Search suspended for missing fisherman at Yaquina Bay

JEREMY C. RUARK
Lincoln County Leader

The Coast Guard suspended its search a missing fisherman near Newport, Oregon, at 10:15 a.m., Monday, Aug. 11.

Watchstanders at Coast Guard Sector Columbia River received a report at approximately 4 p.m., Sunday, Aug. 10,

Recall effort launched against Commissioner Claire Hall

A recall effort has been launched against Lincoln County Commissioner Claire Hall.

The Petition for Recall was filed Aug. 4, 2025, by Christine A. Jamison. In submitting the request for a recall election, Jamison detailed her concerns.

Commissioner Hall has suppressed public input by excluding individuals from commission meetings, potentially violating Oregon's meeting law

(ORS.192-630) and Rule 02 25 065. She's prematurely ended public meetings to prevent elected officials, including the District Attorney and a Judge, from speaking. Commissioner Hall has also excluded a fellow commissioner from daily governance, discarding the will of the people.

Capturing moments at the Siletz Bay Music Festival

The annual Siletz Bay Music Festival will be conducted at five venues in Lincoln City and Newport over 10 days beginning Aug. 14.

The Lincoln County Leader has stepped back behind the curtain to being our readers a closer look at the photographer who captures the stunning moments during this world-class musical series.

“I have photographed the festival for fifteen years. I started in 2010, when it was Sound Waves,” Lincoln City photographer Bob Gibson said, adding that along the way he has had to navigate through specific challenges.

“The greatest challenge is being discreet and unobtrusive,” he explained. “I plan a strategy for each performance that puts me in a position to get the images I need. I bring the

Under Trump budget, Oregon to lose $15 billion

JEREMY C. RUARK
Lincoln County Leader

Gov. Tina Kotek has announced that the budget reconciliation bill backed by the Trump Administration and passed by Republicans in Congress is projected to cut $15 billion in federal funding from Oregon for health insurance coverage, food benefits, and other programs.

Kotek’s announcement Aug. 11, is the result of a preliminary analysis by the State of Oregon’s Chief Financial Officer in coordination with state agencies upon the passage of President Trump’s budget early in July. The analysis may change pending detailed federal guidelines to implement the bill.

The Trump Administration and Republicans in Congress have betrayed American children and families, who will become sicker, hungrier, and less prosperous because of President Trump’s budget bill, according to Kotek.

“Oregonians will see less of their federal tax dollars coming back to our state for things they count on. Furthermore, President Trump and Congress knew that state governments cannot pay for this substantial gap in services but went ahead and did it anyway,” Kotek states in a release. “I am going to work with Oregon lawmakers and community partners to do all that we can to stand up for Oregonians and get through this needless, callous hardship. I will continue to hold the line and push back as Oregon values are under threat. I hope Oregonians will stand with me as we fight this together.”

Additional preliminary analyses of impacts to Oregon state agencies can be found through the link with this story at the Lincoln County Leader website.

According to the release, Gov. Kotek will convene state lawmakers and key stakeholders who work with or represent populations most at risk from the Trump Administration’s budget cuts to consider possible strategies to reduce impact to people, and her office will continue to communicate impacts as they come into focus through implementation.

Kotek has called for a special session late

On-going child luring investigations net two more arrests

JEREMY C. RUARK
Lincoln County Leader

Two people are facing criminal charges following the latest Lincoln County Sheriff's Office (LCSO) child luring investigations.

LCSO deputies conducting ongoing online child luring investigations posing as underage children on various social media platforms were contacted by two adult males who engaged in sexually explicit conversations and attempted to arrange in-person meetings for illegal sexual encounters.

On July 31, a Lincoln County detective traveled to Albany, Oregon, and arrested 75-year-old Gary Stitzel, of Albany, on charges of Luring a Minor and Online Sexual Corruption of a Child in the Second Degree.

On Aug. 5, 45-year-old Jason Martin, of Seal Rock, Oregon, traveled to meet with a decoy person and was subsequently arrested, according to LCSO Detective Sergeant Jason Spano. Marin was charged with Luring a Minor and Online Sexual Corruption of a Child in the First Degree.

Spano said the on-going law enforcement effort through online undercover operations is a LCSO priority.

"The biggest thing for us that it is proactive," he said. "Unfortunately, our detectives investigate a lot of child sex crimes that have already occurred, and these investigations are able to take perpetrators who are in that mindset of victimizing children, and we are able to get them off the street and get them arrested before they actually victimize.

Spano calls the online undercover investigations "effective law enforcement techniques."

"They are very effective, and I am surprised with the amount of media attention they get that we are still having such inundation occurring. There are several investigations going on currently as we speak. They just never stop unfortunately. It is very sad," he said. "At least with these investigations, we can get in front of it, instead of waiting for some child to be victimized."

The arrests underscore the effectiveness of proactive, targeted enforcement strategies designed to identify and apprehend individuals seeking to exploit children online before harm can occur, according to Span, who is encouraging parents and guardians to monitor their children's online activity and maintain open, ongoing conversations about the risks of communicating with strangers on the internet.

Spano said the LCSO conducts presentations and training within local schools to help children and parents understand the danger. "Parents need to pay close attention to what their kids are doing online," he said. "That's why we stress through the media that we are doing these investigations and it's also to let parents know that they need to be more aware of what their children are doing online because there are plenty of bad actors out there that will try to go after our kids, so it is important for us to protect our children."

The child luring suspects are being convicted and sentenced, according to Spano.

"The penalties can range from as low as probation to prison time," he said. "Through community awareness, education, and enforcement, we can work together to ensure a safer environment for all children. The Lincoln County Sheriff's Office remains steadfast in its mission to protect children and hold offenders accountable."

'Active' results at pedestrian safety enforcement operation

JEREMY C. RUARK
Lincoln County Leader

Over the years, the Lincoln City Police Department (LCPD) has conducted frequent Pedestrian Safety Enforcement Operations as a proactive effort to educate drivers and protect pedestrians.

The LCPD's latest such enforcement was conducted Aug. 5 at the NE 29th Street and Highway 101 crosswalk and was considered by LCPD Patrol Sgt. Erick Anderson as "pretty active."

Four LCPP traffic officer chase cars were involved including a LCPD patrol lieutenant, due to the importance of the safety issue, according to Anderson, who added that during the operation, officers stopped 26 vehicles, two for Mobile Device Use, and 24 for Failure to Stop for Pedestrian in Crosswalk, resulting in 16 citations issued, and one suspended driver's license seized.

This event took place at the crosswalk next to the new Wecoma Place Apartments on Highway 101.

"It should be noted that during the event residents from that apartment were also trying to use the crosswalk and two of these traffic stops resulted from driver's not stopping for those residents," Anderson said. "We also had six drivers stop, thankfully, and then begin yelling at our decoy walker, scolding her for not using a crosswalk. We verbally educated those drivers on Oregon's crosswalk rules."

THE RULES

According to the Oregon Department of Transportation, in Oregon, every intersection is a crosswalk—whether it's marked or not.

Crosswalks may also exist between intersections (mid-block), but only when marked with painted white lines.

By law, a pedestrian is in a crosswalk when any part of the pedestrian moves into the roadway, at a crosswalk, with the intent to proceed.

That includes not only the pedestrian's body, but also a wheelchair, cane, crutch, bicycle or any other extension of the person.

A driver may be cited and fined more than $250 for failing to stop for a pedestrian.

DRIVER WARNING

Anderson added that the Aug. 5 event, despite the large yellow warning signs north and south of the location that police were doing the enforcement, and media releases with the exact location leading up to it, had stark contrasts to the last event at a Rectangular Rapid Flashing Beacons (RRFBs) controlled crosswalk at SE Highway 29 and Highway 101, June 18. At that event, LCP officers issued no violations for Failure to Yield to Pedestrians, stressing the importance of roadway design and engineering in pedestrian safety.

"As these crosswalks cross a state highway, those improvements are generally beyond the control of the city; however, we are very thankful for the improvements we have seen over the last year in pedestrian infrastructure," Anderson noted. "This intersection did have bright yellow ADA compliant truncated dome curb ramps, as well as concrete sidewalk bump-outs, accentuating its location, but, most noticeably, had a pedestrian indicating a clear intent to cross at the crosswalk. She (the LCPD decoy) wore contrasting colors which we recommend for pedestrians to improve their safety."

Fines for Failure to Yield to a Pedestrian and Passing a Vehicle Stopped at a Crosswalk can be as much as $265 each. Fines for Operating a Motor Vehicle While using a Mobile Electronic Device can range from $265 to $2,500, depending on the incident and any previous convictions.

NEXT OPERATION

LCPD will be joining law enforcement from across the state during the Labor Day DUII High Visibility Enforcement period from Aug. 13 through Sept. 1.

"During that period, we will be putting additional officers on the road focusing on impaired drivers due to the danger they present to the community," Anderson said.

The LCPD Pedestrian Safety Enforcement Operations are funded through grants from Oregon Impact.

Oregon governor signs series of laws to strengthen behavioral health system

MIA MALDONADO
Oregon Capital Chronicle

Kate Gekeler, a La Grande resident and mother of two, graduated this spring from the inaugural class of Eastern Oregon University’s Clinical Mental Health Counseling program.

After five years of coursework and internships, she graduated with her bachelor’s and master’s degrees debt free. That’s largely because most of her costs were covered by the state, which is ramping up scholarships for people interested in careers in mental health.

On Wednesday, Aug. 6, Gekeler shared her story in front of a crowd of mental health professionals, elected officials and people receiving behavioral health treatment as Gov. Tina Kotek signed a slate of bills at Fora Health in Portland meant to improve behavioral health care in Oregon.

“I wouldn’t be a behavioral health provider today without state tuition assistance, which is one piece of legislation being signed today,” Gekeler said at the event.

By signing House Bill 2024, Kotek will invest $6 million to provide more incentives for Oregonians like Gekeler to pursue careers in behavioral health care, such as scholarships, tuition assistance, loan repayments and stipends.

In response to workforce shortages, Kotek in May also launched the Behavioral Health Talent Council, tasked with identifying new strategies to address the state’s behavioral health workforce shortage. Led by First Lady Aimee Kotek Wilson, the council has until January to develop a plan.

Additionally, Kotek signed House Bill 2059, which invests another $65 million to increase the capacity for residential treatment across the state. In addition to her administration’s existing goal of adding 465 new treatment beds by the end of 2026, the law will fund another 200 beds over the next two years.

The law works in conjunction with House Bill 2005, also signed into law on Wednesday, which broadens the circumstances when a person with a mental illness can be detained and committed to the Oregon Health Authority

Rep. Rob Nosse, D-Portland, stands behind Gov. Tina Kotek as she signs House Bill 2059. Nosse was the chief sponsor behind the bill, which invests $65 million to increase the capacity for residential treatment across the state. (Mia Maldonado / Oregon Capital Chronicle) for treatment.

Lastly, Kotek signed House Bill 3321, which allocates $1 million for the Alcohol and Drug Policy Commission to develop and implement a substance abuse prevention plan for Oregon youth.

“The rates of substance abuse among our youth is unacceptable,” Kotek said at the event. “We need to focus on prevention.”

According to an Oregon Health Authority report, 5.77% of Oregon aged 12 to 17 had a documented substance use disorder — higher than the national average of 4.08%.

Shelly Turner, a certified peer support specialist at the National Alliance on Mental Illness in Aloha, said she’s grateful the state is focusing on reducing substance abuse among youth.

Like some of the people she serves, Turner has been hospitalized dozens of times since age 15 for her own mental health issues, including bipolar disorder, post-traumatic stress disorder, anxiety and depression.

Turner said she’s most excited about House Bill 2005, which broadens the path to therapy treatment for individuals with serious mental illness who often end up in an emergency room or jail.

“Just knowing that they’re lowering the barriers for people and not giving them to the justice system and giving them more treatment options, whether it’s substance or mental health — I think it’s really important that we focus on that,” she told the Capital Chronicle.

Despite federal cuts, Kotek remains focused on health care access

In the face of federal funding cuts, Kotek said her goal remains to build capacity and improve health care access.

“The federal budget cuts will make that a challenging environment,” she told the Capital Chronicle, noting that if more people lose their Medicaid coverage because of newly imposed work requirements then they’ll be less likely to get care.

“I am worried that we will see people not getting the care they need, and that will also affect the ability of providers to stay open,” she said. “Because if they are expecting a certain number of people to be using their services — but if more people are uninsured — they can’t get to providers.”

Calling the bills the biggest legislative wins for behavioral health in Oregon, Kotek celebrated bipartisan support.

“We were able to maintain a lot of the existing services,” she said. “These are bipartisan pieces of legislation. We heard in the session — from Democrats, Republicans and independent voters — they want access to care for their communities, for their loved ones, and they want us to do things more effectively and efficiently.”

Kotek said no single law will solve the state’s behavioral health challenges.

“We have to do all these things together,” she said. “They’re complementary, and this is a set of bills that will help us make progress. And the work isn’t done.”

Dance! And All That Jazz! Retires as Yaquina Barre Dance Studio Opens

Teri Jernigan’s Dance! And All That Jazz! (DAATJ), founded in 1978, has been a beloved cornerstone of the local arts community for nearly five decades.

With vision and dedication, Teri transformed Newport’s historic Skating Rink — built in 1907 — into the largest, fully equipped dance studio on the Oregon Coast.

Through the years, she nurtured multiple generations of dancers and brought dazzling performances to life. Now, after a long and inspiring career, Teri is hanging up her tap shoes and taking a well-deserved bow. She is passing the torch to Jessica Steenkolk and Kerry de Lisser-Shanks, who are honored to carry on the studio’s legacy under a new name: Yaquina Barre Dance Studio (YBD).

Jessica grew up dancing at DAATJ, training in ballet and jazz under the guidance of Teri Jernigan, Kathy Heater, and Sara Coxen. Kerry studied ballet, jazz, modern, and character with Ceci Klein, Elly-Charlotte van Dijk and Diane De Franco-Browne with the Pasadena Civic Ballet and UC Irvine. The two first met over 20 years ago as instructors at DAATJ, and their shared love for dance blossomed into a lasting friendship.

Jessica and Kerry know firsthand the joy and impact this studio brings to the community. For many, it’s more than just a place to dance; it’s a space to grow, reconnect, and rediscover the joy of movement, whether you’re a child stepping into your first class or an adult rekindling a childhood passion.

Yaquina Barre Dance Studio is proud to offer a dynamic and supportive environment with a mix of long-time instructors and fresh new talent. YBD offers classes in ballet, jazz, contemporary, tap, hip-hop, ballroom, and musical theatre for a variety of age groups and experience levels.

In the wake of the August tsunami warning, Oregon lawmaker calls for better state disaster preparedness

ALEX BAUMHARDT
Oregon Capital Chronicle

Oregon state Rep. Paul Evans, D-Monmouth, has been introducing legislation to modernize the state’s emergency preparedness and response processes for years. He called the state’s tsunami warnings last week to residents on the Oregon Coast — raised due to strong currents and unpredictable waves as a result of a massive earthquake off the coast of Russia — “a good warmup.” No one was injured, and the Oregon Department of Emergency Management called the warning off within 24 hours.

But, Evans said, it also highlighted the ways in which Oregon is behind other states in providing quality information quickly to everyone in a potential disaster impact zone, and when it comes to training volunteers to respond to them. “We just have a lot more to do because ultimately, even as we’re working to improve, federal capacity is being cut,” Evans said. President Donald Trump in June said the Federal Emergency Management Agency could be eliminated by December. “We’re going to be on our own for a longer period of time, and we need to be prepared for that,” Evans said. Oregonians on the coast who signed up for the state’s emergency notification system, OR-Alert, got a text to stay away from beaches, harbors and marinas. City and county police, firefighters and other officials warned people on the ground in coastal communities to stay inland. But the state’s text alerts only went to people who subscribed to them, rather than anyone with a cell phone within the potentially impacted areas. And there weren’t any texts following the initial warning that provided more information about a timeline for potential impact, how high waves could be and what to do if waves were carrying large objects onto shores as they crashed. Tsunamis can occur more than 20 hours after initial waves, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. The state also lacks the volunteers and emergency responders to take care of multiple disasters at once, Evans said. “Had we had a major tsunami, we would have been stretched beyond our capacity, because we’re currently also fighting wildfires, and the number of responders has gone down over the years,” he said. In response, he’ll bring a three-pronged, $300 million disaster preparedness package to the state Legislature in early 2026. First, it would create six to seven new emergency responder training facilities over the next decade, to train volunteers to respond to different kinds of disasters across the state, such as wildfires, ice storms, floods and, of course, tsunamis. Second, it would create a Disaster Recovery Authority housed in the governor’s office to direct the state’s response and coordinate state agencies after any emergency both in the short and long term, including hiring more people and coordinating federal and private aid. It’s a similar function given to Utah’s lieutenant governor, who leads an Emergency Management Administration Council. The Emergency Management Administration Council was created to provide advice and coordination for state and local government agencies on government emergency prevention, mitigation, preparedness, response, and recovery actions and activities. The third prong of the package would create a program that grants state funding to local emergency authorities across the state to help them pay for specific needs based on specific types of disasters they’re most likely to face. More training There is no standardized, multi-disciplinary disaster training ground for first responders and volunteers in Oregon, Evans said, just academies focused on a single discipline at the local level. In some states, such as Florida, every volunteer firefighter is trained and graduates from a state-run program. Evans, a 20-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force and Oregon Air National Guard and a former volunteer firefighter, said the state is having trouble maintaining its current forces of volunteer firefighters and emergency responders in part because trainings are hard to find and schedule when they’re offered piecemeal at local agencies. He’d like to see monthly trainings available at multiple facilities statewide across disciplines so more people can participate. When the Department of Public Safety Standards and Training was established in 2001, it was supposed to be a hub for smaller facilities established across the state. But those smaller training sites never got built, Evans said. The package he’ll propose is an amalgamation of several bills that Evans has tried to pass before. In the most recent Legislative session, he sponsored House Bill 2858, to create the statewide preparedness training facilities, and House Bill 2770, which would have created the Disaster Recovery Authority in the governor’s office. Both bills failed to advance out of legislative committees. “We’re going to try to approach the 2026 session as if that’s the last stand,” Evans said. “If anybody wants anything out of me, we’re going to be working on this.” He said the state has made progress modernizing in small ways over the last several years. In 2017, the Legislature created an equipment sharing and grant program called SPIRE, where the state buys rescue boats, all-terrain vehicles and other emergency equipment that local agencies can use, but that the state retains ownership of and can retrieve when needed. In 2022, the state made the Oregon Department of Emergency Management a stand alone agency with its own funding separate from the State Police and the Military Department, where it used to be housed. In 2023, the Oregon Department of the State Fire Marshal also became a standalone agency, whereas before it had played a supporting role in the Oregon State Police. The Legislature recently provided the emergency management department enough money so that it could run a 24-hour operation center, which will begin operating in July, Evans said. He hopes this improves the quality and speed of notifications and updates people statewide receive in a disaster. Evans called all of this “a first step.”

this month to deal with the Oregon Department of Transportation budget issues. When asked by the Lincoln County Leader if an additional special legislative session will be convened to deal with the Trump budget impact in Oregon, the governor’s spokesperson, Roxy Mayer, told the Leader that a separate legislative session to deal with the Trump budget is not scheduled. “When the legislature convenes for a special session this month, the Governor expects lawmakers to act expeditiously and stay focused on critical, near-term solutions to stabilize basic functions at ODOT and local governments,” Mayer said.

In an Oregon Capital Chronicle commentary, Karina Smith, A Henry A. Wallace Fellow at the Institute for Policy Studies, from Corvallis, stated that In Oregon, one in three people rely on the state’s Medicaid program, the Oregon Health Plan. “Under the new GOP law, an estimated 200,000 Oregonians stand to lose that insurance, putting patients and providers alike in danger,” Smith wrote. “Rural communities are particularly vulnerable to these cuts. Nearly half — 44% — of rural hospitals in the U.S. are already experiencing severe financial strain. This year alone, 16 rural hospitals shut their doors due to financial issues.” Medicaid is often the lifeline keeping rural hospitals afloat, according to Smith. “But when that coverage is stripped away and thousands of patients go uninsured, hospitals are left to cover the cost of uncompensated care. More uncompensated care will lead to hospital closures and service reductions, causing more frequent and severe medical emergencies as patients are forced to navigate long travel times, overcrowded ERs, chronic staffing shortages and barriers to preventative care,” Smith states in the commentary. VA FUNDING

I recently read an article that stated the VA in Newport Oregon is putting a measure on the ballot to fund this Federally funded Organization. My question is why do the Residents of Lincoln County need to fund the VA when it is a federally funded?

Our property taxes are extremely high, and this is not our responsibility to fund this organization.

Fran Lonnon
Lincoln City

EMPTY PROMISES

I just finished reading your article ‘preparedness urged following tsunami watch advisory’.

It is a well written piece of fluff. I’ll give you that.

No where it doesn’t mention that the sirens in Lincoln City have been malfunctioning since September of 2023 or that they continue to malfunction leaving a large swath of Lincoln City residents out of earshot of tsunami warning sirens sounding.

This is true.

Lincoln city has made empty promises over time that they were going to get estimates for a contractor repairs, acquire bids and take care of this issue. None have been fulfilled. Now they say they’re going in a different direction but can’t say what that direction is. The answer is “be assured it’s coming”.

Within the last couple of weeks, I have heard from two City councilmen and Cassidy Boyle, our emergency manager, with those same words “be assured it’s coming”.

They can’t say what the plan is because they haven’t got a plan still. There was a working meeting this past Monday with the city council on this subject with no fruit at its conclusion. Most recent is they will have some kind of update by September 29th. Still no concrete restoration plan has been made. No plan has been reviewed or estimated or permanently funded. They say that there’s $200,000 allocated towards the project but have no idea on whether that’s going to cover the cost or not as it is an estimate based on other cities costs in years past to replace tsunami sirens. In other words, it’s just a guess. No significant groundwork has been done to date.

They’ve been blowing this off at the risk of Public Safety. This most recent tsunami event emphasizes the need for the repair. Estimations were that the tsunami would hit around midnight when many people are asleep. Some of those people are hearing impaired no less. Some of them are my friends. They live in the low-lying areas of South Cutler City where the siren cannot be heard indoors even when awake. I asked who’s going to go down there and wait those people up if that’s tsunami that turned out to be more than predicted. Stuff like that happens... your article failed to mention shortfalls only the good stuff put out by the county. It did nothing to bring to light the holes in the system that need to be corrected.

PAUL HAEDER
Leader Guest Column

One never knows where fascism “lite” might appear.

We have one bumper sticker for our state which has confounded the foreign tourists along our coast: Qu’est-ce que ça veut dire . . . Qué significa . . . was bedeudet es?

These French, Mexican and German tourists asked me last week, What does it mean when they pointed to a big jacked up dual-rear tire pick-up truck with this huge sticker in the rear window: Oregonian-Oregon-zed with six AR-15 rifles on the image.

Well well, I was at the Brooks Great Oregon Steam-Up (/26) event, and ran into some of that fascism lite. At the outdoor swap meet one vendor was selling 1 Reich Mark postage stamps with Adolph Hitler’s bust (a real stamp) printed on it, alongside another one of those Trump fake items: postage stamps with the 47th POTUS in various odd situations printed on it.

This was not a Norman Rockwell moment. There were other items with swastika and SS and Gestapo emblems marked on them.

I have a client who works and lives in Newport and who lives with developmental disabilities. I am his support professional helping him navigate life and daily activities of living. He doesn’t drive.

I had to keep my mouth zipped at the Brooks event when I saw this 6 foot eight guy wearing a t-shirt with this verbiage on it: “If This Flag Offends You I’ll Help You Pack Your Bags.”

That is the American flag.

I did get a whisper in the hulk’s ear without my client hearing: “I’m offended by your t-shirt, buster.”

I kept walking through the Caterpillar Museum and looked at the fabled E9 tractor-bulldozer. Another offense, but I’ll get to that later.

The beauty of my job is that I meet people where they are. I can’t or won’t start attempting to teach clients what I know and have read and experienced as a way to mold them to my thinking.

Summer Days and Dark Nights

This particular client is worried about losing Oregon Health Plan, Social Security retirement – he’s 60 and has worked since age 18. He hates Trump in that sort of funny way: “He’s a real jerk.”

But my client has a smart phone and reads headlines like this:

- Trump administration’s budget cuts endanger Meals on Wheels: ‘Life and death implications’
- Trump’s “Health Reform Vision” Includes $1 Trillion in Cuts to Medicaid and ACA
- The Trump Administration Is Recklessly Axing Funding and Staff for America’s National Parks, Forests, and Public Lands
- Nation’s Disability Services System Begins To Buckle As Funding Threats Intensify

The reality for my clients – and my own employment – is that this existential threat is more than some theoretical attack. They are seeing the evidence as they go to their service providers and hearing about this or that benefit being cut. They see it with refuse bins overflowing at national parks. They hear fellow Senior Center folk whispering about hot meals at the 60 Plus Center going the way of the dodo.

One adage has to be broken down, as my clients ask me for input, and I can only be that dude who is a journalist from the old school of daily newspaper grinds, balanced with my outspoken Substack columns and articles in dissident publications and even here in Lincoln County on my radio show, Finding Fringe, KYAQ FM.

I never heard this in my home growing up, but I sure did hear it at in-laws’ homes and other places: “Don’t talk about religion or politics at the dinner table.”

That’s been extended to, “Don’t talk about Biden or Trump or money or MAGA or socialism or sex or drugs or education at the dinner table.”

My other clients ask me about this local headline: “Man accused of assaulting elderly Army veteran during Newport political protest”

Sure, a Lincoln County grand jury indicted a Klamath Falls man on three charges as a result of his arrest for assaulting ab74-year-old an anti-Trump protester in early June.

The conversations are what we call tough and difficult if people just do not understand the context, history and intent of protest in the USA.

How many suffragettes were injured and jailed in the fight to get the vote for women? Over 500 women were arrested in the U.S. for their involvement in the Silent Sentinels protests for women’s suffrage, with 168 serving jail time. In England, that number is 1,000.

For my clients’ own personal DD and ID journeys, most do not know that the disability rights movement, even though less visible than other civil rights movements, has roots going back to the 1800s.

In 1990 the Americans with Disabilities Act was passed and signed into law, prohibiting discrimination based on disability in employment, public accommodations, transportation, and other areas.

Those dinner and work water cooler conversations do matter, as this headline belies: “The Trump administration withdrew 11 pieces of ADA guidance. How will it affect compliance?”

And that old adage, “Love it or Leave it” never applied for social justice and civil rights activists.

Yep, some of us have had trouble with that flag, and find many offenses in and around it.

Now to get back to that E9 Caterpillar? This headline rarely gets put into small and medium sized newspapers: “Caterpillar Inc’s Role in Human Rights Violations in the Occupied Palestinian Territories.”

We have much work to do in order to reverse all those offenses, but the fear in my clients’ voices is palpable. Unfortunately, fear can cause stasis or inaction. And that’s the death knell of justice.

Lincoln County Dems push for environmental, health care, social protections

SUBMITTED BY LINCOLN COUNTY DEMOCRATS

As the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency moves to eliminate regulations of greenhouse emissions, overall air quality and water purity, the Lincoln County Democratic Party has crafted a comprehensive series of platform proposals that includes urging prioritization of a “right to a healthy environment” constitutional amendment in the party’s platform when the Oregon State Democratic Party holds its Platform Convention, August 15-17 at Western Oregon University in Monmouth, Oregon.

The amendment is one of over 100 proposals that Lincoln County Democrats are advancing, covering a wide variety of social and environmental issues, international affairs and human rights, healthcare and protections for democracy, with the expectation that all Democratic candidates running for federal, state or local offices will be asked to use the tenets of the platform as guidelines upon which they are running.

The environmental articles of the proposed platform urge that Communities historically harmed by pollution—especially those with less financial or political power, including tribal nations—must have a decisive voice in environmental decisions, that strong and effective regulations are needed to protect ecosystems for future generations, that policies must be grounded in independent, evidence-based science, that polluters must be held accountable and that evidence-based science must be utilized to understand and counteract risks to human and ecological health.

Lincoln County’s Democratic voters will be represented by six delegates to the state convention and will present proposals in nine key areas: Economy and Labor, Education, Climate and Environment, Foreign and National Security, Human Rights, Health Care and Public Health, Energy and Infrastructure, Protecting Democracy and Science and Technology. In addition to the “right to a healthy environment” constitutional amendment, items specified under the nine headings include redoubling efforts to foster universal housing and creating a universal healthcare system, support for state energy independence, subsidized child care, preservation of Oregon farmland and tying federal minimum wage to the same cost of living (COLA) as is currently applied to social security. Included are proposed platform planks mandating protections for social security, Medicare and crucial safety net programs. County Democrats are urging the state party to support a living wage on the state level. “No one who works should live in poverty. Ensuring fair wages is essential to building a more equitable and thriving Oregon,” reads the proposal.

“Many of our members and other concerned citizens have coalesced around our opposition to the assault on our democracy and the daily barrage of insult and outrage,” said Mary Infante, chair of the Lincoln County

Democratic Party Central Committee. “While continuing to strongly and visibly demonstrate our resistance to the actions we oppose, it’s equally important that we be forceful in proclaiming the values we embrace. By making our positions clear on this platform, we’re making a clear statement about what we stand for, not just what we stand against.”

The Lincoln County Democratic Party platform proposals can be viewed online at the county party’s website (<https://lincolncountydemocratsoregon.com>). The platform proposal was drafted by the Platform Priorities Committee and adopted following its approval in a survey conducted among active members of the county party. The platform was presented at the organization’s regular July meeting.

The Lincoln County Democratic Party holds monthly meetings rotating among northern, central, southern and eastern centers of the county with zoom options available for virtual attendance and participation. The next meeting will be held at 5:30 p.m. on August 27 at the Newport Public Library. All are welcome.

The purpose of the Lincoln County Democratic Party and its executive committee is to promote the interests of the Democratic Party in Oregon and Lincoln County, to work for the election of Democratic candidates, adopt a party platform and work to ensure its principles are reflected in law, and to provide a link between Democratic voters, the Democratic Party, and the government.

The Lincoln County Democratic Party welcomes comments and questions, which can be addressed to: dems@lincolncountydemocratsoregon.com photography kit needed to do the job. Working with the festival volunteers and staff has been wonderful. Getting to know the musicians and having access to their rehearsals and performances is an honor that I do not take for granted.”

Gibson said still photography of a musical performance has its own unique challenges.

“My goal is to communicate the intensity and focus that the musicians bring to their performance,” he said. “My strategy involves observing the performance as they get started. I look for expressions and gestures that tell their story. Each musician has their own unique mannerisms that create their identity. My job is to be ready for those moments.”

For this article, Gibson shared some of his favorite Siletz Bay Music Festival photographs to illustrate “moments” of the performances. He told us in a published interview in 2018, that the photograph that stays off the cutting room floor is the photograph that illustrates that powerful instant where there is an interaction that shows the intensity and concentration of the musician.

“It is fascinating to witness the creative process,” he said. “There is a respect and appreciation shared by the musicians for each other. They each approach the piece of music with a unique perspective.”

During his search for the photos that will capture the 2025 festivals special moments, Gibson, said he is keenly aware of all that is happening at each session.

Maestro Yaacov Bergman (Conducting) and Asi Matathias (Violin) during a performance at the 2018 Siletz Bay Music Festival.

“I approach the overall festival photography much the same way I approach any event. Of course, the performances are essential. However, the audience, volunteers, venues, and special events are important subjects of my photography. I am responsible for providing the festival with a variety of images,” he said.

Gibson said each musician adds to the overall festival’s creative process.

“The more experience I have photographing musicians and performances, the more I am amazed at the creative process,” he said. “It is fascinating that the musicians come in from all over the world and after a few days of collaboration and rehearsals perform complex and intricate pieces of music. Truly, I find real joy in watching and photographing this process. When the audience is settled, the lights go down and the musicians begin it is so interesting to watch the communication that happens between the musicians. A glance or a nod is all that is necessary.”

constituents who voice dissent, including public attacks via social media, while also attempting to limit free speech during public meetings. Commissioner Hall oversaw a drastic shift in the County’s finances from a multi-million-dollar surplus midyear to a budget shortfall with minimal transparency and communication. These issues, along with documented 2023 audit findings, reflect a failure of oversight. Commissioner Halls’ conduct has fostered a toxic work environment in certain departments, marked by unprofessional and discriminatory behavior further eroding public trust.

I respectfully request a recall election to restore accountability and integrity to Lincoln County government.

THE NEXT STEPS

The petitioners need to collect 3,940 signatures from active registered county voters by Nov. 2 to trigger the next process. If the petition gathering is successful and the signatures verified, Hall would have five days to either resign from office or issue a statement of justification of why she should remain as a county commissioner. A special election would be scheduled if Hall chooses to remain in office, allowing voters to decide if she should be removed from office, according to Lincoln County Clerk Amy A Southwell.

Jamison responded to a question from the Lincoln County Leader on why she filed the petition now.

“I had to wait until Commissioner Hall had been in office six months of this current term and I was doing some in depth research that finally came together for a filing on Aug.4.” she said.

Jamison added that her recall petition is focused on Commissioner Hall’s “inability to lead and the lack of vision for the County to truly thrive.”

“This is the true focus of this recall there are no other agendas,” she said.

As to who Jamison believes should fill the commission post if the recall is successful, she said she believes there were many good candidates interviewed prior to Commissioner Hall and Miller choosing Walter Chuck following the February resignation of former Commissioner Kaety Jacobson.

Commissioner Hall

Responses

Hall released a statement to the Lincoln County Leader following the filing of the recall petition stating, in part, that the petition targets her efforts to “maintain order” at the county commissioner’s public business meetings.

“Elected officials have weaponized our public comment periods for months by leveling accusations and attacks on other county staff,” Hall stated. “Commissioner Miller has done his best to enable and encourage these behaviors, as well as engaging in them himself. It’s sad to me that some people are so focused on creating chaos and confusion that they don’t see the serious problems we’re facing.

Commissioner Miller Responses

Commissioner Casey Miller released a statement Aug. 7, denying that he was the driving force behind the recall petition against Commissioner Hall, and stating in part:

“Let me be clear: I am not the petitioner, nor am I the architect of the recall campaign,” Miller said. “What I have done—and will continue to do—is advocate for transparency, due process, and shared responsibility in how our Board conducts business. Good governance depends on inclusive, collaborative leadership—not unilateral authority. I remain committed to ensuring that all voices are respected, including those who may disagree with me or others in County leadership. I believe in accountability for all of us. We can—and must—do better. I will continue working to strengthen public process, rebuild trust, and ensure that the community remains at the center of our work.”

Hall has served as a Lincoln County Commissioner since 2004. She was able to claim victory in her 2024 re-election campaign winning by just 115 votes over Rick Beasley of Depoe Bay.

This Week in HISTORY

LINCOLN COUNTY LEADER STAFF

This is a brief look back at what made the news in Lincoln County during this week in history.

100 YEARS AGO (1925)

WOMAN AND BOY ARE SERIOUSLY INJURED AT NEWPORT BEACH

Mrs. Calloway and Son of Sico Suffer Injuries when run down by motorcycle: Woman in serious condition. Mrs. Calloway, about 50 years of age, and her 16-year-old son were seriously injured while on the beach Monday when they were rundown by a motorcycle driven by Ed Hunter of Newport. According to the reports to this office, Mr. Hunter, who was not at fault; as he was driving toward Mrs. Calloway and her son, they became excited and jumped into the path of the machine.

NEW LINCOLN HOSPITAL READY FOR OCCUPANCY

Drs. Hellwarth & Kauffman to Move Patients to New Building Friday: Pacific Spruce Leases Institution for Five Years. The new Lincoln Hospital is now completed and has been leased by the board of directors to the Pacific Spruce Corporation for a period of five years. Drs. Hellworth & Kauffman will move their patients and equipment from the temporary in Run Bottom tomorrow. The new institution is thoroughly modern and is one of the first of its kind in the state.

ROCK CREEK FARMERS BECOMING INTERESTED HIGHER QUALITY SEEN

Burbank Potatoes and Gray Oats Producing Seen of Certified Quality; Higher Yields Goal of Growers. Rock Creek farmers are becoming sharply interested in the matter of improved seed and higher yields. With this in mind, they secured quite a supply of certified gray oak seed through the county agent's office last winter. This seed was distributed among seven or more farmers of the Rock Creek Community.

NORTH END LINCOLN COUNTY IS BECOMING POPULATED RAPIDLY

Population Has Trebled in Less Than Year Due to Competition of Great Roosevelt Highway; Future Looks Promising. To those who have not visited the north end of this county for a long time, and also to those who have never visited it, the rapid development now under way in that section would be a revelation. From Tillamook to the Siletz River, beginning early in the spring, development has gone forward rapidly.

75 YEARS AGO (1950)

OLDER MEN NEED NOT REPORT

Oregon State Headquarters, Selective Service System, announced today that the local boards of the state were receiving information in connection with changes of address, marital status, etc., from men who were registered under the 1940 Act but who were too old to register under the 1948 Act. "It is a rather healthy sign," Colonel Francis W. Mason, Deputy State Director said today, "as it indicates that the general public is gradually awaking to the fact that registrants under the Selective Service Act must keep their local beards advised of all change."

LINCOLN PUD SHOWS RECORD GAINS IN SALES

The financial statement of the PUD as of June 30, discloses record-breaking gains revenues and kwh sales, both for the 12-month period and for June. In June revenue was $75,381, an increase over June last year, of $15,741, or 27 percent. KHW sales in June this year were 4,128,504, and ago 2,766,135, a gain of 49 percent.

BALL PARK AREA TO GET DELIVERY OF MAIL

Delivery of mail in the ball park area of Newport will soon get underway, Postmaster Frank Paden announced this week. Approval has been received from Washington D.C., for the extension of mounted mail delivery to the area and will begin as soon as patrons install proper mail receptacles.

50 YEARS AGO (1975)

SLASH BURN ISSUE COMES INTO FOCUS

Slash burning by the U.S. Forest Service and private logging companies has recently come in state-wide focus along with field burning issues. Huge arching clouds of smoke, rising above forested land forced a meeting Thursday in Eugene between Forest Service personnel and residents. At that session the service had to defend its practice of slash burning.

$1,000 EQUIPMENT TAKEN FROM SITE

Over $1,000 worth of items were reported missing by the U.S. Forest Service personnel, while crew was working east of Lincoln City. Four pair of caulk boots valued at $320 and one Marc III pump worth $700 were taken while the crew was conducting a slash burn.

HEARING SET ON CITY SIGN PROVISION

Public hearing on a proposed ordinance that could possibly have major impact on Lincoln City's appearance to the motoring public was scheduled Tuesday by the city Planning Commission. On Sept. 16, the commission will conduct the hearing on the 14 page sign provision ordinance which was presented by Lincoln City Planning Director Carl Lindberg.

SCHOOL SPLIT PLAN TO BE SUBMITTED TO LANE IED

A half dozen students from Lane County have added another link in the process of getting the school split issue before voters. Lincoln County Commissioner Andrew Zedwick reported yesterday that the Lane County Intermediate Education District would have to be contacted on any reorganization of the Lincoln County School District. Lane has students attending Lincoln County Schools on an exchange bases. A seven-member Advisory Committee was appointed by the Lincoln County Commissioners yesterday to oversee the Reorganization Plan.

25 YEARS AGO (2000)

SOUTH BEACH SITE TOP CHOICE FOR CORRECTIONS TRANSITIONAL HOUSING

The Lincoln County Community Corrections Department has settled on a site on Ash Street in South Beach for its planned 30-bed transitional facility and plans to hold a number of public meetings on its plans, department director Gary Weeber told the county commissioners Wednesday.

NORTH LINCOLN FEELS SHORTAGE OF SKILLED HEALTH CARE WORKERS

In a report to the North Lincoln District board of directors Wednesday, nursing supervisor Karen Luedeck commented on how the lack of skilled workers is affecting not only North Lincoln Hospital in Lincoln City, but facilities statewide.

SHANGRI-LA LIKELY TO RUN DISABILITIES GROUP HOMES LONG TERM

'The Salem-based Shangri-La corporation will probably take over the county's several special needs group homes for the long term, rather than just for 60 days, according to the company's chief executive officer, Jan Kral, and county commission chairperson Jean Cowan.

reporting that the 40-foot fishing vessel Das Bug, with four people onboard, had taken on water and capsized while transiting inbound through the Yaquina Bay Jetty. As the Coast Guard arrived on scene, three members of the vessel were spotted clinging to the hull, according to U.S. Coast Guard Northwest District Public Affairs Specialist Steve Strohmaier. The three individuals were rescued from the water by a 47-foot Motor Lifeboat crew from Coast Guard Station Yaquina Bay and transferred to emergency medical services. The individuals were taken to Samaritan Pacific Communities Hospital and treated for hypothermia. 47-foot Motor Lifeboat crews from Coast Guard Station Yaquina Bay and an MH-65 Dolphin crew from Coast Guard Air Station North Bend conducted evening searches for the missing individual. A first light search was conducted by an MH-65 Dolphin crew from Coast Guard Air Station North Bend with no signs of the missing individual prior to suspension of the search. Rescue crews searched for eight hours, covering a total of 54 square miles. Weather on scene was reported to be 7-foot swells and 13 knot winds. "Suspending a search without finding the person you have been looking for is always one of the most difficult decisions we have to make," Coast Guard Sector Columbia River Search and Rescue Mission Coordinator Lt. Cdr. Jacqueline Hunnicutt said. "Our thoughts are with the family and loved ones during this incredibly difficult time." Strohmaier emphasized the danger to vessels at Yaquina Bay. "The current within the jetties can be strong and unpredictable, even during relatively calm weather." He told the Lincoln County Leader. "It's also a narrow area where it can be hard for a boater to turnaround once they have entered the Yaquina Bay bar." The Das Bug Captain, Perry Bordeaux, has been an advocate for the local fishing industry and boat operators. In 2023 he joined other crabbers sending a letter to the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife strongly criticizing the Department's failure to open the Dungeness crab season along approximately half of Oregon's coast in areas where crab have exceeded meat quality thresholds for several weeks.

Donald Russell Reed

May 26, 1953 - July 19th, 2025

Donald Reed of Eddyville, Oregon passed away on July 19th, 2025, at the age of 72 surrounded by his family after a three year battle with cancer. Don was born in Corvallis, OR to Earl and Joyce (Schriver) Reed on May 26, 1953. Don grew up in the Eddyville/Elk City area. He attended Eddyville School and graduated in 1971. Don served in the US Navy in 1971 and was honorably discharged in 1975 aboard the USS Kitty Hawk CVA-63, an aircraft carrier. He was so proud to serve. Don married his high school sweetheart RoseMarie Waldrup in December of 1972. They lived in San Francisco and San Diego while serving in the US Navy. After the US Navy, Don and Rose moved back to Oregon where sons, Justin (1975) and Jake (1978) joined the family

Don also spent time wood working and collecting Massey Ferguson tractors. Don enjoyed hunting, but not so much fishing. Don loved rooting for his beloved Oregon Ducks, Boston Celtics, and Washington Redskins. Don also enjoyed listening to his favorite music: Don Williams, CCR, and Diana Ross & the Supremes. One of his favorite pastimes was helping family, friends and the community

A great man who without fail always put his wife, sons, daughter-in-law, and grandkids before himself. Don was committed to everything he started and was part of. His word was his bond.

Don is preceded in death by his sister Kathleen Kay Brown in 1967, brother Robert Earl Reed in 1989, father Earl Lawrence Reed in 1993, mother Joyce Ann Brown in 2012, honorary father Boyd Eagleson in 2018, and brother-in-law Rodney Montgomery Waldrup in 2024.

Survived by his wife of 53 years RoseMarie of Eddyville, son Justin (Leanne) of Harlan, son Jake of Eddyville, grandsons Logan, Tristan, Garrett, and Gage, and granddaughter Autumn. Sister-in-law Jeri (Robert) Reed of Blodgett, sister Pamela (Jim) Standstipher of Hoquiam, Washington, brother James (Patty) Reed of Siletz, brother Fredrick (Linda) Brown of Eddyville, sister Violet (Babe) (Tom) Brown of Philomath, and brother Maynard (Denise) Reed of Ocean Shores, Washington. Numerous cousins, nephews, nieces, and great friends.

In lieu of flowers please make donations to the Eddyville Booster Club or Eddyville Cemetery Association.

A Celebration of Life will be held at the Eddyville Charter School gymnasium at 11:30am, on August 23, 2025.

A Big Step Forward for Local Seafood: Central Coast Food Web ceremony

SUBMITTED BY
OREGON COAST VISITORS
ASSOCIATION

Oregon Coast Visitors Association (OCVA) staff joined community leaders, partners, and legislators in Newport for the official ribbon cutting of the newly upgraded Yaquina Lab—home to the Central Coast Food Web’s shared-use commercial kitchen and cold storage facility. The ribbon cutting at Yaquina Lab 3814 Yaquina Bay Road in Newport, was conducted Saturday, Aug. 2.

It was an exciting and inspiring moment, celebrating years of collaboration and a shared vision for the future of food on the Oregon Coast.

OCVA Executive Director Marcus Hinz kicked things off with opening remarks, welcoming Laura Anderson of Local Ocean and Central Coast Food Web, along with Rep. David Gomberg and Sen. Dick Anderson. Marcus reminded the crowd that innovation doesn’t just happen in big labs or corporate boardrooms. It happens in places like this: walk-in freezers, shared kitchens, and small-town community hubs.

“This is more than a building,” he said. “It’s a platform for producers to test ideas, launch products, and grow.

Hopes and dreams need ways and means, and this space provides both.”

The upgrades were made possible in part by House Bill 3410, a bill OCVA championed with support from the full Coastal Caucus. HB 3410 is all about keeping more of our seafood local. Right now, 90 percent of the seafood served on the coast isn’t from Oregon. This bill helps flip that equation by investing in infrastructure like shared kitchens and cold storage, building stronger distribution systems, and laying the groundwork for a more resilient and locally focused seafood economy. It also supports mariculture development and a statewide mapping tool to connect producers and innovators.

The ribbon cutting was a powerful example of how these efforts come to life. The Yaquina Lab is now the first shared-use facility of its kind in the region, offering low-cost, low-risk space for upcoming businesses to process, package, and store their products.

This project also connects directly to other legislation we have worked on: House Bill 3568, the Seafood to Schools bill, would have brought local seafood into school cafeterias while giving students and kitchen staff the skills to prepare it. And the 100% Fish bill (HB 2969), which would have reduced waste and opened up new economic opportunities by finding creative uses for fish byproducts. While these bills did not pass in the 2025 session, they laid a groundwork for the continued work of attaining this kind of funding in the future.

Together, these efforts are building a future where coastal communities keep more value from what we harvest and create more jobs and innovation in the process. We’re proud to support partners like Central Coast Food Web who are turning this vision into reality, one step at a time.

Weeks after launching new statewide recycling program, Oregon sued by wholesalers

ALEX BAUMHARDT
Oregon Capital Chronicle

The $8 trillion wholesale product distribution industry is challenging a four-year-old Oregon recycling law weeks after the law took effect.

The Plastic Pollution and Recycling Modernization Act, passed by the state Legislature in 2021, was meant to create statewide standards for what can and cannot be recycled and established new packaging fees for companies that sell products in Oregon. The fees, based on the weight and recyclability of the material, are meant to require product manufacturers and distributors to cover some of the end-of-life costs for disposing of their packaging — costs that are currently borne by the businesses and Oregonians who have to pay for the garbage.

Products with less packaging and with reusable packaging carry lower fees than goods packaged in bulky plastics and single-use materials, ideally encouraging producers to choose lighter, more sustainable materials. It follows regulations in Oregon in recent years that require manufacturers to pick up some of the end-of-life costs of paint, mattresses and electronics, or to invest in programs to recycle such products.

But on July 30, about three weeks after the law was implemented and manufacturers received their first bills, the National Association of Wholesaler-Distributors sued the state in U.S. District Court in Portland to stop it from continuing, claiming the law is unconstitutional. The association is a trade group representing what it says is the $8.2 trillion wholesale distribution industry.

The Oregon Department of Environmental Quality, Environmental Quality Commission and State Attorney General Dan Rayfield are named as defendants in the suit.

In emails, spokespersons for Rayfield and the Environmental Quality Department said they cannot comment on pending litigation.

Shifting the burden

The wholesaler distributors claim the law is unconstitutional because, as it’s structured, it gives regulatory authority over the fee schedule and collection not to the state’s environmental quality department but to a private entity — the Circular Action Alliance, or CAA — a nonprofit based in Washington, D.C.

Twenty multinational corporations in the food, beverage, retail and consumer goods industries, including Amazon, Coca Cola and Nestle, formed the alliance in 2022. It oversees similar recycling fee programs that are rolling out as a result of new policies in California, Colorado, Maine and Maryland.

In Oregon, the alliance is in charge of setting and collecting fees for 60 different material categories based on weight and recyclability. Along with local governments, the alliance participates in choosing where to invest the revenue from those fees, which must be projects that improve Oregon’s recycling infrastructure.

Eric Hoplin, the wholesaler association president and CEO, said in a statement on the group’s website that Oregon’s law is unfair because it shifts undue burden for disposal costs to distributors who don’t get to make packaging choices.

On June 4, officials from the group asked the state’s environmental quality department to delay enacting the law for another year, despite more than a year of public comment and rulemaking the department undertook before fully launching and enforcing the regulations.

“Rather than encourage sustainability through a uniform and transparent system where compliance burdens are shared across industries, Oregon chose to shift the burden to the parts of the supply chain that have little to no control over decisions to design, reduce, reuse or recycle a product,” Hoplin said.

In their suit, the group’s lawyers claim that Oregon’s law discriminates against out-of-state producers and violates state and federal due process laws. The lawyers claim the fee-setting methodology used by the Circular Action Alliance has not been publicly disclosed, debated or subject to rule-making and that companies forced to pay it were not given the chance to challenge it or resolve disputes.

“For many, particularly for small and medium-sized businesses operating on thin margins, the fees were unexpected and unexpectedly high,” they wrote in their filing.

The law exempts producers who earn $5 million or less in gross revenue.

State Sen. Janeen Sollman, D-Hillsboro, who co-sponsored the recycling modernization law back in 2021, said in a statement that the law is supposed to bring more fairness to Oregonians who have been on the hook for disposal costs of product packaging for years.

“If a producer creates more packaging waste, a producer will pay more for the disposal of the waste, not Oregonians,” Sollman said. “Oregon’s residential customers and small businesses are bearing the greatest burden of the rising cost of waste.”

Sollman said the “multi-trillion-dollar industry” is “fighting for profit, not for Oregonians. The lawsuit they filed Wednesday threatens our progress toward a cleaner, more sustainable Oregon.”

FINANCIAL FREEDOM

Supporting Your Children, Grandchildren on the Oregon Coast

Many Oregon Coast families dream of helping their kids or grandkids stay close, whether that means buying their first home, attending college, or launching a local business. But with rising housing costs and limited job markets, it’s not always easy for the next generation to build a life here.

The good news: There are smart, strategic ways to support your loved ones financially, without compromising your own retirement or financial peace of mind.

HELP WITH A FIRST HOME (WITHOUT TRIGGERING A TAX BILL)

One of the biggest obstacles for young families on the coast is a down payment. In 2025, You can gift up to $19,000 per person (or $38,000 total if your spouse also gifts $19,000) annually without filing a gift tax return. If you’re helping a child and their spouse, that’s up to $76,000 in one year.

FUND EDUCATION STRATEGICALLY

If college is in the picture, a 529 college savings plan offers tax-free growth and withdrawals when used for qualified education expenses. Oregon’s 529 plan even offers a state income tax credit of up to $300 (or $150 for single filers) for contributions.

Use Trusts to Protect Long-Term Goals

If you’re helping a grandchild start a business or move back to the coast, a trust can be a smart tool. Trusts let you set conditions (like finishing school or reaching age 30) before assets are distributed and can protect funds from creditors or divorce settlements.

And if you own real estate on the coast like a vacation rental, placing it in a revocable living trust, can help your heirs avoid probate delays and maintain access to a cherished asset, while allowing you to retain control during your lifetime.

DON'T FORGET YOUR OWN PLAN

We often remind clients: “Give from a place of strength, not stress.” One of the best gifts you can give your family is long-term financial confidence. A comprehensive plan helps you understand how much you can give now, what you may need later, and how to communicate your intentions.

10 x 10: Something for Everyone

Coastal Arts Guild and American Easel announce the opening of their 4th annual exhibit featuring new works on 10" x 10" wood panels. 10 x 10: "Something for Everyone" is on display in the Upstairs Gallery at Newport Visual Arts Center (VAC), 777 NW Beach Drive, in Newport until Sept. 27. This free unique show features brand-new, multidisciplinary works of art from community artists. Each begins with identical 10" x 10" wood panels as their base, but what they do from that point is entirely up to them. The show will feature a variety of mediums – from acrylics to mixed media, fabric collage, linoleum print, and more. The exhibition is not only visually beautiful, but it also does something beautiful – it provides funding. Artists purchased their base panels, and that money will fund initiatives at the VAC. The sale of completed pieces, however, will benefit artists directly and fully. When See 10X10, page B3

Migrant Voices with Itamar Erez and Hamin Honari

The Lincoln City Cultural Center (LCCC) presents an evening of transcendent global music as acclaimed musicians Itamar Erez and Hamin Honari bring their deeply moving project Migrant Voices to the LCCC stage, 540 NE Highway 1010 in Lincoln City, at 7 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 24.

Tickets are $20 in advance. $25 at the door. Tickets available online at www.lincolncity-cultural-center.org or by phone at 541-994-9994.

Migrant Voices is a musical collaboration that weaves together stories of migration, exile, and hope through a stunning fusion of Middle Eastern, Persian, and Mediterranean musical traditions. With virtuosic interplay between Erez’s classical guitar and piano and Honari’s masterful hand percussion, the duo creates a soundscape that is both contemplative and explosive—bridging continents and cultures with grace and intensity.

“Itamar and Hamin’s music transcends language and borders,” said Bea Herzberg, Media Director at LCCC. “Migrant Voices is an extraordinary expression of shared human experience—timely, moving, and deeply beautiful. This concert will be a true gift to our community.”

ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Itamar Erez is an Israeli-Canadian composer, guitarist, and pianist known for blending classical, jazz, and Middle Eastern influences. His work has earned international acclaim and has taken him to festivals and concert halls around the globe.

Hamin Honari, originally from Iran and now based in Canada, is a celebrated hand percussionist and a longtime member of the Juno-nominated group Constantinople. His mastery of Persian rhythm and deep musical sensitivity make him a sought-after collaborator in the world music scene. Together, their Migrant Voices project has captivated audiences with its emotional depth, technical brilliance, and cross-cultural resonance.

Nesika Illahee Pow-Wow engages Tribal families, community

JEREMY C. RUARK
Lincoln County Leader

The annual Nesika Illahee Pow-Wow presented by the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians was conducted at Pauline Ricks Memorial Pow-Wow Grounds in Government Hill at Siletz Aug. 7-10.

The event included traditional Native dances, a parade, Grand Entry, food booths and vendors offering Native items.

Tribal Chairman Delores Pigsley said the Pow-Wow brings families back together and celebrates traditions. “They come in celebration, she said. “They dance, they visit, they eat together, and we bring many tribes together. It is just a great celebration. I like being there to welcome other tribes. We have a huge family that comes from everywhere, so its just a nice greeting and fun time.”

Pigsty said the Pow-Wow also engages the community.

“Yes, we invite the community, and we have lots of friendly politicians come and Sunday we have a free salmon dinner that we serve to everyone,” she said. “It is quite an operation. I like all the people that organize the Pow-Wows because they do all the work!”

The Confederated Tribes of Siletz is a federally recognized confederation of over 30 bands, originating from Northern California to Southern Washington. The Tribes occupy and manage a 3,666-acre reservation located in Lincoln County, Oregon. The tribe manages several resources, including water, timber and fish.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING. LCL25-0364
The City of Newport Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on Monday, August 25, 2025, at 7:00 p.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers to review and make a recommendation to the Newport City Council on a Comprehensive Plan text amendment (File No. 2-CP-25). The proposed legislative amendments are to the "Wastewater Facilities" and "Goals and Policies" sections of the "Public Facilities" element of the Newport Comprehensive Plan. Amendments incorporate the final "Wastewater Treatment Master Plan, by Brown and Caldwell, dated May 2025" in to the Comprehensive Plan. The Newport Comprehensive Plan Section entitled "Administration of the Plan" (p.120-121) requires findings regarding the following for such amendments: A. Data, Text, Inventories or Graphics Amendment: 1) New or updated information. B. Conclusions Amendment: 1) Change or addition to the data, text, inventories, or graphics which significantly affects a conclusion that is drawn for that information. C. Goal and Policy Amendments: 1) A significant change in one or more conclusions; or 2) A public need for the change; or 3) A significant change in community attitudes or priorities; or 4) A demonstrated conflict with another plan goal or policy that has a higher priority; or 5) A change in a statute or statewide agency plan; and 6) All the Statewide Planning Goals. D. Implementation Strategies Amendments: 1) A change in one or more goal or policy; or 2) A new or better strategy that will result in better accomplishment of the goal or policy; or 3) A demonstrated ineffectiveness of the existing implementation strategy; or 4) A change in the statute or state agency plan; or 5) A fiscal reason that prohibits implementation of the strategy. Testimony and questions must be directed toward the request above or other criteria, including criteria within the Comprehensive Plan and its implementing ordinances, which the person believes to apply to the decision. Testimony may be submitted in written or oral form. Oral testimony and written testimony will be taken during the course of the public hearing. The hearing may include a report by staff, testimony from proponents, testimony from opponents, and questions and deliberation by the Planning Commission. Written testimony sent to the Community Development (Planning) Department, City Hall, 169 SW Coast Hwy, Newport, OR 97365, must be received by 3:00 p.m. the day of the hearing to be included as part of the hearing or must be personally presented during testimony at the public hearing. Material related to the proposed amendment may be reviewed or a copy purchased at the Newport Community Development Director, (541) 574-0626, email address d.tokos@newportoregon.gov (mailing address above).

LCL25-0365 CITY OF NEWPORT NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING.
The Newport Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on Monday, August 25, 2025, at 7:00 p.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers to review and make a recommendation to the Newport City Council on File No. 3-2-25, which includes housekeeping amendments to Newport Municipal Code (NMC) Chapter 14 and changes required by HB 2138 (2025). Pursuant to Newport Municipal Code (NMC) Section 14.36.010, the Commission must find that the change is required by public necessity and the general welfare of the community in order for it to make a recommendation to the City Council that the amendments be adopted. Testimony and evidence must be directed toward the request above or other criteria, including criteria within the Comprehensive Plan and its implementing ordinances, which the person believes to apply to the decision. Failure to raise an issue with sufficient specificity to afford the city and the parties an opportunity to respond to that issue precludes an appeal, including to the Land Use Board of Appeals based on that issue. Testimony may be submitted in written or oral form. Oral testimony and written testimony will be taken during the course of the public hearing. The hearing may include a report by staff, testimony from the applicant and opponents, testimony from proponents, rebuttal by the applicant, and questions and deliberation by the Planning Commission. Written testimony sent to the Community Development (Planning) Department, City Hall, 169 SW Coast Hwy, Newport, OR 97365, must be received by 3:00 p.m. the day of the hearing to be included as part of the hearing or must be personally presented during testimony at the public hearing. The proposed code amendments, additional material for the amendments, and any other material in the file may be reviewed or a copy purchased at the Newport Community Development Department (address above). Contact Derrick Tokos, Community Development Director, (541) 574-0626, d.tokos@newportoregon.gov (address above).

Together with the interest thereon at the rate 4.8750000% per annum until paid; plus all accrued late charges thereon; and all trustee's fees, foreclosure costs and any sums advanced by the beneficiary pursuant to the terms of said deed of trust. Whereof, notice hereby is given that the undersigned trustee will on 11/25/2025 at the hour of 1:00 PM, Standard of Time, as established by Section 187.110, Oregon Revised Statutes, at the front entrance to the Lincoln County Courthouse, 225 West Olive Street, Newport, OR 97365, County of Lincoln, State of Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the interest in the said described real property which the grantor had or had power to convey at the time of the execution by him of the said trust deed, together with any interest which the grantor or his successors in interest acquired after the execution of said trust deed, to satisfy the foregoing obligations thereby secured (and the costs and expenses of sale, including a reasonable charge by the trustee). Notice is further given that any person named in Section 86.778 of Oregon Revised Statutes; has the right to have the foreclosure proceeding dismissed and the trust deed reinstated by payment to the beneficiary of the entire amount then due (other than such portion of said principal as would not then be due had no default occurred), together with the costs, trustee's and attorney's fees and curing any other default complained of in the Notice of Default by tendering the performance required under the obligation or trust deed, at any time prior to five days before the date last set for the sale. In construing this, the masculine gender includes the feminine and the successor in interest to the grantor as well as any other person owing obligation, the performance of which is secured by said trust deed; the words "trustee" and "beneficiary" include their respective successors in interest, if any. Pursuant to Oregon Law, this sale will not be deemed final until the Trustee's deed has been issued by Prime Recon LLC. If any irregularities are discovered within 10 days of the date of this sale, the trustee will rescind the sale, return the buyer's money and take further action as necessary. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. Also, please be advised that pursuant to the terms stated on the Deed of Trust and Note, the beneficiary is allowed to conduct property inspections while there is a default. This shall serve as notice that the beneficiary shall be conducting property inspections on the referenced property. Without limiting the trustee's disclaimer of representations or warranties,

Oregon law requires the trustee to state in this notice that some residential property sold at a trustee's sale may have been used in manufacturing methamphetamines, the chemical components of which are known to be toxic. Prospective purchasers of residential property should be aware of this potential danger before deciding to place a bid for this property at the trustee's sale. NOTICE TO RESIDENTIAL TENANTS The property in which you are living is in foreclosure. A foreclosure sale is scheduled for 11/25/2025 (date). The date of this sale may be postponed. Unless the lender that is foreclosing on this property is paid before the sale date, the foreclosure will go through and someone new will own this property. After the sale, the new owner is required to provide you with contact information and notice that the sale took place. The following information applies to you only if you are a bona fide tenant occupying and renting this property as a residential dwelling under a legitimate rental agreement. The information does not apply to you if you own this property or if you are not a bona fide residential tenant. If the foreclosure sale goes through, the new owner will have the right to require you to move out. Before the new owner can require you to move, the new owner must provide you with written notice that specifies the date by which you must move out. If you do not leave before the move-out date, the new owner can have the sheriff remove you from the property after a court hearing. You will receive notice of the court hearing. PROTECTION FROM EVICTION IF YOU ARE A BONA FIDE TENANT OCCUPYING AND RENTING THIS PROPERTY AS A RESIDENTIAL DWELLING, YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO CONTINUE LIVING IN THIS PROPERTY AFTER THE FORECLOSURE SALE FOR: 60 DAYS FROM THE DATE YOU ARE GIVEN A WRITTEN TERMINATION NOTICE. IF YOU HAVE A FIXED TERM LEASE: OR AT LEAST 30 DAYS FROM THE DATE YOU ARE GIVEN A WRITTEN TERMINATION NOTICE. IF YOU HAVE A MONTH-TO-MONTH OR WEEK-TO-WEEK RENTAL AGREEMENT, if the new owner wants to move in and use this property as a primary residence, the new owner can give you written notice and require you to move out after 30 days, even though you have a fixed term lease with more than 30 days left. You must be provided with at least 30 days' written notice after the foreclosure sale before you can be required to move. A bona fide tenant is a residential tenant who is not the borrower (property owner) or a child, spouse or parent of the borrower, and whose rental agreement: Is the result of an arm's-length transaction; Requires the payment of rent that is not substantially less than fair market rent for the property, unless the rent is reduced or subsidized due to a federal, state or local subsidy; and Was entered into prior to the date of the foreclosure sale. ABOUT YOUR TENANCY BETWEEN NOW AND THE FORECLOSURE SALE: RENT YOU SHOULD CONTINUE TO PAY RENT TO YOUR LANDLORD UNTIL THE PROPERTY IS SOLD OR UNTIL A COURT TELLS YOU OTHERWISE. IF YOU DO NOT PAY RENT, YOU CAN BE EVICTED. BE SURE TO KEEP PROOF OF ANY PAYMENTS YOU MAKE. SECURITY DEPOSIT: you may apply your security deposit and any rent you paid in advance against the current rent you owe your landlord as provided in ORS 90.367. To do this, you must notify your landlord in writing that you want to subtract the amount of your security deposit or prepaid rent from your rent payment. You may do this only for the rent you owe your current landlord. If you do this, you must do so before the foreclosure sale. The business or individual who owns the property at the foreclosure sale is not responsible to you for any deposit or prepaid rent you paid to your landlord. ABOUT YOUR TENANCY AFTER THE FORECLOSURE SALE The new owner that buys this property at the foreclosure sale may be willing to allow you to stay as a tenant instead of requiring you to move out after 30 or 60 days. After the sale, you should receive a written notice informing you that the sale took place and giving you the new owner's name and contact information. You should contact the new owner if you would like to stay. If the new owner accepts rent from you, signs a new residential rental agreement with you or does not notify you in writing within 30 days after the date of the foreclosure sale that you must move out, the new owner becomes your new landlord and must maintain the property. Otherwise: You do not owe rent. The new owner is not your landlord and is not responsible for maintaining the property on your behalf; and You must move out by the date the new owner specifies in a notice to you. The new owner may offer to pay your moving expenses and any other costs or amounts you and the new owner agree on in exchange for your agreement to leave the premises in less than 30 or 60 days. You should speak with a lawyer to fully understand your rights before making any decisions regarding your tenancy. IT IS UNLAWFUL FOR ANY PERSON TO TRY TO FORCE YOU TO LEAVE YOUR DWELLING UNIT WITHOUT FIRST GIVING YOU WRITTEN NOTICE AND GOING TO COURT TO EVICT YOU. FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR RIGHTS, YOU SHOULD CONSULT A LAWYER. If you believe you need legal assistance, contact the Oregon State Bar and ask for the lawyer referral service. Contact information for the Oregon State Bar is included with this notice. If you do not have enough money to pay a lawyer and are otherwise eligible, you may be able to receive legal assistance for free. Information about whom to contact for free legal assistance is included with this notice. OREGON STATE BAR, 16037 S.W. APN: R240233 Commonly known as: 376 Olalla Road, Toledo, OR 97391 The undersigned hereby certifies that based upon business records there are no known written assignments of the trust deed by the trustee or by the beneficiary and no appointments of a successor trustee have been made, except as recorded in the records of the county or counties in which the above described real property is situated. Further, no action has been instituted to recover the debt, or any part thereof, now remaining secured by the trust deed, or, if such action has been instituted, such action has been dismissed except as permitted by ORS 86.752(7). Both the beneficiary and the trustee have elected to sell the said real property to satisfy the obligations secured by said trust deed and notice has been recorded pursuant to Section 86.752(3) of Oregon Revised Statutes. There is a default by grantor or other person owing an obligation, performance of which is secured by the trust deed, or by the successor in interest, with respect to provisions therein which authorize sale in event of such provision. The default for which foreclosure is made is grantor's failure to pay when due the following sum: TOTAL REQUIRED TO REINSTATE: $16,607.79 TOTAL REQUIRED TO PAYOFF: $187,055.69 Because of interest, late charges, and other charges that may vary from day-to-day, the amount due on the day you pay may be greater. It will be necessary for you to contact the Trustee before the time you tender reinstatement or the payoff amount so that you may be advised of the exact amount you will be required to pay. By reason of the default, the beneficiary has declared all sums owing on the obligation secured by the trust deed immediately due and payable, those sums being the following, to-wit: 1. The installments of principal and interest which became due on October 1, 2024, and all subsequent installments of principal and interest through the date of this Notice, plus amounts that are due for late charges, delinquent property taxes, insurance premiums, advances made on senior liens, taxes and/or insurance, trustee's fees, and any attorney fees and court costs arising from the beneficiary's efforts to protect and preserve its security, all of which must be paid as a condition of reinstatement, including all sums that shall accrue through reinstatement or pay-off. Nothing in this notice shall be construed as a waiver of any rights owing to the Beneficiary under the Deed of Trust pursuant to the terms of the loan documents. Whereof, notice hereby is given that Affinia Default Services, LLC, the undersigned trustee will on November 18, 2025 at the hour of 10:00 AM (PST), as established by section 187.110, Oregon Revised Statutes. At the south entrance of the Lincoln County Courthouse, 225 W Olive St, Newport, OR 97365, County of Lincoln, State of Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash the interest in the said described real property which the grantor had or had power to convey at the time of the execution by him of the said trust deed, together with any interest which the grantor or his successors in interest acquired after the execution of said trust deed, to satisfy the foregoing obligations thereby secured and the costs and expenses of sale, including a reasonable charge by the trustee. Notice is further given that any person named in Section 86.778 of Oregon Revised Statutes has the right to have the foreclosure proceeding discontinued and the trust deed reinstated by payment to the beneficiary of the entire amount then due (other than such portion of said principal as would not then be due had no default occurred), together with the costs, trustee's and attorney's fees and curing any other default contemplated in the Notice of Default by tendering the performance required under the obligation or trust deed, at any time prior to five days before the date last set for sale. For Sale Information, contact Xome at (800) 758-8052 or www.xome.com. In construing this notice, the singular includes the plural, the word "grantor" includes any successor in interest to this grantor as well as any other person owing an obligation, the performance of which is secured by the trust deed, and the words "trustee" and "beneficiary" include their respective successors in interest, if any. Pursuant to Oregon Law, this sale will not be deemed final until the Trustee's deed has been issued by Affinia Default Services, LLC. If any irregularities are discovered within 10 days of the date of this sale, the trustee will rescind the sale, return the buyer's money and take further action as necessary. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustee or the Trustee's Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders right's against the real property only. As required by law, you are hereby notified that a negative credit report reflecting on your credit record may be submitted to a credit reporting agency if you fail to fulfill the terms of your credit obligations. Without limiting the trustee's disclaimer of representations or warranties, Oregon law requires the trustee to state in this notice that some residential property sold at a trustee's sale may have been used in manufacturing methamphetamines, the chemical components of which are known to be toxic. Prospective purchasers of residential property should be aware of this potential danger before deciding to place a bid for this property at the trustee's sale. NOTICE TO TENANTS: TENANTS OF THE SUBJECT REAL PROPERTY HAVE CERTAIN PROTECTIONS AFFORDED TO THEM UNDER ORS 86.782 AND POSSIBLY UNDER FEDERAL LAW. ATTACHED TO THIS NOTICE OF SALE, AND INCORPORATED HEREIN, IS A NOTICE TO TENANTS THAT SETS FORTH SOME OF THE PROTECTIONS THAT ARE AVAILABLE TO A TENANT OF THE SUBJECT REAL PROPERTY AND WHICH SETS FORTH CERTAIN REQUIREMENTS THAT MUST BE COMPLIED WITH BY ANY TENANT IN ORDER TO OBTAIN THE AFFORDED PROTECTION, AS REQUIRED UNDER ORS 86.771. Pursuant to the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, you are advised that Affinia Default Services, LLC may be deemed to be a debt collector and any information obtained may be used for that purpose. Personal Representative of the ESTATE OF HOWARD WILLIAM LEAR, Plaintiff, v. JASON LEAR, an individual; NXNW PROPERTIES LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; and JACKPOT HOLDINGS LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; CANOPY INVESTMENTS LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; CAVALIER VENTURES, LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; CIVIC FORM LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; CLEAR BLUE PROPERTIES LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; ERIC SMITH LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; HIGHROAD INVESTMENT LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; HILYARD RETAIL GROUP LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; JACKPOT LAND HOLDINGS, LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; FRIENDLY PARK LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company; and NEST WEST PROPERTY LLC, an Oregon Limited Liability Company, Defendants. Case No. 23CV43447 NOTICE OF RECEIVERSHIP TO: All Creditors of JASON LEAR; NXNW PROPERTIES LLC; JACKPOT HOLDINGS LLC; CANOPY INVESTMENTS LLC; CAVALIER VENTURES, LLC; CIVIC FORM LLC; CLEAR BLUE PROPERTIES LLC; ERIC SMITH LLC; HIGHROAD INVESTMENT LLC; HILYARD RETAIL GROUP LLC; JACKPOT LAND HOLDINGS, LLC; FRIENDLY PARK LLC; and NEST WEST PROPERTY LLC (collectively the "Defendants") and other interested parties. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on May 1, 2025, the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Lane County, in the above captioned case entered an Order Appointing Receiver ("Order") wherein it appointed High Plateau Asset Management LLC as receiver of the "Estate Property" as that term is defined in the Order. This Notice is provided pursuant to ORS 37.330. The Order appoints High Plateau Asset Management LLC as receiver ("the Receiver") over all assets defined therein as real properties and the rents and profits therefrom (collectively the "Estate Property") as that term is defined in the Order, to serve until further order of the Court for the purposes described in the Order, including, but not limited to, taking control of the Estate Property with the power and authority to preserve, protect, and liquidate those assets and distribute proceeds to the party or parties legally entitled thereto. Notice of Automatic Stay and Restraining Order. The entry of the Order imposes an automatic stay against most collection activities by creditors against the Estate Property. This means that creditors generally may not take actions to collect debts from the Defendants or their property, or attempt to exercise control of assets defined as Estate Property. For example, while the stay is in effect, creditors cannot sue, garnish wages, assert a deficiency, repossess property, or otherwise try to collect from Defendants or from assets defined as Estate Property. Creditors who violate the stay may be required to pay actual damages, costs, and reasonable attorney fees incurred as a result of the violation. The terms of the Order also enjoin and restrain the Defendants, all creditors, and other interested parties from interfering in any way with the Receiver's custody and control of the assets defined as Estate Property, or taking any actions that would damage, dissipate, impair, or prejudice the administration and preservation of the assets defined as Estate Property. Do Not Escalate Claims at This Time. The Receiver has not yet made a determination as to whether or not funds will be available for unsecured creditors after payment of the fees and costs of the receivership and amounts owed to secured creditors. Therefore, unsecured creditors do not need to file a claim unless and until you receive further notice to do so. No claims may be submitted until a claims process is first established by the Receiver. If the Receiver later determines that there will be assets available to pay unsecured claims, then unsecured creditors will receive further notice of a claims filing deadline and instructions how to file a claim at that time. LCL25-0337 TRUSTEE'S NOTICE OF SALE FILE NO. 24-00568OR

Reference is made to that certain deed of trust made by Glen Stowers and Shauna Stowers, as grantor, to Western Title & Escrow Company, as trustee, in favor of Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc., as designated nominee for Interpacc Lending Inc., beneficiary of the security instrument, its successors and assigns, as beneficiary, dated November 8, 2023, recorded in the records of Lincoln County, Oregon, under instrument No. 2023-07908, and subsequently assigned or transferred by operation of law to Freedom Mortgage Corporation, covering the following described real property situated in the above-mentioned county and state: The land referred to in this Guarantee is situated in the County of Lincoln, State of Oregon, and is described as follows: Unit 2, INLET SUNRISE CONDOMINIUM, in Lincoln County, Oregon; TOGETHER WITH the undivided interest in and to the general and limited common elements appurtenant thereto, as more fully set forth and described in the Declaration of Unit Ownership recorded October 14, 1997 in Book 345, page 1044, Lincoln County Film Records, which description is incorporated herein and by reference makes a part hereof. APN: R509380 Commonly known as: 885 NW Inlet Ave., Lincoln City, OR 97367 The undersigned hereby certifies that based upon business records there are no known written assignments of the trust deed a the trustee or by the beneficiary and no appointments of a successor trustee have been made, except as recorded in the records of the county or counties in which the above described real property is situated. Further, no action has been instituted to recover the debt, or any part thereof, now remaining secured by the trust deed, or, if such action has been instituted, such action has been dismissed except as permitted by ORS 86.752(7). Because of interest, late charges, and other charges that may vary from day-to-day, the amount due on the day you pay may be greater. It will be necessary for you to contact the Trustee before the time you tender reinstatement or the payoff amount so that you may be advised of the exact amount you will be required to pay. By reason of the default, the beneficiary has declared all sums owing on the obligation secured by the trust deed immediately due and payable, those sums being the following, to-wit: 1. The installments of principal and interest which became due on May 1, 2024, and all subsequent installments of principal and interest through the date of this Notice, plus amounts that are due for late charges, delinquent property taxes, insurance premiums, advances made on senior liens, taxes and/or insurance, trustee's fees, and any attorney fees and court costs arising from or associated with the beneficiary's efforts to protect and preserve its security, all of which must be paid as a condition of reinstatement, including all sums that shall accrue through reinstatement or pay-off. Nothing in this notice shall be construed as a waiver of any fees owing to the Beneficiary under the Deed of Trust pursuant to the terms of the loan documents. Whereof, notice hereby is given that Affinia Default Services, LLC, the undersigned trustee will on October 27, 2025 at the hour of 10:00 AM (PST), as established by section 187.110, Oregon Revised Statutes. At the front entrance to the Lincoln County Courthouse located at 225 West Olive, in the City of Newport, OR 97365, County of Lincoln, State of Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the interest in the said described real property which the grantor had or had power to convey at the time of the execution by him of the said trust deed, together with any interest which the grantor or his successors in interest acquired after the execution of said trust deed, to satisfy the foregoing obligations thereby secured and the costs and expenses of sale, including a reasonable charge by the trustee. Notice is further given that any person named in Section 86.778 of Oregon Revised Statutes has the right to have the foreclosure proceeding dismissed and the trust deed reinstated by payment to the beneficiary of the entire amount then due (other than such portion of said principal as would not then be due had no default occurred), together with the costs, trustee's and attorney's fees and curing any other default complained of in the Notice of Default by tendering the performance required under the obligation or trust deed, at any time prior to five days before the date last set for sale. For Sale Information, contact Xome at (800) 758-8052 or www.xome.com. In construing this notice, the singular includes the plural, the word "grantor" includes any successor in interest to this grantor as well as any other person owing an obligation, the performance of which is secured by the trust deed, and the words "trustee" and "beneficiary" include their respective successors in interest, if any. Pursuant to Oregon Law, this sale will not be deemed final until the Trustee's deed has been issued by Affinia Default Services, LLC. If any irregularities are discovered within 10 days of the date of this sale, the trustee will rescind the sale, return the buyer's money and take further action as necessary. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders right's against the real property only. As required by law, you are hereby notified that a negative credit report reflecting on your credit record may be submitted to a credit report agency if you fail to fulfill the terms of your credit obligations. Without limiting the trustee's disclaimer of representations or warranties, Oregon law requires the trustee to state in this notice that some residential property sold at a trustee's sale may have been used in manufacturing methamphetamines, the chemical components of which are known to be toxic. Prospective purchasers of residential property should be aware of this potential danger before deciding to place a bid for this property at the trustee's sale. NOTICE TO TENANTS: TENANTS OF THE SUBJECT REAL PROPERTY HAVE CERTAIN PROTECTIONS AFFORDED TO THEM UNDER ORS 86.782 AND POSSIBLY UNDER FEDERAL LAW. ATTACHED TO THIS NOTICE OF SALE, AND INCORPORATED HEREIN, IS A NOTICE TO TENANTS THAT SETS FORTH SOME OF THE PROTECTIONS THAT ARE AVAILABLE TO A TENANT OF THE SUBJECT REAL PROPERTY AND WHICH SETS FORTH CERTAIN REQUIREMENTS THAT MUST BE COMPLIED WITH BY ANY TENANT IN ORDER TO OBTAIN THE AFFORDED PROTECTION, AS REQUIRED UNDER ORS 86.771. Pursuant to the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, you are advised that Affinia Default Services, LLC may be deemed to be a debt collector and any information obtained may be used for that purpose. Newport welcomes new trainer ahead of fall season

WILL LOHRE

Lincoln County Leader

This year, Newport High School Athletic Director Shelley Moore has prioritized sportsmanship, health and wellness, and a sense of community for the Cubs, and there are some exciting developments to support those goals.

New Athletic Trainer

In the interest of keeping Newport’s athletes fit and on the field this fall, Newport has brought in a new full-time Athletic Trainer, Dylan Borden. Borden’s is employed by the district, and the position is funded by the booster club.

While Borden will have responsibilities getting the Cubs the treatment and training, they need, his role will also extend to educational functions regarding safety, wellness, and even helping with the emergency action plan for the school.

“He will be working on preventative work with coaches and programs to get in front of injury and prevent and educate athletes also on not just injury but wellness as far as nutrition goes,” Moore said. “He works on safety education also and then responding and helping to support injury and return to play from injuries of all types of injuries. Tracking treatment and providing that as authorized by the athlete’s medical practitioner.”

Borden will support all of Newport’s programs throughout the year, while also offering coursework that focuses on health, nutrition, and hydration to help kids understand what goes into being healthy.

Focusing on sportsmanship Last year, Newport High School had 401 students participating in athletics, and Moore is expecting around the same number this year. Based on the early returns from sports registration in May and June, Moore said there are about 290 kids registered for sports programs this year.

“That’s not all fall sports, some of them have registered for other seasons, but I feel pretty good that our numbers should be around 400, something like that,” Moore said.

One of the new things that Moore has implemented this year is that the school now requires athletes to complete a National Federation of State High School Associations online class on sportsmanship to be cleared to play.

“We’ve been working really hard on sportsmanship for about a year. I have a full, comprehensive plan, we’ve put in all kinds of different pieces, but that’s one of the biggest ones, because currently the requirement is that a kid only has to take it if they get ejected from a game,” Moore said. “I flipped it so they will take it to get cleared this year. They won’t do the same class every year, there’s some really good coursework on mental health and how to be a student athlete and banned substance use, leadership, and things like that.”

Moore said Newport will rotate what classes students take each year to be cleared for sports.

“I’m excited. Kids have been good about it, I’ve asked for feedback on the class, and it’s been positive,” Moore said. “So, I hope it’s going to help.”

The focus on sportsmanship is being implemented in response to some issues Newport had with player ejections the previous year. After a few ejections, Moore began to think about more preventative measures, rather than waiting for punitive measures after an incident (like a fine or an online class).

As a result, Moore “started from scratch” with a new approach.

“I’ve added some other things, there are game suspensions that happen, and we do restorative steps as far as, I don’t believe in telling anybody they have to apologize, but you have to make it right with whoever it is that was impacted,” Moore said. “I built on that to get in front of it. It was the year before last, so last year we had no ejections, we were ejection-free.”

FAST FACT

Athletic Trainer Dylan Borden will support Newport’s programs throughout the year, and offer coursework focusing on student health, nutrition, and hydration.

Moore said it is important for kids to know how much time and energy people put into their experiences, and when the athletes handle themselves in an “out of control” manner, it’s not good for anybody.

To help ingrain ideals of sportsmanship, Newport now has athletes read the OSAA sportsmanship statement before games, rather than the announcer.

“The majority of the time, we had athletes reading it instead of adults, and it really lands differently. It’s kind of twofold. One: it captures the audience’s attendance better. And two: when you have an athlete reading it, they’re absorbing some level of the content, so it resonates differently as well,” Moore said.

Connecting with community To strengthen community ties, Moore started the “Growing Up Cub Nights” when she arrived at the school five years ago. Each program has a night when young athletes from the community can join the varsity players for a home game.

“We do one for each [sport] every year, and [kids] get to escort a varsity athlete onto the court, field, pool deck, or track. They get their name announced, they get to wear their jersey, they get to come for free,” Moore said. “We do entry by donation on those nights, and people have been extremely generous about that, or they can not donate at all.”

Sometimes, elementary school kids will sing the national anthem, or the youth will perform halftime shows for events. Moore said she tries to keep growing the events every year. She often hears from the youth that their so excited for Cub Night, which is a good indicator of how the program has brought the generations together.

“We’re trying to really implement what it is to be a Cub, and a big part of that is what your character is, and what your sportsmanship is like, that’s kind of tied together,” Moore said.

As the fall season kicks off, Moore is eager to see everybody get back into the full swing of things and see the hard work the athletes and coaches have put in come to fruition.

With a new trainer, a new emphasis on integrity in sport, and fortifying connections in the community, the fall promises to be an exciting time for Cubs athletics.
