Late Laughs

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

In her new memoir, Jill Biden said that former President Biden would have beaten Trump in 2024. She's right, assuming she's talking about a soup-eating competition. Or an Amtrak trivia contest.

CBS just fired longtime "60 Minutes" correspondent Scott Pelley after he criticized his new bosses at the network. Yeah, the story gets more bizarre, because today [June 3], CBS announced they were replacing Scott Pelley with Byron Allen.

CBS is getting more and more conservative to appease President Trump. Don't be totally shocked when they replace "60 Minutes" with the "Kid Rock/MyPillow Guy News Hour."

In the last few months, "60 Minutes" has lost multiple producers and correspondents. You could tell that they got rid of a lot of people because the show is now called "60 Seconds" and it's a TikTok.

GameStop just reported their highest profit ever by selling action figures and Pokémon cards. Yeah, and if you wink at the cashier, weed.

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

We got a whole weekend worth of dementia to catch up on. It's like when you come back from vacation, you've got 300 messages in your inbox, all from your psycho boss. We're only 16 months into his second term now. Somehow, this man is at war with Iran and Milli Vanilli. On Wednesday of last week [May 27], the White House announced this big lineup for Trump's great American state fair, the 250th American anniversary concert. By Saturday, almost every one of the performers either said they never agreed to be part of it in the first place or dropped out of it. Like they dropped out. It went so quickly. It was as if they'd been booked on a hantavirus cruise.

The NBA Finals have begun in Texas. Welcome to those joining us after Game 1 between the [New York] Knicks and Jalen Brunson and the [San Antonio] Spurs and Victor Wembanyama. This guy Wembanyama is like something out of the Guinness Book of World Records. He's a giant. He's 22 years old. He's from France. He's 7-foot-4 [how] they measure it in France. He is 27 croissants tall.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

According to new research, Neanderthals used stone drills to treat cavities. Even crazier, they figured out veneers.

In a recent post on X, U.S. Ambassador to Greece Kimberly Guilfoyle celebrated a new McDonald's location in Athens and called it "the most technologically advanced McDonald's in all of Europe," which just means the ice cream machine works.

The New York Knicks are going to the NBA Finals for the first time in 27 years, and I think I can speak for the whole city when I say it's so gratifying to finally see something go well for Timothee Chalamet.

From gilded to grunge: Bel Air queen bee relocates to Seattle in 'Elle'

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Everyone knows the feeling of being underestimated. Rated and ranked by superficial, unimaginative parameters and stamped insufficient. Exceeding expectations comes as second nature to one beloved character who is about to receive the prequel treatment with a brand-new streaming series on Prime Video. "Elle" premieres Wednesday, July 1, with all eight episodes of the comedy's debut season available to stream on premiere day.

The new series expands the story of Elle Woods, whom we first met on-screen as an ambitious law school student on a journey of self-determination, portrayed by Reese Witherspoon ("The Morning Show"), in the 2001 blockbuster comedy "Legally Blonde." This time, the titular Elle is portrayed by Lexi Minetree ("The Murdaugh Murders," 2023), as a teen thriving in the glamorous world of 1995 Bel Air.

All that glitters is not gold, however, and Elle's California dream is shattered the moment her parents, Eva (June Diane Raphael, "Grace and Frankie") and Wyatt (Tom Everett Scott, "The Summer I Turned Pretty"), share some tough news with their daughter. A move from their elite, sun-soaked neighborhood is imminent as the family is about to start a new chapter in drizzly Seattle, where Wyatt will be joining a new practice.

So her head-to-toe pink ensembles and perfectly styled blonde locks make her stick out like a sore thumb in a sea of flannel, weathered denim and ironic dye jobs at her new high school. Elle Woods is nothing but resilient and will make the most of what appears on the surface to be a dismal trade for her former glitzy lifestyle. What, like it's hard?

Per Prime Video, "We meet [Elle] in 1995 as a fish in the tumultuous waters of high school where she encounters tricky friendships, forbidden romance and questionable fashion choices." She leans on her family — including Bruiser the chihuahua, of course — as she navigates this new transition and "with each challenge she faces, Elle grows closer to the Elle Woods we know and love today."

"Elle" has already been renewed for a second season ahead of the series premiere. Also starring in "Elle" are Jacob Moskovitz ("Isle Child," 2025), Gabrielle Policano ("Babygirl," 2024), Chandler Kinney ("Pretty Little Liars: Original Sin"), Zac Looker ("A Kind of Spark") and Amy Pietz ("Paradise").

The recurring cast includes Jessica Belkin ("The Hunting Wives"), Danielle Chand ("Pride," 2025), Matt Oberg ("Hacks"), Chloe Wepper ("Good Trouble"), Logan Shroyer ("This Is Us"), Sharon Taylor ("Family Law"), David Burtka ("How I Met Your Mother"), Brad Harder ("Living With My Mother's Killer," 2024), Kayla Maisonet ("NCIS: Origins"), Lisa Yamada ("The Bold and the Beautiful") and the late James Van Der Beek ("Overcompensating") in his last on-screen role.

The official trailer for the upcoming series begins with the sweet, nostalgic sounds of "Perfect Day" by Hoku, a nod to the song that featured prominently in the 2001 film. Elle is in her element at a pool party in her honor before she receives the earth-shattering news about Seattle. Upon hearing that the Woods will be spending a couple years in a dreary city, Elle whines, "that's my whole life." Before long, though, she is putting her best foot forward — in some tasteful wedge sandals, obviously — and dodging skateboarders on the way into her first day at a new school.

Known for putting the "elle" in intellectual, Elle Woods was first brought to life in the 2001 novel "Legally Blonde" by author Amanda Brown. The book was the basis of the film of the same name, which spun off a sequel, 2003's "Legally Blonde 2: Red, White & Blonde," and a turn on Broadway with "Legally Blonde: The Musical" in 2007.

We know about Elle's law school

Lexi Minetree and June Diane Raphael in "Elle"

life and career on Capitol Hill, but we have only gotten glimpses of the bright, knowledgeable and enterprising young Elle until now. The self-assured beginnings of the person who remained true to herself, a perpetually kind glamor queen, while teaching the rest of her Harvard Law classmates not to judge a book by its cover in "Legally Blonde" are explored in "Elle."

Witherspoon, who serves as an executive producer for "Elle," talked to The Hollywood Reporter last January about reinvigorating one of her most iconic characters after being inspired by "Wednesday" on Netflix.

"I saw that Wednesday Addams show and I was like, 'Oh, she was in high school.' I loved it. I watched every episode. I thought it was amazing." Witherspoon continued, "and I was like, 'We should do Elle Woods in high school,' because I wanted to see who she was before college, before law school. And I started having all these ideas and these amazing writers came up with a great pitch and now Amazon is making the show and it's called 'Elle.'"

The series was created by writer and producer Laura Kittrell ("Insecure") and is co-showrun by Kittrell and Caroline Dries ("The Vampire Diaries"). Lauren Neustadter ("The Last Thing He Told Me") and Marc Platt ("Wicked," 2024) serve as executive producers alongside Witherspoon and Brown.

The first two episodes of "Elle" were directed by Jason Moore ("Sisters," 2015), who also executive produces the comedy. Other directors for the series include Pete Chatman ("Ghosts"), Sammi Cohen ("You Are So Not Invited to My Bat Mitzvah," 2023) and Stacie Passon ("Your Friends & Neighbors").

Don't miss the premiere of "Elle" Wednesday, July 1, on Prime Video. All eight episodes will be available to stream on premiere day.

Z is for 'Zorro': Dujardin leads French vigilante adaptation

Jean Dujardin in "Zorro"

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Heroes are having a moment. In truth, heroes, as a concept, never left, but it does seem that in the past year or two, the hero's journey has moved away from the blockbuster, Marvel-backed "super" variety and regained the gravitas of the classic everyman avenger. Yes, as consumers, we appear to be trading in our tech devices for common sense and swapping our batmobiles for good, old-fashioned horsepower.

So who, dare we ask, is the perfect hero for these uncertain times? Who could possibly be brave enough to look injustice in the eye and say, "Not today, my friend?" Who, indeed, but the masked vigilante known only as Zorro.

"Zorro," an eight-episode series starring "The Artist's" (2011) Jean Dujardin, premieres Tuesday, June 30, on Kino Lorber's streaming service MHz Choice.

MHz Choice, the streaming service launched in 2015 by MHz Networks, was acquired by New York-based company Kino Lorber in 2022 and has since merged with First Look Media's Topic platform to become North America's leading streaming service for international film and television. Home to more than 5,000 titles, including hit series "Babylon Berlin" (from Germany), "The Killing" (from Denmark) and "The Bridge" (from Sweden), the newest project to join the library is France's first foray into the Californian crusader created by Johnston McCulley in 1919.

The fictional character of Zorro has been captured on paper and screen more than 50 times in the 107 years since his inception, including more than 10 series and 40 feature films from the U.S., Mexico, Turkey and throughout Europe. Now, however, is France's turn to take a crack at the iconic hero, and Dujardin shines as a reluctant post-retirement crime punisher with a French socialist bent.

"Set in 1821 against the backdrop of a rapidly changing Los Angeles, Don Diego de la Vega (Dujardin) unexpectedly inherits the role of mayor following his father's [André Dussollier, 'Amelie,' 2001] death, only to discover a city drowning in debt and under the grip of the powerful Don Emmanuel [Eric Elmosnino, 'Gainsbourg: A Heroic Life,' 2010]," reads the description per IGN.com. "Determined to restore order and bring vital water access to the struggling community, Diego quickly realizes that politics alone cannot combat the corruption, exploitation and growing unrest surrounding him. Diego secretly revives his long-abandoned alter ego for the first time in 20 years, becoming the masked vigilante Zorro as he fights for the people while publicly trying to govern the city as its conflicted mayor.

"As Diego struggles to balance civic leadership with his dangerous double life," the synopsis continues, "the lines between the man and the myth begin to blur in increasingly complicated ways. Zorro unexpectedly becomes a celebrated folk hero across Los Angeles, as the city's citizens rally behind the masked avenger more enthusiastically than its own government. At the same time, Diego's personal life spirals into emotional chaos as his wife, Gabriella [Audrey Dana, 'Roman de Gare,' 2007], becomes drawn to the mystery and passion surrounding Zorro, unaware that the masked figure and her husband are the same man."

The evolution of these plot points lend itself well to Dujardin's acute sense of comedic timing, which is well known to French audiences thanks in large part to the popularity of his 2005 teen surf comedy "Brice de Nice." The actor also crossed over to the North American market with the 2011 release of the Oscar-winning silent film "The Artist," for which Dujardin won Best Performance by an Actor in a Leading Role, his only Academy Award to date.

Additional comedy within the eight-episode series is provided by Salvatore Ficarra ("Sicilia Express"), who portrays Don Diego's mute assistant, Bernardo. Keenly aware of his boss's longtime alter ego from early on in the pilot (and presumably long before the series began), Bernardo expertly uses exaggerated expressions and movement to converse with Don Diego, thus infusing the series with some uniquely French Marcel Marceau-style pantomime amid action and dialogue.

Shot entirely in Spain, the French-language series was created by Benjamin Charbit ("The Beast," 2023) and Noe Debre ("Stillwater," 2021) for the French regional iteration of Paramount+, where it premiered in September 2024. Shortly thereafter, in December 2024, "Zorro" aired in Belgium before finding a home on RTL-TV1 and France 2 a couple weeks later. And although this adaptation marks the first official French production of "Zorro" (co-produced with Belgium and the United States), late French actor Alain Delon ("Le Samourai," 1967) previously portrayed McCulley's hero in a 1975 Italian film, also simply titled "Zorro."

"MHz Choice has been a longtime partner of ours and we're thrilled they will bring this series to North America," said Julia Schulte, senior vice-president of international sales at France TV Distribution, and Michelle Palant, international sales manager, in a joint statement to Variety. "We look forward to the launch of Zorro, to which Jean Dujardin brings a French touch to an iconic international IP."

It's time to break out the costume and shake off the dust because Zorro rides again! Don't miss the North American premiere of Dujardin in "Zorro," coming to MHz Choice Tuesday, June 30.

'Sinners,' Michael B. Jordan and Delroy Lindo nominated at 2026 BET Awards

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

'Sinners' winners: Recognizing black excellence across music, film, television and sports, the 2026 BET Awards will be broadcast live from the Peacock Theater in Los Angeles, this Sunday, June 28, on BET.

Hosted by comedian and digital creator Druski ("Coulda Been House"), this year's event sees an impressive lineup of nominees across multiple different industries. Singer Cardi B ("Outside") leads this year's nominations with six, closely followed by Kendrick Lamar ("Not Like Us") and Mariah the Scientist ("Burning Blue"), with five each; and Doechii ("Anxiety"), Doja Cat ("Paint The Town Red"), Clipse ("When the Last Time"), Teyana Taylor ("Bare Wit Me"), Olivia Dean ("Man I Need") and Latto ("Big Energy") with four nods each.

It won't be the first win of the season for many of the celebrated stars, either, as both Mariah the Scientist and Taylor were honored during the Billboard Women in Music event in April — seeing Mariah the Scientist taking home the Rising Star award and Taylor accepting the Visionary award. Lamar, meanwhile, earned himself five Grammys in February, including Best Record of the Year and Best Melodic Rap Performance for "Luther," his recent collaboration with SZA ("Kill Bill"). The BET awards will see "Luther" nominated yet again, this time for Video of the Year.

But it's not just singers and songwriters being celebrated. Two of 2025's top films — "One Battle After Another" and "Sinners" (both nominated for Best Picture at the 2026 Academy Awards) — have received nominations in the Best Movie category, alongside "Wicked: For Good" (2025) and the 2026 rom-com "Relationship Goals."

"Sinners" star Michael B. Jordan has also been nominated for his dual roles as twin brothers Smoke and Stack, alongside "Sinners" co-star Delroy Lindo, for Best Actor. Anthony Mackie ("The Hurt Locker," 2008), Sterling K. Brown ("Paradise"), Denzel Washington ("Gladiator II," 2024) and Aldis Hodge ("Cross") received similar nominations.

In addition to their usual categories, the BET Awards has introduced an all new award for this year's event. The Fashion Vanguard Award will recognize figures with an immense sense of style, whose fashion presence has had a long-standing cultural impact across music, film, sports and public life. This year's inaugural nominees include A$AP Rocky ("I Smoked Away My Brain"), Bad Bunny ("MONACO"), Beyoncé ("TEXAS HOLD 'EM"), Colman Domingo ("The Four Seasons"), Zendaya ("The Drama," 2026), Rihanna ("Friend of Mine"), Cardi B, Doechii and Taylor.

With an impressive list of stars set to make an appearance, the 2026 BET Awards air Sunday, June 28, on BET.

Baby on board?: Living with Osteogenesis Imperfecta (OI) Type 3, a rare disorder that causes brittle bones, Jay Manuel and Pamela Chavez have faced their fair share of challenges. But with resilience, humor, positivity and love, they've built a life on their own terms. Now, the inspiring couple is ready to take on new adventures, life-changing milestones and more in Season 2 of "Jay and Pamela," making its debut Tuesday, June 30, on TLC.

Along with their beloved dog, Cheddar, Jay and Pamela have moved into an apartment of their own, embracing all the messiness and fun that comes with newly-married life. In this upcoming season, the couple tackles first after first, as shared in the Season 2 synopsis.

This season, Jay and Pamela head to New York for their first-ever fashion show debut together, stepping into the spotlight for a major milestone moment. Back at home, they celebrate Jay turning 30, reflect on what it truly means to be on their own, and open up honest conversations about the future of their relationship and growing family dreams," the network describes.

"As they dream bigger than ever before, the couple also begins exploring one of the most emotional questions of their journey yet: could a baby be in their future?" TLC asks.

Previously, Jay and Pamela have discussed the potential of having children, sharing their openness and uncertainty with Parade.

"Even though we don't take any steps, we're taking it step by step with everything and just seeing and defining that family unit for us," Jay explained. "But, you know, it's definitely something we've talked about and discussed. So, you know, we'll see."

Meanwhile, Chavez says having kids is "not off the table at all."

"It's always an ongoing conversation," she tells Parade. "It's already a huge responsibility in general," she says of parenthood. "So yeah, like, I don't know. There's a lot of things that I said I would never do. And then, like, here I am."

Produced by Jarrett Creative — with Julie Insogna ("My Crazy Love") and Seth Jarrett ("Killer Grannies") acting as executive producers — the upcoming second season of "Jay and Pamela" lands Tuesday, June 30, on TLC.

Millie Bobby Brown as Enola Holmes in "Enola Holmes 3"

By Staff Writers
TV Media

"Enola Holmes 3" (2026)

Mystery follows Enola Holmes (Millie Bobby Brown, "Stranger Things") wherever she goes, and you're invited along for the ride when "Enola Holmes 3" premieres Wednesday, July 1, on Netflix. Set after "Enola Holmes 2" (2022), which saw Enola picking up her first case as a detective, this next chapter follows the young detective to the island of Malta where another mystery awaits — one that is "more tangled and treacherous than any she has faced before," according to Netflix's description. Based on "The Enola Holmes Mysteries" by Nancy Springer, "Enola Homes 3" stars Louis Partridge ("Disclaimer") as Tewkesbury, Himesh Patel ("Yesterday," 2019) as Dr. John Watson, Henry Cavill ("Mission: Impossible – Fallout," 2018) as Sherlock Holmes, Helena Bonham Carter ("The Crown") as Eudoria Holmes and Sharon Duncan-Brewster ("Dune: Part One," 2021) as Moriarty; the film is directed by Philip Barantini ("Boiling Point," 2021).

"Human Vapor"

A mysterious killer emerges when Netflix's new limited series, "Human

Saturday, June 27, 2026

Vapor," premieres Thursday, July 2, with eight episodes. This sci-fi thriller follows the aftermath of a shocking public death when a man spontaneously exploded on live television. Overnight, he became known across the city as the Human Vapor (voice star to be announced), a man who vanishes into thin air and leaves investigators without a crime scene they can process or a suspect they can arrest. As he taunts the city by announcing his next targets and carrying out his crimes without fail, detective Kenji Okamoto (Shun Oguri, "Godzilla vs. Kong," 2021) and journalist Kyoko Kono (Yu Aoi, "Birds Without Names," 2017) team up to stop him while the city fears an enemy that lets them know that none of them are safe. Directed by Shinzo Katayama ("Siblings of the Cape," 2018) and written by Yeon Sang-ho ("The King of Pigs," 2011).

"Survival of the Thickest" – Season 3

"Survival of the Thickest" goes out in style, with Season 3 arriving on Netflix this Thursday, July 2. Inspired by Michelle Buteau's ("Isn't It Romantic," 2019) acclaimed book of essays, this season picks up with New York City stylist Mavis Beaumont (Michelle Buteau, "The Circle") continuing to make mistakes, learn about herself and evolve following a major breakup. "Black, plus-size and looking for love while loving herself," per Netflix, Mavis works hard to grow her brand and establish herself as a stylist, with her chosen family, a body-positive attitude and a cute V-neck with some lip gloss at her disposal. Tone Bell ("Trigger Warning," 2024), Marouane Zotti ("I May Destroy You"), Liza Treyger ("Liza Treyger: Night Owl," 2025), RonReaco Lee ("Friends and Lovers") and more return for Season 3.

"The American Experiment"

In celebration of the country's 250th birthday, look back at the improbable — seemingly impossible — creation of a nation, with the five-part docuseries, "The American Experiment," now available to stream on Netflix. Directed by Brian Knappenberger ("Turning Point"), the series will "feature a wide range of voices, including former vice presidents and cabinet officials, current and former members of Congress, a former Supreme Court justice, leading historians, tribal chiefs, military experts and leaders across the political spectrum," according to the streamer, with each voice presenting its own uniquely bipartisan take on the origins and future of American democracy.

"Legally Blonde" (2001)

What, like it's hard? Before Prime Video's "Elle" series premieres on Wednesday, July 1, revisit where it all began with "Legally Blonde" (2001), available now on Prime Video. Elle Woods (Reese Witherspoon, "Elle") seems to have it all — she's the president of her Delta Nu sorority, a fashion merchandising major at UCLA and the soon-to-be-engaged girlfriend of Warner Huntington III (Matthew Davis, "Tigerland," 2000). But when Warner dumps her over dinner, claiming she doesn't fit into his life now that he's a law student, Elle sets out to prove him wrong by studying for the LSAT and earning a spot at Harvard Law School. There, she comes face-to-face with Warner's new fiancée, Vivian (Selma Blair, "Cruel Intentions," 1999), and a campus full of students who have already dismissed her as a "dumb blonde." With teaching assistant Emmett (Luke Wilson, "Charlie's Angels," 2000) and manicurist-confidante Paulette (Jennifer Coolidge, "Best in Show," 2000) in her corner, Elle proves that underestimating a woman in pink is always a mistake. Directed by Robert Luketic ("The Ugly Truth," 2009), "Legally Blonde" is based on Amanda Brown's novel of the same name.

"Legally Blonde 2: Red, White and Blonde" (2003)

Pink meets politics in "Legally Blonde 2: Red, White & Blonde," available now on Prime Video. This 2003 sequel follows Elle Woods (Reese Witherspoon, "Elle"), who's thriving as a young attorney in Boston, while planning her dream wedding to her fiancé, Emmett (Luke Wilson, "Old School," 2003), and spending her days with her beloved chihuahua, Bruiser. But when Elle discovers that Bruiser's mother is being held in a cosmetic testing lab, she puts her career and personal plans on hold and brings Bruiser's Bill to Washington, D.C., where she hopes to end animal testing. There, she finds a city full of jaded politicians and dismissive staff who underestimate her at every turn. And when Congresswoman Victoria Rudd (Sally Field, "Steel Magnolias," 1989) moves to bury the bill before it ever gains traction, Elle turns to her Delta Nu sisters, her best friend Paulette (Jennifer Coolidge, "The White Lotus") and her doorman (Bob Newhart, "Elf," 2003) to help her launch a massive campaign to bring Bruiser's Bill to a vote, proving that determination — and a little pink — can go a long way on Capitol Hill. Directed by Charles Herman-Wurmfeld ("Rage Room"), "Legally Blonde 2" stars Regina King ("If Beale Street Could Talk," 2018), Dana Ivey ("Rush Hour 3," 2007), Mary Lynn Rajs kub ("24"), Jessica Cauffiel ("Guess Who," 2005), Alanna Ubach ("Euphoria") and J. Barton ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer").

"The Notebook" (2004)

A sweeping tale about love lost and found, "The Notebook" (2004) is available now on Prime Video. At a quiet nursing home, an elderly man (James Garner, "Maverick") opens a worn notebook and begins to read aloud, carrying a fellow resident (Gena Rowlands, "Gloria," 1980) back to a summer in 1940s South Carolina, where Noah Calhoun (Ryan Gosling, "Barbie," 2023), a poor mill worker, falls madly in love with Allie (Rachel McAdams, "Send Help," 2026), a wealthy young woman in town for the summer. But when her parents whisk her away and Noah leaves to serve in World War II, their love story appears to end before it truly begins. In the years that follow, Allie becomes engaged to another man (James Marsden, "The New Daughter," 2009), building a life that seems far removed from the boy she once loved. When they meet again years later, just as her wedding approaches, it becomes clear the spark between Noah and Allie never faded and their feelings have endured despite time, distance and the lives they have built apart. Directed by Nick Cassavetes ("My Sister's Keeper," 2009), "The Notebook" is based on the novel by Nicholas Sparks ("A Walk to Remember," 2002).

Guy Fieri welcomes unexpected guests on brand-new YouTube interview series

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Guy Fieri ("Diners, Drive-ins and Dives") makes the move from television to 'tube, as he invites celebrities, influencers and fellow foodies to take part in open conversations, in "Guy's Feast Club" — a brand-new series from the culinary mastermind, now streaming on YouTube.

"From local joints to home-cooked spreads, Fieri caters to his guests' cravings by connecting over what he knows best — food," the series' description explains. "In each episode, off-the-hook dishes lead to in-depth conversations that are fueled by flavor, fun and even a little competition. When hunger calls, Guy answers, so pull up a chair and get ready to feast!"

In this first season, Fieri serves up four fascinating episodes, in which he hosts friends such as "Bad Friends" podcast hosts Bobby Lee and Andrew Santino, comedian Bert Kreischer ("Free Bert"), pro skater Tony Hawk and YouTube-famous basketball creator Jesser (@Jesser), who appears in the series' premiere episode.

According to Food Network, this first episode sees Fieri "[bringing] Jesser to his Feast Club for a hearty serving of his all-time favorite ribs while Jesser breaks down his wild journey from high school dropout to judging the NBA Dunk Contest."

"Things get heated," the network promises, "when the two battle it out in a brutal five-level spicy wings challenge."

As Fieri explains: "Guy's Feast Club' is all about bringing out-of-bounds bites and real deal dialogue to the table in a way we've never done before. I'm stoked to bring these next-level conversations and big eating energy with some big names you're gonna love."

"And remember," he teases, "the first rule of Feast Club is 'Do talk with your mouth full!'"

Food Network president Betsy Ayala added her own thoughts, sharing: "Guy's fans span every platform, and by launching this new series on YouTube, we're able to showcase a whole new side of Guy. [He] has a knack for connecting with anyone over anything — especially great food — and with unforgettable guests and plenty of laughs, he's inviting fans to pull up a chair for a front-row seat at the best table in town."

Produced by Made In Network, Season 1 of "Guy's Feast Club" is available now to stream on YouTube.

Crime 101

Mike Davis (Hemsworth) is a meticulous jewel thief who has built a reputation for pulling off sophisticated robberies along California's Highway 101 while avoiding violence and leaving almost no evidence behind. When he plans one final, high-stakes diamond heist, he finds himself pursued by determined LAPD detective Lou Lubesnick (Ruffalo), who becomes convinced that a single mastermind is behind a string unsolved crimes. As Mike prepares for the score of a lifetime, he recruits Sharon Combs (Berry), an insurance broker frustrated with her career and eager for a fresh start. Their plans are complicated by Ormon (Keoghan), a reckless and violent young criminal whose unpredictability threatens everyone involved. As the de-

They Will Kill You

Ex-convict Asia Reaves (Beetz) takes a housekeeping job at a mysterious luxury high-rise in New York City while secretly searching for her long-lost sister, Maria (Myha'la). What begins as a simple rescue mission quickly turns into a nightmare when Asia discovers that the building's wealthy residents are members of a Satanic cult that has maintained immortality through human sacrifice. As cult members repeatedly attack her, Asia reveals herself to be far more dangerous than they expected.
Director: Kirill Sokolov. Stars: Zazie Beetz, Myha'la, Paterson Joseph, Tom Felton, Heather Graham, Patricia Arquette. 2026. 94 min. Action Horror.

Night Patrol

LAPD officer and former gang member Xavier Carr (Fowler) patrols the housing projects where he grew up. His life is thrown into chaos when his brother, Wazi (Cyler), witnesses members of an elite police task force murder his girlfriend. Xavier soon discovers the shocking truth: the secretive "Night Patrol" unit is made up of vampires who prey on vulnerable residents while disguising their crimes as gang violence. As the corrupt officers move to silence Wazi, Xavier is forced to choose between loyalty to the police and loyalty to his family and community. With help from his mother Ayanda (Micheaux), who practices traditional Zulu mysticism, Xavier uncovers a conspiracy that runs deep within the LAPD.

Aaron Judge of the New York Yankees

MLB Baseball

TBS TRUTV 7:00 PM
The Detroit Tigers roll into Yankee Stadium for a cross-division showdown. Detroit brings road-game energy while the New York Yankees defend their home turf in what should be a motivated American League clash with standings implications for both clubs.

America's Got Talent

5) 8:00 PM
Terry Crews hosts as Simon Cowell, Howie Mandel, Sofia Vergara and Mel B return to size up another wave of hopeful performers. Singers, dancers, comedians, magicians and more compete for a life-changing prize in this fan-favorite talent competition.

In the City

BRAV 8:00 PM
Summertime can't last forever. Amanda, Kyle and other "Summer House" stars leave their picturesque getaway in the Hamptons and head back to New York City, where they face new chapters, new challenges, new careers, new kids and new relationships.

Neighborhood Wars

A&E 9:00 PM
A Tennessee apartment confrontation erupts into a standoff with a twist nobody saw coming. In Indiana, a feud over dogs and trash escalates to biological warfare. And, in Texas, a noise complaint spirals into a relentless doorbell-camera taunt war.

Wednesday Best Bets

Zachary Quinto and Teddy Sears in "Brilliant Minds"

Top Gun: Maverick

③ 8:00 PM

While training a detachment of graduates for a special assignment, Maverick (Tom Cruise) must confront the ghosts of his past and his deepest fears, culminating in a mission that demands the ultimate sacrifice from those who choose to fly it.

Brilliant Minds

⑤ 8:00 PM

After reuniting with the father (Mandy Patinkin) he believed dead, Dr. Oliver Wolf (Zachary Quinto) sets out to cure this unknown disorder while managing the relationships and political pressures that come with leading his team in this series finale.

Blues in the Night

TCM 8:15 PM

From director Anatole Litvak, this 1941 flick sees a pianist (Richard Whorf), a singer (Priscilla Lane) and their jazz group landing in a New Jersey nightclub alongside an escaped convict (Lloyd Nolan). Elia Kazan, Jack Carson and Betty Field also star.

Guy's Grocery Games

FOOD 9:00 PM

Guy Fieri celebrates America's 250th birthday by inviting three past winners to participate in an all-star cook-off. First, the chefs make picnic plates with apple pie and corn dogs. Then, a game of corn-hole determines ingredients for dinner.

The Kimberley: Australia's Wild West

③⑤ ⑤⑦ 10:00 PM

This final episode introduces bugs and mammals that fly through the air with ease. As the threat of fire approaches, sugar gliders make a daring escape from the flames. Locals, meanwhile, utilize ancient traditions to manage the quickly spreading blaze.

Thursday Best Bets

Alfred Hitchcock and Kim Novak during the filming of "Vertigo"

The Social

(12) 2:00 PM

Co-hosted by Melissa Grelo, Cynthia Loyst and Andrea Bain, this long-running daytime talk show offers a fresh perspective on trending stories, pop culture moments and lifestyle topics that matter most to Canadians. A new episode airs from Season 13.

After the First 48

A&E 8:00 PM

When a man is gunned down outside an apartment complex in Gwinnett County, Ga., detectives are left with ample evidence to sort through. Someone present at the scene offers their own insight, leading detectives to track down three out-of-town suspects.

All Elite Wrestling: Collision

TNT 8:00 PM

The best wrestlers in the world come to San Diego's Viejas Arena for a night of hard-hitting action. MJF, Bandido, Ricochet, Kris Statlander and more feature in blood-pumping matches, major storyline developments and unpredictable in-ring moments.

Vertigo

TCM 9:45 PM

In this 1958 classic from director Alfred Hitchcock, a former San Francisco detective, John Ferguson (James Stewart), is forced to prevent a suicidal woman (Kim Novak) from making a fatal jump, despite his all-consuming fear of heights.

Trace Adkins to debut new song during "A Capitol Fourth: 250th Weekend Celebration"

Back to the Future Part II

AMC 5:30 PM

Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) and Doc Brown (Christopher Lloyd) return from the future to find their timeline destroyed. Biff Tannen's (Thomas F. Wilson) stolen sports almanac rewrote history, and setting things right means yet another leap through time.

How to Make a Killing

HBO 7:10 PM

Becket Redfellow (Glen Powell) was cut out of a vast family fortune before birth. Now an adult with a plan, he moves through relatives — including patriarch Whitelaw (Ed Harris) — one by one in pursuit of the inheritance he believes is rightfully his.

A Capitol Fourth: 250th Weekend Celebration

(33) (57) 8:00 PM

Kicking off the festivities for this weekend's historic semiquincentennial Independence Day, this concert event will see country music icon Trace Adkins debut his brand-new song, "American Made." Afterwards, fireworks fly over Mount Vernon.

Independence Eve Live With Anderson & Andy: Celebrating 250

CNN 8:00 PM

Anderson Cooper and Andy Cohen will be joined by American icons and heroes during this special live event. Together, they hear stories that reflect the diversity and resilience of the USA, with correspondents connecting them to cities nationwide.

"Resident Evil: The Final Chapter" (2017)

The battle against Umbrella comes to an explosive end in "Resident Evil: The Final Chapter" (2016), arriving Tuesday, June 30, on Prime Video. From writer-director Paul W. S. Anderson ("Monster Hunter," 2020), the sixth and final film in the franchise picks up immediately after the events of "Resident Evil: Retribution" (2012). With humanity on the brink of extinction after the T-virus has spread across the globe, Alice (Milla Jovovich, "The Fifth Element," 1997) is betrayed by Wesker (Shawn Roberts, "Resident Evil: Afterlife," 2010) and learns that the only chance to save mankind is to return to Raccoon City, where the outbreak began. There, she must infiltrate Umbrella's underground headquarters and confront the powerful corporation once and for all. Joining Alice on her last-chance mission are Claire Redfield (Ali Larter, "Heroes"), Dr. Isaacs (Iain Glen, "Game of Thrones") and Abigail (Ruby Rose, "Orange Is the New Black"), and along the way, they face deadly creatures, overwhelming odds and shocking revelations in their final fight for humanity's survival.

Black"), and along the way, they face deadly creatures, overwhelming odds and shocking revelations in their final fight for humanity's survival.

"Twilight" (2008)

A love story with a dangerous bite, "Twilight," the hit adaptation of Stephenie Meyer's bestselling novel, arrives Wednesday, July 1, on Hulu. The 2008 supernatural flick follows Bella Swan (Kristen Stewart, "Snow White and the Huntsman," 2012), a shy teenager who leaves sunny Arizona behind and moves to the small, rain-soaked town of Forks, Washington, to live with her police chief father (Billy Burke, "Fracture," 2007). There, she meets Edward Cullen (Robert Pattinson, "The Batman," 2022), a mysterious classmate who's determined to keep his distance from her. As Bella gets closer to Edward, she uncovers a secret he's spent centuries trying to hide: he's a vampire. Rather than pushing her away, the revelation sparks an intense romance, drawing Bella into the secretive world Edward shares with his adopted family, the Cullens. But their relationship is tested when a group of blood-thirsty vampires begin hunting Bella, forcing the Cullens to do everything they can to keep her safe. Starring Taylor Lautner ("Abduction," 2011) as Jacob Black, Anna Kendrick ("Woman of the Hour," 2023) as Jessica, Ashley Greene ("Wonder Man") as Alice and Rachele Lefevre ("White House Down," 2013) as Victoria, "Twilight" was directed by Catherine Hardwicke ("Thirteen," 2003) from a screenplay by Melissa Rosenberg ("Dexter").

"Titanic" (1997)

One of cinema's most unforgettable love stories sets sail when "Titanic" arrives Wednesday, July 1, on Hulu. From director James Cameron ("Avatar," 2009), this 1997 film follows Rose DeWitt Bukater (Kate Winslet, "Lee," 2023), a young woman constrained by the expectations of high society, as she boards the Titanic on its ill-fated maiden voyage from Southampton. Traveling in first class with her wealthy fiancé, Cal Hockley (Billy Zane, "Dead Calm," 1989), Rose feels her future slipping out of her control — until she crosses paths with Jack Dawson (Leonardo Di-Caprio, "Killers of the Flower Moon," 2023), a free-spirited artist from third class who won his ticket in a card game. Their chance meeting soon turns romantic, offering Rose a glimpse of a life lived on her own terms. But when the Titanic strikes an iceberg and the ship begins to sink, the lovers are thrust into a desperate fight for survival, as one of history's most infamous disasters unfolds around them. Starring Kathy Bates ("Misery," 1990), Frances Fisher ("Laws of Attraction," 2004), Gloria Stuart ("The Old Dark House," 1932) and Bill Paxton ("Twister," 1996).

Raphael Luce and Christoph Waltz in "Dracula" audience feels like the movie might have been made for them.

Such is the case with "Dracula" (2025), Besson's take on the most famous horror story of all time.

It starred two Americans — Caleb Landry Jones ("X-Men: First Class," 2011) and Zoe Bleu ("Gonzo Girl," 2023) — and one very famous Austrian-German — Oscar winner Christoph Waltz ("Django Unchained," 2012) — and was filmed in Finland and France.

It did get a theatrical release, but not a very wide one, and it got very little marketing. However, it seems to be doing better on streaming — it was, for example, the most-streamed movie on Apple TV when it was released in March.

Q: I just saw a really weird movie about Dracula, but it was set in France instead of England (or Transylvania, I guess). It seemed big-budget, but I never saw it in theaters, and it may be seemed foreign, but the dialogue was mostly in English. What did I just watch?

A: You're doing an excellent job of capturing the Luc Besson ("The Fifth Element," 1997) experience.

Besson is a French filmmaker who specializes in making movies for international audiences. Watching one can feel a bit bewildering.

For the most part they're made in English, but sometimes there are extensive parts in other languages as well, sometimes many (so everyone's going to have to read some subtitles). And he always manages to sneak in something that's very obviously French.

The result is that everything feels familiar, but also a little different. Or, from another perspective (certainly from the business perspective) every

Q: I was sorry to see "Firefly Lane" get canceled. What's Katherine Heigl doing now?

A: At the moment she's stepped away from acting to pursue her other two passions: art and charity (plus a third passion: Utah).

In the years since "Firefly Lane's" 2023 finale, Heigl ("Grey's Anatomy") has held two exhibitions of her mixed-media artwork, all inspired by the majestic Utah landscapes she calls home.

Both exhibitions were held in Park City, Utah (also the site of the Sundance Film Festival), and both were fundraisers for the Jason Heigl Foundation, the charity she co-founded to support animal welfare.

She also gave her voice to a promotional video in 2024 to support

Salt Lake City's bid to host the 2034 Winter Olympics.

After a hugely successful run on TV and in rom-com cinema — her late '00s trio of 2007's "Knocked Up," 2008's "27 Dresses" and 2009's "The Ugly Truth" grossed more than half a billion dollars at the box office — Heigl could never act again and still be remembered as one of the greats. But hopefully for fans like yourself, she'll return to her acting passion again (anyone with a spec script about rescuing and/or painting the Rocky Mountain elk, Utah's state animal, might want to give her agent a call).
