U.S. DISTRICT COURT

ABERDEEN, SO

Good morning, Judge.

Attached is the transcript you requested from the exchange you had on the record with Steve Houghtaling. I did not put a title page or certificate page on it. If you want me to add those things, let me know. I also have not filed it anywhere – not sure exactly where that would be.

Have a good day.

Connie Heckenlaible Official Court Reporter 225 S Pierre, #217 Pierre SD 57501 (605) 945-4627

May 10, 2021

(In open court at 2:26 p.m.)

MR. MAHER: Judge, could I have access to the record?

THE COURT: I'll hear from Mr. Maher who's here on behalf of the Government.

MR. MAHER: Your Honor, I'm flummoxed -- I'm sorry.

Your Honor, I'm flummoxed. I just checked the Marshals' Office, and no one is back there. Court security gave me an ability to inspect and make sure no one was hurt or something back there. I couldn't find anybody back there. I don't know where anybody is.

THE COURT: I assume that they didn't talk to you about this?

MR. MAHER: No. No, and I left my cell phone across the street in my office right across -- I can go check it. I haven't talked to anybody about court not appearing today.

We obviously had one in custody at 12:30 and I expected to conduct the rest of the hearings today and tomorrow.

THE COURT: Yeah, Mr. Smith, I'm sure is in custody.

Travis Weasel may be. Maybe not the last one on a Social Security deal.

MR. MAHER: Ms. Hoffman is here to conduct the Holley case at 4 o'clock. I believe Juan Smith, Christopher Plenty Chief, and Travis Weasel are all in custody.

THE COURT: All right. I guess they're looking for a but we'll certainly do what we can do to get somebody up here to cover the hearings.

1
             MR. MAHER: And I'll stay the night, whatever works for 2
     you guys.
 3
             MR. TURNER: You were planning to stay the night 4 anyway -- 5
             MR. MAHER: I'll do whatever we need to do.
 6
             MR. TURNER: -- I'll let everybody back in Aberdeen know 7 so if you want to move those to tomorrow, I'll see if I can -- 8 we have someone available to come up and cover those, if that's 9
     what you want me to do.
             THE COURT: Well, we're going to hear from Steve 10
11
     Houghtaling here first.
12
             MR. TURNER: Okay.
13
             MR. MAHER: Randy, will you tell Annie we might be 14 moving that case up.
15
             MR. TURNER: She -- she and I have already talked about 16
     it.
17
             MR. MAHER: Okay. Thank you.
             (Discussion off the record. Phone call to Chief Deputy 18
19
     United States Marshal Steve Houghtaling made.) 20
             THE CLERK: Steve?
21
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes.
22
             THE CLERK: We're in the courtroom right now with the 23 parties present. Judge Kornmann is here.
24
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Hi, Judge. Good afternoon.
25
             THE COURT: Yes, hi.

Did you order the marshals to remove the prisoners who were here pursuant to a court order?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Your Honor, with the exclusion of our deputy from the courtroom, we cannot safely provide the level of security we need for -- to proceed with court proceedings. Our policy requires deputy marshals in the courtroom. And I cannot achieve that without -- without deputies physically being in the courtroom during court proceedings.

THE COURT: You had a deputy here who was fully vaccinated so I don't believe that statement.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: I don't know his vaccination status for sure, Judge. All I know is our deputy, I was informed, was told to leave the courtroom.

THE COURT: That's correct.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: So with that, Judge, we need to be able to have deputies perform the court security function.

THE COURT: You had a deputy here. And he was in the courtroom and handled the hearing.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Are you referring to Mr. Kolb by chance? Scott Kolb?

THE COURT: I don't know his name, I'm sorry.

THE CLERK: Steve, I believe the reference is to the what I'm going to call as the guard that the Marshals Service uses up here.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yep. So, Judge, Mr. Kolb is a part-time employee of ours. You have probably seen him for some time -- he has worked with us for years and years -- as long as I've been in the District. But he alone does not meet our national policy to staff court proceedings. We can have the deputy marshal in addition to Mr. Kolb, but we cannot just have Mr. Kolb staffing a court proceeding with no deputy marshals, Your Honor.

THE COURT: Let me ask you this. Did you make the decision to order them to remove the prisoners?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: The Marshals Service made the decision, Your Honor, yes.

THE COURT: Who -- who in the Marshals Service did that?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: It was the U.S. Marshal for the District and I believe in consultation with our headquarters.

THE COURT: Without any consultation with the Court?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: No, Your Honor. I did attempt to call Ms. Paepke earlier and she advised you were in court. But based on -- based on the exclusion, we don't have much of a choice. We cannot safely move forward with the court proceedings, Judge, at this point.

THE COURT: Are you aware of the fact that the Marshal sent me an email probably two weeks ago inquiring what the policy was and I emailed him back and told him that no employees, including U.S. marshals, who were not vaccinated -- fully vaccinated would be in the courtroom or my chambers.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: I am aware, Judge, yes. The Marshals Service, I could tell you, has taken a position and responded to Chief Judge Lange this morning that the Marshals Service employees do not have to disclose their vaccination status to third parties, including the Court.

That's the position of the Marshals Service at the national level, which was -- which came in response to Judge Lange's letter that he sent last week, Judge, which I think you're familiar with.

THE COURT: Yes. Well --

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: So our headquarters responded today with the guidance that Marshals Service personnel do not have to give their vaccination status to third parties, including the federal judiciary.

THE COURT: The Administrative Office of the U.S.

Courts says that's wrong. So I guess we have a direct confrontation between the Marshals Service and the Administrative Office, as well as all of the federal judges in South Dakota.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Right, Judge. That's the last thing -- the absolute last thing I would wish for.

25

Judge.

THE COURT: Well, we have counsel here from both sides today ready to go.

The first question I'd have is why didn't the Marshal advise me of this when I told him what the policy was at least two weeks ago in writing?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, sir. So the position -- again, the position of the Marshals Service is the vaccination status of our employees is something that should -- should remain their business and is -- they are not -- they were advised to not share vaccination status if they do not feel comfortable doing so based on the position of our agency.

THE COURT: My question was, why didn't the Marshal tell me that two weeks ago?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Because we just received -we just received the guidance this morning, Judge, on the -based on Judge Lange's letter from last week, we received the guidance this morning from chief of staff, who responded to Judge Lange.

So the first I had read of it was this morning when Judge Lange received it, I believe, or shortly thereafter.

THE COURT: Okay.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: But that being said, I can certainly visit with the Marshal. Unless there is a -- a change in the position of the Court to facilitate hearings this afternoon with the staff we have available, I don't know -- I don't know where we go from here.

THE COURT: Are you saying that you will not produce the prisoners for the hearings set for tomorrow?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Well, the problem, Judge, is the staff that is up there today is the staff that was going to -- were scheduled to staff tomorrow's court as they were going to overnight in Aberdeen. It's the same staff. So if they are excluded, then I don't believe -- we don't have any other way of staffing the court, Judge.

THE COURT: Yes or no, are you going to produce the prisoners tomorrow or not?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: I will have to visit with some other people before I can completely answer that, but I can tell you, based on where I believe we are at now with staffing, that the two deputies that are in Aberdeen today are the two that are scheduled to staff court tomorrow morning. But if I send other deputies, I don't think that solves the problem, Judge.

THE COURT: It does if they've been fully vaccinated.

They can twiddle their thumbs in Sioux Falls if they want to, I don't care, but they're not coming into the courtroom here or into my chambers.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Well, we circle back then to the underlying vaccination status question. The Marshals Service has taken the position that Marshals Service employees do not have to provide their vaccination status to the court. So I think we're -- we end up in this same stalemate. If there are other -- even if there are other deputies and they don't reveal their vaccination status, then we are right back to square one.

THE COURT: You're saying that you have the authority to decide whether an employee is going to disclose that? How does that become your right as the employer?

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: No, Your Honor. I believe I'm saying that the individual has the right whether they want to disclose that. In fact, I don't know which of our employees have been vaccinated or not vaccinated.

THE COURT: Okay. I'd like some kind of a definitive answer as to whether or not you're going to produce the prisoners tomorrow so we can have these hearings, which have been previously ordered by the Court.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, Your Honor.

THE COURT: You're tying up a lot of lawyers as well -- as well as the court personnel and keeping people in custody longer than they should be probably.

All right. Well, I will deal with it. Thank you for calling.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, sir. I provided Barb with my cell phone number if you need to visit and I will be in touch with any updates that I have as I receive them.

1
             THE COURT: Yeah, you can call my office any time, of 2 course.
 3
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, sir.
                                                    Thanks, Judge.
 4
             THE COURT: All right. Thank you.
 5
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING:
                                         Thank you.
 6
              (Phone call ended.)
 7
             THE COURT: Well, you may have some extra business, Mr.
 8
      Maher.
 9
             MR. MAHER: I understand. I knew, as an officer of the court and a member of federal bar, that when you asked about my 10 11 vaccination status if I was going to be appearing here that I 12 was in a unique situation and quickly decided on April 7th to inform the Court that I was vaccinated so I didn't run into a 13
14
      log jam.
15
             After we did the 12:30 hearing today, I thought it was 16 going to be clear sailing and we were going to handle all of 17 the court. I'm kind of flummoxed right now and I'm not 18 understanding how we can't get some of these people into court 19
      and resolve their cases with their attorneys, including Mr.
20
     Reed, who I believe drove here from Sioux Falls.
21
             THE COURT: Yes, that's true. It's, if nothing else, 22 highly discourteous. Contempt of court, probably.
23
             As I stated in the conversation with Mr. Houghtaling, 24
     the Administrative Office of the United States Court said there 25 is no basis for any Marshals Service employee to refuse to disclose whether or not they have been vaccinated. Now, what the consequences of that might be is an entirely different matter.

SKYLER GALLIMORE: Excuse me, Judge.

One possibility, Judge, Barb and I just discussed is we could put the defendants in the video conference room downstairs.

THE COURT: You can do what, I'm sorry?

SKYLER GALLIMORE: We can put the defendants in the video conference room downstairs and they could appear by video from somewhere else in the courthouse.

THE COURT: Well, even if they're -- who are they in custody with then?

SKYLER GALLIMORE: Oh, the marshals, they just wouldn't be in the courtroom. They would also be with the defendant downstairs.

THE COURT: Yeah, okay. Well, I wouldn't have any objection to that. I'm not trying to make things difficult for anybody. But I'm going to make sure that the courts run the courts, not the Marshals Service or some bureaucrat from Washington, D.C.

I have not talked with Judge Lange about this or Judge Piersol or Judge Schreier or Judge Viken. But we have a conference call set for tomorrow night and I am absolutely positive that all the judges are going to agree that this is

1 the way it's going to work. If you're not vaccinated, you don't come in the courtroom and you don't come into chambers. 2 3 Whether we can do that or not, if they want to find out 4 from the Court of Appeals, we'll give them a map to St. Louis. MR. MAHER: Your Honor, I'm just trying to figure out 5 6 what cases we can work through right now. I see both attorneys 7 are here on the 4 o'clock case. I don't know if Marilyn Holley 8 is present. 9 MR. TURNER: She is. I need a little time to work with 10 her. I wasn't expecting to have that until 4. 11 I will tell you that she traveled with someone and the 12 person she traveled with has been vaccinated; my client has not 13 yet. But Texas is a little different than South Dakota. 14 THE COURT: Yes, for sure. Well, not much though. 15 MR. TURNER: But I want the Court to be aware of that. 16 I mean, she had no idea that -- I mean, I don't know if she 17 could have gotten it by now or not. 18 THE CLERK: We're going to get Steve Houghtaling back 19 on the phone. 20 And Judge, I did ask him if he would be agreeable to 21 having the marshals bring the defendants down to third floor to 22 the video conference room. 23 THE COURT: Right. 24 THE CLERK: And he said yes, he thought so. So we'll 25 get him back on the phone.

             THE COURT: Okay.
 2
              (Phone call to Chief Deputy United States Marshal Steve 3 Houghtaling made.)
 4
             SKYLER GALLIMORE: Are you with us, Steve?
 5
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, I'm with you.
 6
             THE COURT: Skyler, why don't you tell him what you 7
     have proposed.
 8
             SKYLER GALLIMORE: Yes, sir.
 9
             So we have video conference capability in the third 10 floor of the courthouse and so we were thinking we could have 11
      the defendants with the marshals down in another room far away 12 from the courtroom and then we could appear -- have the 13 defendants appear by video -- 14
             THE COURT: With their consent.
15
             SKYLER GALLIMORE: Are you still with us, Steve?
16
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: I'm sorry. Can you hear me?
17
             SKYLER GALLIMORE: No, we couldn't hear you. If you 18 had responded, we could not hear you.
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Oh, okay. I apologize.
19 20
             Is the question whether the Marshals Service can accommodate a third floor appearance?
21
22
             THE COURT: Yes.
23
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, I believe that is a 24 workable solution.
25
             THE COURT: Not a permanent one, but a partial solution

at this time.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, Judge, I agree.

THE COURT: I mean, this is going to be a major confrontation. So stand by for a ram. And if the Court of Appeals says I'm wrong, it wouldn't be the first time.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: That's right, Judge. I recall often you saying that you're not wrong until the Eighth Circuit tells you you're wrong.

THE COURT: That's right.

CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: But, I -- Judge, I just want to be so clear, this is not something I want or the agency wants. I mean, we're just between a rock and a hard place. I do not want confrontation. In fact, I want the opposite of that. I want -- would prefer the relationship that we have enjoyed over the years instead of this.

THE COURT: I understand. And I'm not looking for a confrontation either, of course, but that's what I have here.

As I told you, the Administrative Office of the United States Courts -- they don't run the courts, of course, but these are bureaucrats in Washington, D.C. -- have told the District Judges that the Marshals Service has no authority to order or to allow employees to not disclose whether or not they have been fully vaccinated. The Administrative Office says employees have no right to decline to answer such a question. So that's their opinion, which is completely contrary apparently to somebody from the Marshals Service.

1
 2
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, sir. Yep. And my -- I 3 maybe have misspoken so I don't want to be held to this, but my 4 understanding of the AOUSC guidance is that applies to court 5 staff members, Judge, members of the judicial branch, but not to the Marshals Service or the Department of Justice as a 6 7
     whole -- U.S. Attorney's Office, and otherwise.
 8
             THE COURT: I don't believe that's correct. I have the 9 document some place.
10
             THE CLERK: Steve, is it possible to get the defendants 11 for this afternoon back to the federal building?
12
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, I can make some phone 13 calls as soon as I hang up.
14
             THE CLERK: Okay. Thank you.
15
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Okay. Does that -- is that 16 the plan then to get them there and proceed with court on the 17
     third floor?
18
             THE COURT: Yes, as a temporary basis.
19
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: Yes, Judge. Okay.
20 you, I will --
21
             THE COURT:
                         Thank you.
22
             CHIEF DEPUTY HOUGHTALING: -- make some calls right 23
     now. Thanks.
24
25
```

1
              THE COURT: Tim, you should make sure that -- is Dennis the Acting U.S. Attorney, I think, isn't he?
 2
 3
              MR. MAHER:
                         Yes.
 4
              THE COURT: That he's aware of what's going on here.
 5
      I'm sure he will be.
              MR. MAHER: I will inform him today as soon as I get to 6 7
     my phone across the street.
 8
              MR. TURNER: I can certainly let you borrow a phone
