After illness, Senator Bertrand says he is ready to get back to work

SIOUX CITY – After experiencing a mild stroke Saturday, State Senator Rick Bertrand continues to recover in a Sioux City hospital.

Senator Bertrand, R-Sioux City, said Tuesday he is feeling better. Physicians said Senator Bertrand is expected to make a full recovery, with no lasting effects.

"I want to thank the wonderful hospital and staff for the high level of care I have received since being admitted Saturday," Senator Bertrand said. "Sioux City is blessed to have the best healthcare services in the country."

Senator Bertrand said he is eager to return to his work at the Capitol.
