By BREE LAUGHLIN
The World

Teaching artists from Gansango Music & Dance Company had the audience clapping and moving along to the songs and drumming of West Africa.

The audience was invited to 'travel to Africa' to celebrate Juneteenth during the community-wide block party sponsored by the South Coast Equity Coalition and the Coos County Library Service District on Wednesday, June 19.

Many of those who came to the event brought a lawn chair to enjoy the outdoor show across the street from Coos Bay City Hall and in front of Black Market Gourmet. The event was one of several opportunities to take part in Juneteenth in both Coos and Curry Counties.

Juneteenth is a federal holiday in the United States celebrated annually on June 19 to commemorate the ending of slavery in the United States.

The theme of the local Juneteenth holiday this year was 'Family Reunion,' a celebration centering on African American resilience,

Overtaken Raft causes death on the Rogue

Staff Report

On Saturday, June 22, 2024, at about 12:41pm, the Curry County Sheriff's Office Dispatch 911 Center received a Text to the 911 line, from Agness resident Martin Gillette. Gillette reported the drowning of a woman at Two-Mile Rapids, upriver from Agness. Information was provided that the female victim was on a rafting excursion with three others and a dog that started at Foster Bar.

Shortly after being on the water, the two females on the raft and a dog were flipped out at the Two-Mile Rapids. Others in the rafting party were able to get both females to shore, but one had drowned. Dispatch paged out Agness Fire and Rescue and Reach Air along with request to page out Mercy Air.

Marine Sergeant Jared Gray had been at Huntly Park earlier doing water training with SAR, Gold Beach Fire and Police, Sixes River Fire Department, USFS, Aquatic Safety and Coos County Sheriff's Office. Sergeant Gray started upriver in the marine boat and picked up two members of the Coos County Sheriff's Office at the Lobster Creek Boat Ramp. They then responded to the Two-Mile rapids.

Once on scene, there were other rafters that had arrived. The victim, identified as sixty-six-year-

North Bend Mayor appointed by governor to South Coast Regional Solutions advisory committee

Governor Tina Kotek has appointed North Bend Mayor Jessica Engelke to the South Coast Regional Solutions Advisory Committee, representing Coos, Curry, and Douglas Counties. Mayor Engelke will serve as the city representative through June 30, 2026. Regional Solutions is a uniquely Oregon approach to community and economic development, fostering collaboration among public, private, and civic sectors to advance projects, solve problems, seize opportunities, and respond to emerging local needs. This program builds on a long tradition of collaborative governance, regional coordination, and creative problem-solving. Mayor Engelke expressed her enthusiasm for the appointment: "Being part of the South Coast Regional Solutions Advisory Committee allows me to further my commitment to our community. I'm excited to collaborate with leaders across sectors to advance projects that will benefit our beautiful South Coast. Our region is unique and full of potential. Together, we can seize opportunities and tackle challenges to create a thriving community." The Regional Solutions Program, established by legislation in 2014, is divided into 11 Economic Development Districts. Each district has a Governor-appointed Advisory Committee composed of community leaders, including local government officials and tribal representatives. These committees set regional priorities and identify resources to support local projects, ensuring effective state government support for local partners. Mayor Engelke was elected to serve as North Bend's Mayor in November 2022, after serving as a Council Member since 2018. She is a tenured Business Professor at Southwestern Oregon Community College and has over 25 years of hands-on experience in the business community. Letters to the Editor

An open letter to North Bend City Mayor Engelke and city administrator

Mr. Milliron CENSORED my comments from being verbally read out loud for council and the community to hear during the May council meeting. They immediately changed the meeting rules after my submission.

Mr. Milliron then CENSORED me during the June council meeting. I was sent an email link that did NOT work, Mr. Milliron stated the city does not provide tech support to assist people getting entry to the meeting insisting the link worked, but refused to resent the link he stated worked to allow entering the meeting.

June 11th, I emailed every city council member detailing this egregious behavior asking, "How do I file a formal complaint?" Not one council member responded back.

According to online news articles this is the same kind of bad unethical behavior that Mr. Milliron displayed which resulted in the city council members finally saying enough is enough and dissolved his contract.

Since 2021, Mr. Milliron has demonstrated behavior that incites people. He has had problems with the North Bend Police Chief and the Police Captain, elected council, and community members. Many of these incidents made state and national news.

This impacts people not wanting to shop here, buy a home here, or be here. This is bad modeling for the youth. It brings down community moral. It creates a toxic culture that leaves people just upset and beyond frustrated.

We as a community need to re write our outdated 1900's charter to outline new accountability standards of conduct with clear consequences when standard of ethic codes are broken. We have to have government accountability to ensure we foster a healthy and inclusive community.

We need elected officials who are interfacing with the community and working to address our concerns. Why are the council members not at a booth at the farmer's market?

Community moral cannot be uplifted under this style of management, The community members are being ignored. We have no recourse to even file a complaint that will be responded too.

Gansango Music & Dance has provided performances and instruction in more than 100 community-focused all-age performances at Western Washington public libraries since 2005 – as well as many more throughout the country and globe.

During their time on Oregon's South Coast, the Gansango artists also gave performances at the Bandon Performing Arts Center in Bandon and at the Chetco Public Library in Brookings.

Oregonians urged to keep firework use legal and safe

With fireworks set to go on sale on Sunday, "Keep it legal, keep it safe" is the message from the Oregon State Fire Marshal. The 2024 fireworks retail sales season begins on June 23 and runs through July 6 in Oregon. The state fire marshal would like everyone to know which fireworks are legal to use, where fireworks can be used, and how to use them safely.

"We ask Oregonians to be responsible if they plan to use fireworks as part of their celebrations," Oregon State Fire Marshal Assistant Chief Deputy Mark Johnston said. "Every year, we see fires and injuries because of improper use of fireworks or illegal fireworks. Our message is simple: keep it legal and keep it safe."

To reduce the risk of starting a fire, some local governments in Oregon have firework sales or use restrictions in place. Oregonians are asked to check local regulations and follow them where they live or where they may be traveling to celebrate the Fourth of July.

Consumer-legal fireworks can only be purchased from permitted fireworks retailers and stands. State regulations limit where those fireworks may be used, including public lands and parks. The possession and use of fireworks are prohibited in national parks and forests, on Bureau of Land Management lands, on U.S. Fish and Wildlife properties, on state beaches, in state parks, and in state campgrounds. Fireworks are also prohibited on many private lands protected by the Oregon Department of Forestry.

For those who purchase legal fireworks, fire officials encourage everyone to practice the four Bs of safe fireworks use:

- Be prepared before lighting fireworks: keep water available by using a garden hose or bucket.
 - Be safe when lighting fireworks: keep children and pets away from fireworks. Never use fireworks near or on dry grass or vegetation.
 - Be responsible after lighting fireworks: never relight a dud. Please wait 15 to 20 minutes, then soak spent fireworks in a bucket of water before disposal.
 - Be aware: use only legal fireworks in legal places.
- Oregon law prohibits the possession, use, or sale of any firework that flies into the air, explodes, or travels more than 12 feet horizontally on the ground without a permit issued by the state fire marshal. Fireworks commonly called bottle rockets, Roman candles, and firecrackers are illegal in Oregon without a permit. Officials may seize illegal fireworks and charge offenders with a class B misdemeanor which could result in a fine of up to $2,500. Those who misuse fireworks or allow fireworks to cause damage are liable and may be required to pay fire suppression costs or other damages. Parents are also liable for fireworks damage caused by their children.

The Oregon State Fire Marshal has resources about the sale and legal use of consumer fireworks, retail sale permits, and state rules for firework use and enforcement activities to its website.

Upon retiring from teaching elementary school, she took up teaching yoga, pursuing her love of the arts and travel. She built a wonderful yoga studio in her magical backyard, affectionately known as the tree house. She took many trips, either solo, with friends or with her yoga group for study.

She loved to visit friends and family across the country. Scotland and Mexico were two of her favorite International destinations. Jevanna loved to sing, she sang with her church choir, as well as just singing in the car, around the house, or in her gardens, just for the sheer pleasure of it. She loved dressing up and throwing costume parties. And she loved spiders!

Mostly, she enjoyed spending time with her family, as well as with the many friends she made throughout her life. She made friends everywhere she went and was well loved by all.

In her memory, Jevanna would like you to move your body or do some yoga, listen to music, support art and artists, have the chocolate, enjoy the wonders of nature and life and just breathe.

Jeanette D. Brooks

January 16, 1936- June 12, 2024

Jeanette D. Brooks, a native from Everett, Washington, passed away on June 12, 2024 at the age of 88. She was successfully married for 66 (almost 67) years to David H. Brooks who died in September of 2023. She was survived by her three children; Michael V. Brooks (and Jeff Honea), Timothy L. Brooks and Tammy M. Brooks (and Jose Morales Sanchez and their 2 children; Junior and Carlos). She is joining her eldest grandson, David Alexander Morales Brooks along with her husband, Dave Brooks, who both recently passed.

She had a full range of experiences throughout her life - working side by side with her husband in every endeavor they tackled. Her strengths and easy going personality made getting along with her amazingly easy. She was bright, organized, thoughtful, kind, patient, supportive, helpful and always there when you needed her. She made good friends wherever she went. Her ability to get to know people and 'know' things about their family and remember occasions with thoughtfulness was something that endeared her to those around her.

She supported the creation of a non-profit organization that was driven by her husband Dave Brooks and created by her daughter, Tammy Brooks. The Brooks Education Foundation - <https://brookseducationfdn.org/> The organization provides both 1) scholarships to youth (affected by foster care, homelessness, and/or family instability) offering them educational opportunities to help them grow up to make a difference in their communities, and 2) support to local teachers (Reedville Elementary in Hillsboro, OR) around winter break to ensure families have what they need to get through the winter break and in-turn the teachers can use the break to truly rejuvenate and return to school ready to teach.

Mom, you were amazing. You made a difference in the lives of those around you; especially your children, Mike, Tim and Tammy. We love and miss you. You have earned your rest <3 R.I.P.

Razor clamming open from Coos Bay to California border

Other shellfish closures remain

Razor clamming is now open from Coos Bay south jetty to the California border the Oregon Department of Agriculture and the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife announced today. Two consecutive tests showed biotoxin levels below the closure limit in the area from Coos Bay to Cape Blanco (Cape Blanco to California border reopened June 21.) People should always call the Shellfish Safety Hotline (1-800-448-2474) before heading out to harvest shellfish or visit the ODA Recreational Shellfish Biotoxin Closures Webpage.

Mussel harvest remains closed coastwide and bay clamming remains closed from Cascade Head to the California border for high levels of the marine biotoxin paralytic shellfish poison (PSP). Razor clamming remains closed from Yachats to Coos Bay for high levels of PSP and domoic acid.

Current harvest closures and openings:

Razor clams:
Open from Washington border to Yachats River.
Closed from Yachats River to Coos Bay north jetty.
Open from Coos Bay north jetty to California border.
Open from Washington border to Cascade Head.
Closed from Cascade Head to California border.

Mussels:
Closed coastwide.

ODA will continue testing for shellfish toxins at least twice per month, as tides and weather permit. Reopening an area closed for biotoxins requires two consecutive tests with results below the closure limit.

For more information call ODA's shellfish biotoxin hotline at (800) 448-2474, the ODA Food Safety Program at 503-986-4720, or visit the ODA Recreational Shellfish Biotoxin Closures Webpage.

Supreme court rules in favor of Grants Pass in massive homelessness Case

By NATE SCHWARTZ
Coos Bay World

The US Supreme Court issued a ruling on the case of Johnson vs Grants Pass today, June 28th, 2024, in what experts are calling the biggest case in the realm of homelessness in decades. The conservative majority on the SCOTUS ensured that the defendant, the City of Grants Pass, was favored by the ruling.

The initial case was a class action suit brought against the City on behalf of its homeless population. Grants Pass attempted, through a city ordinance, to restrict the use of pillows, blankets, and cardboard boxes to shelter oneself in a public place. This would make it illegal for any homeless person to shelter in a public space, meaning they would effectively have no place to go, especially considering the City does not have an adequate number of shelter beds to accommodate its unhoused population.

Through invoking another case, Martin v. Boise, the district court filed an injunction, seeing these ordinances as a 'cruel and unusual punishment' of the status of homelessness. It essentially allowed jurisdictions to criminalize the status of homelessness, using the threat of fines or jail time to keep the homeless out of a community entirely.

It should go without saying that a hefty monetary fine would be a huge hindrance to someone trying to get back on their feet. That is without even mentioning how jail-time and a mark on one's record would make it even harder to find a job or housing. These measures are counterproductive for getting the unhoused back into society, it just allows for cities to sweep them under the rug by forcing them out or locking them up.

The case then made its way to the highest court in the land. After deliberation, the SCOTUS ruling favored the City. The SCOTUS argument for why this is not 'cruel and unusual' is that the ordinance does not specify homeless people, but just seeks to cut down on 'public camping'. It also argues that fines and jail-time do not constitute as 'cruel and unusual'.

"Grants Pass's public-camping ordinances do not criminalize status. The public-camping laws prohibit actions undertaken by any person, regardless of status. It makes no difference whether the charged defendant is currently a person experiencing homelessness, a backpacker on vacation, or a student who abandons his dorm room to camp out in protest on the lawn of a municipal building," states the SCOTUS Syllabus for the case.

This does not preclude the fact that the ordinance was targeted toward and overwhelming used for the homeless community. A drifting backpacker with nowhere to stay, is also, for all intents and purposes, homeless, even if just for a handful of evenings. The distinctions in language and in practice are incongruous.

The latter example has even more disturbing implications. It actually expands the scope of the original ordinance, giving cities an example of how to use camping ordinances to squash what would otherwise be peaceful protests. It would arguably be a direct violation of the first-amendment rights to assembly and freedom of speech if a City attempted to use it in this manner. We can only wait and see how individual Cities chose to use this power.

Some conservative figures have already come out in support of this decision. Will Lathrop, republican candidate for Oregon Attorney General applauded the decision.

"The Supreme Court has rightfully decided the City of Grants Pass can enforce reasonable restrictions on homeless camps on public property. This decision effectively gives communities across our nation tools and clarity under the law to create and enforce reasonable restrictions on homeless camps, except in Oregon, where legalized tent cities remain the law under House Bill 3115," said Lathrop.

There is no evidence that this expanded power will be used 'reasonably'. Experts argue that the only 'reasonable' solution to homelessness is to provide resources and housing. The best tool that a city can have in its arsenal against excessive public camping, is an adequate amount of shelter space. Stating that a City can now make it illegal to camp, without requiring that they provide shelter for said campers, does nothing to alleviate homelessness other than attempting to force them out of one community and into another.

Senator Kayse Jama and Representative Pam Marsh agree, as they released a joint statement as head of their respective Housing Committees in the House and Senate.

"Our goal remains making sure every Oregonian has access to safe, affordable housing so no one has to resort to sleeping on the streets. Homelessness will be solved by building more housing, supporting shelters and programs to get people on the path out of homelessness.

"Local jurisdictions have a duty to maintain livability for everyone in their communities – and, importantly, there needs to be a reasonable balance between those concerns and the reality that too many Oregonians don't have anywhere safe to sleep. Today's Supreme Court ruling does nothing to solve the housing and homelessness crisis in Oregon," stated the legislators.

As stated, only time will tell how cities chose to use this now-protected power. Will they actually attempt to 'maintain livability', as suggested by the House and Senate Housing Committees? Or will cities choose 'out of sight, out of mind', and force their homeless populations elsewhere, or in the worst case, incarcerate them en masse.
