

The Field Hockey All-Stars

Megan Huntington, Attleboro

A shifty sophomore for the Bombardiers, Huntington finished seventh in the Hockomock League in points with 10 goals and 16 assists (26 points). Her strong stick in the circle combined with her instinct to finish attacks made her a player to be on the lookout for in coming seasons as well.

Kelsey McCleary, Attleboro

McCleary was a true playmaker in the midfield for the Bombardiers as the junior orchestrated an offense that scored 45 goals and had 10 wins. McCleary finished with nine assists and had three goals as a Hockomock League All-Star.

Siany Ortez-Amaya, Attleboro

Marking her third year in the cage, Ortez-Amaya finished with 550 saves and an 82% save percentage. A two-time Sun Chronicle All-Star, the senior backstop also averaged 1.58 goals against and was a Hockomock League All-Star for a second season as she helped keep Attleboro in games all season leading to a 10-8-1 record and only 28 goals allowed.

Jordi Higgins, Bishop Feehan

The top scorer in the area and Catholic Central League All-Star, Higgins was as dangerous as they come with the ball on her stick. The senior winger found the back of the net 32 times and had eight assists as a pure scorer for the Shamrocks, helping Bishop Feehan to seven wins of five goals or more.

Sammy Logan, Bishop Feehan

Logan was key at centerback in holding back opponents on a Shamrocks team that went 14-5. The senior’s defender finished the season with eight assists and a goal as a CCL All-Star.

Lilly Marchand, Bishop Feehan

A bonafide scorer, Marchand played right wing and was part of most of Feehan’s scoring plays. The senior three-time Catholic Central League All-Star and two-time Sun Chronicle All-Star finished with 19 goals and 20 assists, providing balance with field vision and a knack for finding the back of the goal.

Reese Jefferson, Dighton-Rehoboth

The Falcons’ junior playmaker and two-time Sun Chronicle All-Star collected three goals and eight assists as a South Coast Conference All-Star. Jefferson elevated her teammates and was praised as one of the most talented athletes her head coach Meagan Marcotte has ever coached.

Madison Williams, Dighton-Rehoboth

William turned in her first year as a full-time starter for the Falcons as a junior, with her debut a 20-save game against Joseph Case. Williams recorded four shutouts in goal — all ties — and finished the season with 145 saves on 180 shots for an 81% save percentage.

Brynn Allen, Foxboro

Allen was the team MVP as a sophomore, leading the Warriors in scoring with 14 goals and eight assists. A player with a natural sense for the game and a high motor, Allen regularly found herself in the right spots to set up plays and find a lane to the goal on drives. She was a Hockomock League All-Star.

Erin Haney, Foxboro

A poised defender, Haney’s ability to read the play and work back was unparalleled. The senior regularly disrupted plays to help set up Foxboro’s counterattack. Haney helped Foxboro record eight shutout wins as the Warriors went on a run through September and October where they went 6-0 with a goal differential of 28-1.

Izzy Leclair, Foxboro

Leclair finished her senior season with 14 assists and nine goals, utilizing her quick footwork and deceptive ball control to make things happen. The Hockomock League All-Star challenged defenders and set up her teammates, along with herself, with her strong stick stills on top of her footwork.

Kathleen Staruski, Foxboro

Staruski was best in show among Hockomock League keepers this season, recording a league-best 1.22 goals against average (among players with more than six games and a save percentage of .869. A Hockomock League All-Star, Staruski was fourth in the league in saves with 189 and helped bring Foxboro to an 11-7-2 record and the Division 3 tournament.

Addison Lewis, King Philip

A co-team MVP and four-year varsity member, the Warriors’ senior was selected as a Hockomock League All-Star on the Warriors’ back line. Lewis finished the season with three goals and an assist, and usually saw opponents’ top attackers on defense.

Abby MacDonald, King Phillip

Dubbed as the unsung hero for the Warriors, McDonald finished her senior season with 10 goals and seven assists. MacDonald turned it on during the MIAA tournament with five points (three goals, two assists) in King Phillip’s three game playoff run.

Makenzie McDevitt, King Philip

A co-team MVP, McDevitt returns to The Sun Chronicle All-Star Team for her senior season. A Hockomock League All-Star, McDevitt posted 14 goals and 14 assists as a roving midfielder and forward for the Warriors. She finished with 48 career goals and 30 assists.

Tayla McDuff, King Philip

McDuff was a high-IQ sophomore midfielder with good field vision, who was relied upon heavily all the season as she finished with nine goals and 15 assists for 24 points for the Warriors.

Ella Morgan, King Philip

The Warriors’ leading sophomore scorer was one of the area’s top threats as a Hockomock League All-Star. Morgan finished with 28 goals and 12 assists and has already reached the 50-goal, 50-point mark for her career.

Caitlin O’Brien, King Philip

Steady on defense, O’Brien was strong with her stick in turning back opponents’ plays. The senior recorded four defensive saves and picked up two assists as consistent contributor.

Our Selections

THE FIELD HOCKEY ALL-STARS were selected with local coaches consulted for their recommendations.

Carys Colby, Mansfield

A senior cornerstone defensive piece for Mansfield, Colby was a physical player who anchored the Hornets’ back line. The Hockomock League All-Star and two-time Sun Chronicle All-Star was a standout for the Hornets who notched four shutout wins.

Ella Palanza, Mansfield

A true grinder at forward, Palanzo was particularly dangerous in the open field where she could create breakaways and get into man-up situations. The senior boasted a strong shot to finish the season with a team-leading six goals and five assists to lead the Hornets as a Hockomock League All-Star.

Madison Folan, North Attleboro

A three-year member of the varsity, Folan finished her senior year tied for being the team’s second-leading scorer. A two-time Sun Chronicle All-Star and Hockomock League All-Star, Folan was an accurate passer who set up her teammates and had nine goals with eight assists for the Rocketeers.

Grace Gouck, North Attleboro

The Rocketeers’ first-year goalie in her second season of field hockey racked up 137 saves as the senior had a goals per game average of 1.86. Quick with her feet and not afraid to lay out for the save, Gouck was named a Hockomock League All-Star.

Ellie Regan, North Attleboro

A veteran of the field and a three-year varsity member, Regan was a key defender in her senior season, helping find open teammates on free hits or in transition. Regan finished the season with two goals and two assists as a defense-first player.

North Attleboro High senior Madison Folan, front, was the second-leading for the Rocketeers with nine goals and eight assists this season.
