account that parents of child actors (such as "Sonny With a Chance" star Demi Lovato) are required to create.

They're based in what's known as the Coogan Law, named after legendary child actor Jackie Coogan ("Oliver Twist," 1922). The Coogan Law, also known as the California Child Actor's Bill, was passed in 1939 and lays out the rules for how child actors are treated.

The law has been adjusted over the years and now requires that a portion of a child actor's earnings be set aside in a trust account (a Coogan account) that cannot be accessed until they reach adulthood.

Though the law started in California, Coogan accounts are now required in several states.

Coogan's story is a sad one. He was one of the biggest stars in the early days of film, with roles including the 1921 Charlie Chaplin classic "The Kid" and the title role in 1930's "Tom Sawyer." Those roles earned a lot of money, but when he reached adulthood, he discovered that his mother and stepfather had spent almost all of it.

Q: What's Danny Glover doing these days? Is there any chance he'll do another Philip Marlowe after "Fallen Angels"?

A: First off, that's a deep cut you're referencing. Danny Glover did indeed play the legendary detective Philip Marlowe in an episode of the anthology series "Fallen Angels," but that was 30 years ago. It's not likely he'll return to the role.

Not that he's not still working — and busy. He's still putting out a project every year or so, though generally he's doing smaller roles.

For example, he played Santa Claus in the 2023 Disney movie "The Naughty Nine," but it was a relatively small part — the film's ensemble cast of kids did most of the work. That same year, he had a supporting role in the Italian drama "Double Soul."

On the small screen, he popped up in a 2020 episode of "Black-ish" as Uncle Norman.

But he is still insisting that he'll return to his most famous role, as Det. Roger Murtaugh in the Lethal Weapon films, the first of which was 1987's "Lethal Weapon." He appeared at a couple of fan conventions in the spring alongside his co-star, Mel Gibson ("Braveheart," 1995), talking about the status of a fifth film in the series. Glover says he's still on board to return to the role, and Gibson insists that the only roadblock is with the studio, Warner Bros., which has been doing a lot of restructuring.

There are reasons why he'd return to that before returning to his Marlowe role. Well, there's really one big reason: the Lethal Weapon films are, simply, better known and thus there's a lot more interest.

As I said, his "Fallen Angels" role is an obscure one. The series only ran for two seasons, and on Showtime, which had fewer subscribers at the time and was not yet known for doing original programming.

Plus, it was a weird format: each episode was a stand-alone movie, based on a classic detective story. Glover's installment was based on "Red Wind," the short story by Raymond Chandler featuring his hard-boiled L.A. detective Philip Marlowe.
