Projects to Consider Doing Before Moving In

It may be best for homeowners to complete several home interior projects while the residence is still empty.

The day homeowners move into a new home is a unique experience. First-time home buyers may see such a day as the culmination of years of hard work, while those who are not new to the experience may find their new home is where they'll spend the rest of their lives.

Move-in day is indeed a notable milestone, but there's much homeowners can do between closing on a home and backing the moving truck into the driveway. In fact, it may be best for homeowners to complete several home interior projects while the residence is still empty.

Painting
Painting home interiors is among the more logical projects to consider before moving into a home. Simply put, an empty home is far easier to paint than one filled with furniture and other items. Professional painters may even discount a project if they know they won't have to cover and/or move any furniture before and after applying paint. Painting before anyone has moved in also saves residents the discomfort of living in a home overcome by the lingering aroma of drying paint. Simply open the windows and let the home air out throughout each painting session.

Flooring
Flooring projects are another undertaking to consider before moving in. Whether you're tearing up old carpet and replacing it with new carpet, refinishing wood floors, or installing a wholly new floor, each task is considerably easier if there is nothing on the floor. Flooring projects are best left to the professionals, and labor costs may drop considerably if contractors don't have to pause to move furnishings or work around other items.

Deep cleaning
A professional cleaning service should be among the first calls homeowners make after closing on a new home. A deep cleaning when the home is empty and all lingering dust and debris is visible to the naked eye can ensure no spots are missed before move-in day. Request that the cleaning service clean the interior of kitchen drawers and cabinets, which have a tendency to accumulate grime over the years.

Electrical work
Modern homes are plugged in, so addressing electrical issues prior to move-in day can ensure there are no interruptions to internet connectivity when everyone begins to settle into the home. This is also a great time to install additional electrical outlets, and homeowners are urged to take the time to draw up plans for how each room will look once all of their furniture is in the house. Doing so can identify where additional outlets should be installed. Homeowners also can visit their new home at night and turn on the lights to see if existing fixtures provide ample illumination. If not, installing new fixtures prior to moving in makes cleanup easier and ensures there are no dark nights once everyone is in the home.

Ceilings
Replacing ceilings prior to moving in is another savvy move. If the ceilings are dated or unsightly, removing, repainting or replacing them before anything is beneath them is a great way to protect valuables from damage. And contractors may not need as much time to complete such a project in empty rooms as they would in spaces where they need to negotiate their way around furniture and other valuables.

Various renovation projects can be conducted prior to moving into a new home. Such an approach can save both money and effort.

Open concept floor plans may be losing appeal.

According to the design experts with Martha Stewart, open floor plans are giving way to a rise in separate spaces. Older homes with many rooms featured considerably less square footage than modern properties. According to Madeline Merin, a New York-based designer, the average size of a home in the United States has doubled from 1,000 square feet in 1950 to 2,300 square feet now. Instead of taking down walls, which is often done to make small homes seem more spacious, owners of larger homes are looking to delineate between rooms to help homes feel more cozy. The global pandemic led some homeowners to rethink the rooms in their homes when many were forced to cohabitate around-the-clock. Many would now rather see a return to defined gathering spaces and areas where residents can retreat for some privacy and personal time. Furthermore, Taylor Hill of Taylor Hill Interior Design says that some homeowners are increasingly appreciative of walls for their architectural appeal and not just for their utility in separating spaces.

Fan the Flames of Fireplace Knowledge

Providing the cozy comfort and aesthetic appeal that many desire, a fireplace is a feature you may want to consider adding to your home.

Electric fireplaces are easy to install and operate. The Spruce says most electric fireplaces are mounted on the wall and plugged into a standard outlet. Some also are portable and thus can be moved from room to room depending on need. A notable drawback of an electric fireplace for some is that such fixtures do not have a real flame, which some believe adversely affects their aesthetic appeal. Also, electric fireplaces will not be helpful during a power outage and do not produce the same amount of heat as other fireplaces. Ethanol fireplaces are a relatively new invention that are lightweight and can be moved as needed. Smaller versions can be placed on a tabletop, while others can be built into a wall as permanent fixtures. Again, these produce less heat than other fireplace options, but the fuel required to use them can be more expensive than gas, wood or electricity.

Fireplaces have been featured in homes for centuries. Although their function may have shifted through the years from a necessity that provides light and heat to a device that is more a design focal point, fireplaces are still popular among homeowners.

Providing the cozy comfort and aesthetic appeal that many desire, fireplaces are features individuals may want to add to their homes or upgrade if existing fixtures are showing their age. Before getting started, it's important to realize that fireplaces are not all one and the same. Shopping for a fireplace can be a little confusing, but this guide can help homeowners navigate fireplace installation.

The Spruce says there are four main types of fireplaces: wood-burning, gas, electric, and ethanol. The type of fireplace homeowners choose will affect the initial installation cost, the long-term cost of operation and even the utility of the feature. Better Homes & Gardens says direct-vent gas fireplaces are among the easiest to install. They can be on any exterior wall and will vent directly out the back of the fireplace units. Another advantage of this type of gas fireplace is that it can start with the flip of a switch rather than a match. There also are B-vent gas appliances and ventless units that combust the interior air.

Most people imagine a wood-burning fireplace when they conjure images of a roaring fire. Wood fireplaces offer the crackling sounds of a fire and the smell of burning wood. Wood fireplaces can be expensive and require more extensive installation, particularly because a homeowner needs a space above the fireplace to install a chimney through the roof. In a two-story home, that reality may limit where a fireplace can be installed. A wood fireplace requires a brick or stone firebox to be installed as well. Wood-burning fireplaces also can be dangerous if they are not installed correctly or properly maintained.

Fireplace installation is best left to a professional. If gas lines need to be routed, fireboxes and chimneys must be built, or proper venting has to be installed, such complex work should be left to those with experience to ensure efficiency and safety.

Home Interior Trends That Are on the Rise

Trends that seem ubiquitous one day can seemingly vanish before the sun rises again just 24 hours later. That’s especially true in the digital age, when overnight celebrities and viral videos can be on the tips of everyone’s tongue before being forgotten entirely when the next online sensation emerges in an increasingly rapid news cycle. Home trends typically benefit from a longer shelf life than viral videos and other fads that originate on the internet, and that’s something renovation-minded homeowners should consider when improving their homes. Homeowners preparing to do just that can consider these notable trends, which the online renovation experts at Houzz suggest will be particularly popular in the year ahead.

- Rounded furnishings: Houzz noted that gentle curves and rounded edges embody the organic modern styles that many current homeowners love. Rounded dining tables and similarly circular coffee tables may merit consideration among homeowners who want to embrace popular trends.
- Arches: Houzz cites arches among the more popular modern trends, and the experts at Better Homes & Gardens note this unique, eye-catching style has been gaining popularity for several years. Better Homes & Gardens suggests that part of the appeal of arched doorways could be their deviation from a more traditional door shape. That uniqueness draws the attention of residents and visitors alike, and Houzz notes that arched windows, cabinets and even millwork details are part of the pivot toward arches.

Homeowners can consider these notable trends, which the online renovation experts at Houzz suggest will be particularly popular in the year ahead.

- Stove alcoves: If it’s a touch of history homeowners want, kitchen range alcoves might be just the project for them. Range alcoves call an earlier time to mind when wood burning stoves were commonplace. The report from Houzz notes range alcoves immediately draw attention, which undoubtedly adds to their appeal.

- Wood for warmth: Homeowners who hear “wood and warmth” might think fireplaces, but Houzz reports that wood elements are being incorporated into interior designs as a means to giving homes a more cozy vibe. Ceiling beams, trim, wall paneling, and cabinetry are utilizing wood to add warmth to a home.

Trends come and go, but home trends typically have more staying power than styles that emerge in other arenas. Homeowners who want to upgrade their home interiors can consider the latest trends and choose those that align with their own personal tastes.

BY JENNIFER COATES

When you have been in business for nearly thirty-five years, you know what it means to have “staying power”. You know that shoddy workmanship, poor customer service, and a general lack of professionalism just don’t cut it in the competitive world of auto repair work. You know it takes honesty, integrity, knowledge, experience, expediency, reliability, hard work, and a commitment to excellence in order to survive.

These are the very attributes that have been associated with Rob George and his crew at Quaker Transmissions, a repair shop in West Warwick that has withstood the test of time and history since it first opened in 1990. Rob George, the owner of Quaker Transmissions, is known for his technical expertise as well as the loyalty he has shown his customers for over three decades. With all the other repair shops on the map, these qualities matter.

It is not uncommon to hear glowing reviews about the work here from new and former customers, including this comment from Paul R.: “I would like to express my appreciation for the job well done on my transmission. I appreciate your professionalism and high standard of work in this industry. If I ever know someone who needs transmission work done, I will be sure to give my highest recommendation to all the employees at Quaker Transmissions.”

Rob also regularly receives “five-star reviews” for their work. Rob T. writes: “Quaker Transmissions rebuilt the dying transmission in my new/used Suburban. The result was a better-than-new, internally upgraded transmission that functions flawlessly.

This has been a familiar sight on Tiogue Avenue in West Warwick for generations. If you have troublesome care problems this winter, or just want to prevent future ones, visit Quaker Transmissions or call them today at 401-826-2800.

Very satisfied customer!”

When you are looking for honest, knowledgeable service for your vehicle, specializing in transmission, clutch, and drive train repair, Quaker Transmissions should be your first call. Rob and his talented team of technicians will tackle most any job on most any vehicle, from your vintage automobiles to the high-tech vehicles on the market today. They handle all automatic and manual transmissions and provide the ever-important preventive maintenance work to extend the life of your transmission. Quaker Transmissions offers free road tests and estimates on most cars (a minimal labor cost is involved if the transmission must be removed from the vehicle). They also welcome extended warranties, handle fleet maintenance accounts, and are available for towing.

Many who need the vital upkeep and repairs on their transmissions often postpone the necessary work on their vehicles because of the perceived expense. Quaker Transmissions offers financing. Do not wait until you are facing a crisis. Call and speak with office manager Barbara George to explore your options.

The crew here are all licensed and insured, and marine transmission services are provided as well! Drop-off for cars and free phone estimates are available.

Quaker Transmissions is located at 67 Tiogue Avenue, Route 3, in West Warwick. Hours are Monday to Friday, 8:00a.m.- 5:00p.m., closed on Saturdays. Quaker Transmissions can be reached at 401-826-2800. To learn more, visit their informative website at www.quakertransmissions.com.

Entertainment & Events

• It is illegal to publish photographs of handcuffed suspects in France, as they're not to appear guilty until actually proved so.

• The word "king" in a snake's name indicates that it preys on other snakes.

• St. Lucia is the only country in the world named after a woman. Originally called the Island of the Iguanas by early Carib settlers, the name was later changed after French seamen were shipwrecked there on Dec. 13, the feast day of St. Lucy.

• More than four tons of old U.S. paper money is mulched into compost every day.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

• Studies have shown that spending only a few minutes every day in the New York City subway system can ultimately result in hearing loss.

• When you snap your finger, it moves at about 20 mph.

• A bobsled is so named because early racers bobbed their heads back and forth in an attempt to gain speed. (It didn't work.)

• The annual World's Biggest Liar competition in Cumbria, England, invites entrants from around the world to tell the biggest and most convincing lie they can muster in five minutes. No props or scripts are allowed, nor are politicians or lawyers permitted to compete, as "they are judged to be too skilled at telling porkies."

• Cockroaches are so repulsed by humans that if they're touched by a human, not only do they run away, but they wash themselves. (Personal to cockroaches: The feeling is mutual!)

• Bananas are curved because they grow toward the sun, in a process called "negative geotropism."

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A long-forgotten promise is recalled. It's not too late to follow up on it. You might find a pleasant surprise waiting. Meanwhile, see a doctor about a pesky health problem.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The best way to get over a personal disappointment is to get out, meet old friends, and make new ones! One of those new friends could very well become a special person in your life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A chance to invest comes with some strings attached that could cause economic problems later on. Be careful. Cupid favors romantic possibilities with a loving Libra or a passionate Pisces.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A simple problem threatens to turn into a legal showdown unless it's cleared up soon. Wishing it away won't help. In addition, a telephone call could lead to a change in travel plans.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A close friend who suddenly becomes remote is in need of your warm reassurance. Give it generously. Meanwhile, a misunderstanding on the job creates the potential for future problems. Settle it quickly.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Career advancement involves the need for added training. The investment of your time and effort will pay off. In other news, some stormy personal situations begin to calm down.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Scale back on your grandiose schemes for a while. Neither the time nor the circumstances are right to make the huge financial investment needed to see the matter through. A Gemini has romance on the mind.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You could soon face a fascinating dilemma: Do you continue seeing a very special person who is currently in your life or renew a relationship with another person who will suddenly return from your past?

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Financial problems need your attention. It's a good idea to cut back on unnecessary expenses until these money matters are under control. Then go out and have a great time!

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) What you may now see as a good reason to end a relationship could turn out to be based more on supposition than substance. Don't make any rash decisions.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Change is the watchword for this week. Some Aquarians will be moving to new places while others will be taking new career paths. Steer clear of a family dispute.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Be prepared for a romantic disappointment to become a fading memory with the arrival of a new love -- possibly a Gemini. Meanwhile, talk to someone you trust about developing your idea into a marketable product.

SPACE FACTS

by Jason Major

A "black hole" is neither black nor a hole— it's an object (like the super-dense core of a massive star that exploded) that contains so much matter its gravity holds in anything close enough to it—including light. Even with powerful telescopes we can only observe the radiation coming from the area around a black hole, not the object itself!
