

Situation Report

11/11/2019

4:51 AM

Snow Ending This Morning, Then COLD

Message of the Day

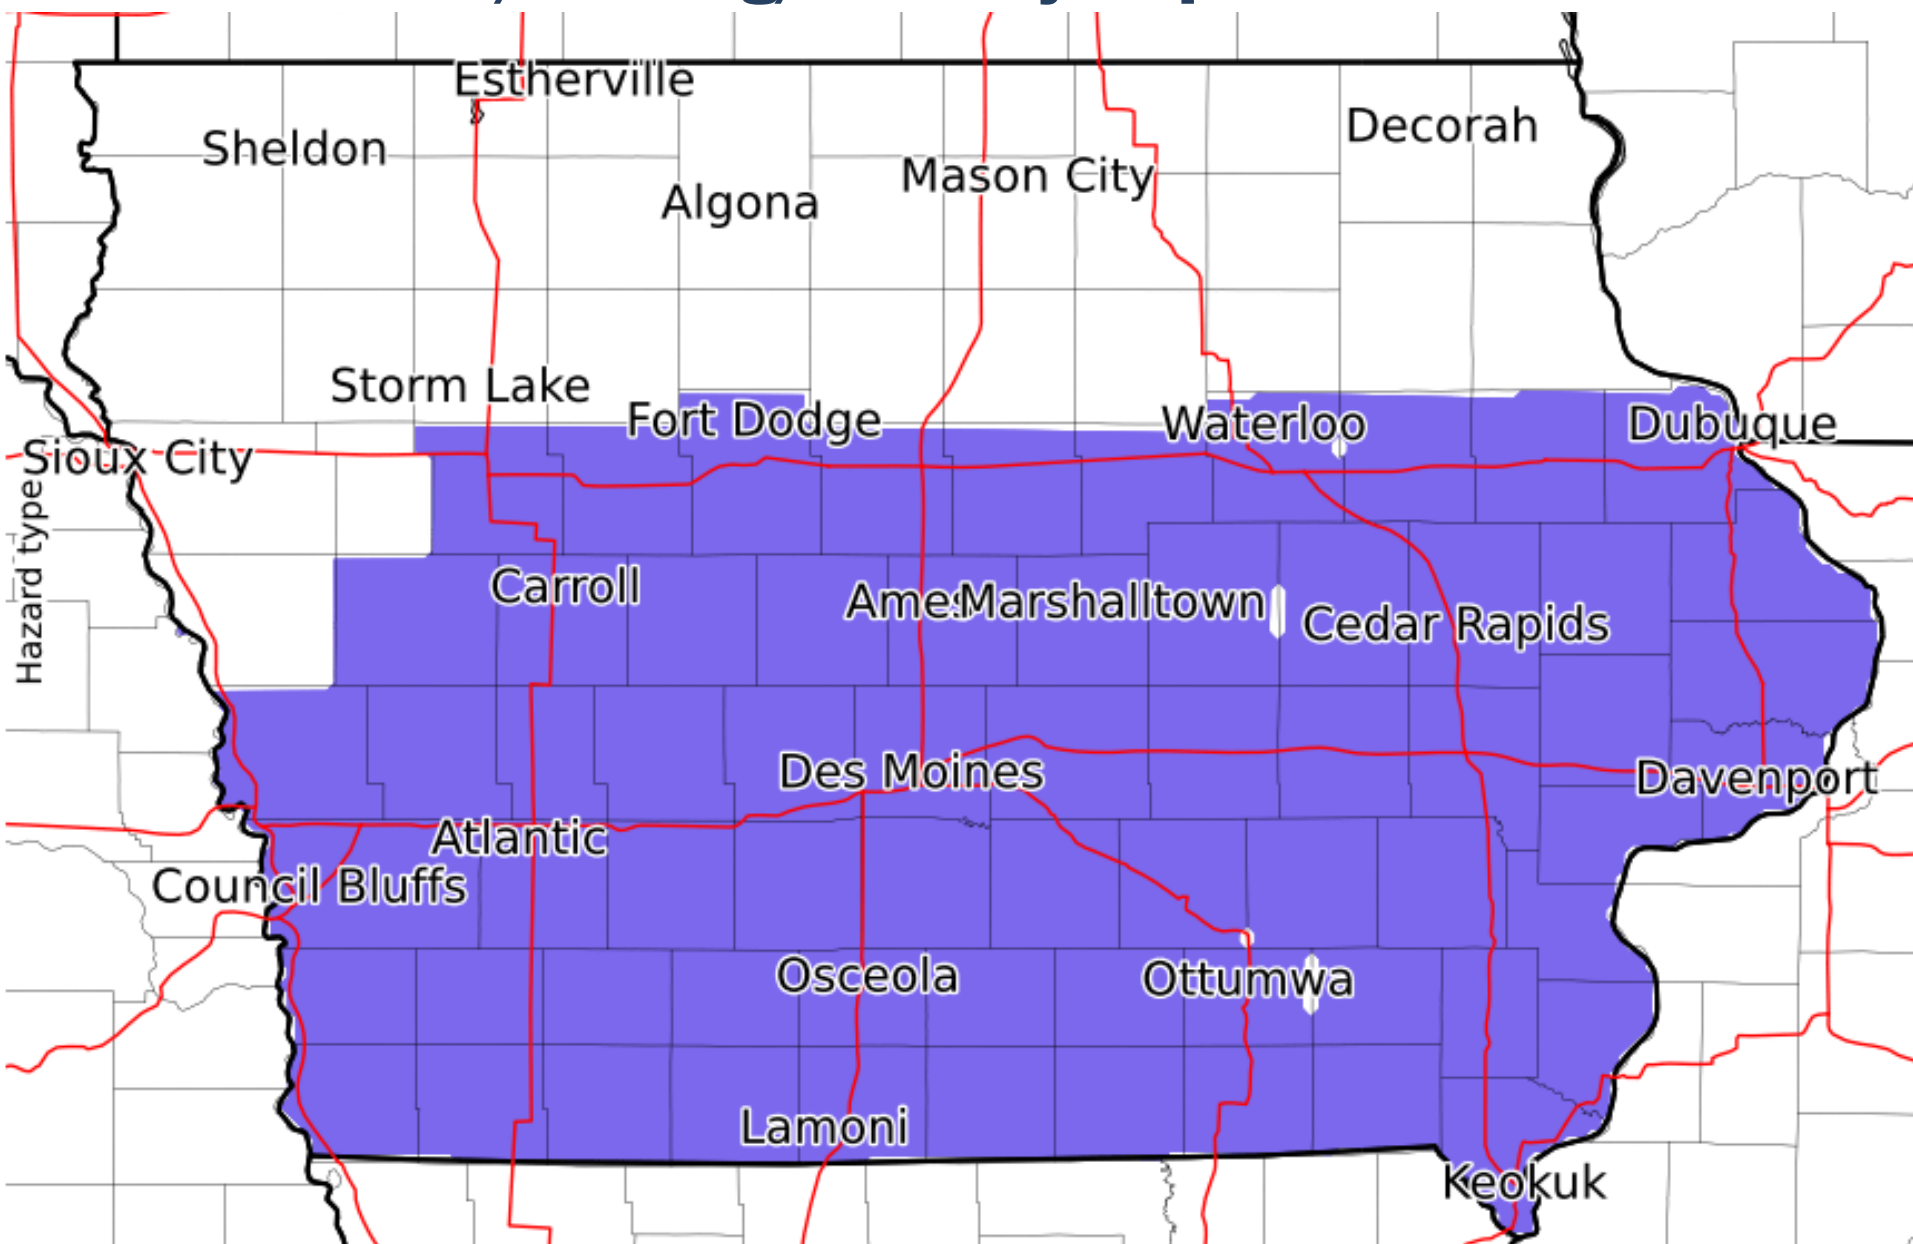

- ✓ Falling snow ending from north to south this morning, with very low visibility at times in snow bands especially due to gusty north winds blowing the snow.
- ✓ Travel impacts likely to linger after snow ends, due to slick and covered roads.
- ✓ NEAR RECORD COLD temperatures and wind chills into Tuesday.

Important Forecast Changes

- ✓ Last Situation Report planned for this event.

Current Watch/Warning/Advisory Map

Winter Storm Watch	Winter Storm Warning	Ice Storm Warning
Winter Weather Advisory	Blizzard Warning

Situation Report

11/11/2019

4:51 AM

Snow Ending This Morning, Then COLD

What

- ✓ NEAR RECORD COLD temperatures and wind chills.

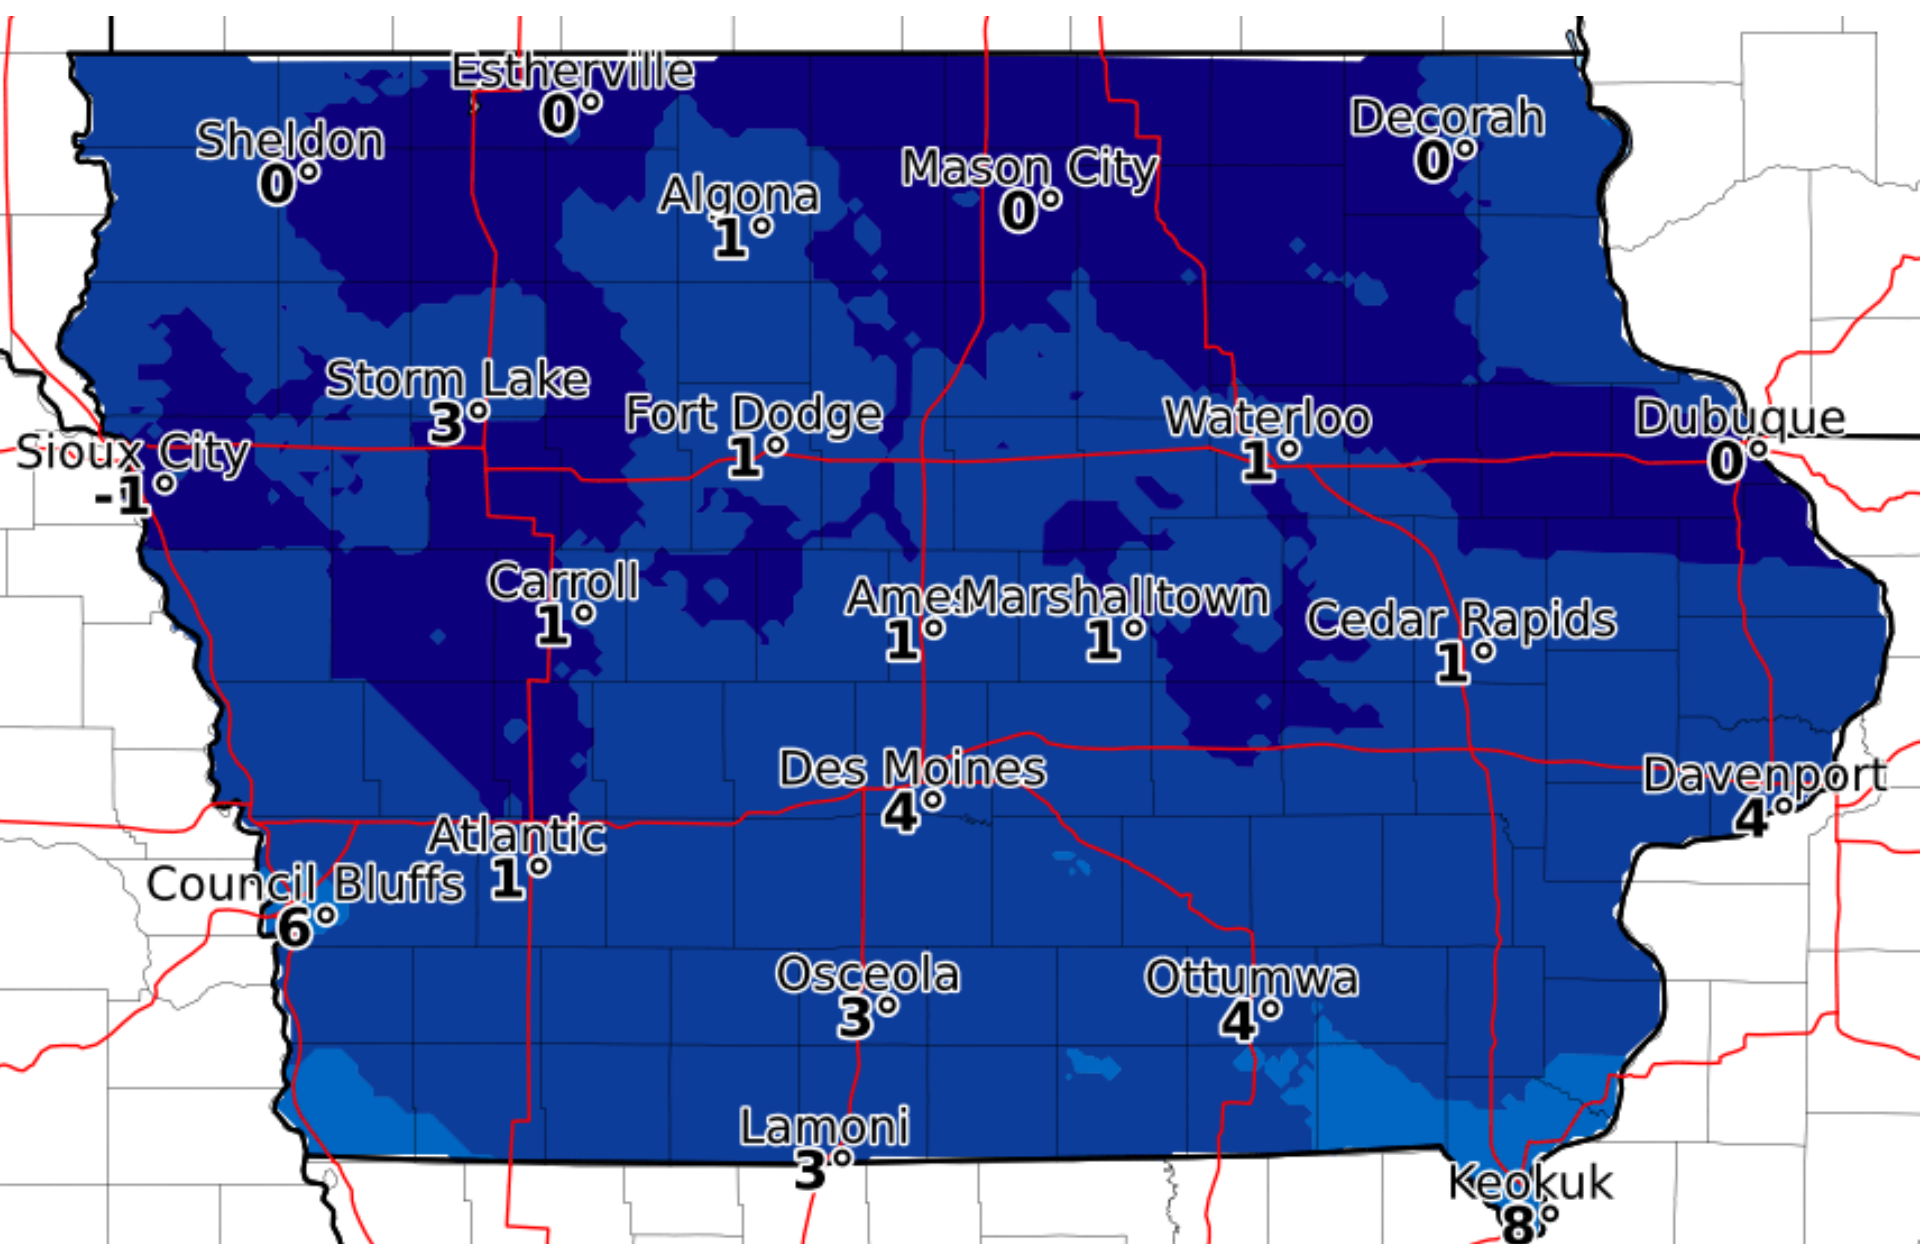

Where

- ✓ All of Iowa.

When

- ✓ Monday through Tuesday, with lowest temperatures Tuesday morning.

Lows Tuesday Morning

Situation Report

11/11/2019

4:51 AM

Snow Ending This Morning, Then COLD

Situational Report Text Summary

Hazards: Snow and blowing snow, slick travel conditions, and near record cold temperatures and wind chills.

Areas Impacted: Most of Iowa.

Timing & Duration:

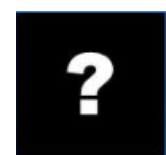

Snow: Tapering off from north to south this morning.

Travel Impacts: Persisting today until roads are cleared.

Cold: Through Tuesday, with lowest temperatures Tuesday morning.

Impacts: Reduced visibility below ½ mile at times in falling and blowing snow early this morning. Slick, icy, snow-covered roads impacting the morning commute and lingering today.

Certainty & Considerations: High confidence in very cold conditions. Cold impacts exacerbated due to unseasonably early nature of the event.

Next Update: No updates planned, unless conditions change.