Wrapping up another year of continued community service work, charitable fundraisers and activities, Terry High School's Key Club last month was awarded Key Club of the Year along with a bevy of other honors at the annual District Key Club Convention in Billings.

The ongoing mission of the Key Club, which is the youth component

"I decided to join Key Club because I saw that it was making an impact on my community and I wanted to be a part of it."

Meredith Sackman, club president of Kiwanis International, is to serve, develop character and build leadership skills. Terry's Key Club is exceptionally active considering the small size of the community. Advised by second grade teacher Brooke Gierke, the club's membership included 17 high school students for the 2024-2025 year, which runs from March to March.

Other awards the Terry Key Club received included a first place patch for Major Emphasis Project (working with children), Governor's Project (working with animals), Percentage Attendance and Early Bird.

While most celebrities are living a life constantly in front of cameras, on the covers of magazines or risking swarms of fans when they go out in public, there are few who choose to live much quieter, unassuming lives. The latter describes Prairie County's own Rolane Christofferson, who serves as the local librarian, postal carrier and mayor.

Christofferson dedicated herself to a life of service to the community over the last four decades, beginning with starting as an employee at the Prairie County Library in October of 1984 under librarian Bette Dunnam.
