

Creekview MUSTANGS

Creekview head coach Tony Castillo knew going into last season that there would be some learning moments for his squad. The Mustangs lost a large senior class from their 2021 team that made the postseason and finished with seven victories, and coupled with 14 freshmen that played each game during the 2022 season, Creekview took its lumps in what was a winless campaign. Castillo said that all of the lessons and experience that Creekview gained will lead to better things for the Mustangs. The turnout for the start of fall practice suggests an upward trend for Creekview. After not fielding a junior varsity team last year, the Mustangs have enough players to field one varsity, one junior varsity and two freshman teams this year. Seven players will return on each side of the ball with several players slated to play both offense and defense. Among them are junior wide receiver/safety Isaiah Holliday and senior offensive/defensive lineman Travis Chinamhora.

QUARTERBACK / WIDE RECEIVER
 When it comes to versatility, Johnson has the skill set to excel at multiple positions. Whether it's at wide receiver or quarterback, Creekview can count on Johnson to make big plays for the Mustangs. Johnson caught 36 balls for 379 yards with two touchdowns to average 10.53 yards per reception.

Offensively, Creekview plans to simplify its playbook and better tailor its scheme to the strengths of their offensive line and wide receivers.

The Mustangs have good depth at wide receiver. Junior Tre' Johnson will receive significant playing time on the outside and also line up at quarterback. The Mustangs will have a new quarterback after Jaiden Paige, who was last year's starter, transferred to Dr. Phillips High School (Orlando.

Fla.). Junior Aiden Scheibe is another versatile weapon for Creekview. He is expected to split time between wide receiver and tailback. Senior Gerrian Smith will play slot receiver. Offensive line will also be a big strength for Creekview. In addition to Chinamhora, seniors Damarcus Cannon, Gage Porche, Jahquez McIntyre and junior Christian Moreno will provide pass protection and open running lanes for senior tailbacks Nate Birdsall and Sourjodipto Das. Senior defensive lineman Kalen Lavalais is a three-year starter that Creekview will lean on for leadership and teaming up with him in the trenches will be fellow senior Destine Deans.
