WHAT A START!

The 1990 Quad-City Times Bix 7, 16,521 runners and walkers strong, got off to a fast start Saturday.

Harry Bell/QUAD CITY TIMES

COOLING OFF

Saturday's hot and humid weather had Quad-City Times Bix 7 participants searching for a way to cool off. Doug Daggett found the perfect method after finishing the race.

Larry Fisher/QUAD CITY TIMES

16,521 run and walk to the QCT Bix 7 beat

The Quad-City Times Bix 7 celebrated its 16th birthday Saturday with a record number of runners and walkers and two-first time winners.

Steve Kogo, running in his first Bix, won the men's division with a time of 32:47.

Maria Trujillo, running in her second Bix, won the women's division with a time of 37:58.

And the amazing John Campbell dominated the masters division, easily outdistancing sentimental favorite Bill Rodgers.

Inside this special souvenir section you'll find the names and times of every Bix finisher, plus stories and pictures about Bix participants, volunteers and fans.

Spiderman didn't have any walls to climb Saturday — just a lot of hills.

James Feklad of Davenport walked the Quad-City Times 5K clad in a Spiderman costume.

"It's really hot in here — gosh, I didn't know it would be this hot in here," Feklad said as sweat poured out the openings of his heavy costume.

"I'm walking this race because this race symbolizes the Quad Cities coming together," Feklad said. "We are no longer five hickering suburbs, but one large metropolitan area. I've been dressing up like Spiderman for 15 years, but this is the first time I've done the 5K."

Ten-year-old Joe Possley of Erie, Ill., was among the first group of people downtown on Sunday for the annual Quad-Times Run.

"I guess I got up at about 'til five this morning," said Possley, scratching his head. "I didn't even hear the alarm clock."

Joe, the son of Tim and Loretta Possley of Erie, Ill., was one of 1,000 volunteers who helped

Clark Kaufman, QUAD CITY TIMES

It takes more than a can of spinach to get up that hill

Every year, it's something different. Three years ago, they walked the Bix as the Fruit of the Loom fruits. Two years ago, they came as Mickey and Minnie Mouse. Last year they were a bowling ball and a set of pins. This year they strolled up the Corben, as the poverty-stricken but eternally hungry Wimpy, walked the seven-mile course with a plate of cheeseburger in his hand. The group's costumes were made by Jane Johnson of North Henderson, Ill., and Michelle Wessels, of Rio, Ill. They were sponsored by the city of Galeburg, the Village Pub and Gig's in Alexis.

Holly and Carri Rankin, of Pleasant Valley, are newcomers to the Quad-City Times
