Did you know?

Did you know that the modern toothbrush was invented in 1780, and used pig bristles?

It's true! William Addis from England developed a modern style toothbrush. In 1844, the familiar 3-row style was developed. Even so, most Americans did not brush their teeth regularly until after World War II. The returning soldiers had learned to brush properly in the Army!

We've come a long way! With expert dental care From Dr. Strong, you will protect your teeth, look great, and feel even better. Dentistry with a difference!

SeaCoast Compost owner to give talk at library

BANDON - David Boyer, proprietor of SeaCoast Compost of Coos County, will be speaking at 7 p.m. Thursday, June 14, at the Bandon Public Library Sprague Room, 1204 11th St. SW.

SeaCoast Compost began as a dream to transform the waste from the Oregon Coast's three iconic industries - fishing, dairy and timber - into a product that enlivens the soils and all life that depends upon these soils.

SeaCoast Compost produces biodynamic compost and planting mixes handcrafted from the finest of the sea and land. Biodynamics was created in the 1920's by the Austrian scientist and highly trained seer, Rudolf Steiner, as a means of countering the deadening forces of industrial agriculture and its complete dependence on chemical inputs for continued plant growth.

Learn what's in SeaCoast compost and its biodynamic compost preps. Gardeners, conservationists and others interested in the well being of the lands and waters will find this presentation interesting.

This free presentation is a continuation of the Bandon Library's The Big Fish Vision series, spreading the word about ways to care for the Earth's lands, waters and all of its inhabitants.

Journey through the watershed at free talk

BANDON - The Coquille Watershed Association Presents "Past and Present: A Journey Through Our Watershed" at 6 p.m. Wednesday, June 27, at the Bandon Public Library's Sprague Room, 1204 11th St. SW in City Park.

Join the Coquille Watershed Association as they present the history of the Coquille watershed and the role of the organization in promoting sustainable agriculture and forestry practices while maintaining the land and water for future generations. Meet the people of the watershed and learn what they are doing today to preserve the future. "Supporting the conservation of our natural resources is important to us all and to those who will follow us," said Sara Michael, assistant librarian at the Bandon Public Library.

"This presentation is part of Bandon Public Library's The Big Fish Vision series, which continues to promote the conservation of the beauty and inhabitants of this place we call home," Michael said. "Please join us to learn more about the role of the Coquille Watershed Association."

History comes to life at Hughes House

SIXES - Visitors to the Historic Hughes House are invited to listen in on conversations between pioneer Jane Hughes and family members, neighbors and travelers. This year's Living History began Wednesday, June 6, and continues each Wednesday, except July 4, between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m., with the final presentation Aug. 29.

The six short scenes, written by local historian Shirley Nelson, depict Jane's life at the Hughes House near Cape Blanco in the early 1900's. Inge Licon, in her 10th year as Jane Hughes, appears in all the scenes.

Greg Ryder portrays Jane's son Edward just back from a trip to bustling San Francisco; Caara Williams is Georgina McKenzie from an adjoining dairy farm; Erica Godbey is daughter-in-law Annie on laundry day. Tim Self portrays Father Keveny, a traveling priest serving the South Coast; Emily Gwynn is Irish immigrant Catherine Kelly en route to a new life in Astoria. Jada Ryder and Lily Albiston are audience favorites as Jane's young grandchildren Annie and Agnes from across the Sixes River.

These scenes come to life under the auspices of Oregon State Parks and the Cape Blanco Heritage Society. The Living History coordinator is Susan Russell.

Admission to Hughes House is free. Donations are welcomed.

Registration is free and people are encouraged to enter in one or more of the four categories: vehicle, animal, float and marching (anything on foot).
