Lincoln County puts Phase 2 on hold

MAX KIRKENDALL
newsguardeditor@countrymedia.net

The Lincoln County Commission voted 3-0 Monday to delay the County's application to enter Phase 2 until September 29.

Additionally, at the regularly scheduled Board meeting, the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners received reports from Public Health Director Rebecca Austen, Vice Chair of the Lincoln County Public Health Advisory Committee Co-Chair Gary Lahman on the County's COVID-19 status, and an update from Oregon Health Authority Director Patrick Allen in response to questions about how and when the State will measure metrics that must be met to move forward to Phase 2 of the Oregon Reopening Plan Framework.

Austen began the discussions by providing a local update of the COVID-19 numbers. As of Sept. 1, Lincoln County had 463 positive cases, 23 hospitalizations and 13 deaths. A couple of weeks ago, Lincoln County was at a 10 percent testing positivity rate, according to Austen. The numbers for the past two weeks have yet to be finalized.

Otis fire destroys trailer, leaves victim displaced

At approximately 11:53 a.m. on September 1, North Lincoln Fire and Rescue (NLFR) responded to a report of a vehicle fire on Deer Drive in Otis.

According to NLFR Chief Rob Dahlman, the victim reported she was sitting in her fifth wheel travel trailer when she heard a loud 'pop' noise and then noticed her electric fan had shut off. The trailer was powered by an extension cord that connected to a nearby shop and after suspecting an electrical shortage, the victim walked outside to inspect the electrical cord. At that point, Dahlman said she noticed there were flames coming out from underneath the trailer.

"She said she tried to use her hose to knock down the flames, but that wasn't working, so she went back in the trailer, grabbed her dog and called 911," Dahlman said.

NLFR responded shortly after the call, but at that point, the trailer had been completely engulfed in flames. It was a total loss and everything inside was also destroyed, according to NLFR. The flames also extended to some of the surrounding brush but was quickly knocked down by fire crews.

(ODF) responded to make sure there wasn't any threat of a wildfire and the Red Cross responded to help the victim find a place to stay.

City Council remains against 24-hour lodging hold

newsguardeditor@countrymedia.net

As droves of people flood Oregon coastal towns on a weekly basis, there has been a rising concern among community leaders as it pertains to COVID-19 (Coronavirus).

This concern stems from a pair of outbreaks in Lincoln City at local hotels, Inn at Spanish Head and Surftides. Because of this, the Lincoln City City Council decided this week to revisit the topic of a 24-hour hold rule for lodging business.

The Lincoln County commissioners along with the cities of Lincoln County had previously approved a 24-hour mandatory wait period for lodging staff to clean a room after it has been occupied by a visitor. Lincoln City later rescinded the rule at a June 19 meeting.

The City Council held a special meeting on Sept. 2, and allowed community members to speak, or write in comments, on the potential of reinstating the rule in town. Local representatives such as Lori Arce-Torres, Executive Director of the Chamber of Commerce, urged the council not to reimplement the rule, stating that there has been conflicting reports about how long the virus can actually live on a surface. Arce-Torres said "it's illogical to conclude that the 24-hour hold will have any positive barring on preventing the spread of the virus."

"We appreciate the hard work, on behalf of the residents of Lincoln City, and understand that the number one goal is to lessen the spread of the virus. However, we need to consider the financial impacts to the businesses who are trying hard to recover from the shutdown," Arce-Torres said.

Also speaking at the meeting were representatives from the Captain Cook Inn, who said the 24-hour hold will be financial burden for both businesses and employees of those businesses. The local business owners acknowledged the current outbreaks in Lincoln City but stated they are very limited and mostly in the food service portion of the businesses.

All comments can be watched or read at <http://lincolncityor.iqm2.com/Citizens/Default.aspx>

City Manager Ron Chandler said the Council received 53 comments since the agenda packet was published and all comments were from the lodging industry, who were not in favor of reinstating the 24-hour rule.

Councilor Judy Casper kicked off the council's discussion by addressing the conflicting information regarding the virus on surfaces, lack of data and lack of current information from health officials. However, she also stated it's better to be

New modeling shows downward trend of virus transmission in Oregon

newsruleditor@country-media.net

Oregon continues to make progress this week in the fight against COVID-19 (Coronavirus), state leaders announced.

During a Sept. 4 press conference, Oregon Governor Kate Brown was joined by Oregon Health Authority (OHA) Director Pat Allen and Dr. Dean Sidelinger, health officer and state epidemiologist, to discuss the current virus trends.

OHA director Pat Allen said the state is on a clear downtrend of daily COVID-19 cases statewide. In the latest data, OHA reported a 30 percent drop in weekly cases as compared to the peak of the pandemic in Oregon.

"That's a really encouraging sign and it's validation that more people are taking seriously the guidance to wear face coverings, practice physical distancing and to limit gatherings," Allen said.

Efforts of Oregonians are working, says Allen, but they will need to keep up the pressure in order to open school classrooms for students and allow businesses to recover from the closures. Allen said social gatherings continue to be main cause of spreading the virus.

"We simply cannot celebrate Labor Day, and all the holidays coming up in the fall and winter, the way we have celebrated them in the past," Allen said.

Gov. Brown urged Oregonians to make smart choices when it comes to virus, stating that three times Oregon has seen spikes in COVID-19 after a holiday weekend since the pandemic began.

Both Gov. Brown and Allen hope Oregonians will stay local as much as possible and stay in small groups. If you do plan to be in a group, health officials are recommending you do so outside. Health officials also encourage everyone to keep a six foot distance, wear a face covering when physical distance cannot be maintain, and continually wash your hands.

Oregon has accounted for over 27,000 COVID-19 cases and 475 deaths so far.

However, last week marked the fourth consecutive week that case totals have dropped, at a 8.6 percent drop from the previous week.

Testing positivity is also down to 4.4 percent, the first time since June that it has been below five percent. Below five percent is the figure needed to reopen classrooms. Allen said they are encouraged by the figures, but wants Oregonian not to lessen up.

"Any lapse in our collective vigilance or in our individual judgement can have far ranging impacts on us, our families and our communities," Allen said. "It's not just about flattening the curve, it's about keeping it flat."

Dr. Sidelinger spoke about the newest OHA modeling that has also provided some encouraging signs. The modeling shows that each case is generating less than one other case, which is a reason for the daily case number decrease. However, Dr. Sidelinger said there is still work to be done.

"The virus is extremely contagious, spreads very quickly and it wouldn't take much for cases to spike again," Dr. Sidelinger said.

At the current transmission rate, Dr. Sidelinger said they could see a substantial drop in daily case numbers by the end of September. As a result of the progress, the state is looking at reopening some lower risk activities, such as public pools and playgrounds. But the continued progress will depend on others' individual efforts to follow the safety guidelines.

"It's on every one of us to maintain the progress we've made to stop COVID-19 and together I know we can do it and get through this holiday weekend and keep the pressure up on COVID-19 in Oregon," Dr. Sidelinger said.

safe than sorry, even though the numbers are down.

"I think it's a good idea to take a look at this again," Casper said. "We've had an influx in people coming and going in our county and it'll show they are not counted here when they do have the virus... they go back (where they hold residence) and are counted."

Casper also spoke about the safety concerns housekeeping staff have expressed to them. However, Councilor Mitch Parsons said he recently spoke with about 15-20 local housekeepers to poll their concern level and found that "most are more worried about their economic situation than the virus and don't wish to lose hours or work," said Parsons.

Out of those individuals, Parson said only one was worried about the virus, and most felt comfortable that they had what they needed to protect themselves.

Councilor Diana Hinton spoke about a recent Lincoln County Public Health report that stated Restaurant and food service cases doubled during a one week period in August, rising from 10 to 20. Hinton said Public Health believes the virus is moving north as Newport's cases are dropping and Lincoln City's cases are rising. Hinton also noted that the Hispanic population has accounted for 52 percent of cases in Lincoln County.

"I think that's where our hard work needs to be directed, our residents that fit that ethnicity category," Hinton said.

Mayor Dick Anderson also cited some updated statistics, say that through contact tracing, the average number of individuals a positive case came into contact with was six in Newport. In Lincoln City it is 15 individuals per positive case.

"What that means is, for some reason, our folks who are positive (in Lincoln City) do a lot more socializing," Mayor Anderson said. "Add that to where outbreaks are occurring and it really doesn't surprise me..."

"I don't think it's workplace, I think it's social dinners, socializing, and living conditions. I think there's a lot more to this story. I'm encouraging us to think that this is not necessarily workplace related."

Mayor Anderson, instead of reinstating the 24-hour rule, urged the city and the lodging industry to provide additional public service announcements to discourage extra socialization.

The council agreed to take that approach, but plans to revisit the the 24-hour hold discussion prior to Lincoln County's move into Phase 2 of reopening. The discussion will likely occur at the Sept. 24 meeting, according to the council.

First Interstate Bank hosts Volunteer Day

THE NEWS GUARD

First Interstate Bank, a $16.4 billion community bank with more than 150 branches across six states, is hosting its third annual Volunteer Day on Wednesday, Sept. 9. As part of this philanthropic effort, all First Interstate locations will close at noon on Sept. 9, giving employees paid time to volunteer in their communities.

Over 2,100 First Interstate volunteers from across the Company will support approximately 270 separate nonprofit organizations through more than 315 service projects. Recognizing the unique challenges to hosting this year's Volunteer Day event, employees may volunteer onsite at organizations where it is safe to do so at a social distance. Additional options allow employees to volunteer remotely—from their home, from the Bank, or virtually by hosting webinars/financial education seminars.

Service projects include—but are not limited to—financial literacy trainings, building hygiene kits, preparing food boxes for home deliveries, weeding and harvesting gardens, chopping firewood, and sewing face masks.

"We celebrate the partnership we have with First Interstate Bank," said Carolyn Candela with NeighborImpact. "A million thanks for the many times and ways you have stood with us, helping us help Central Oregonians in need."

Locally, First Interstate employees in Lincoln City will be partnering with the City of Lincoln City—Taft Beach Access to initiate a beach clean-up project.

Employees selected their own service projects to ensure they cater to the specific needs of their communities and were encouraged to support nonprofit organizations working to eliminate poverty. Because of the Coronavirus pandemic, projects focused on financial education and helping those affected by job loss were encouraged.

"Giving back to the places we call home is what makes us who we are," said First Interstate President and CEO, Kevin Riley. "Yes, we're a full-service community bank, but more importantly, we're a trusted community partner and neighbor. We are honored to celebrate the power of community with you on Volunteer Day—and every day."

About

First Interstate Bank is a community bank headquartered in Billings, Montana, delivering best-in-class banking and Wealth Management services throughout Idaho, Montana, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington, and Wyoming.

Beginning at the SE corner of said property as shown on survey CS 13766, dated April 15, 1992, thence running northwesterly along a concave curve northwest on the west right of way line of Highway 101 for a distance of approximately 50 ft, to the true point of beginning, being the most northerly NE corner of that property owned by Pelican Pub and Brewery. Thence continuing NW along the concave curve on the west right of way line of Highway 101 for a distance of approximately 25 ft, thence southwesterly 38° 3' 49" for 30 ft more or less to the the meander line of the Pacific Ocean on the easterly shore of Siletz Bay, then southeasterly along said meander line approximately 27 ft to the northwesterly corner of that property owned by Pelican Pub and Brewery, thence northeasterly 31° 58' 45" 41 ft +/- to the point of beginning; The sale would occur after approval of a disposition and development agreement for a public private redevelopment project to include a public pedestrian boardwalk along the remaining bay frontage on the Agency's property. The agency previously sold a portion of property to the private developer but the property was insufficient and this conveyance will correct that error. Agenda materials are published the Wednesday before the Agency meeting on the Lincoln City website www.lincolncity.org

Superintendent Update

The following is another update on the status of education in our school district and our plans for the Fall 2020 school year. I will use the same numbered format as the last time for clarity.

1. WHEN DOES COMPREHENSIVE DISTANCE LEARNING (CDL) AND EDMENTUM BEGIN?

The answer to this question is different for elementary and secondary.

Elementary CDL – Sept 14-Sept 25 is when teachers and families will be getting together to talk about Comprehensive Distance Learning and what each student needs to be successful. The whole group lessons start Monday, Sept 28. Students will be provided instructional materials for students that will be accessed online for the Sept 14-25 time period.

Secondary (7-12th grade) CDL – Sept 10-11 is when teachers and students will be gearing up for Comprehensive Distance Learning and the students will be logging on. Instruction begins Monday, Sept 14, because high school students need to log in many hours of instruction to receive credit.

Edmentum, the K-12 fully online program our schools offer, begins instruction on Sept 14 for all grades. There will be an orientation for elementary students using the Edmentum learning platform on Sept 10-11. More information on this to come soon.

2. HERE ARE THE DESCRIPTIONS OF THE TWO EDUCATIONAL MODELS THIS FALL:

Comprehensive Distance Learning (CDL)

Your school in a virtual format. Students will access learning online with their LCSD teachers daily, with materials for activities provided as needed. CDL this fall is more robust and has more accountability and more in-depth educational requirements than the Distance Learning we offered in spring. Student work will be graded, attendance will be taken, and teachers will provide daily instruction from their classroom. Teachers will meet with elementary students and families during the first two weeks of

There are two choices of education delivery for your student. Chromebooks are provided.

We Offer Two Choices:

You can switch out at 9 weeks if you change your mind about your selection.

Or

Comprehensive Distance Learning (like your "real" school except virtual). Students will access learning online with their LCSD teachers daily, with materials for activities provided as needed. CDL this fall is more robust, has more accountability, and more in-depth educational requirements than the Distance Learning we provided in spring. Student work will be graded, attendance will be taken, and teachers will provide daily instruction from their classroom. Teachers will meet in-person with students and families during the first two weeks of school to orient them to the CDL program and will continue to regularly connect with students and families.

Edmentum – online and self-paced. K-12 Online Edmentum Program (new). This program is self-paced and does not have a connection with an LCSD teacher. The framework is K-12 and follows all Oregon Standards for Education. The LCSD E-Learning Handbook provides detailed information about this program. Students are still connected to local school with counselor meeting once per week, attendance, and invited to school assemblies.

Proveemos dos opciones de educación para el estudiante. Los Chromebook serán provistos a los estudiantes.

LINCOLN COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT

Las clases empiezan en 9/14/20

Estamos Ofreciendo Dos Opciones:

Si cambia de idea y quiere cambiar el programa que usted seleccionó para su hijo, usted lo puede después de 9 semanas de clases.

Aprendizaje A Distancia Comprensivo (es como ir a la escuela normalmente excepto que son clases virtuales). Los estudiantes tendrán acceso al aprendizaje en línea con los maestros de LCSD cada día, usando materiales para sus actividades escolares provistas para cada necesidad. El Programa de CDL este otoño está más robusto, tiene más responsabilidad y más profundos requerimientos educacionales que el programa de Aprendizaje a Distancia provistos en la primavera. Las tareas de los estudiantes serán calificadas, se observara la asistencia diaria y los maestros proveerán diariamente instrucciones desde el salón de clases. Los maestros se verán en persona con los estudiantes y sus familias durante las dos primeras semanas de escuela para orientarlos hacia el programa de CDL y continuara conectándose regularmente con los estudiantes y sus familias.

Edmentum – en línea y a su-propio-paso. Programa K-12 en Línea Edmentum (es nuevo). Este programa es a su-propio-paso y no tiene una conexión con un maestro de LCSD. Encajan los grados de K-12 y siguen los estándares de la Educación del Estado de Oregón. El Manual de LCSD E-Learning (Aprendizaje-E) provee información detallada de este programa. Los estudiantes estarán conectados con sus escuelas locales a través de una reunión una vez por semana con su consejero, asistencia e invitaciones a la asamblea de la escuela.

school to orient them to the CDL program and regularly connect with students and families. These meetings will be in person as much as possible using ALL safety precautions (social distancing, face coverings, sanitizing, cleaning, sneeze-guards, etc.). All teachers will continuously connect with families. Your teachers will present office hours.

K-12 Online Edmentum Program (new)

The all-online Edmentum learning framework is K-12 and follows all Oregon Standards for Education. We have been using Edmentum for three years for secondary students and recently added the curriculum for grades K-6. The program administrator is Zach Lillebo, the Vice Principal of Taft Elementary School in Lincoln City. He is terrific and has been working hard planning how our new program will work. He will be in charge of this K-12 program full time, and there will be other educators within the program to assist our students. This program is self-paced and does not have a daily connection with an LCSD teacher. There is an expectation of daily participation and progression through the curriculum and assessments. Students in K-6 will have access to the core subjects of Reading, English Language Arts, Science, Social Studies, and Math.

Please stay tuned for more information.

Thank you for your continued support.

LCSD Superintendent

“Since about mid July, our positivity rate has been climbing, to the point where a couple weeks ago we were at 10 percent... that’s not good,” Austen said. “We need to be at five percent to meet the metric. We’re not seeing a decline yet, which is something we’d want to see before we make any moves to open up any further.”

The age demographic of positive cases is led by individuals in their 20s, with the second most being 80 years old and up. Austen said those cases have been likely spread through workplaces (younger age) and assisted living facilities (older age). On a positive note, Austen said through contact tracing they have noticed that sporadic cases (unknown source) have dropped.

Commissioner Kaety Jacobson asked Austen about contact tracers, as the Public Health sent out a call to action last week, in hopes of gathering more. Luckily, Austen said they received immediate response.

“We did find two English speakers and two bi-lingual folks that we are getting up to speed as we speak,” Austen said. “That was a very successful recruitment.”

Commissioner Claire Hall asked about scheduling, and Austen said the new contact tracers are willing to work on weekends to allow for contact tracing seven days a week.

During the meeting, Gary Lahman co-chair of the County’s Public Health Advisory Committee appeared on behalf of the committee. Lahman said the committee, which submitted a letter to the Board on August 5th, requested that the County delay its application until September 21.

“The committee sent a letter to the Commissioners, by consensus, to say that you are moving too fast,” Lahman said. “We are glad that you have slowed down a bit. It seems like you have. And, we follow very closely what the Commissioners are going to do moving into Phase 2.”

An email to the board from Oregon Health Authority Director Patrick Allen, indicated OHA wants to see the positivity rate stable or decreasing. He said it is also “necessary that all six metrics be met, though there is still room for judgement calls.”

The County does not currently meet all six metrics in the Phase 2 Reopening Criteria.

After careful consideration of the County’s current situation, the likelihood of increased concerns over the busy labor day weekend, the convergence of the flu season with the continued spread of the disease in the County and the desire to proceed cautiously to assist the reopening of schools to in person education, the Board voted unanimously to delay the request to move Lincoln County into Phase 2 until September 29, 2020.

“I will move that we delay our application until 29th which will be consistent with our twenty-four-hour hold period,” Commissioner Doug Hunt said. “We can go backwards and move that date backwards if we want, but this will give us time to gather additional data, to look at the impact of Labor Day, look at the impact of flu season and to try and get our schools open.”

Commissioner Jacobson added she would like to add a friendly amendment to Commissioner Hunt’s motion.

“The week before our September 29 meeting we try and have our Board of Commissioners Meeting with the Oregon Health Authority’s Director Allen or a person of his choosing, so that we are not in the situation of trying to understand if we meet the criteria,” Jacobson said.

The County Commissioners meet each week on Monday at 3pm. Meetings are live streamed on You Tube (https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCwNz5TMHTN4itpJm_efb9Q). Public Input may be submitted to boc@co.lincoln.or.us

ically dry conditions we have right now.”

Dahlman referenced the current wildfire in western Lane County as an example of how quickly fire is spreading in these dry conditions. The 400-acre wildfire in private forestland about 1 mile southeast of Mapleton, Ore. has spread across land that is similar to the Otis/Rose Lodge region, Dahlman said.

Chief Dahlman said the fire in Otis yesterday is currently being ruled an electrical fire caused by a malfunction, based on the events described by the victim. However, the extent of the damage made the determination of an exact cause difficult.

The family of the Otis resident has now sprung to the aid of the victim and is asking the community to do the same.

“My sister’s and I bought the 5th wheel for her when she was asked to leave her previous home,” said Doris Hatch-Hatfield, daughter of the victim. “My mother lost everything. She’s been living on my Aunt and Uncle’s property for a few years. She lost her husband over 20 years ago. She’s had a very hard life, and is no longer able to work due to disability.”

To help out, Hatch-Hatfield and her family have started a GoFundMe page. The page reads, “She walked out of the blaze with only her phone and the clothes on her back. Knowing that she would give you that shirt or anything else you might need, I’m asking and starting a fundraiser in order to raise money for a down payment on a new trailer/home for her. Anything helps.”
