DANVERS HIGH SCHOOL

Class of 2020

2020 Falcons are a model for the community

To the Danvers High Class of 2020,

It is with great enthusiasm that we congratulate each of you on your upcoming graduation. Over the course of your four years with us, we have watched you grow into confident, capable students ready to take on the next phase of your lives. Whether it was in the classroom, on the stage or playing field, or taking part in academic activities, the way the Class of 2020 approached its work served as a model for our entire community.

When you think about your time at Danvers High School, we hope that it is filled with amazing memories. But we would be remiss if we did not acknowledge that it may not have always been easy either. Juggling academic demands, cocurricular opportunities and meaningful social relationships required you to prioritize and make decisions on how you spent your time. Whether it is on a college campus, in the military or as part of the workforce, you have the opportunity to bring these experiences and skills with you.

This spring has presented unprecedented challenges in how we educate students at DHS. While it isn't how any of us wanted to end our time together, please remember one thing ... regardless of where you go or what you do, you will ALWAYS be welcome at DHS. Once a Falcon, always a Falcon.

Our sincerest congratulations on this important milestone.

Until we meet again ...

With heads held high, Class of 2020 is ready for the future

Dear fellow seniors,

We want to start off by wishing everyone health and positivity during these strange and difficult times. We know that this year has been crazy and our senior year is not going exactly how we planned, so it is more important than ever to stay connected and supportive of each other.

Although the duration of this pandemic is indefinite, we want to make sure we leave Danvers High School on a high note and with amazing memories. Even though many of our senior events may not be happening, we are going to make the most out of this situation. It is crucial that we continue to have hope and walk through this hand in hand (6 feet apart).

It is easy to forget the accomplishments our class has had throughout these four years, but it's important to celebrate them with our friends, families and peers. Every single student has had immense success throughout high school, which we know will only continue as we embark on our futures.

We have had an amazing four years at DHS and it may not be ending the way we had all pictured it, but together we can make it memorable. All we need to do is keep our heads held high and stay connected with one another. We hope every student leaves DHS knowing that though we are going our separate ways, we have created a strong and supportive community that they can always depend on.

We thank you all for making the past four years so amazing and unforgettable. We won't let this tough situation define our class. We will get through this together. Thank you so much, Class of 2020!

Congrats to you Tommy!

Graduates, now is your time to shine

To the Danvers High Class of 2020,

This will be a graduation year that we will always remember. COVID-19 has changed life as we know it, especially for the Class of 2020.

I began my Danvers High School teaching career entering with the Class of 2020 in the fall of 2016. I was lucky enough to teach a freshman English class where I got to meet and teach dozens of wide-eyed teenagers. It has been a fantastic ride getting to know them through the classes I teach, their extracurricular activities and seeing them daily at school.

Now every year, I introduce myself and tell the freshmen that these four years will fly by. They hem and haw over my words of welcome, and answer me with “no way” or “it will take forever before my graduation gets here.” When we started this school year back in September, many of those freshmen from 2016 walked into my class now as seniors and said, “Mr. Gebel, I cannot believe this is my senior year — already!”

This is an amazing group of young men and women who are going to do great things. They may not have been able to experience what many of the classes before them did, like internships and senior activities, but I know their character and they will be stronger and more prepared for what life has to offer them. Many are going to college, some are joining the military and some will be entering the workforce. When they get there, they will be prepared, thanks to the dedicated teachers they had along the way. But not just their teachers, but coaches, counselors, administrators and, of course, Chuck of the DPW.

You should look at life through the windshield and not the rearview mirror. What is behind you has made you who you are, but now is your time to shine and set your course for what lies ahead. There is no doubt that the Class of 2020 is stronger due to this pandemic and will come out of this swinging for the fences and ready to face the world. These are unprecedented times, and with a little hard work and a little grit, you are going to accomplish amazing things.

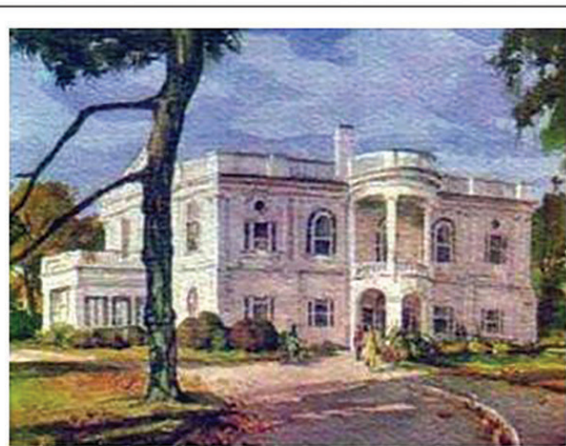

Take care and Godspeed to the Class of 2020. You will always hold a special place in my heart. Thank you for allowing me to be part of your journey. Now, remember my saying that I ended class with every day: “Be safe, be smart, eat all your vegetables and ... make good decisions!”

Best of luck to each and every one of you.

With appreciation,
Mr. Brent Gebel

Class of 2020 has risen to the challenge

Dear Danvers High Class of 2020,
As I think back over the last four years, I do so with a sense of pride. As class adviser, I could not be more proud of how you have set high expectations for yourselves in academics, athletics and personal pursuits and rose to the challenge.

Do not let your accomplishments be overshadowed by these unprecedented times. You — as individuals and as a class — are not defined by this virus, but by the groundwork you laid for yourselves these four years at Danvers High School and how those skills, friendships and knowledge will carry into your futures in the military, college or the workforce. No matter your anticipated path forward or one that is yet unknown, I'd like to offer my sincerest of congratulations! You did it!

You are almost official graduates of Danvers High School, so before you go, I'd like to offer you these pieces of advice:

For some, this is a moment of trepidation. I advise you to be confident in your strengths and to ask those more experienced than you for wise counsel. If you are unsure of your strengths, ask a teacher! We've gotten to know you well over the last four years and would love to help you on your journey beyond DHS.

For some, this is a moment of joy and freedom! I advise you to carry that positivity and energy into life's new twists and turns. May you not forget the lessons of high school, but use them to build a unique future that reflects your authentic selves. Be sure that you do not forget who you were in high school, but learn from mistakes you have made and challenges you have scaled. All are valuable life lessons that can help you build a successful future.

For some, this is a crossroads, and you are unsure of what this new start should look like or what it will bring. First, I want to assure you that every adult (yes, even your parents) was where you are now. You are not alone. I advise you to embrace the uncertainty, try new things and discover who you are.

Some of you may be all of these things. For you and everyone in the Class of 2020, I advise you to remember that everyone at DHS is rooting for your success and can't wait to see the impacts you leave — big and small.

As a history teacher, I would be remiss in not leaving you with one final piece of advice — vote! No matter what issue, person, position or town concern is being debated, you have a valid opinion and a voice that deserves to be heard.

I am so proud to have gotten to know all of you these past four years as your teacher and adviser, and I can't wait to see how our paths may cross again in the future.

Blessings for the years ahead,

MRS. WENDY WALDRON
Class of 2020 adviser
