Library Art Gallery features ‘Into the Dream’ for April

BANDON - The April exhibit at the Bandon Library Art Gallery is titled “Into the Dream,” featuring paintings by Allison McClay and sculpture by Cary Weigand.

McClay’s paintings are a journey into a series of dreams, or into the strange, borderless space we inhabit when we’re somewhere between sleep and waking.
 Figures dissolve into abstraction, or are engulfed by and merged with plant life, seemingly as sentient (or more so), as the semiconscious humans they grapple with.

Or embrace. Her insistence on leaving most of these pieces untitled allows viewers to enter the paintings with their own stories, memories or allusions.

Weigand’s carefully wrought figures are alive with personality and character and come straight out of stories, myths, dreams. Weigand mixes extremely fine work with cruder areas of slab, a fully handmade technique that makes them seem as ancient as the stories they create,
 or remind us of.

New Artists present 'The Lion King Jr.' at the Sprague

BANDON - The Sprague Community Theater will be uniquely transformed this month as New Artists Productions brings Disney's "The Lion King Junior" to the stage with a cast of 30 young actors from the South Coast. These residents of Reedsport to Sixes and cities in between will invite their audiences to the African savanna to witness the birth of the young lion cub Simba and experience his growth throughout the play.

Show dates at the Sprague Community Theater, 1202 11th St. SW, offer six performances which cover two weekends: April 13, 14 and 15 and April 20, 21 and 22. Showtimes are 7 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays; 2 p.m. on Sundays.

The play features classic songs from the 1994 film such as "Hakuna Matata" and the Academy Award winning "Can You Feel the Love Tonight." The beauty of the music is that each cast group (Grassland People, Hyenas, Wildebeests, and Lionesses) is highlighted to not only enhance the experience, but also enhance the importance of each cast grouping to life on the African savanna.

The scope of the production of The Lion King Junior was an enormous undertaking for New Artists families.

"We knew the cast could handle anything - dialogue, dance, and musical lyrics even in Swahili, Setswana, Zulu and Xhosa," said Anita Almich, who with her husband

Dan co-founded the youth program. "The construction of Pride Rock, transforming the stage to the Pridelands, and the costuming presented a challenge as we tried to keep everything loyal and authentic to the 1994 movie and the live Broadway version."

"The magnificent scenery for Pride Rock, the Elephant Graveyard, the jungle and Scar's Cave, was influenced by the work of Bonnie Nixon and her daughter Sheila Langenberg. They have helped make this musical presentation like no other for New Artists," added Almich.

In addition to working on her own, Nixon came to Saturday work parties and taught cast members painting techniques, papier-mâché and prop making. Beyond the scenery and costuming, the stage lighting will be a new experience for the cast and the audience. Special LED lighting fixtures were purchased to create unique moods as the scenes change during the life of Simba. These lights will be used in conjunction with the lighting provided at the Sprague Theater.

Tickets priced at $10 for adults, $8 for senior citizens, and $5 for students (K-12) are available at three outlets: Bandon Ace Hardware (in Radio Shack), Bandon Mercantile, and Olivia's Cottage. Tickets will also be available at the door before each show, or reserve by calling the Almichs at 541-347-2517.

Learn salmon-friendly gardening at free class

BANDON - The Bandon Public Library presents a free class on “Salmon-Friendly Gardening: What You Can Do To Protect Our Salmon,” from 6:30-8 p.m., Wednesday, April 11, in the library’s Sprague Room, 1204 11th St. SW.

This class will be repeated from 10-11:30 a.m. Saturday, April 21, also at the library.

Learn four things a gardener can do to protect salmon streams for the future. Discover which native plants will thrive in a home garden and learn some landscape ideas. Attendees will receive a native plant list along with tips to analyze their soil.

These classes are part of the Big Fish Vision series being offered at the Bandon Public Library this spring and summer. The classes are a collaboration with Go Native’s Darcy Grahek and OSU Master Gardeners Christine Hall and Everett Johnston. Learn from life-long gardeners who use native plants in their own gardens.

Anyone who wants to garden, learn about native plants and help the salmon is welcome to attend one of these informative classes.
