Statement to Media Regarding 800 Middle Street

The Houston Housing Authority (HHA) remains intentionally diligent regarding the concerns raised by various parties. We have been addressing the recent issues and allegations concerning the 800 Middle Street project in collaboration with the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ), the City of Houston, and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). We also acknowledge the input from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs (TDHCA).

Our priority remains the safety and well-being of our community, and we are committed to ensuring that all necessary steps are taken to address these concerns. As part of our response to the allegations, we have been working closely with our environmental consultant, InControl Technologies, and the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) to ensure we are following all environmental regulations and to ensure our environmental assessments remain complete and accurate in all material respects.

Additionally, we have promptly responded to the TCEQ's recommendations and are actively working with them to address these concerns. Our discussions and planning processes with all involved parties are ongoing, and we look forward to continuing to meet the requirements as expected.

The Houston Housing Authority remains dedicated to serving our community, and we will continue to work transparently with all relevant authorities to ensure this project adheres to environmental standards. The safety and well-being of our residents are of utmost importance, and we will continue to follow the necessary measures to create a safe and healthy community.
