New mayor in town

Brandon Micheal Hall stars in "The Mayor"

When rapper Courtney Rose (Brandon Micheal Hall, "Search Party") runs for office in an effort to promote his music, he's shocked when he actually wins in the premiere of "The Mayor," airing Tuesday, Oct. 3, on ABC. Lea Michele ("Glee") co-stars as his new chief of staff, while Yvette Nicole Brown ("Community") plays his supportive mother.

Rapper runs for office and wins in ABC's 'The Mayor'

By Kyla Brewer TV Media

Political comedy has always had its place in prime time, but one new ABC sitcom is putting an optimistic spin on the genre by looking at what happens when an unlikely but hopeful candidate ends up in a position of power.

Desperate to promote his music, 20-something aspiring rapper Courtney Rose (Brandon Micheal Hall, "Search Party") decides to run for office in the small California town of Fort Grey in "The Mayor," premiering Tuesday, Oct. 3, on ABC. No one is more surprised than he is when he actually wins the election, making for one of the biggest political upsets in the area's history.

What began as a publicity stunt results in a massive opportunity, and he recognizes that he now has the potential to make a big difference in the lives of his fellow citizens. Suddenly, he understands that he has the power to do something about the very things he's been rapping about. Under the guidance of his supportive mama, Dina Rose (Yvette Nicole Brown, "Community"), he accepts the position and gets to work.

In a promo for the series, Hall explained his character's motivation: "He has a passion for music, but he also has an understanding that something needs to be changed within his community," he said.

Luckily, he has some help as he struggles to make the real changes necessary to improve the lives of Fort Grey's citizens. Along with his mother, who keeps a close watch on him and his administration, he's coached by Valentina Barella (Lea Michele, "Glee"), former campaign manager for his rival, Ed Gunt (David Spade, "Saturday Night Live"). She offers to serve as Rose's chief of staff when she realizes he truly wants to have a positive impact, but she'll accept nothing less than his very best.

Rose also enlists the help of his bumbling but lovable best friends, Jermaine Leforge (Bernard David Jones, "Meet the Browns") and T.K. Carter (newcomer Marcel Spears). Leforge is a smooth operator and Carter is a sensitive sweetheart, but both of Rose's buddies have his back as he sets out to make the town the best it can be.

As he transitions from making music in his junk-filled bedroom closet to making major changes in the mayor's office, he discovers he's actually really good at his new job. It turns out that the same outspoken optimism and charisma that got him elected in the first place help him break through red tape and change the world, or at least the town, even though he's never actually had a full-time job before.

While it may seem like a goofy premise to staunch political satirists, "The Mayor" shows promise as a series that could inspire others to do good in their neighborhoods as the rookie mayor pushes for positive change despite his lack of experience in politics. Created by Emmy nominee Jeremy Bronson ("The Mindy Project"), the series has had industry pundits buzzing since it was announced in January.

According to Bronson, the show was inspired by Chance the Rapper and Broadway actor Daveed Diggs, who won both a Grammy and Tony for his role as Marquis de Lafayette/Thomas Jefferson in the hit musical "Hamilton." Diggs serves as an executive producer for "The Mayor" and also writes original music for the show, including some of the raps, which are performed by Hall. No plans have been announced for Diggs to appear on screen in the series.

Shortly after news of the pilot deal broke, Hall was cast in the lead role. While he'll be a fresh face to many TV viewers, he has an impressive resume. Since graduating from The Juilliard School, he's appeared in such series as "Unforgettable," "Broad City" and "Search Party," and will be seen on the big screen

Within a month of Hall's casting, "Glee" fans cheered for Michele, who'd been cast as his co-star, playing the same kind of ambitious female that endeared her to millions during her time in Fox's musical series "Glee." Her character in "The Mayor" helps Rose make his unconventional ideas a reality, thanks to her straitlaced style and extensive knowledge of the municipal political system.

When Yvette Nicole Brown joined the cast as Rose's mother, the news sent her fans into a frenzy, as she was still a cast member in CBS's "The Odd Couple" revival, which has since been cancelled. It's interesting to note that Brown had been cast in "The Odd Couple" while still tied to NBC's quirky cult comedy hit "Community." The popular actress has made a big impression on "The Mayor's" producers — Diggs has praised her as the "heart of the show."

"SNL" alum David Spade will continue his role as Gunt in a recurring capacity throughout the season.

The talented cast, experienced writing staff and even a Broadway star give serious weight to the lighthearted political comedy in the vein of such classic series as "Spin City" and "Benson," and HBO's current hit "Veep." Watch as rapper Rose struggles to overcome his inexperience and rise to the occasion to help his community in the premiere of "The Mayor," airing Tuesday, Oct. 3, on ABC.

Johnny Depp stars in "Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Men Tell No Tales"

Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Men Tell No Tales

When the undead Capt. Salazar (Bardem) and his equally unliving crew are freed from the legendary Devil's Triangle, he sets sail to get revenge on the man who tricked him into his fate: Capt. Jack Sparrow (Depp). Meanwhile, Sparrow teams up with his former enemy, Capt. Barbossa (Rush), the young Henry Turner (Thwaites) and the studious Carina Smvth (Scodelario) to track down the legendary Trident of Poseidon, an artifact with the power to remove the powerful curse that has afflicted Henry's father, William (Bloom). Directors: Joachim Rønning, Espen Sandberg. Stars: Johnny Depp, Javier Bardem. 2017. 129 min. Action.

The Layover

Best friends Meg (Upton) and Kate (Daddario) are both stressed out with their jobs and stuck in dead ends with their love lives. On Meg's suggestion, they board a flight for a vacation in Florida, and end up seated next to Ryan (Barr), a charming and handsome man on his way to a wedding. When a storm forces a layover in St. Louis, the two best friends use the opportunity to compete for Ryan's affections, driving themselves to more and more desperate measures to get their chance with the man before they go their separate ways.

Paused, not curbed

'Curb Your Enthusiasm' returns from a long hiatus

By Andrew Warren

TV Media

Paused, not curbed: Don't keep that enthusiasm clamped down: embrace it. HBO's "Curb Your Enthusiasm" is back from a six-year hiatus, with its ninth season returning Sunday, Oct. 1.

The comedy went on an indefinite hiatus after its eighth season wrapped up in 2011 but was never officially canceled — a fate that, for many shows, winds up being no different than an official cancellation. Not so for the Larry David-helmed series, for which "hiatus" actually meant — well — hiatus.

Comedian David ("Fridays"), who co-created the '90s hit "Seinfeld," returns to star as a fictionalized version of himself navigating the minutiae of day-to-day life. Cheryl Hines ("Suburgatory") stars as David's wife, Cheryl, and Jeff Garlin ("The Goldbergs") as his manager, Jeff. Beyond the core stars, though, it's the guest stars that really make the show — "Curb Your Enthusi-

This season has a strong lineup ready to go. Jimmy Kimmel ("Jimmy Kimmel Live!"), Nick Offerman ("Parks and Recreation"), Elizabeth Banks ("The Hunger Games," 2012), Lauren Graham ("Gilmore Girls"), Carrie Brownstein ("Portlandia"), Ed Begley Jr. ("St. Elsewhere"), Elizabeth

Unlike a traditional sitcom, "Curb Your Enthusiasm" doesn't use a strict script in the traditional sense. Instead, David writes an outline of the scenes and plot and the actors improvise much of their dialogue. It's an unconventional formula that has won the series a huge fan base and buckets of accolades: the critically acclaimed series has been nominated for 39 Emmys over the years, winning two.

Perkins ("Weeds") and Nasim Pe-

drad ("New Girl") all have laugh-out-loud roles this season.

"Curb Your Enthusiasm" may have been on hiatus for six long years, but it wasn't curbed — only paused. The new season premieres Sunday, Oct. 1 on HBO.

The truth is funny: Stop me if you've heard this one before. An agent with a skeptical mind and a belief that all things paranormal can be explained away by science and rationality is partnered with his polar opposite: a true believer, someone who relishes the unexplained and the unexplainable.

No, it isn't "The X-Files," although the description fits that show perfectly. Instead, it's "Ghosted," a new series that's a riff on the formula, premiering on "The X-Files'" home network, Fox, Sunday, Oct. 1.

Created by series stars Craig Robinson ("The Office") and Adam Scott ("Parks and Recreation"), with executive producer Tom Gormican, "Ghosted" features Robinson's Leroy Wright, a skeptic, get-> agency. Together they investigate paranormal activity in and around Los Angeles. Unlike "The X-Files," which takes its far-fetched subject matter rather seriously, "Ghosted" takes for "9JKL"), he plays a divorced actor in the series, but the experience of living so close to both his parents and his brother is true to life.

"9JKL" is a comedy ripped straight out of a real-life situation, and it premieres Monday, Oct. 2, on CBS. Q&A Hollywood

By Adam Thomlison TV Media

Q:Was "Footloose" a song before it was a movie, or was it written and released just for the film?

A: The fortunes of "Footloose" the movie (1984), starring a young Kevin Bacon, and "Footloose" the song are so tied together that it can be hard to remember which came first. But fortunately we have it from the mouth of Kenny Loggins himself, the writer and performer of the song — the man known in the '80s as "The Soundtrack King."

"One of my best friends, Dean Pitchford, wrote a screenplay that he called 'Footloose,' and he asked me if I would write a couple of songs for the screenplay," Loggins told none other than Oprah Winfrey in an interview on her show "Oprah: Where Are They Now?"

Loggins agreed to take the job, but didn't expect it to be a big deal — certainly not as big as the solo work he was known for at the time. "There was no way of predicting that 'Footloose' would be the biggest movie of the summer."

movie of the summer."
He'd already had a hit on the soundtrack to the 1980 comedy hit "Caddyshack," but getting two more from "Footloose" — his second single from the soundtrack, "I'm Free (Heaven Helps the Man)," hit the charts as well — cemented his legacy. Hit songs on the soundtracks for "Top Gun" (1986) and "Over the Top" (1987) followed, along with songs for several other films.

Though he had a successful solo career prior to "Caddy-shack," it was almost completely eclipsed by his film success — not that he minded. "It's not a bad thing to be known as 'The Soundtrack King," he told Winfrey.

A few years ago, the "Footloose" royalty checks started rolling in again, thanks to a remake of the film accompanied by a cover of the song by country star Blake Shelton.

He found an even more innovative way to keep the song alive last year when he released a children's book called "Footloose," about a bunch of zoo animals throwing a dance party (or "cutting footloose," as the lyrics would have it).

Q:What was the name of that movie from the '80s about a kid (I think it was Emilio Estevez) who has a one-night stand with a woman who turns out to be his friend's mom? I remember thinking it was funny at the time, but haven't seen it since.

A: The film you're thinking of is "Class," a forgotten brat-pack comedy from 1983. And you've got the wrong brat in the lead role: It was actually Andrew McCarthy.

You've got the plot right, though. A young private-school kid (McCarthy) goes on a wild night out, which ends in the bed of an older woman (played by the great film beauty Jacqueline Bisset), who unfortunately turns out to be his school roommate's mother. Awkward hijinks ensue.

The roommate was played by Rob Lowe, which certifies this as a brat-pack movie. The two are joined in the film by brat pack-adjacent stars John Cusack, his sister Joan, and Alan Ruck (who played best friend Cameron in 1986's "Ferris Bueller's Day Off").

The brat pack is mostly defined by a string of surprisingly heart-felt, enduring comedies in the mid '80s — namely "The Breakfast Club" (1985), "St. Elmo's Fire" (1985) and maybe 1986's "Pretty in Pink" (though that wasn't as much of an ensemble-cast movie). The term itself was coined in '85 as well, in a cover story in New York magazine. Thus, "Class" was a bit ahead of the trend, but it's certainly one of the films that made these young stars a "pack."

indeed, though there are only a few "classics" among their films, the reason the actors became known as a group is because they did so many together. There are piles of mostly forgotten titles that make the list. For example, Lowe's next picture after "Class" was "Oxford Blues" (1984), which co-starred fellow "St. Elmo's Fire" star Ally Sheedy and his brother, Chad Lowe ("Pretty Little Liars") (a brat-pack member by blood, at least). And Lowe's first post-'85 film was "About Last Night ..." (1986), costarring fellow brat (and "St. Elmo's" star) Demi Moore.

I also want to say congrats to Serena Williams, who just welcomed a baby girl! The doctor gave the baby to Serena, then Serena returned it, then the doctor sent it back, then Serena returned it again and won the point.

I read that a sailboat near Greece that was in distress was busted for carrying 1,500 pounds of marijuana. Actually the boat wasn't in distress; turns out it was just being paranoid.

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

Another hurricane, Irma, is bearing down on Florida. It's the largest Atlantic hurricane ever reported. Experts say it's the size of France. Hey! This is America! We measure things in Delawares.

Irma is a frighteningly intense storm, but don't worry, President Trump is tweeting at it. "Watching hurricane closely. My team, which has done — and is doing — such a good job in Texas, is already in Florida. No rest for the weary!" That's a really oddly casual way to describe exhausted first responders racing to save lives.

The Late Late Show With James Corden

The immigrants who have benefited from DACA are called Dreamers. Sessions explained that the kids will still be Dreamers, but in more of a "Nightmare on Elm Street" sort of way.

Donald Trump tweeted about the hurricane in an odd way today. He wrote on Twitter:

"Hurricane looks like the largest ever recorded in the Atlantic!" Who uses an exclamation point? How insecure is this guy that he even has to brag that his hurricanes are bigger than Obama's?

Jimmy Kimmel Live

A few months ago — it's a surprise — Trump said that those covered by DACA could "rest easy." That's when you know you're in trouble. It's like when Dracula tells you to relax and take off your scarf.

A Ghost Story

After dying in a car accident, a man's (Affleck) spirit remains as a ghost that haunts his old home, keeping an eye on his widowed wife (Mara). Time itself passes in unpredictable ways for the ghost, and when he sees his wife starting to move on with her life and date another man, he lashes out. As different families come and go from the house over the years, the boredom of being alone in a spirit realm where the living cannot see him begins to wear on him.

Director: David Lowery. Stars: Casey Affleck, Rooney Mara. 2017. 92 min. Drama.

By Kat Mulligan TV Media

'Root' of the matter: A nation's history is enriched by the diverse heritage of its people, so it's no surprise that "Finding Your Roots," which enters its fourth season Tuesday, Oct. 3, on PBS, continues to captivate audiences. Each episode is hosted by celebrated Harvard scholar, filmmaker and journalist Prof. Henry Louis Gates, Jr. ("The African Americans: Many Rivers to Cross"), and presents notable figures in popular and political culture with indepth research regarding their ancestry.

Large black albums become the road map by which Gates and his guests navigate their past. Both DNA and historical records have been painstakingly analyzed to uncover the joys and lows of their family history. Guests are also presented with a colorful, detailed family tree, which for some branches out centuries into the past and holds unexpected surprises and connections. The series has a reputation for confronting issues of race, religion and identity — areas season 4 continues to explore. Guests must confront what they have previously been told about their family tree and revisit the hardships of the past to better plan for their own future.

This season's guests include American politician and senator Bernie Sanders, comedian Amy Schumer ("Trainwreck," 2015), actors Scarlett Johansson ("Ghost in the Shell," 2017), Paul Rudd ("Ant-Man," 2015) and Ted Danson ("Cheers"), journalist Bryant Gumbel ("30 for 30"), director Ava DuVernay ("Selma," 2014) and more. They're just part of a slate of diverse, ever-evolving people who long to know the secrets held within their bloodlines.
