Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

If you're just tuning in to "The Late Show," you missed a lot. Tonight [May 21] is our final broadcast from the Ed Sullivan Theater. We were lucky enough to be here for the last 11 years. Can't take this for granted, though. Actually, technically our first show back in July of 2015 was from a public access station in Monroe, Michigan, for an audience of 12 people. And show business being what it is these days, it's probably where you'll see me next.

There is so much history here in the Ed Sullivan Theater, and we've been honored to have been just a small part of it. Nichols and May played on the stage. The Beatles made their American debut here. And this is true. This is true. Backstage, Elvis used the bathroom and didn't die.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

It's college graduation season and it's pretty inspiring to see the most hungover kid at the ceremony and think, "Someday that guy will be the director of the FBI."

Of course, some graduation ceremonies are more prestigious than others. You know, it's tough when they introduce your commencement speaker with the, "You know them from Season 2 of 'MILF Manor.'"

I read that firefighters in Utah had to rescue 25 million bees that were stuck in a broken-down semi-truck. Yeah, on the bright side, now their lips look amazing.

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

You know, here in Hollywood, we made some bad and expensive sequels, but nothing we have ever made is as bad or expensive as the sequel they are producing in Washington right now. There's just so much lying and stealing and grifting and cheating in the news today. I don't even know where to begin. So, we might as well start with the most important issue we face as Americans, and that is the fact that we don't have a ballroom at the White House.

It was another Taco Tuesday in the Middle East today [May 19]. Trump backed off his deadline at the last minute. ... Every Tuesday it's like a new episode of "NCIS." He pulls out. I think it's because he has more free time on the weekends to make threats and then Monday comes and he's like, "I don't want to deal. Just cancel until next week." This war feels like a series of millennial business meetings.

Late Night With Seth Meyers (R)

A metal detectorist in Wales recently found two lead ingots that are believed to date back to the Roman era, while the detectorist doesn't date at all.

According to a new study, salmon exposed to cocaine in the water can swim longer distances. In fact, they'll just keep going until they find an ATM.

Battle of the blonds: Targaryens wage war in 'HOTD' Season 3

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Early this year, American author and world-builder extraordinaire George R.R. Martin met with The Hollywood Reporter to discuss his eternally popular Game of Thrones empire, a creation which cemented the author's transformation from "son of a New Jersey longshoreman who got his start by selling monster stories to schoolmates for a dime apiece" to "the country's most recognizable author aside from Stephen King."

Martin has been a recurring topic of discussion in the entertainment industry since the April 2011 premiere of "Game of Thrones" on HBO, an adaptation of his beloved A Song of Ice and Fire literary series which released its first installment (the similarly titled "A Game of Thrones") in 1996. But in recent years — and as fans of the author's work will know — Martin has become a rather more contentious figure in the pop culture sphere, particularly due to the perpetually pending arrival of A Song of Ice and Fire's final two novels; novels that have been promised since the 2011 publication of the series' most recent novel, "A Dance with Dragons."

And while a decade ago Martin told The Hollywood Reporter "I have to finish the next book ... I'm trying to cut back on anything that I can to clear my decks and get this done," his new approach is a softer one: "I want to finish," he told THR interviewer James Hibberd in January, while reaffirming that he is very much not ready to give up on the writing process just yet.

"I would hate that," Martin told Hibberd. "[Giving up] would feel like a total failure to me."

So, while Martin sits at his keyboard, his fans must keep their eyes affixed to their television sets where, mercifully, another season of "House of the Dragon" is about to begin.

"House of the Dragon" Season 3 premieres Sunday, June 21, on HBO and the HBO Max streaming service.

"House of the Dragon" is Martin's second series with HBO, having premiered its freshman season a little more than three years after "Game of Thrones" ended and shy of four years before the universe's newest installment, "A Knight of the Seven Kingdoms," premiered. The series follows the silvery-blond Targaryen clan as they battle for succession 172 years before the birth of "GOT" tragic heroine Daenerys Targaryen (Emilia Clarke, "Ponies").

The series' first season boasts a 90% approval rating from critics (and 82% from viewers) on RottenTomatoes.com, with reviewers praising the show's world-building, political intrigue and acting. Season 2's approval, however, fell to 84% and 72% among critics and audiences, respectively, as the pace slowed and the drama became more character driven. Never fear, though, because Rhaenyra (Emma D'Arcy, "Truth Seekers") is back in King's Landing this season — and she comes bearing dragons.

No official HBO season description exists as of writing, but according to Entertainment Weekly, who released an exclusive "HOTD" story titled "Burn, Baby, Burn" on May 26, the Season 3 premiere "brings us the Battle of the Gullet, one of the most violent sea battles in the history of this fantasy world.

"The scarring aftermath of this moment will carry both the Greens (supporters of King Aegon's [Tom Glynn-Carney, 'Dunkirk,' 2017] claim to the Iron Throne) and the Blacks (supporters of Queen Rhaenyra) through to the inevitable conclusion," continues the synopsis.

"It's all-out war," said actor Ewan Mitchell ("Wuthering Heights," 2026), who plays Prince Aemond Targaryen, in an interview with EW. "It's just a blitz straight out of the gate."

From a logistical perspective, showrunner and Martin's "HOTD" co-creator Ryan J. Condal ("Colony") told EW that the Season 3 premiere is "arguably the craziest episode of television ever made."

This commitment to action (and dragons!) is a huge relief for the many fans who were disappointed by Season 2's lackluster conclusion in August 2024. But with nearly two years to ruminate, Martin's mid-January exit due to creative differences and Condal's HBO deal extended into 2029, "House of the Dragon" now has plenty of wind under its scaled and leathery wings.

"When you're a showrunner, you're always in the position of having to balance storytelling and the resources that you have available to tell that story," Condal said, per The Hollywood Reporter. "We are trying to give the Gullet — which is arguably the second most anticipated action event of 'Fire & Blood' — the time and the space that it deserves.

"We also wanted to build some anticipation toward it," the showrunner added, "so I apologize for the wait."

"House of the Dragon's" third season contains eight episodes and stars Matt Smith ("Doctor Who"), Fabien Frankel ("The Serpent"), Olivia Cooke ("Bates Motel"), Steve Toussaint ("Before We Die"), Sonoya Mizuno ("Maniac"), Kurt Egyiawan ("Beasts of No Nation," 2015), Rhys Ifans ("Notting Hill," 1999), Matthew Needham ("Napoleon," 2023) and Jefferson Hall ("Oppenheimer," 2023), alongside Glynn-Carney, Mitchell and D'Arcy.

Pick a side and join the battle when Season 3 of "House of the Dragon" premieres with a bang Sunday, June 21, on HBO and HBO Max. The series has also recently been renewed for a fourth — and, per Condal, final — season, scheduled to release sometime in 2028.

Last meal: 'The Bear' concludes with one more sizzling season

Ayo Edebiri in "The Bear"

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

If you can't take the heat, get out of the kitchen. A certain acclaimed Chicago restaurateur really took that idiom to heart and now, after a yearlong wait, viewers are about to witness the fallout of that monumental decision.

The FX-produced series "The Bear" returns for its fifth and final season Thursday, June 25, on Hulu and Disney+. All eight episodes of the Emmy-winning comedy's upcoming season will be available to stream on premiere day.

The last season of "The Bear" saw Carmy Berzatto (Jeremy Allen White, "Shameless") reach his limit after the weight of four seasons of mounting stress from the restaurant opening, trauma from the exacting demands of his past in haute cuisine and strained, grief-laden relationships with his family finally broke his passion and drive to keep The Bear afloat.

Now the fate of the restaurant rests on the shoulders of Carmy's partners. Sydney Adamu (Ayo Edebiri, "After the Hunt," 2025) ultimately accepted a change to the partnership agreement that freed Carmy from his responsibilities and included Richie Jerimovich (Ebon Moss-Bachrach, "The Fantastic Four: First Steps," 2025), along with Natalie "Sugar" Berzatto (Abby Elliott, "All Her Fault"), as a literal ticking clock counted down the seconds they had left to become profitable or close their doors. After everything the two chefs had gone through to open The Bear and bring their vision to life, Carmy has stepped away the moment his and Sydney's project passed the proof test.

The new season picks the story back up the morning after last season's finale and, per FX, "with no money, the threat of a sale and a torrential storm in their way, the new partners must band together with the rest of the team to achieve one last service, hoping they'll finally earn a Michelin star." Ultimately, they learn that what makes a restaurant "perfect" might not be the food, but the people.

Also starring this season are Lionel Boyce ("Project Hail Mary," 2026) as pastry chef Marcus Brooks; Liza Colon-

Zayas ("In Treatment") as sous chef Tina Marrero; Matty Matheson ("Born to Lose," 2026) and Ricky Staffieri ("This Is Us") as brothers Neil and Ted Fak, employees of The Bear; Oliver Platt ("Chicago Med") as Uncle Jimmy, the main financial backer of The Bear; Will Poulter ("Dopesick") as Marcus' mentor, chef Luca; and Jamie Lee Curtis ("Scarpetta") as Carmy's estranged mother, Donna.

While doing press for his portrayal of music legend Bruce Springsteen in the 2025 biopic "Springsteen: Deliver Me From Nowhere," White spoke to Variety about the show last November, shortly before Season 5 started production. White reflected on the connection he feels to Carmy and the story of "The Bear," having a different relationship to the show than he had experienced in previous ensemble work.

"There were some years on 'Shameless' where I felt more connected to Phillip Gallagher and there were some years I didn't. I feel really connected to Carmy and I feel really connected to [The Bear' creator] Christopher Storer [Ramy] in a way that probably just due to my age I didn't feel with [Shameless' showrunner] John Wells always," White explained.

"Those were very separate things, kind of the story coming at me as an 18-year-old and a 19-year-old, versus the story coming at me from Chris, who I really consider a friend and a peer."

DO YOU HAVE AN IDEA FOR FEATURES?

If you have a story idea or information you would like to see reported in the feature pages of the Press-Republican, email news@pressrepublican.com

The feature schedule is as follows:

- Monday: Home and Garden
- Tuesday: Health and Fitness
- Wednesday: After 50
- Thursday: Out & About
- Friday: Faith and Spirituality
- Saturday: Family

Storer created "The Bear" and serves as executive producer of the series alongside Josh Senior ("Small Town, Big Story"), Cooper Wehde ("Bo Burnham: Inside," 2021), Tyson Bidner ("Best Medicine"), Hiro Murai ("Widow's Bay"), Rene Gube ("Crazy Ex-Girlfriend") and Matheson. Culinary producer for the show is Courtney Storer (sister to Christopher), owner of the catering company Coco's To Go.

For those who haven't gotten caught up in the whirlwind of "The Bear" and missed out on tuning in so far, it is a satisfyingly stressful watch that highlights the passion of people who aspire to careers in restaurants from fine dining to humble diners. The series begins as, following the death of his older brother Mikey Berzatto (Jon Bernthal, "His & Hers"), Carmy inherits his Italian beef sandwich shop and he uses his experience in Michelin-starred restaurants to bring his own vision to life.

A surprise drop of a special episode in May broadened the understanding of Mikey's character, whose death touched everyone in "The Bear," directly or indirectly. The episode, titled "Gary," is a flashback to a work trip that Mikey and Richie take to Indiana.

"Intimate and revealing, it illuminates the two friends' complicated relationship, uncovering new layers of Mikey's mental state while offering crucial insight into the man Richie is when audiences first meet him in Season 1 — adding emotional context that reframes their story from the very beginning," says FX.

Catch the fifth and final season premiere of "The Bear" when it drops on Hulu and Disney+ Thursday, June 25. All eight episodes will be available to stream on premiere day.

Hourlong special looks at 'All American' impact ahead of final season debut

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

'All American' revisited: After eight seasons and nearly 150 episodes, it's time to say goodbye. Before the premiere of "All American's" final season, celebrate the characters, creators and viewers who brought the story to life with "All American: The Final Season Special," airing Monday, June 22, on The CW.

With Season 8 set to make its debut Monday, July 13, fans of this groundbreaking coming-of-age story are preparing themselves to say goodbye to the likes of Jordan (Michael Evans Behling, "The Queen's Jewels," 2025), Layla (Greta Onieogou, "Fever Pitch," 2005), Coop (Bre-Z, "Empire"), Cassius (Osy Ikhile, "Citadel"), KJ (Nathaniel Logan McIntyre, "Michael," 2026), Khalil (Antonio J. Bell, "Dare Me"), Amina (Alexis Chikaeze, "Miss Juneteenth," 2020) and Preach (Kareem J. Grimes, "Love the Skin You're In," 2025). And while there's still more story left to tell — with 13 episodes remaining — it's safe to say there's plenty to reflect on, too, as this coming-of-age drama saw its characters grow and change drastically from season to season.

According to a press release, "The tribute will look back at the show's most memorable moments, relationships and milestones, honoring the legacy of a series that has resonated with audiences and redefined the modern sports drama."

Focusing on the three pillars at the heart of "All American" — football, family and friendship — the special will also reflect on the game-changing events of Season 7, which saw Jordan and the others balancing their individual dreams with family dramas and relationship woes. It's also likely to delve into what comes next for these hopeful athletes, as Season 8 picks up only six months after the end of Season 7.

A synopsis for the series' final season shared that the upcoming episodes will "span just one week in our favorite Beverly and Crenshaw crew's life."

It's "[a] week that will have them wondering if everything they've been through over the course of their lives has prepared them for this moment. A week that will ultimately reunite old with the new, friend with enemy, and alter the course of each of their futures forever," Deadline describes, hinting at more potential trips down memory lane.

Revisit the past and contemplate the future when "All American: The Final Season Special" airs Monday, June 22, on The CW.

Music to your ears: Get a front-row seat for one of country music's biggest events as "CMA Fest presented by SoFi" — a three-hour concert event featuring memorable performances, exclusive collaborations and "must-see surprises" (per ABC) from country music superstars — airs Thursday, June 25, on ABC before streaming on Hulu the following day.

Hosted by singer Riley Green ("you look like you love me") and "Good Morning America's" Lara Spencer, this epic event was filmed during the 53rd CMA Fest, which took place in downtown Nashville, Tennessee, earlier this month, from June 4-7. Drawing in tens of thousands of daily visitors every year, this one-of-a-kind music celebration draws in fans from across the world.

"CMA Fest is more than a festival — it's a celebration of the connection between artists and fans, featuring hundreds of performances and collaborations across multiple stages, once-in-a-lifetime moments, and the vibrant energy of Nashville, all fueling something bigger than the event itself," the Country Music Association explains.

This year, the concert series saw performances from the likes of Lainey

Wilson ("Hang Tight Honey"), Luke Bryan ("Country Song Came On"), Cody Johnson ("Dirt Cheap"), Ella Langley ("weren't for the wind"), Tim McGraw ("Live Like You Were Dying"), Shaboozey ("Last of My Kind"), Bailey Zimmerman ("Holy Smokes"), The Red Clay Strays ("No One Else Like Me"), Zach Top ("Sounds Like the Radio") and Keith Urban ("Straight Line"), with highlights, headliners and more shared in this televised presentation.

During last year's broadcast, ABC featured performances from Trace Adkins ("Honky Tonk Badonkadonk"), Kelsea Ballerini ("Baggage"), Scott McCreery ("Five More Minutes"), Rascal Flatts ("Life Is A Highway") and countless others — including collaborative performances between Adkins and Blake Shelton ("Hillbilly Bone"), Brandon Lake ("Hard Fought Hallelujah") and Jelly Roll ("Wild Ones"), Brooks & Dunn ("Play Something Country") and Marcus King ("Delilah") and more — packing three days of nonstop entertainment into one three-hour special, and leaving viewers to assume that this year's presentation will be just as jam-packed.

"With hundreds of performances across multiple stages, special fan experiences and memorable moments around every corner" (per the Country Music Association), the 2026 "CMA Fest presented by SoFi" airs Thursday, June 25, on ABC, before streaming the next day on Hulu.

"Avatar: The Last Airbender" - Season 2

The war against the Fire Nation is far from over, as Season 2 of "Avatar: The Last Airbender" arrives on Netflix this Thursday, June 25. After a bittersweet victory saving the Northern Water Tribe from the invading Fire Nation, Avatar Aang (Gordon Cormier, "Lost in Space"), Katara (Kiawentiio, "It: Welcome to Derry") and Sokka's (Ian Ousley, "13 Reasons Why") next mission takes them deep into Earth Kingdom territory, where they must persuade a reclusive Earth King (Justin Chien, "The Season") to join the fight against the fearsome Fire Lord Ozai (Daniel Dae Kim, "Hawaii Five-0"). "But the most dangerous enemies of all may be those unseen, for soon Avatar and his friends will learn that nothing is as it seems in a city of walls and secrets" (per Netflix). Based on the animated series "Avatar: The Last Airbender" (2005-08), this live-action series sees the return of showrunner Albert Kim ("Percy Jackson and the Olympians") and director Jabbar Raisani ("Iron Man," 2008), alongside writer Audrey Wong Kennedy ("Amazing Stories") and executive producers Brendan Ferguson ("Luther: The Fallen Sun," 2023), Dan Lin ("The Lego Batman Movie," 2017), Lindsey Liberatore ("The Day After Tomorrow," 2004) and Michael Goi ("American Horror Story").

"Little Brother" (2026)

John Cena ("The Suicide Squad," 2021) and Eric Andre ("The Eric Andre Show") learn the true meaning of family in "Little Brother," streaming on Netflix this Friday, June 26. Directed by Matt Spicer ("Ingrid Goes West," 2017), with a screenplay by Andrew Mogel ("Huge in France") and Jarrad Paul ("Yes Man," 2008), "Little Brother" follows Rudd (Cena), a thriving real estate agent whose world is upended when he receives a phone call that his brother is in the hospital after a car accident. But when he arrives to find Marcus (Andre) — a childhood friend he met through a charity program — instead of his actual brother, he brings him home at the insistence of his wife, played by "The White Lotus" star Michelle Monaghan. As Marcus makes himself at home, Rudd plots to get him out of his house. Starring Christopher Meloni ("Man of Steel," 2013), Ego Nwodim ("Saturday Night Live"), Sherry Cola ("Nobody Wants This"), Caleb Hearon ("The Devil

"In the Hand of Dante" (2025)

Arriving on Netflix this Wednesday, June 24, 2025's "In the Hand of Dante" weaves together the lives of two men separated by more than 700 years through a single manuscript. In present-day New York, writer and Dante scholar Nick Tosches

(Oscar Isaac, "Frankenstein," 2025) is pulled out of self-imposed exile by mafia don Joe Black (John Malkovich, "Red," 2010), who has gotten his hands on a manuscript believed to be Dante's original handwritten copy of "The Divine Comedy." Sent to the Vatican to verify its authenticity alongside assassin Louie (Gerard Butler, "London Has Fallen," 2016) and fellow enforcer Lefty (Louis Cancelmi, "The Irishmen," 2019), Nick is drawn into a violent and increasingly spiritual journey as others move to steal the manuscript for themselves. At the same time, the story travels back to 14th-century Italy, where Dante Alighieri (also played by Isaac) struggles to find the inspiration needed to create the work that will define his legacy. As the two narratives unfold in parallel, their quests for meaning, love, beauty and divine truth begin to echo one another across the centuries. "In the Hand of Dante" is directed by Julian Schnabel ("Miral," 2010) and based on Nick Tosches' acclaimed novel.

Michael Fassbender ("X-Men: First Class," 2011) returns as Martian, a covert CIA agent caught between his hazardous undercover assignments and a dangerous international conspiracy. This season will continue following Martian, as Samia (Jodie Turner-Smith, "Anne Boleyn"), his lover, is held captive in Sudan, and now, he will do anything to try and save her — even past the point of treachery. "The only way out is deeper in, which is a knife-edge Martian must walk if he is to save love, life and his mission" (per Deadline). Starring Jeffrey Wright ("The French Dispatch," 2021), Katherine Waterston ("Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them," 2016) and Richard Gere ("Pretty Woman," 1990).

"See You at Work Tomorrow!"

An adaptation of the hit Kakao Webtoon, the Korean limited series "See You at Work Tomorrow!" is set to arrive Monday, June 22, on Prime Video. From "The Sound of Your Heart" producer Hyunwoo Thomas Kim, this series stars Seo In-guk ("The Master's Sun") and Park Ji-hyun ("Gonjiam: Haunted Asylum," 2018) as colleagues whose lives slowly collide inside a demanding corporate world. Ji-hyun plays Cha Ji-yoon, a seventh-year product planner who is burned out at her job and has sworn off dating anyone after a painful breakup. But when she meets Kang Si-woo (In-guk), the team leader and the last person at the office anyone wants to deal with, she finds herself getting closer to him than she ever planned.

"Priscilla" (2023)

Adapted from Priscilla Presley's 1985 memoir "Elvis and Me," director Sofia Coppola ("Lost in Translation," 2003) brings their relationship to life in "Priscilla" (2023), available Tuesday, June 23, on Prime Video. Fourteen-year-old Priscilla Beaulieu (Cailee Spaeny, "Civil War," 2024) is a shy but well-mannered girl constantly moved around by her stepfather's military career. While stationed in West Germany, Priscilla is starstruck when she meets 24-year-old Elvis Presley (Jacob Elordi, "Saltburn," 2023) at a party. As they grow closer, the rock 'n' roll superstar becomes someone entirely unexpected in private moments: a first love, an antidote to her loneliness and a vulnerable confidant. From her hair and makeup to experimenting with drugs, Priscilla's life changes drastically — and she along with it — in her eagerness to stay with him; the film chronicles their bittersweet and often tumultuous relationship over the years. Starring Dagmara Dominczyk ("The Diplomat"), Ari Cohen ("Orphan Black") and Daniel Beirne ("Ginny & Georgia").

"Forbidden Fruits" (2026)

Directed by Meredith Alloway ("Deep Tissue," 2019), "Forbidden Fruits" casts its spell Friday, June 26, when it begins streaming on Prime Video via the Shudder channel. But when new hire Pumpkin (Lola Tung, "The Summer I Turned Pretty") joins their cult, she begins challenging their sisterhood and the women are forced to face their own poisons ... or succumb to a bloody fate. Starring Emma Chamberlain ("Dave"), Jordan Duarte ("Mayor of Kingstown"), Zack Thompson ("Gen V"), Jacqueline Byers ("Prey for the Devil," 2022) and Austin Ball ("Devil in Disguise: John Wayne Gacy").

Dad-worthy eats

Chow down on Father's Day, with inspiration found in 'Barbecue Showdown' and more

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

How do you celebrate a dad who has everything? An easy afternoon by the grill? An adventure abroad? A day spent hanging out with the kids?

No matter what you decide, find giftable (and edible) inspiration for this coming Father's Day (Sunday, June 21), with "Barbecue Showdown," "Somebody Feed Phil" and "Great British Baking Show: Juniors," all currently streaming on Netflix.

With three seasons available, "Barbecue Showdown" offers a taste of what's possible on the grill as hosts such as Rutledge Wood ("Top Gear"), Lyric Lewis ("Waffles + Mochi") and Michelle Buteau ("First Wives Club") oversee contestants from across America in an epic barbecue cook-off. Each season begins with eight contestants — all at varying skill levels — and through challenges, eliminations and endless surprises, "America's Barbecue Champion" is eventually crowned. Featuring seven-time world American barbecue champion Melissa Cookston ("Cook at All Costs") and Bludso's BBQ owner Kevin Bludso ("Without a Recipe") as judges — and with appearances by celebrity chefs such as Kwame Onwuachi ("The Great Soul Food Cook-Off"), Matty Matheson ("The Bear") and Tuffy Stone ("BBQ Pitmasters") — "Barbecue Showdown" is sure to get your mouth watering, sharing ideas for finger-lickin' good Sunday suppers, tailgate parties and more.

But if barbecue's not your taste, perhaps you prefer something more international. Hosted by "Everybody Loves Raymond" creator Philip Rosenthal, this series follows Rosenthal as he embarks on a "goodwill eating" tour of the world. Joined by family, friends and celebrities, Rosenthal visits cities such as Tel Aviv-Yafo, Mexico City, New Orleans and Bangkok to get a taste of the local cuisine and culture. In the series' latest batch of episodes — Season 8 — he tries herring, stroopwafel and smoked eel in Amsterdam; pintxos (a bite-size snack) and world-renowned seafood in Spain; award-winning steak in Las Vegas; pork sisig in Manila; and plenty more.

Lastly, if your Father's Day comes served with a side of family time, enjoy some kid-friendly competition, with "Great British Baking Show: Juniors" now streaming Seasons 6 and 7. In this spinoff of "Great British Bake Off," pint-sized contestants (aged 9-15) battle it out in a baking boot camp, where they face technical and showstopper challenges just like their adult counterparts. As they create fantasy cakes, choux pastry portraits, dreamy cheesecakes and more, the kids face the possibility of elimination by judges Liam Charles ("The Great British Baking Show: The Professionals") and Ravneet Gill ("Saturday Kitchen").

"Where Pretty Girls Die" (2025)

A group of college students find out "Where Pretty Girls Die" when director Christine Conradt's ("As Luck Would Have It," 2021) 2025 crime thriller lands on Hulu this Thursday, June 25. When a criminology student and her true-crime club investigate a four-year-old disappearance in rural Georgia, they discover it's tied to a string of disappearances that are the work of a sadistic serial killer who has been hiding in plain sight. But after being lured into a deadly trap, they must outwit a predator before becoming his next victims. Written by Margaret Cole ("The Past Is Never Buried," 2026) and executive produced by Sebastian Battro ("Saying Yes to Christmas," 2021), Oliver De Caigny ("Odysseus & the Isle of Mists," 2008) and Shannon Minogue ("Let's Murder Like It's 1999!," 2026), the film stars Kim Sandwich ("Arca," 2021), Dillon Peyerk ("Euphoria"), Kylie Delre ("Here's the Thing"), Ben VanderMey ("Fight Night: The Million Dollar Heist"), John Machesky ("Will Trent"), Branden Greenberg ("Lethal Love Affair," 2024), Britt George ("Too Close to Home"), Zach Montou ("Blushroom Presents: Heat Check") and Brigdon York ("Murder in Music City," 2026).

"Queens of the Dead" (2025)

When a zombie apocalypse breaks out and crashes a giant Brooklyn warehouse party, the night takes a turn no one ever saw coming. "Queens of the Dead" (2025) lands on Hulu this Friday, June 26, pitting an eclectic crew of drag queens, club kids and frenemies against a horde of brain-hungry, phone-scrolling zombies. To survive, they'll need to shelve the drama and stick together to make it through the night. In her award-winning feature debut, director Tina Romero ("Monkey Shines," 1988) teamed up with comedian Erin Judge ("Last Comic Standing") to co-write the script; the horror thriller features Katy O'Brian ("Love Lies Bleeding," 2024), Jaquel Spivey ("Mean Girls," 2024), Tomas Matos ("Fire Island," 2022), Nina West ("RuPaul's Drag Race"), Quincy Dunn-Baker ("No Hard Feelings," 2023), Cheyenne Jackson ("American Horror Story"), Dominique Jackson ("Pose"), Riki Lindhome ("Knives Out," 2019), Shaunette Renee Wilson ("Black Panther," 2018), Jack Haven ("I Saw the TV Glow," 2024), Becca Blackwell ("Survival of the Thickest"), Eve Lindley ("Dispatches From Elsewhere") and Margaret Cho ("Fire Island," 2022). "Queens of the Dead" is produced by Matthew Lee Miller ("Werewolves Within,"

Colin and Baylen from "Baylen Out Loud"

2021) and Natalie Metzger ("Werewolves Within," 2021) for Vanishing Angle.

"Baylen Out Loud" - Season 2

From getting the keys to her new apartment to sending out save-the-dates for her upcoming wedding, Baylen Dupree ("Dr. Phil") brings everyone along for the ride in Season 2 of "Baylen Out Loud," premiering Saturday, June 27, on Hulu. This new season continues to follow Baylen, a young woman living with an extreme case of Tourette Syndrome, as she takes bigger steps out into the world on her own and relying less on her family. And she's about to take a big step forward with her fiancé, Colin, as they move into a new apartment together and begin planning their dream wedding — from dress shopping and venue hunting to pre-marital counseling. Meanwhile, Baylen visits a doctor to discuss different treatment options for her Tourette Syndrome, including one potentially life-changing step that takes her overseas to try a new specialized device. "Baylen Out Loud" hails from executive producers Katie Mohs ("Gone Country"), Michael Levitt ("Skin Wars") and Rob Schwarze ("Wife Swap"), alongside producers Amy Rhodin ("Teen Mom 2"), Dev Thompson ("Circle of Eight," 2009) and Jenny Ricks ("San Diego: City of").

Kristin Kreuk and Rossif Sutherland star in "Murder in a Small Town"

The first two seasons of the mystery drama aired as part of Fox's fall schedule, but the network announced last month that it was moving it to the midseason schedule for Season 3.

They made that decision in order to turn fall Tuesdays into a "night of medical marvels," according to Fox executive vice-president Dan Harrison.

Last season, "Murder in a Small Town" served as lead-in to the medical drama "Doc." This fall it will be replaced in the slot by "Best Medicine," a freshman hit that aired midseason last year.

To be fair to Fox's programmers, perhaps the dead of winter is a better place for "Murder in a Small Town," which another Fox executive vice-president, Brooke Bowman, called "cozy and delightful" in her renewal statement.

One other piece of unequivocally good news: the show has added TV vet Peter Gallagher ("The O.C.") to its cast for Season 3. He'll play a charismatic man who sails into the marina of Gibsons, British Columbia, Canada, and disrupts the lives of everyone in town before (presumably, based on Gallagher's contract) sailing away again.

This seems to be part of an ongoing strategy for the show: to bring in a different, beloved TV face for a season-long arc each year as it did with Marcia Gay Harden ("How to Get Away With Murder") in Season 2.

Q: Is Vince Vaughn coming back with more "Bad Monkey"?

A: Vince Vaughn ("The Break-Up," 2006) is on board for a lot more "Bad Monkey," if it's up to him.

Season 1 of the Apple TV series was based on the novel of the same name by Carl Hiaasen ("Strip-tease," 1996). It was a hit, and has been renewed for a second. The assumption was that Season 2 would be based on the followup book, "Razor Girl."

However, in an interview with Deadline.com, Vaughn said that wouldn't be the case. But don't fret. Instead, Season 2 will tell an "interim" story, set in the time between the two novels, saving "Razor Girl" for Season 3.

"That would be the plan," he said. However, it's not totally his decision. It's more up to the show's creative mind — creator and writer Bill Lawrence ("Scrubs"). The problem

Q: Will "Murder in a Small Town" be coming back? If so, when?

A: I have half a glass of water for you, and you can decide if it's half-full or half-empty: "Murder in a Small Town" has been renewed for a third season, but it's been delayed until the winter (likely January).

there is that Lawrence is one of the busiest people in TV at the moment.

At the same time he's making "Bad Monkey," Lawrence is also doing new seasons of a pair of other Apple TV hits, "Ted Lasso" and "Shrinking," as well as his HBO show "Rooster" and the reboot of "Scrubs" on ABC.

So the timeline of future "Bad Monkey" seasons could depend on finding space in his packed schedule.

But Season 2, at least, is a lock.

Vaughn said (in the same Deadline interview, back in March) that principal filming was finished. There's no release date set yet, but the rumored target is "late 2026."
