An Act protecting the right to time off for voting.

Whereas, The deferred operation of this act would tend to defeat its purpose, which is to provide time off for voters, therefore it is hereby declared to be an emergency law, necessary for the immediate preservation of the public convenience.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Chapter 149 of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out section 178 and inserting in place thereof the following section:-

Section 178. (a)(1) Each employer shall allow sufficient time for an employee to exercise their right to vote in person in a state or municipal election in the commonwealth on election day. If a voter does not have sufficient time outside of working hours to vote in person during an election or designated early voting period, the voter may, with paid time off, take off enough working time on election day that, when added to the voting time available outside of working hours, shall enable the employee to vote in person; provided, that the employee shall give the employer not less than 3 business days’ notice.

(2) No employer shall require an employee to vote by mail or to vote during a designated early voting period.

(3) Employee time off for voting shall be at the beginning or end of the employee’s regular working hours, whichever allows the most time for voting and the least time off from the regular working hours, unless otherwise mutually agreed between the employer and the employee.

(b) Employers shall notify each employee of their rights and responsibilities under this section and shall post notice of said rights and responsibilities in a conspicuous place. Said notice shall be prepared and disseminated by the secretary of the commonwealth, containing such relevant information as the secretary deems necessary pursuant to subsection (a).

    (c) An employer who fails to comply with subsection (a) shall provide an aggrieved employee who was not given sufficient time off to vote, pursuant to said subsection (a), a full day’s pay.

    (d) The attorney general shall promulgate rules and regulations for the administration and enforcement of this section.
