

Far from home

Sioux City is home to a small community of Eritrean nationals. The majority are refugees from the small country on the African Horn which borders Sudan.

