

Trump's entry-ban order

President Trump's executive order bans entry to the United States from refugees and legal residents, including those with green cards, from seven mostly Muslim countries.

Previous refugee entries

Before the president's entry ban, the United States admitted more than 335,000 refugees between fiscal years 2001 and 2016 from the seven countries affected by the restriction.

