

1st Annual Cruzin' For Riley

SADIE CARWILE
Messenger Staff

On June 8th, Ernie Morris, of Breckinridge County, Ky., his wife Bridget Morris, of Meade Co., Ky., and their family will be having a Charity Car Cruise in honor of their grandson Riley, who passed away two years ago, at 18 months old, due to child abuse.

Once Riley had passed, his family donated his organs to science, and once they did that, Riley became a superhero. Ernie, Bridget, and their family wanted to do something to keep Riley from being forgotten, and so came the car cruise.

This Charity Car Cruise is free and open to the public. Anyone and everyone is welcome to come and bring their hot rods to show off. There will be food, from the Locals food truck, music from B.J. Hibbard, and loads of fun! All of the proceeds from the event will be going to McLane Children's Hospital at which Riley had passed.

Riley's family also decided to start collecting all kinds of new stuffed animals to send to the Children's Hospital, to provide to the children, to give them hope and to let them know that someone loves them. So they only ask that you bring a stuffed animal, with the tags still on, for the children at the Children's Hospital, and if you do so, you will be entered in a drawing to win a fountain!

This Charity Car Cruise is really a remarkable event that's going to be happening, and for such a good cause; to raise awareness of child abuse, to raise awareness of organ donating, and to remember Riley as he was, an innocent child. This car cruise will be held at the Riverside RV Park, in Mauckport, Ind., from 4:30 p.m. - 8 p.m.

I am excited to go and support this great cause, and I hope to see you there. But if you can't make it, The Meade County Messenger will have more on this Charity event after it occurs.

Deputy

Chief Deputy Anthony called Florida officials to check on the case, and they said the misdemeanors would not have stopped Phillips from working with the department, because they aren't felonies.

Just a couple months prior to this, Breckinridge County Sheriff Todd Pate was facing serious charges, after the grand jury issued an indictment against him. Pate was arrested March 8th and was charged with four counts of first-degree wanton endangerment, one count of tampering with evidence, and his second DUI. Pate was previously arrested in October of 2015 and was charged with DUI, reckless driving, and terroristic threatening, but he did not spend any time in jail in 2015, because his 30-day sentence was suspended, for reasons I can't understand. Pate is still the Sheriff of Breckinridge County, enforcing the law, although he cannot follow the law himself. On top of Pate not being able to follow the law, as a law enforcer, and getting out of jail time when in reality anyone else would get jail time no doubt, he hired a man like Phillips, who was charged with lewd or lascivious conduct, computer pornography, and child exploitation, then fired him... Even though they did not specify on exactly why Phillips was fired, it's been said that it was because of his past in Florida. With that being said, If Pate fired Phillips for breaking the law and not knowing when they hired him, even though Florida officials stated the misdemeanors would not have stopped him from working with the department... Pate would be a hypocrite being he can't even follow the law himself. How can the people of Breckinridge County rely on a Sheriff that is a hypocrite?

With everything that has been happening, nothing seems to really make sense, and nobody will really give any answers. It sounds to me like something is definitely fishy around Breckinridge County.

Daily Grind Coffee Shop

The Daily Grind was busy on their opening day with a line of customers.

I am sure that we all know about the TV show "Friends." Well, we finally have the same type of coffee shop like the Central Perk Coffee Shop from the show in Downtown Brandenburg!

On May 29, The Daily Grind Coffee Shop had its grand opening, and let me tell ya, it is definitely the new go-to place for good rich coffee, custom espresso drinks, deli sandwiches, selective pastries, and all sorts of baked goodies!

As soon as you walk in the door, you get a sense of hominess and relaxation, with the smell of fresh baked goodies and coffee.

After five years of planning, the owners of The Daily Grind, Shannon and Rachelle Frazier, finally opened their little shop. They said that they are so excited to finally be there to please the community. And that is exactly what they are doing.

I expect the Daily Grind will hit it off quite nicely in our little town. I don't know about you but I am very excited to finally have a little coffee shop like this so close, and I can't wait to go back to enjoy some of their coffee!

If you're like me and have a hard time staying awake in the early mornings at work, head down to The Daily Grind to get some coffee, so you can really grind and get through the day!

Ekron Elementary Principal Retires

Principal Joan Cooke and music teacher Cassie Lucas at the Ekron Back to School Bash last September.

TRISH TURNER
Messenger Staff

Joan Cooke, who was the principal at Ekron Elementary School, officially retired on May 31. Cooke has been a part of the educational system in Hardin and Meade County for 32 years.

She started out in Hardin County where she spent 13 years at West Point teaching first and second grades and then a non-graded Primary class. She became the school's principal for four years before moving on to Parkway Elementary School, and then the renovated Radcliff Elementary School as principal for 10 years total.

Following that, Joan came to Ekron Elementary School in Meade County where she was the principal for five years.

Cooke was born in Tompkinsville, Ky., in Monroe County where she graduated from Tompkinsville High School in 1982. She received her Bachelor's and Master's degrees at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green.

Later Cooke got her Administration Certification at the University of Louisville.

For 22 years Cooke and her husband Tim have lived in Meade County. They have a son, Joseph, who is a financial analyst for GE and a daughter Meredith, who is a recent graduate and is an assistant manager for Bluegrass Cellular.

When asked what she will miss the most after retiring Joan answered, "I will miss the students and their families," She added, "This retirement is bittersweet because I absolutely loved working with the children and their families in Meade County. Those who have never worked as educators outside of Meade County do not realize how special the children and families are here. The school system in Meade County is above and beyond any other I have worked in. The kids in our community are raised to feel valued."

Cooke will be missed at Ekron Elementary, where she was known for her ready smile and loving hugs. She was very supportive of her staff and was much loved by them and the students there. She related how being able to work at Ekron Elementary has been God's greatest retirement gift to her since it is such an amazing school.

The new principal at Ekron Elementary School is Travis Scott, who said he has some big shoes to fill! His last position was as assistant principal at Brandenburg Primary School.

Cooke hired him as a Special Education teacher in Hardin County in 2007.

Her greatest satisfaction has been seeing the educators she has hired through the years now nurturing students of their own. One such person is Emily Matthews, whom she hired as the counselor at Ekron Elementary.

A special retirement party will be held for Cooke on June 8 at 5:00 p.m. at the Roberts Family Farm, located at 125 Kennedy Road in Guston. Roberts Family Farm is owned by Kevin and Rhonda Roberts. The party's location has a special significance because Rhonda worked with Cooke years ago in Hardin County. Cooke was the principal and Rhonda was the attendance secretary. All are invited to come out to the party on June 8 to show your appreciation for Mrs. Joan Cooke.

Susan Dyer to Present at MCHAPS

Submitted article

Susan Dyer, the lovey and talented author, and historian will speak to the Meade County Historical and Archaeological Preservation Society, June 10th. The topic will be the restoration of the Judge Joseph Holt mansion in Breckinridge County, and her new book "Joseph Holt Mansion: Saving and Restoring the Home of Lincoln's Judge Advocate General," published by Acclaim Press.

Mrs. Dyer has made the preservation and restoration of the Holt House, as it is often referred to by the local population, a cause celeb' and wrote her first book, "Lincoln's Advocate," a biography of Holt. Judge Holt was the presiding Judge over the trial of the "Lincoln Conspirators." Always the dedicated activist, when Susan found that Judge Holt was not written into the movie, The Conspirators, she contacted producer Robert Redford and convinced him to write the judge into the script. And he did.

Susan, born at Fort Knox and a Native of Breckinridge County has received many honors and awards for her efforts, including a medal presented from the United States Army for 20 years of dedicated service, in 2017 she received the Historian of the Year Award, from Breckinridge County. Grilling Fruits and Vegetables

JENNIFER BRIDGE

Grills are so versatile for preparing a variety of foods including fruits and vegetables. Grilling fruits and vegetables has many benefits. You can add new flavors to some of your favorite dishes, increase your family's fruit and vegetable intake, and they typically take 10 minutes or less to cook.

This summer, enjoy some of your favorite healthy dishes fresh from the grill. Fruit and vegetables will be at their peak of freshness at different times throughout the growing season.

Shop the local farmers market for the freshest offerings. Remember to arrive early to get the best selection as many popular produce items tend to sell out quickly at the market.

Stone fruits like peaches, cherries, and plums do extremely well on the grill as do apples, strawberries, and bananas. Select firm fruit that is not too ripe, as over-ripe fruit can end up too soft when grilled. You can enhance their flavor by applying olive oil or lemon juice before placing them on the grill.

Firm vegetables like corn on the cob and asparagus are easy to prepare on the grill. Place them right on your grill's cooking grid. Frequently turn vegetables to keep them from burning on the grill.

You can grill smaller or chopped vegetables by wrapping them in aluminum foil and then placing them on the cooking grid.

Season your vegetables with olive oil and fresh herbs in the aluminum foil.

Grilled vegetables taste great as a side dish or dipped in hummus.

You can even involve your family in preparing fruit and vegetables for the grill. Preparing fruit or vegetable kabobs is a fun hands-on activity. Have your children help you chop up fresh fruits and vegetables of your choice into large chunks. Place the chunks on a skewer and grill.

The Meade County office will host their annual Outdoor Grilling program on Tuesday, June 25, 6 p.m. at the Extension Pavilion with a smaller modified program the following day, June 26 at 2 p.m. at the Extension Pavilion.

The programs are offered at no charge and registration is requested to allow for adequate preparation. House Week in Review

State Representative NANCY TATE

Kentucky is known for horse racing and bluegrass music; we also have a reputation for having the kindest and most hospitable residents, as well as safe, wholesome communities throughout our commonwealth. According to a recent report, Kentucky ranks 7th in the nation for our low violent crime rate. We lead the pack as one of the safest states in the country, and we didn't get here by chance. The legislature has systematically worked to address the issue of crime and public safety in a number of ways. I would like to share with you the steps the legislature took this past session to improve public safety and make our families safer.

In this past session, we strengthened Kentucky's driving under the influence (DUI) laws by incentivizing more frequent use of ignition interlock devices by DUI offenders, which prevent cars from starting if alcohol is detected on someone's breath. It mandates longer suspension periods for DUI offenders who choose not to use them. The bill does not change the current jail or fine scheme that is already in statute. We heard testimony on the House floor of members whose lives had been affected by a drunk driver, and I am sure many of you know someone who has been hurt at the hands of someone driving under the influence. The hope is that with this new law in place, we will cut down on drunk driving incidents and save lives.

We also stiffened penalties on terroristic threatening. When House Bill 130 takes effect later this month, it will be a Class C Felony to make terroristic threats against schools, houses of worship, or other public events by intentionally engaging in substantial conduct to prepare to carry out the act, such as gathering weapons or ammunition. Terroristic threatening is never acceptable, and with this increased penalty, individuals should think twice before engaging in such harmful and destructive behavior.

The legislature also extended protections to emergency medical services (EMS) by stiffening penalties for violence against EMS officers. House Bill 132 ensures that any person convicted of manslaughter in the second degree, reckless homicide, or attempt to commit murder of identifiable emergency service personnel serves at least 85% of their sentence prior to earning probation or parole. The measure amends the existing statute covering firefighters and peace officers to also include EMS workers, sending a message that our society does not tolerate the wrongful or unlawful killing of any first responder.

Along with stiffening penalties on those who target our first responders, we also sought to address the issue of domestic violence. Domestic violence is a serious issue and wholly unacceptable. The legislature took a strong step forward in protecting domestic violence victims and victims of strangulation by creating the crime of strangulation and classifying it as a Class D Felony. The measure adds strangulation to the definitions of domestic violence and abuse and dating violence and abuse. Under previous statutes, strangulation was not included in the definition of domestic violence, which made it more difficult to prosecute this violent crime. This bill will give victims and law enforcement the ability to prosecute assailants more broadly.

We also took steps to improve our rape kit tracking system. Senate Bill 97 seeks to speed up and improve the processing of sexual assault forensic evidence kits by requiring the Kentucky State Police to create a tracking system. Among the requirements is a website that would allow victims to track where in the process their kit is, granting victims some peace of mind. We have taken many positive steps in past legislative sessions to ensure a transparent and efficient progression in the processing of these kits, and I am glad we were able to continue that trend this year.

We, in Kentucky, know that nothing good comes without hard work and dedication. I am appreciative of the fact that many of my colleagues in the House and Senate worked this past session to make Kentucky a safer place to live and raise a family, which will always be a top priority of mine.

I thank you for the opportunity to serve you in the House of Representatives and to work together to improve lives both in our district and throughout Kentucky.

Rep. Nancy Tate represents House District 27, which includes Meade County and a portion of Hardin County. Contact her with any questions, concerns, or advice. She can be reached through the toll-free message line in Frankfort at 1-800-372-7181, or via e-mail at nancy.tate@lrc.ky.gov.

AGRICULTURE

Provide the Right Amount of Water to Summer Veggies

ANDY MILLS

You might think vegetables will be the best quality only if they get adequate water throughout the growing season. It's important that you water vegetables well while they are being established and during flowering, but sometimes the best quality garden produce results when water is somewhat limited. All vegetables need a good supply of soil moisture before and during flowering and during fruit development. For crops such as cabbage and broccoli, this period is during establishment and head development. One to two inches of water per week, in the form of natural rainfall or supplemental irrigation is enough for most vegetables during this time. For vegetables you continually harvest, such as eggplant, tomatoes, peppers, summer squash and green beans, it's important to keep an adequate supply of water to the plant. This ensures even soil moisture throughout the growing season, and it will keep plants productive longer. Consistent soil moisture on tomatoes will also help prevent blossom end rot and cracking of fruit. You should withhold water from potatoes once the vines have begun to die. The tubers under the soil are entering dormancy at that time and excess water or fertilizer may cause regrowth or cracking of the potatoes, which makes them less suitable for storage. Cucumbers will become bitter without a good supply of moisture throughout the entire growing season. On the other hand, melons will produce a sweeter fruit when they are kept drier once the fruit has reached about half of its expected final size. For melons, don't cut off water completely. Continue to provide one-half to one inch of water per week. Heavy rain or irrigation when the melons are nearly mature will dilute the fruits' sugar. Watermelons will reconcentrate the sugar if left on the vine a little longer. Muskmelons, however, are less apt to do this. Okra tends to produce more leaves than pods when it's over watered, so try to keep these drought-tolerant plants on the dry side. A layer of mulch in the vegetable row will help conserve moisture, reduce weed growth and keep produce cleaner. Using black plastic film as a mulch has become standard in commercial vegetable production, but most backyard growers still prefer organic mulches such as straw, wood chips, composted leaves or grass clippings. For more information about home gardening, refer to the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, Food and Environment publication Home Vegetable Gardening in Kentucky at <http://www2.ca.uky.edu/agcomm/pubs/id128/id128.pdf>, or contact the Meade County Cooperative Extension Service.

Researchers Seek Barn Owl Nest Locations

Submitted article

Wildlife biologists with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources need the public's help in locating barn owl nesting sites to gain a deeper understanding of why the species is rare in the state. Barn owls, with their distinctive heart-shaped faces and dark eyes, were plentiful across Kentucky as late as the 1960s. By 2016, however, there were only about 75 documented nesting locations statewide. More common owl species are often confused with barn owls. Barn owls do not hoot like some owls species. Instead, they screech and hiss, especially when approached. Barn owls have no ear tufts. They are a medium-sized bird, measuring 14-20 inches tall. However, they can appear larger when in flight due to their 3½-foot wingspan. Barn owls have a whitish face and breast with whitish to pale cinnamon bodies. Barn owls prefer open areas such as hayfields and pastures; they are not usually found in the forest. They sometimes settle in older residential areas that have larger, cavity-prone trees. Although they often nest in hollow trees, barn owls also regularly nest in manmade structures such as old barns, silos, grain bins, chimneys, hay lofts, and attics. Barn owls nest year-round in Kentucky, although most of the nesting activity occurs from March through August. They do not build a nest of sticks and grass. Instead, they lay their eggs directly on the surface of the nest site they choose. Barn owls are sensitive to disturbance, so if a nest is found, it's best to leave it alone to avoid attracting attention to it. Researchers are careful to document nests without disturbing the owls. Researchers are also asking for the public to report any dead barn owls so that specimens can be collected for research. Anyone with information about the location of a barn owl nest or a dead barn owl should contact Wildlife Biologist Kate Slankard at 1-800-858-1549. Observers can also email her at kate.slankard@ky.gov. For the protection of owls and landowners, exact nesting locations and landowner information is strictly confidential and will not be released to the public. Information provided to Kentucky Fish and Wildlife for this study is used for research purposes only. For more information about this species, go online to fw.ky.gov and search under the keywords, "barn owls."

National Rose Month

Sentiments That The Colors Of Roses Are Meant To Convey

Roses are a popular gift on Valentine's Day. When accompanied by a box of chocolates, a bouquet of long-stemmed roses is sure to make a sweetheart smile on February 14.

Few people may know that the color of a rose is meant to convey a certain message. As a result, even the most head-over-heels-in-love man or woman may not be saying what they mean to say when giving roses. If that special someone has a favorite color of rose, then it might be wise to give that color regardless of what tradition suggests. But when sweethearts have no such preferences, it might be best to keep this guide, courtesy of ProFlowers, in mind.

- Red: Red roses say "I love you." Red is symbolic of love, especially romantic love. Red also symbolizes beauty, courage and respect.

- Pink: Pink is a popular color on Valentine's Day, but sweethearts should know that pink roses say "Thank you," which makes them a better choice for friends than lovers.

- White: White

roses say "I am the one for you." White symbolizes true love, purity, innocence, reverence, humility, youthfulness, and charm.

- Yellow: Yellow roses say "We're friends and I care about you." Joy, gladness, friendship, delight, and remembrance are just a few of the sentiments yellow conveys.

- Yellow with red tip: Yellow roses may be best for friends, but yellow roses with red tips say "I'm falling in love with you."

- Orange/coral: Another awe-inspiring color, orange/coral roses say "I want you in my life." This color indicates desire, enthusiasm and fascination.

- Red and white together: A mixed bouquet of red and white roses says "We are a great match."

- Peach: Peach symbolizes intimacy, telling a lover, "Let's make this a memorable Valentine's Day."

Different color roses say different things, meaning Valentine's Day celebrants can find a rose to convey any message they hope to send.

How to Help Flowers Withstand Heat Waves

Heat waves are an inevitable part of summer in many places across the globe. While humans can escape indoors to air conditioned rooms when heat waves hit full swing, flowers planted around a property have no such luxury, putting their survival in jeopardy whenever the mercury rises to especially steamy heights.

Wilted flowers that have succumbed to the summer sun are a sight many gardening enthusiasts can recognize. But there are ways to keep flowers safe and vibrant during periods of extreme heat.

- Water at the appropriate times of day. The National Gardening Association notes that it's best to water in the early morning and evening because less water will be lost to evaporation during these times of day than during the afternoon, when temperatures tend to be at their hottest.

- Choose the right watering method. It's not just when but also how you water that can affect flowers during summer heat waves. Aboveground sprinklers might be great for lawns, but the NGA notes that such sprinklers can encourage the spread of disease on certain plants, including roses. Many gardening professionals recommend soaker hoses when watering flowers because they promote deep watering that can help the plants withstand the summer heat. If you must use an overheard watering system, set the timer so plants are watered in early in the morning or evening.

- Routinely check the soil moisture. Soil moisture can help gardeners determine if their flowers have enough water to withstand the heat. The NGA advises gardeners to dig a 12-inch deep wedge of soil from their gardens to determine its moisture levels. If the top six inches of the soil is dry, water. If that area is still wet or moist, the plants have enough moisture to withstand the heat. Check these moisture levels more frequently during heat waves than other times of year.

- Avoid overwatering. Novice gardeners may be tempted to water more frequently when they see wilted leaves on their flowers. But wilted leaves are not necessarily indicative of suffering plants. Plants release moisture to protect themselves from excessive heat, and that release of moisture can cause leaves to wilt as the plants try to protect themselves by providing less surface area that can be exposed to the sun. So long as soil moisture levels are healthy, the flowers should be fine, even if their leaves have wilted.

No gardener wants to see their flowers succumb to the summer heat. Fortunately, there are many ways to help flowers survive heat waves.

How June Got its Name (And other fun facts)

There are 12 months in a year, and each has its own unique name. Have you ever wondered where these names originated, or why certain months do not seem to match up to their Latin numerical prefixes?

This June, it can be interesting to learn how the sixth month of the year got its name.

The 12-month calendar used today differs greatly from past calendars. The Ancient Romans were instrumental in establishing the structure on which the modern calendar was built, including the names of the months. The original Roman calendar consisted of 10 months and began in March. There was believed to be a period of unnamed time during the winter when not much was going on with agriculture, and thusly didn't really concern ancient timekeepers. This period would later be broken up into the months of January and February.

Many months, such as March, were named after Roman Gods. Historians believe March was named after Mars, the Roman god of war. May was named after Maia, an earth goddess of plants.

The month of June also gets its name from an important Roman figure. June was named for the goddess Juno, who was the queen of the gods. Juno was the patroness of marriages and weddings, according to Roman mythology. Since June and the summer season were prime times for couples to wed, it seemed fitting that the month be named after this queen of weddings.

There's more to June than a name. According to The Old Farmer's Almanac, June's birth month flowers are the very fragrant and beautiful rose and honeysuckle. Roses represent love, affection and friendship. Honeysuckle is a strong symbol of everlasting bonds of love.

June also is one of only two months that has three birthstones. The American Gem Society states that June's birthstones include the opalescent pearl; the color-changing alexandrite, which is one of the most valuable gems on Earth; and the light-scattering, shimmery moonstone. Each of these stones is mysterious and hard to come by.

People born in the month of June fall under the Gemini or Cancer astrological signs. According to many astrological sources, Geminis tend to be gentle, affectionate and curious. However, because it is a sign of the twins, Geminis may exhibit two different personalities or may be inconsistent and indecisive. Gemini belongs to the element of air, and this is related to aspects of the mind.

Cancers can be imaginative, emotional and persuasive. Negative traits include suspicion, insecurity and moodiness. Cancers tend to care much about matters of the family and home. Cancer is a sign that belongs to the element of water, which is guided by emotion and the heart.

People born in June in the Northern hemisphere get to celebrate their birthdays during some of the best weather of the year. Some famous June birthdays include Johnny Depp, President Donald Trump, Paul McCartney, and Angelina Jolie.

Thomas Reuters Westlaw is an online legal research service that is primarily used by lawyers and legal professionals such as paralegals. However, you can now utilize Westlaw too through the Meade County Public Library's website www.meadereads.org under the tab 'Reference and Research'. This is thanks to County Attorney, Jessica Brown Roberts, who has provided Westlaw to the library at no cost.

What is Westlaw? Westlaw is an online legal research service that includes more than 40,000 databases of case law, public records, legal forms, law journals, state and federal statutes, and more. Westlaw simplifies the legal research process so that you can find what you are searching for easily.

On the home page, you can use the text box at the top of the page to find a document by citation name or by using keywords. You can also browse content using the links in the 'Browse' section of the web page.

When you run a search on West-law, your search is automatically entered into the following core content categories: cases, statutes, and court rules, administrative decisions and guidance, secondary sources, regulations, forms, proposed and enacted legislation, and proposed and adopted regulations.

The core content categories that will most likely be the most helpful for your legal research include cases, regulations, statutes and court rules, and forms. You can easily narrow down the search result by searching for terms within the result. Additionally, to narrow your search results even further, you can add filters to your query.

Westlaw also allows users to have access to ready-to-build legal forms that are state appropriate. For example, there are several different versions of a Last Will and Testament that is available for users to choose from on Westlaw. For those who may need further help to fill out a legal form such as this, there are also instructional forms provided on Westlaw.

I hope by providing this information, the community will better understand the problems we are facing as a community, and how each age group is affected.

Cause and Effect and Cause to Complain

GERRY FISCHER

It seems to me we're teetering on the brink of a major crime wave in Meade County, Kentucky, with only the Brandenburg Police Department and Sheriff's office and Deputies standing between our citizens and impending doom.

We are being set up by pointy-headed politicians who ignore history and thus are doomed to repeat it. Ignorance can be cured, but stupidity is forever. I hope that's true because I plan to test the notion. Hopefully, some of those liberal New York politicians will read this and see their folly, but I wouldn't hold my breath while I waited.

This story's genesis begins in the fall of 1918 when people, Holier than you and me, prepared the 18th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution prohibiting the consumption of alcohol.

It was written and submitted to Congress on December 28, 1918. On January 16, 1919, it was ratified and became law. This well-intentioned amendment was meant to sober up those who drank too much, improve the lives of women and children while reducing immorality. Church attendance was supposed to grow, and the streets of big cities would be safer. That didn't happen. What did happen was crime became organized into what was then called the "Black Hand," later the "Mafia" and now "Cosa Nostra." People simply got their hooch from "Speakeasys," owned by the Mafia, and people who made bathtub gin at home, bootleggers like Joe Kennedy of Massachusetts, and moonshiners right here in Kentucky.

The only lasting effects of the 18th amendment was crime being organized, enhanced, and dramatically increased. The amendment was replaced by the 21st Amendment in the early 1930s. By then, it was too late. As bad as all of these things were, I fear the worst is yet to come.

One of the most "liberal" mayors in the United States, Bill DeBlasio of New York, by July 2019, will outlaw "hot dogs." Doesn't this man realize what he has done, has he no compassion, no shame?? He has unleashed "the hot dogs of war!" I say to you he has struck at the very soul of this nation. Hot dogs are as American as Mom and apple pie. No cookout is complete without a few dogs and brat's, on the grill, and just try to go to a ballgame without having a dirty water weenie passed down to you by thirty or so people. He has begun with banning hot dogs in government lunch rooms and on city property. Soon, all too soon the ban will expand, and before long, there will be no hot dogs manufactured at all. What will become of the Oscar Meyer Weiner truck? Since, his ban covers all processed meats, will country sausage fall next? Will Jimmy Dean go out of business, and what about that pepperoni on your pizza? And all of that's not a patch to what comes next!

There have been books written on something in Kentucky called the "Cornbread Mafia." While I know little about it, I believe this totally unamerican and senseless act by a New York liberal politician will provide a real inducement for people to go deep into the woods, hills, and hollers of Kentucky to make and package illicit hot dogs and sausage.

There will be a rise in illegal meat smuggling. Farm trucks appearing to be loaded with hay will be hiding coolers full of bootleg dogs. Watermelon trucks will be stopped on interstate highways and searched. The Coast Guard will make raids on boats going in and out New York harbor confiscating illicit processed meat. Hot dog pirates will be raiding each other's supply.

There will be machinegun battles in the streets, and King Anarchy will hold high court. People will die in the streets. To get a job, must we agree to a pre-employment hot dog test? When, will this madness end? Shouldn't the people of New York expect better? I mean, even to a vegan, just how important can a hot dog be? There is an upside to all this, as unemployment hits the hot dog manufacturers and recession occurs there may well be an offsetting rise in employment in Hot Dog Rehabilitation Centers. Hi, my name is Gerry, and I eat hot dogs.

As everyone knows, fair is on its way. There have already been several events held at the fairgrounds this year, including the Meade County Saddle Club Horse Show. Some of the fastest horses in Meade County compete in various events like Pole Bending, Flags, and my all-time favorite, Barrel Racing.

A lot of people think riding horses isn't a sport. The riders that get on a horse everyday know you'll only get so many runs out of your horse when competing. Competition horses are just like football players and baseball players. The rider and the horse are like a team, they play together and they win together, assuming every run may be one of the last runs you ever make.

Coming up on Saturday, July, 20 at 6 p.m., at the Meade County Fairgrounds is the Meade County Fair Western Horse Show, come out and support some of your friends, family or even compete on your own horse. For more information you can look on facebook under Meade County Saddle Club.

StarWars Summer Reading Kickoff Event Giant Hit For Kids of All Ages

Kids excitedly pick out the color they want for their pool noodle lightsabers.

MICHELLE PADGETT
Messenger Staff

My friends and family will all agree on one thing about me. I'm a pretty big Star Wars nerd. So, when the Meade County Public Library announced their Summer Reading Kickoff party was Star Wars themed, I fought Jade, our Intern Reporter, for the opportunity to cover the event. At the Summer Kickoff event, kids of all ages had the opportunity to make pool noodle light sabers, Yoda or Princess Leia headbands, participate in Trivia rounds for prizes, take part in a basic lightsaber training camp, and learn all sorts of science facts and information from the Science Center.

Near the end of the event, there was a

Prizes that could be won by those participating in the Trivia rounds included magnetic story books, and lightsabers.

Kona Ice bus as well, activities and a secret party for those who meet the reading qualifications. This summer's events all seem to be space related to things like making Galaxy tote bags, alien abduction night lights and other fun "out of this world" activities.

This event was the kickoff to the "summer reading event," which encourages children to continue to read outside of school with fun activities and a secret party for those who meet the reading qualifications. This summer's events all seem to be space related to things like making Galaxy tote bags, alien abduction night lights and other fun "out of this world" activities.

You can check out the upcoming events on the Library's website meadereads.org or stop by and pick up a calendar.

Destination Brandenburg... A reSOUNDing success!

DAMON GOOCH
Submitted article

After twenty some odd years and many persons combining their efforts, Destination Brandenburg realized a COLOSSAL SUCCESS.

June 1 at 6:15 p.m., we held a brief Ribbon-Cutting ceremony to open the 2019 Summer Concert series and dedicate the new roof. Many thanks to Judge Gerry Lynn, Mayor Ronnie Joyner, Monument Chemical, Meade County Art's Council and Craig Clark who built the roof; we collectively marshaled our efforts and resources and made the life-long dream of covering the amphitheater a reality.

It's AMAZING! For those who missed our inaugural event, you missed a wonderful time. The weather was perfect! Dog Gone Good BBQ provided outstanding food, The Shop (Craig Clark) quenched everyone's thirsts and Bill Miles of Louisville, Ky., amassed a spectacular Production platform (Lights and Sound) for our musicians.

A Nashville acoustical recording artist singer/songwriter (Greg Perkins) opened for our Headline Show, and from 8 to 10 p.m. the Wulfe Bros Band enchanted a very elated crowd of approximately 225-230 patrons.

Save the date: July 13.

Below is the schedule for the 4 remaining events for Destination Brandenburg 2019.

Our next concert is on July 13. Our first act, CMN, is an acoustic trio from Louisville, and will be on stage from 6 to 7 p.m. CMN will be followed by our opening act Jolivia, a fabulous couple from Louisville. Josh Logan and Olivia Henken met while performing during season five of NBC's The Voice and will perform from 7 to 8 p.m. Our Headline Act hails from Lima, Ohio. New Frontier's: The Definitive Journey Tribute band was formed in 2015 and will perform from 8 to 10 p.m.

Security is paramount, and SAFETY for ALL attendees is our Mantra. The leadership listened to resident requests and agreed to allow adult beverages this year. It's OUR Social responsibility to embrace Mayor Joyner's trust by being respectful of everyone's opinion and to willingly obey and not contest his wishes and rules. There will be several vendors serving beverages and food; anyone wishing to partake of adult beverages MUST show current ID, obtain a security wristband and NO ONE is allowed to bring in outside food or drink.

It's the same as going to the movies. We're expected to be considerate of others and of course, no outside food/drink items.

There were a few questions regarding the security wristbands. Proceeds of the wristbands are used to defray costs of event staff support (Staff and Security Shirts, radios and other related items) - the money is returned to our coffers to keep the concerts FREE and SAFE. Parking at the first event wasn't overly crowded; however, we will continue to monitor parking and congestion and to modify parking as required.

While there's no immediate plan to close

River Road and/or Main St, we will have a plan to redirect traffic if Patron Safety becomes an issue. As in all events, we desperately need Volunteer Staff; one of our specific needs is drivers for the Shuttle Buses. Anyone possessing a valid CDL (Class A or B) with a Passenger ("P") endorsement and is interested in volunteering, please contact Meade County or the City of Brandenburg for more information.

We can use your help! Of course, disabled patrons, residents, business owners, vendors, Event Staff, performers, production, registered campers and vehicles will be accommodated; please be patient with the Staff and ask for a Supervisor if you don't understand or have an issue as we have radios. In closing, we could not sustain our FREE events without the following persons: THANK YOU again for all your continued contributions and support of Brandenburg/Meade County.

Contributors to date are as follows: Monument Chemical and the Meade County Art's Council; Meade County Bank (Matt Pike); Cecilian Bank (Mona Jarboe); Donation of two (2) school buses (1 - county/1- city) for Shuttles and the use of the Meade County High School Parking lot - Meade County Schools (Dr. John Mil-lay and Board); 10' x 20' Billboard - Barr Reality and Auction (Chris and Stephen Barr); Meade County (Tourism-Judge Gerry Lynn); City of Brandenburg (Mayor Ronnie Joyner) for the use of the River-front Park, Amphitheater and Campgrounds; SANTEK, Doe Valley (Mike Barberi), and Radios - Meade County Fair (David Pace and Board).

We can always use volunteers before, during, and after events. Generally, we begin the event set up as early as 11:00 am and do not completely clean up until 1 a.m. PLEASE consider joining Meade County Art's Council. We need your help!

Our goal next year is to increase the frequency of concerts and to keep them FREE; however, these concerts require a lot of planning and man-hours. Please, Volunteer! Organizations or individuals wishing to donate (time, funding, or by other means), please contact Debbie Masterson, Meade County Department of Tourism (270) 422-3626. Meade County Art's Council: Vendors, please contact Rachael Mangin at Rachael.mangin@gmail.com for general information or Damon Gooch at dk456bb@hotmail.com.

4th Annual Bucky Wayne Memorial Golf Scramble a Success

Messenger Staff

The Brandenburg Moose Family Center, Lodge #1177, hosted the 4th Annual Bucky Wayne Memorial Golf Scramble Tournament on June 2 at the Doe Valley Golf Course. The Scramble started at 1:00 p.m. and concluded at 7:00 pm. It was a perfect day for golfing—a sunny day with a cool breeze and little humidity. The day began with a putting contest, with the top 3 qualifiers to complete the contest after the tournament.

There were 12 teams, consisting of 4 players each. Everyone had a great time, whether they got their best scores or not! Several prizes were at stake if someone made a hole in one at various holes. No one was able to claim those prizes.

However, the winner of the CTP (Closest to the Pin) on #5 was Jimmy Lee, and LD (Longest Drive) on #10 was Johnny Storms.

The First Place team, with a score of 58, consisted of Terry Brookshire, Chris Brookshire, Tyler Henry, and Jim Taylor. Second Place went to Eli Dix, Jr., Donald “Eli” Dix, Jimmy Lee and Joey Lee, with a score of 63.

In Third Place was Johnny Storms, Richard Augun, Tres Wayne, and William Storms, with a score of 64.

In a tense showdown at the putting contest the winners were Mike LaFrance in First Place, Damien McDonald in Second Place and in Third Place, Bryan Stanley Bennett, Mark Dix, and Dave Maifield at Par 8.

Yates. There was also a raffle of a large country ham, donated by Curran’s Market in Ekron, which was won by Mandy Wayne, who also won the wedge club and a Galloway Putt Cup won by Terry Brookshire.

There were over 40 sponsors of the various holes at the event and overall the Scramble was a huge success in helping to build up the scholarship fund for the Bucky Wayne Memorial.

Dealing With Homesickness

DEANA K. REED

Summer camps and overnight stays with friends and family are on many of our children's agendas for this summer. While many of these activities often result in fond memories, they can present challenges for children who experience homesickness.

Homesickness can occur with anyone at any age, but is especially prevalent in children who are spending time away from their parents for the first time. Homesickness often results in the person feeling sad, lonely and scared. Some people even get stomachaches or headaches as a result.

Experiencing homesickness is completely normal. If your child is venturing out on their own for the first time or staying away longer than any other time before, you may want to take some measures to prevent homesickness. Have your child choose something to pack that reminds them of home. This could be a favorite toy, their pillow or a family picture. If you are going to camp, make sure to check the list of appropriate items to bring to camp.

It may be good to do a few practice runs beforehand, especially if this is your child's first time away. This could mean staying for a few hours at a friend's or family member's house without you before a first overnight or scheduling a shorter camping experience to prepare for a weeklong overnight camp.

Encourage your child to stay busy while they are away. If they are going to camp, encourage them to make friends. Staying busy and having someone to talk to can help prevent homesickness. Remind your child that if they feel uneasy they can talk to a caring adult. They may be able to give them more tips to ward off homesickness.

Basketball Camp Helps Kids Improve Their Skills

Stuart Pepper Middle Coach Shane Deaton watched a group of boys practice what they had been learning at this year's basketball camp.

Does your kid love basketball? If so, Basketball Camp was the place to be this summer. Instead of practicing in your uneven driveway with your small basketball goal from when you were six, basketball camp was a chance to get out of the house and practice with your friends. From June 3 to June 7, Middle School Coach Shane Deaton, junior Casey Turner, and seniors Brayden Blankenship, Parker Johnston, and Mitchell Dozier ran the camp from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Along with various scrimmages and other team exercises, every kid got their chance to show and improve their basketball skills.

From June 3 to June 7 Meade County High School (MCHS) Chorus Directors Haylie Rebilas and Derek Crafton, along with their Choreographer Haylie Rebilas hosted the first Summer Musical Theatre Camp.

This was a blast for children of (mostly) all ages. Haylie Rebilas was helped by both junior Jazmine DeBeauchamp and senior Lily Shelton as well as other MCHS Chorus students and graduates. Every kid had a great time and got to practice and show off their singing, dancing, and performance skills all week.
