

A large industrial kiln with workers on a platform. The kiln is a massive, cylindrical structure with a rusted, brown interior. Two workers in orange safety vests and white hard hats are standing on a yellow metal platform with railings. The platform is positioned in front of the kiln. The background shows the interior of the kiln, which is a large, curved, brown surface. The overall scene is industrial and suggests a manufacturing or processing environment.

One Source

Joining forces

Phillips Kiln Services and FLSmidth Group

www.Kiln.com

FLSMIDTH

www.FLSmidth.com

We are pleased to announce that Phillips Kiln Services Ltd. has been purchased by FLSmidth. Formed in 1882, FLSmidth is a major engineering company and is home to over 12,000 people in over 40 countries. FLSmidth supplies everything from single machinery solutions to complete cement plants and minerals processing facilities, with related services, worldwide. With FLSmidth behind us, we will have access to far greater resources, technologies, new customers and new markets. We will also have new employment opportunities locally and are actively searching for a project manager, a contract administrator, an estimator and skilled millwright craft labor.