QUESTION OF THE WEEK

If you could name any product after yourself, what would it be?

Chad Pauling

@siouxcityjournal.com
"I don't know if I possess the ego required to name a product after myself. It would have to be a food item as I can cook fairly well."

Earl Horlyk

"Even though it would seem ironic, I'd name a bug repellent after myself. In the summertime, I seem to be irresistible to all sorts of specimens from the insect world."

Mason Dockter

"Really anything would be improved if it were named after me. A café, a park, a magazine, a line of soaps, patent medicines, stogies, an automobile marque, a movie studio, you name it. But not a clothing line, that sounds foolish."

Eat, vote, eat some more!

What are 'Siouxland's Top 50 Restaurants?'

BY EARL HORLYK

For the past three years, we've been asking Journal readers "where's a good place to eat?" and "which restaurant would you recommend to friends?"

The suggested eateries – everything from fine dining establishments to holes-in-the-wall – were compiled into a special "Siouxland's Top 50 Restaurants" edition of the Weekender.

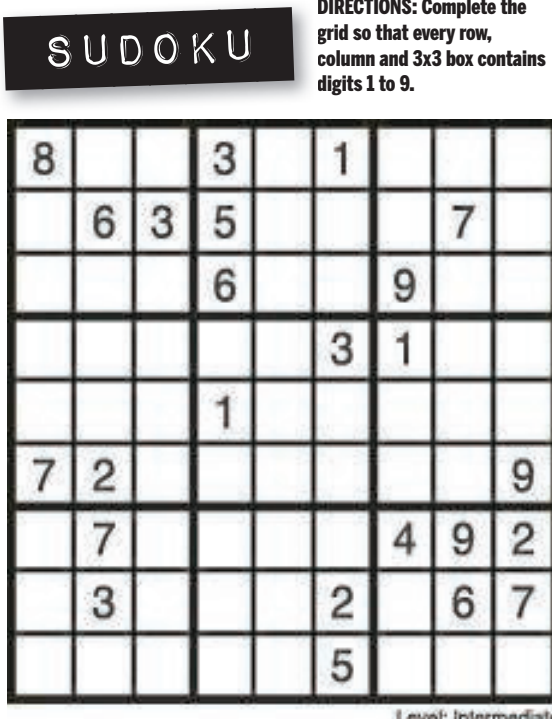

We're doing it again this year by encouraging readers to become foodie influencers, choosing their picks from a list of old faves, up-and-comers and joints that may be right off of everyone's radar.

Between now and 11:59 p.m. Aug. 21, you'll be able to vote for your choices for the fourth annual Siouxland's Top 50 Restaurants at <http://siouxcityjournal.secondstreetapp.com/Top-50-Restaurants-2022/gallery/>.

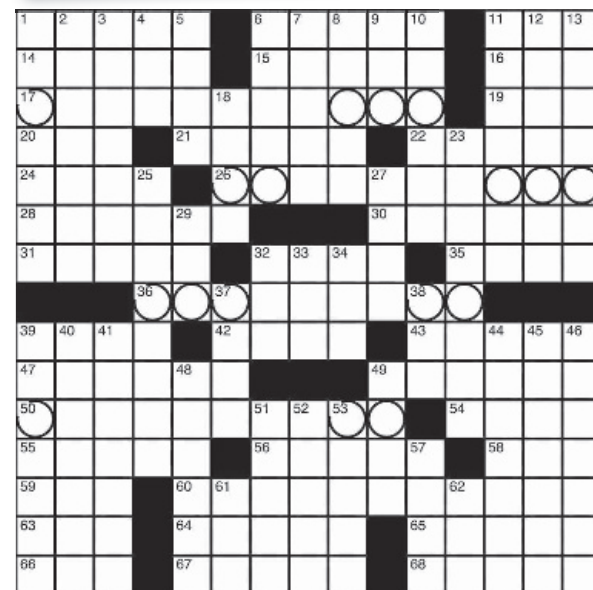

PROVIDED

The results will be revealed in the Sept. 22 Weekender. Will your favorite café make the grade or will you discover some new places to dine? Dig in, have fun and happy eating everybody.

THE BEST THINGS TO DO IN SIOUXLAND

1 Built Ford tough!

Ever since she exploded onto the music scene as a founding member of the Runaways more than 45 year ago, Lita Ford has proven that women can rock as hard as any guy. She'll be "Playing with Fire" at 8 p.m. Saturday at Hard Rock Hotel & Casino's Anthem, 111 Third St. Please leave your "Cherry Bombs" at home.

5 Zydeco is the way to go!

Don't worry, you will not be required to do the cha-cha when Nathan & the Zydeco Cha Chas performs at 7 p.m. Friday during a Downtown Live concert on the front lawn at the Sioux City Public Museum, 607 Fourth St.

Perhaps, we're being too hasty. Can you cha-cha to zydeco music?

Nathan & The Zydeco Cha Chas

2 Bolin-apalooza!

Sioux City was home to legendary guitar hero Tommy Bolin. Help to celebrate the music of this late member of Zephyr, The James Gang and Deep Purple at the annual Bolin Fest from 3 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday at the Ickey Nickel, 4700 41st St.

3 Kings of R&B!

The acclaimed, Kansas-based rapper T-Rell will bring an R&B-infused show to the Marquee, 1225 Fourth St. at 9 p.m. Saturday. Sharing the stage will be Weekender cover man C-Note Bankin as well as MIL from Saturday in the Park's Abe Stage.

4 All 'Shook' up!

Sarah Shook and the Disarmers blend outlaw country with a mega-dose of punk rock. They'll be shaking up the stage at Vangarde Arts, 416 Pierce St., at 8 p.m. Saturday.

6 Life on Mars?

There have been times when it seems like Bruno Mars can have a billion songs on the radio. Earth to Mars: The Bruno Mars Experience and Trust probably already know that. This five-piece cover band will play at 7 p.m. Thursday at Jolly on the River, 1100 Larsen Park Road.

Money man!

Rapper and singer C-Note Bankin is looking for a 'Ginuwine' big break

BY EARL HORLYK

With shiny-new grills on his teeth plus plenty of bling, C-Note Bankin (AKA Charlie Franklin III) can't help but look like a million bucks.

Accessorizing his ensemble with two oversized money belts – containing 15 100-hundred dollar bills – certainly doesn't hurt with the over-the-top aesthetic.

"What would C-Note Bankin be without plenty of C-Notes?" the Sioux City-based rapper asked with a smile.

You see, 2022 has, so far, been shaping up as a banner year for C-Note Bankin.

This summer, he released a hot new video "LO$T $OULS" garnering plenty of attention and performed a set (along with fellow rapper MIL) on Saturday in the Park's Abe Stage.

At 9 p.m. Saturday, C-Note Bankin will share the stage with nationally known hip-hop star T-Rel at The Marquee, 1225 Fourth St.

But the big news will occur on Aug. 26, when he opens for R&B legend Ginuwine ("Pony," "Same Old G," "Differences") for an 8 p.m. show at Hard Rock Hotel & Casino's Anthem, 111 Third St.

Which isn't too shabby for C-Note Bankin, who began singing in church.

"When I was a kid in Arkansas, my mom took me and my brothers to church," he remembered. "That's where we fell in love with performing."

Subsequently, his family formed an R&B singing group called Dynasty when C-Note Bankin was still in school.

"I was all about the music," he said. "When I wasn't singing with my brothers, I was in choirs or the school musical."

As he got older, C-Note Bankin began turning to rap.

"I love reading and I loved the way that words sound together," he explained. "I discovered I could rap as well as I could sing."

Indeed, C-Note Bankin said he was inspired by such hip-hop icons as Nipsey Hustle and Nas.

"Nas, especially, is a storyteller, first and foremost," C-Note Bankin said. "He creates a world and lets you in it."

Which is exactly what C-Note Bankin wants to do with his music.

Acknowledging that he is a singer as much as a rapper, C-Note Bankin said these skills separate him from the pack.

"Most guys can only rap but I can rap and sing," he said, noting that the Ginuwine show will include no rap.

As with rap, C-Note Bankin was influenced by some heavyweight singers and musicians.

"Man, I can talk all day about the people who inspired me," he said, choosing a few favorites. "Guys like Brian McKnight and Usher and, of course, there was only one Michael Jackson."

Yet, C-Note Bankin fully admitted that there is plenty of business when it comes to show business.

By day, he sells cars at Rick Collins Toyota. By night, he collaborates with local businesses on a series of C-Note Bankin-inspired products.

So far, he and the Sioux City-based Sarffy Hot Sauce Company have created an All Day Hot Sauce.

"I love hot sauces but I wanted to create one that won't punish me," C-Note Bankin explained. "I can use my All Day Sauce in the morning with my eggs, for dinner on my steaks and anything in between."

C-Note Bankin's affection for sour beers led him to a collaboration with Jackson Street Brewing's Dave Winslow.

A kettle sour with a key lime puree, vanilla and milk, C-Note Bankin's Key Lime Pie Sioux City Sour is available in cans as well as

JESSE BROTHERS, THE WEEKENDER

There is plenty of commerce that can be made in show business. Sioux City-based singer and rapper C-Note Bankin has both a sour beer and a hot sauce bearing his name and likeness.

DETAILS

WHAT: R&B legend Ginuwine, with Sioux City's C-Note Bankin as the opening act

WHEN: 8 p.m. Aug. 26

WHERE: Hard Rock Hotel & Casino's Anthem, 111 Third St.

on tap at Jackson Street Brewing, 607 Fifth St.

Always brimming with ideas, C-Note Bankin also teases a possible future collaboration with Marto Brewing Co.

"I like working with (Marto brewer) Erik Martin," he said. "I think our collaboration will be both a bit fruity as well as sour."

Taking a deep breath, C-Note Bankin knows this year has been momentous.

"I've known music was my passion," he said. "That was something I discovered in church as a kid. It is something that I've been working on ever since."

However, C-Note Bankin also wants to give back to the community.

"I love doing things to youth organizations, like the Boys and Girls Club," he said. "I'd like to do a special concert while encouraging them to start dreaming and to dream big."

Who knows? There may be a budding young talent who will be looking up to C-Note Bankin the same way he did to Nas or Brian McKnight.

"That would be so cool," he said with a big smile. "I gotta keep dreaming and you gotta keep giving something back."

ADVICE

ANSWERS FOR ALL YOUR WOES

ASTRO ADVICE EUGENIA LAST

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Concentrate on what's important, and rely on intelligence to close deals. Don't expect to please everyone, but do your best to be fair and offer options to eliminate conflict.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Dig deep, and you'll discover what makes you happy. Incorporate your skills with plans that put a smile on your face. Take control and join forces with people who share your sentiments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Revise your day to include putting your responsibilities behind you before moving on to enjoyable pastimes. Having the discipline to do things right the first time will help you avoid criticism.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Finish what you start before you move on. Refuse to let things build up that will stand between you and what you need. Focus on health, emotional well-being and taking care of business.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — Don't let anyone take advantage of your charitable attitude. Put more time and effort into your home, and invest in yourself and your future. Learn from the experts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Put your energy into transformation. Nurture relationships and adjust your living arrangements to suit your needs. You can't buy love, but you can earn respect. Romance will enhance your life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — Choose the path that interests you most, and don't worry about everyone else. Take responsibility for your happiness, and look for opportunities that encourage you to follow your heart.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — A financial gain is possible if you invest in something familiar to you. A lifestyle change looks promising; however, you may require a push to head in a new direction.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Step into the spotlight and show everyone what you can contribute. Your attitude will make a difference to the reception you receive. Let charm, intellect and action be your calling cards.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Keep tabs on what's going on, but don't interfere in something that can disrupt your relationship with someone you love. Take better care of your health, reputation and position.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Look for opportunities and you'll come across something that makes you feel excited about your future. Explore the possibilities and head in the direction that suits your lifestyle.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Take a step back from whatever situation you face and rethink your strategy. Keep life simple, control your reactions and pursue long-term goals. Being insightful and resourceful is encouraged.
