THANK YOU

The family of Mike Bruch would like to express sincere gratitude to everyone who shared our loss and offered comfort during this difficult time. While we are heartbroken, we have been overwhelmed by the love and support shown by relatives, friends, neighbors, coworkers, and other members of our communities.

The stories, memories, prayers, cards, visits, flowers, memorials, and countless acts of kindness have reminded us just how many lives Mike touched. Hearing your memories of the love for his family, friendship, generosity, compassion, and John Deere tractors has brought us comfort and helped us see him through the eyes of so many people who loved him. Each story has been a treasured reminder of the impact he made and the legacy he leaves behind.

We are deeply grateful for the love shown to our family and for the many ways you have honored Mike's memory. Knowing how much Mike liked to talk and visit in person, it was comforting to see the outpouring of love shown to us at the visitation and funeral. Your continued support has meant more to us than words can express.

Thank you all.
As Mike would say, Later.

Checking in with JANE SEYMOUR

Jane Seymour's "Wild" times are continuing. A Primetime Emmy winner (for 1988's "Onassis: The Richest Man in the World"), the former "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" star is enjoying another healthy series run as the title character in the Acorn TV mystery "Harry Wild," which starts its fifth season Monday, June 22. The retired literature pro-fessor-turned-sleuth tackles new cases with her assistant, Fergus (portrayed by Rohan Nedd, "Safe"), and her police-detective son, Charlie (Kevin Ryan, "Copper"), and in the new stories, they have a notable new colleague. Joe Lando — who played Byron Sully to Seymour's Dr. Quinn in "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman" — joins the Irish-made show (filmed in Dublin) as Pierce Kennedy, a pathologist who helps the trio as they make a transition to handling undercover missions. A close friend of Seymour (who's also an executive producer of "Harry Wild"), Lando reunited with her previously in 1999 and 2001 "Dr. Quinn" sequel projects for CBS, as well as the 2011 Hallmark Channel film "Perfectly Prudence" and the 2022 Lifetime movie "A Christmas Spark."

Television became a part of Seymour's career early on, when she was a regular for the British series "The Strauss Family" and "The Onedin Line" in the mid-1970s — shortly before earning international fame as the mystical Solitaire in Roger Moore's ("The Carer") first James Bond movie, "Live and Let Die" (1973).

"Frankenstein: The True Story" (shown as an NBC miniseries in 1973), the 1977 NBC drama "Seventh Avenue" and the pilot film for ABC's "Battlestar Galactica" (1978) were among other TV ventures that helped establish Seymour, though she also continued to make the-atricial films such as the widely beloved "Some-where in Time" (1980).

Seymour has continued to work in TV movies and miniseries over the years, with ABC's "East of Eden" — which earned her a Golden Globe Award — and "War and Remembrance" being standout examples, but "Harry Wild" is another significant marker for her in terms of weekly series work. And since it's now entering its fifth round (averaging six episodes per season), it's very possible that she could remain "Wild" for some time to come.

Birthdate: Feb. 15, 1951
Birthplace: Uxbridge, Middlesex, England
Current residences: Bath, England & Malibu, Calif.
Marital status: Divorced; she has three sons, two of whom are twins, and a daughter

Other television credits include: "A Christmas Spark," "B Positive," "The Kominsky Method," "Let's Get Physical," "Hooten & the Lady," "Jane the Virgin," "A Royal Christmas," "Franklin & Bash," "Castle," "How I Met Your Mother," "Perfectly Prudence," "Dear Prudence," "Heart of a Stranger," "Modern Men," "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit," "Healthy Living," "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman," "War and Remembrance," "Onassis: The Richest Man in the World," "Crossings," "Obsessed With a Married Woman," "The Woman He Loved," "The Sun Also Rises," "Dark Mirror," "Jamaica Inn," "The Scarlet Pimpernel," "The Phantom of the Opera," "East of Eden," "Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders," "Battlestar Galactica," "Seventh Avenue," "The Awakening Land," "Captains and the Kings," "Frankenstein: The True Story," "The Onedin Line," "The Strauss Family"
