

King Tide Event leads to flooding throughout the watershed

The King Tides and storms during the first week of the year led to flooding throughout Coos County. Thanks to these images from Mike Greybill and Jan Hodder, community members with great knowledge and concern for the local watershed, we can see the levee overflowing at Coalbank Slough, Isthmus Slough creating a new lake out in Eastside, and East Bay Drive and Coos River Highway underwater.

Flooding of Isthmus Slough created a new waterplane in an industrial area of Eastside.

Senator Merkley holds local Town Hall in timely moment

Senator Jeff Merkley

By NATE SCHWARTZ
Editor

On Saturday, January 10, Senator Jeff Merkley (D) held his 16th town hall meeting in Coos County at the North Bend Community Center. The Oregon native maintains the impressive streak of local appearances which, alongside Senator Ron Wyden (D), makes the delegation the only in the legislature to hold yearly meetings in each of their constituent counties.

This year's iteration could not have come at a more apt time, given the context of current events in the country. The town hall fell on the weekend following the well-documented killing of Renne Good by a United States Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) officer in broad daylight. The same week as two were shot in Portland by ICE, before the federal agents fled the scene. This was also less than two weeks removed from American military action in Venezuela, with much discourse being held around further potential action in Greenland. In a pivotal moment for the country, these concerns were top of mind among locals, as proven by protest signs that could be seen at the event.

Upon entering, locals were given a survey on their preferred solutions for preventing social security from reaching insolvency. The national trust, intended to secure quality of life for our older-folk, is projected to run dry by 2033 if a solution cannot be found.

Another hand-out at the door outlined the 10-step playbook that characterized the rise of an authoritarian regime. The steps listed can be laid next to actions taken by the Trump administration in clear ways, like centralizing executive power and gutting social services nationwide. The final step, cancelling or rigging the next election, turned out to be prescient, as this week President Trump has twice floated the idea of cancelling the midterm elections in interviews.

Before taking questions, Senator Merkley took a moment to honor the work being done by the local Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of Coos and Curry County. CASA volunteers act as advocates and support staff for over 75 of the local children in foster care. Representatives from CASA were gifted a flag that had flown over the Capitol.

The senator was asked about ICE action and how to prevent raids and presence here on the coast:

"We had, in 2024, a [border control reform] proposal that was worked out between Democrats and Republicans in the senate. You might recall that one of the candidates, who is now the president of the United States, said 'don't pass that reform bill, because I want to keep immigration as a campaign issue'," answered Merkley. "So, here we are now, not just with a campaign issue, but something that's tearing America apart. There are a series of things that I've been pursuing.

"One of the first is sensitive areas. Legislating that sensitive areas will not be transgressed by ICE. That's schools, churches, courthouses, so on and so forth. Second is that, the folks who work for ICE, they have to display what agency they are with and an individual identifier, and they can't wear ski masks over their face. Having no identity encourages agents to act in outrageous ways because we can't hold them accountable. This is very akin to fascist tactics in other countries, and I don't want those tactics in the United States of America."

He went on to outline further fights for immigration reform, and an attempt to bolster due process for those being detained, held, and often deported without ever seeing a courtroom, speaking to a lawyer, or even informing their families.

The senator spoke on questions of recent foreign military intervention as well. Congress retaining their constitutional power was huge point, as the founding document states that it is the legislature which must approve military action, not the executive. Merkley had this to say on Venezuela:

"I would characterize what happened in Venezuela like this: We did not remove a dictatorship; we instead installed a more compliant dictator. And the major goal of having that compliant dictator, was to have her insist that the U.S. oil companies get to control the oil of Venezuela. That it essentially becomes a U.S. property. This is the gunboat diplomacy of the 1950's..."

"Where we basically said, 'we have the power to force you to give us a sweet deal'. It inculcated a huge amount of resentment of our country. It undermines our international standing, our international cooperation. It is both a constitutional issue, and also deeply damaging to our overall efforts in the world."

Questions of the aforementioned election security were raised during a question concerning the recourse for citizens who want to fight for our rights. Voting, protest, and seeking community were his answers.

The Senator spoke on the importance of retaining fair and free elections, first mentioning his efforts on ending gerrymandering through his introduction of Senate Bill 1. He also went on to mention the danger of states handing over their voter rolls to the administration, which puts voters in danger of having their privacy violated or registration revoked along partisan lines. Oregon Secretary of State Tobias Reed has refused to hand over the voter information of Oregonians. Mail-in voting, which has been a huge factor in fighting voter suppression, has been under attack as well.

The senator had this to say about vote-by-mail in particular:

"Election day can be manipulated pretty easily. You move the precincts, you put them where there's no parking, you put out false information about their location, you put in machines that don't work, you put in staff members that don't work, you make a long line, you can send intimidators. That's why vote-by-mail stops all of those shenanigans. We need vote-by-mail to be offered everywhere."

In terms of local issues, top of mind for those asking questions was the Pacific Coast Intermodal Port project. The senator has been supportive of the efforts to build major shipping infrastructure on the North Spit. He continued that support, stating that he views it as a major driver for good paying jobs in the area, but referenced needing to see the results of further feasibility studies, the next of which is expected sometime in February.

HOLY COW! HISTORY: White Coke for a Red General

By J. MARK POWELL
InsideSources.com

Put yourself in his position. You’ve just led a 6.5-million-man army across half a continent, ending four years of brutal war that’s left nearly 27 million of your countrymen dead. You’ve just defeated the greatest military machine since Napoleon’s Grande Armée and driven one of history’s worst monsters to his grave.

Naturally, it’s time to let your hair down and unwind. Which was why the Soviet commander was more than happy to celebrate with his Western Allied counterparts in just-conquered Germany. It was May 1945, and Supreme Allied Commander Dwight Eisenhower had invited his Soviet allies to join him for a victory party.

Unknown to the Soviet commander, he was about to be introduced to something that would unleash a powerful addiction deep inside him.

Was it alcohol? No; Russians are practically raised on vodka. Cigarettes? A good portion of the Soviet leadership, from Josef Stalin down, used tobacco in one form or another, and the Russian variety of cigarettes is so strong they could almost blow stumps.

No, this was a force more powerful than booze and smokes combined.

Some junior American officer handed the Soviet general a glass bottle containing a dark fluid. He politely took a sip — and was instantly hooked. On Coca-Cola.

That was a major problem when you happened to be Georgy Konstantinovich Zhukov, marshal of the Soviet Union, six-time recipient of the Order of Lenin, member of the Order of the October Revolution, three-time Hero of the Soviet Union, and the wearer of so many medals (50 in all) that he clanked when he walked.

And the communist hero had just fallen head over heels in love with the ultimate capitalist drink. He kept downing Coke after Coke all night. Apparently, the sugary fizz touched his sweet tooth unlike anything ever had.

Zhukov had it bad, and that wasn’t good.

Silly as it sounds today, 80 years ago, being seen enjoying a product synonymous with “capitalist decadence” was a huge no-no in the U.S.S.R. For years, propaganda had attacked it by name as a symbol of American imperialism and Western internal decay. Merely “having a Coke and a smile” (as a later advertising slogan would say) was enough to get a Soviet sent to the gulag. Or worse.

Stalin was obsessively paranoid and ruthlessly eliminated any rival to his power, real or imagined. His spies were everywhere, diligently looking for the tiniest speck of compromising dirt. With Zhukov now a hero in Russian eyes, the dictator would have been all too happy to remove him from the scene.

Still, the marshal couldn’t help himself. He kept downing Cokes like they were going out of style, even though he knew it was a huge risk every time he put a bottle to his lips.

A short time later, Zhukov approached the Americans in secret with a highly classified request. Would the United States be willing to order a special shipment of Coca-Cola strictly for his personal use? But there was a significant caveat. It couldn’t be dark, like regular Coke. It had to appear clear, like vodka.

The bizarre hush-hush request was sent up the chain of command until it landed on the commander-in-chief’s desk with the sign that famously proclaimed, “The buck stops here.”

President Harry Truman realized a strategic opening when he saw one. Although the war was over, cracks were rapidly emerging in the Western-Soviet alliance that had won it. All too quickly, they would widen into the Cold War.

Truman was eager to foster any influential friendship on the dark side of the Iron Curtain (as it would soon be called) that he could get. So, he greenlighted the plan. Operating with a degree of secrecy that rivaled the Manhattan Project, a company chemist engineered a version of Coke that retained its traditional taste while removing the caramel that gave it its dark color. It was now transparent, as clear as vodka. (Wink wink!)

But Coca-Cola didn’t stop there. The famous hour-glass bottle was ditched for plain, clear glass topped with a white cap bearing a shiny red star, symbol of the Soviet Union. Anyone seeing Zhukov take a swig from it would think he was simply enjoying his national beverage.

Thus, 50 cases of so-called “White Coke” were quietly transported through Vienna to Zhukov’s headquarters, where he indulged to his heart’s content without Stalin ever being any the wiser.

J. Mark Powell

He was smart to make his unusual request when he did. When the Soviets imposed their blockade of Berlin three years later, triggering the greatest international crisis since the war, there would be no more good-will gestures.

But a Red general secretly went on enjoying his White Coke nonetheless.

Release from the Claire Lynn Campaign

Following State Representative Boomer Wright’s announcement that he will not seek re-election, Claire Lynn announced today that she is running for State Representative for House District 9, which encompasses Western Lane County and Florence, a portion of Douglas County that includes Reedsport, and Coos Bay/North Bend through Charleston.

“Representative Wright has been a steadfast leader for the Oregon Coast,” said Claire Lynn. “I have deeply appreciated working with him in the State Capitol and have seen him hold the line and live up to his name - Boomer. He is a strong voice for his constituents. I am grateful for his years of dedicated service, and I am honored to have his endorsement.”

“Claire Lynn is the only person I trust to carry on my legacy in the Oregon House of Representatives,” said Representative Wright. “She has my full endorsement to continue the fight to protect Oregon’s coastal communities.”

Claire is a seventh generation Oregonian who grew up on the North Fork of the Siuslaw River helping with her family’s logging business and cowcalf operation. She grew up with a love for the outdoors, spending every fall hunting and fishing with her Dad.

Claire is a lifelong Republican. She has deep experience fighting for common sense, conservative values from Washington, D.C. to her current job in the Oregon Legislature. She has helped defend Oregon’s natural resource industries, worked to protect our second amendment rights, and pushed back against extreme first in-the-nation policies. Recently, Claire volunteered with the “No Tax Oregon” grassroots effort working to put Governor Kotek’s $4.3 billion transportation tax on the ballot to give voters a voice.

Claire’s campaign has already won key endorsements, including:

- Oregon Right to Life PAC
- State Senator & 2022 Republican Nominee for Governor Christine Drazan
- Lane County Commissioner Ryan Ceniga, and
- Florence Mayor Rob Ward

Claire attended Oregon State University, and has served on the City of Florence’s Community and Economic Development Committee. Claire is currently a Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) in Lane County and has volunteered as a guardian with South Willamette Valley Honor Flight, which provides a cost-free trip for veterans to our nation’s Capitol. Claire and her husband, Brodey, currently live outside of Elmira.

Myrtle Point and Bandon girls open with wins in Sunset Conference

The girls basketball teams from Myrtle Point and Bandon both opened the Sunset Conference season with a pair of wins last week.

Myrtle Point won at Gold Beach 59-32 and beat Reedsport 73-9 to stretch its win streak to 10. The Bobcats, now 12-3 overall, face the Tigers in Bandon on Tuesday in the first of their two league contests. Myrtle Point also hosts Illinois Valley on Friday.

Bandon beat Illinois Valley 63-15 and edged host Oakland 29-27 to improve to 13-2 on the season.

In addition to hosting the Bobcats, Bandon has a nonleague game at Umpqua Valley Christian on Thursday and travels to Reedsport on Friday.

Miami Hurricanes twins have ties to Bay Area

The college football national championship game includes a pair of players with ties to the South Coast.

Kolby and Riply Luna, twin redshirt sophomores for the University of Miami, are the grandsons of Marshfield graduates Boyd and Barb Bjorkquist.

The Lunas, who grew up in Idaho and set records for Kellogg High School, both are listed as receivers on Miami's roster.

They both went to Miami as preferred walk-ons and have dressed for all the Hurricanes' games in the college football playoffs — a 10-3 win over Texas A&M, a 24-14 victory over defending champion Ohio State and a 31-27 win over Mississippi.

Miami faced Indiana in the championship game Monday night (the game was played after press time).

At Kellogg, Riply Luna was the star quarterback and Kolby his top receiver. Kolby became Idaho's all-time leading receiver and scored 21 touchdowns with 1,753 receiving yards as a senior.

The two played in a handful of Miami wins during the regular season this year, but have done most of their work on the practice squad, where they played important roles in the lead-up to the championship game.

Riply Luna played the role of the opposing team's quarterback on the scout team and Kolby the top receiver, according to a story about the twins in their hometown newspaper, the Coeur d'Alene/Post Falls Press.

The twins are the sons of Rick and Crystal Luna.

While Boyd and Barb Bjorkquist grew up in the Bay Area and graduated for Marshfield, Crystal Luna grew up at Neah-Kah-Nie. She met Rick when they were students at Western Oregon University and she taught for one year at North Bay Elementary School before the couple settled in Idaho. Rick Luna attended North Marion High School.

Boyd and Barb Bjorkquist have been able to attend the playoff games and planned to be at the championship game.

"It's pretty fun to see them a part of this," Boyd said. "This has been really fun for our daughter and son-in-law."

Wyden, Padilla, Colleagues Lead Amicus Brief Challenging Republican Attempts to Suppress Mail-In Voting

Washington, D.C. – U.S. Senator Ron Wyden, D-Ore., and Alex Padilla, D-Calif., today announced they are leading their colleagues in filing an amicus brief in Watson v. Republican National Committee, a landmark mail-in voting case that will be argued before the U.S. Supreme Court later this year.

In 2024, the Republican National Committee (RNC) challenged a Mississippi law that allows ballots postmarked by election day to be received up to five days after election day, arguing that this law violates federal law setting the timing of elections.

Pending SCOTUS case could make it harder for millions of Americans to vote by mail

If the 5th Circuit’s ruling is affirmed by the Supreme Court, vote-by-mail in more than a dozen states – including Oregon and California – will be thrown into disarray as huge numbers of voters, particularly rural, military, and overseas voters could be disenfranchised.

“Republicans will stop at nothing in their crusade against vote-by-mail because they’re afraid they can’t win elections on their own merits,” Wyden said.

“The Supreme Court needs to see this case for what it really is: a thinly-veiled attempt at full blown voter suppression by Donald Trump and his far-right fan club. I’m all in to protect the fundamental rights of every American to make their voice heard on election day.”

“Despite Trump and Republicans’ baseless attacks, vote-by-mail remains one of the most effective and secure ways to make sure every eligible citizen can make their voice heard — especially for servicemembers, rural voters, and Americans living overseas,” Padilla said. “We should be making it easier for Americans to vote, not bowing to Donald Trump’s flagrant attempts to suppress voting rights to cling to power. We are urging the Court to reject this blatant interference with California and other states’ election laws that protect Americans’ fundamental right to vote.”

The amicus brief filing comes just days after the Trump administration’s latest attempt to suppress mail-in voting. Closures and consolidation of U.S. Postal Service (USPS) facilities as well as a recent rule change by the USPS will result in mail less frequently being postmarked on the day it is received.

As a result, mail-in ballots received by the USPS near or on election day could receive a delayed postmark and be invalidated.

“Many states, including Oregon, have adopted sensible policies to allow mail-in-ballots to be counted so long as they are postmarked no later than Election Day,” the senators wrote. “The Fifth Circuit’s ruling undermines the viability of these laws and threatens the disenfranchisement of voters, especially those living abroad or in rural areas.”

For years, Wyden has been one of the Senate’s leading advocates on vote-by-mail. Earlier this year he re-introduced his legislation to expand Oregon’s vote-by-mail system nationwide.

Wyden and Padilla were joined by U.S. Senators Angela Alsobrooks, D-Md., Richard Blumenthal, D-Conn., Maria Cantwell, D-Wash., Catherine Cortez Masto, D-Nev., Tammy Duckworth, D-Ill., Tim Kaine, D-Va., Amy Klobuchar, D-Minn., Jeff Merkley, D-Ore., Jacky Rosen, D-Nev., Adam Schiff, D-Calif., Chris Van Hollen, D-Md., and Mark Warner, D-Va. in filing the amicus brief.

In the Matter of a Spray Program for Coos County
NOTICE OF SPRAY PROGRAM
Road Department
TO: ALL INTERESTED PERSONS

1. In order to maintain County roads, the Coos County Road Department intends to institute a brush control program on March 1st, which may include the use of herbicides on the rights-of-way of certain Coos County roads.
2. Property owners may request the Coos County Road Department not spray the right-of-way abutting their property. Property owners who do not wish the County to spray must contact the Road Department. The Road Department will provide the property owner with a "NO SPRAY" Agreement to complete and return by February 15th. These agreements are free of charge and must be renewed annually.
3. The property owner must post the right-of-way to indicate the "NO SPRAY" area with signs provided by the Road Department. The County will no longer recognize homemade no-spray signs. If you do not want us to spray the right of way adjacent to your property, you must come in to the Road Department and fill out a no-spray agreement.
4. Failure to contact the Road Department, enter into the agreement or failure to post the required signs will result in the Road Department spraying the right-of-way as planned.
5. If the property owner posts the abutting right-of-way as a "NO SPRAY" area, the property owner is responsible for controlling the vegetation on the right-of-way. If the property owner fails to clear the right-of-way, the County may do so, with the cost charged to the property owner. Failure to pay this cost will result in a lien being assessed against the property.
6. Contact the Coos County Road Department at 1281 West Central, Coquille, Oregon 97423; or call 541/396-7660 for further information.

YOU HAVE A FIXED TERM LEASE; OR AT LEAST 30 DAYS FROM THE DATE YOU ARE GIVEN A WRITTEN TERMINATION NOTICE, IF YOU HAVE A MONTH-TO-MONTH OR WEEK-TO-WEEK RENTAL AGREEMENT. If the new owner wants to move in and use this property as a primary residence, the new owner can give you written notice and require you to move out after 30 days, even though you have a fixed term lease with more than 30 days left. You must be provided with at least 30 days' written notice after the foreclosure sale before you can be required to move. A bona fide tenant is a residential tenant who is not the borrower (property owner) or a child, spouse or parent of the borrower, and whose rental agreement: Is the result of an arm's-length transaction; Requires the payment of rent that is not substantially less than fair market rent for the property, unless the rent is reduced or subsidized due to a federal, state or local subsidy; and Was entered into prior to the date of the foreclosure sale. ABOUT YOUR TENANCY BETWEEN NOW AND THE FORECLOSURE SALE: RENT YOU SHOULD CONTINUE TO PAY RENT TO YOUR LANDLORD UNTIL THE PROPERTY IS SOLD OR UNTIL A COURT TELLS YOU OTHERWISE. IF YOU DO NOT PAY RENT, YOU CAN BE EVICTED. BE SURE TO KEEP PROOF OF ANY PAYMENTS YOU MAKE. SECURITY DEPOSIT You may apply your security deposit and any rent you paid in advance against the current rent you owe your landlord as provided in ORS 90.367. To do this, you must notify your landlord in writing that you want to subtract the amount of your security deposit or prepaid rent from your rent payment. You may do this only for the rent you owe your current landlord. If you do this, you must do so before the foreclosure sale. The business or individual who buys this property at the foreclosure sale is not responsible to you for any deposit or prepaid rent you paid to your landlord. ABOUT YOUR TENANCY AFTER THE FORECLOSURE SALE The new owner that buys this property at the foreclosure sale may be willing to allow you to stay as a tenant instead of requiring you to move out after 30 or 60 days. After the sale, you should receive a written notice informing you that the sale took place and giving you the new owner's name and contact information. You should contact the new owner if you would like to stay. If the new owner accepts rent from you, signs a new residential rental agreement with you or does not notify you in writing within 30 days after the date of the foreclosure sale that you must move out, the new owner becomes your new landlord and must maintain the property. Otherwise: You do not owe rent; The new owner is not your landlord and is not responsible for maintaining the property on your behalf; and You must move out by the date the new owner specifies in a notice to you. The new owner may offer to pay your moving expenses and any other costs or amounts you and the new owner agree on in exchange for your agreement to leave the premises in less than 30 or 60 days. You should speak with a lawyer to fully understand your rights before making any decisions regarding your tenancy. IT IS UNLAWFUL FOR ANY PERSON TO TRY TO FORCE YOU TO LEAVE YOUR DWELLING UNIT WITHOUT FIRST GIVING YOU WRITTEN NOTICE AND GOING TO COURT TO EVICT YOU. FOR MORE INFORMA-TION ABOUT YOUR RIGHTS, YOU SHOULD CONSULT A LAWYER. If you believe you need legal assistance, contact the Oregon State Bar and ask for the lawyer referral service. The Chamber Minute

By ROSEY THOMAS

The Bay Area Chamber of Commerce attended Senator Jeff Merkley’s recent town hall in Coos County as part of its ongoing commitment to represent and advocate for the regional business community. While the discussion during the town hall focused primarily on broader national and social issues, the Chamber recognizes the importance of ensuring that the concerns of local employers particularly small and rural businesses are consistently elevated in policy discussions.

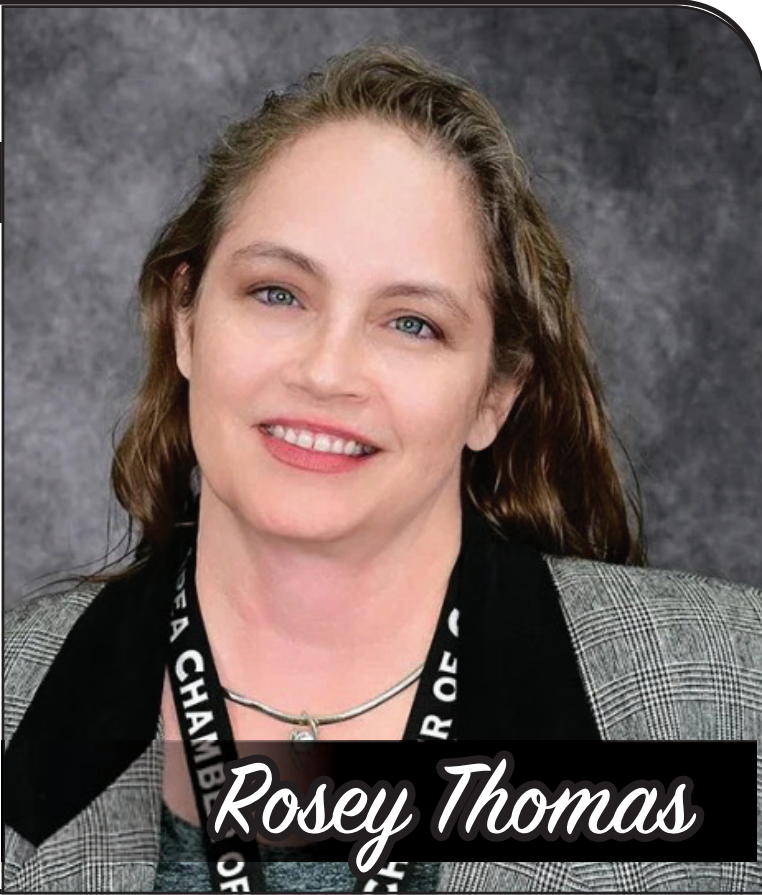

The Chamber continues to hear from members that the cumulative impact of taxes, fees, and regulatory requirements is creating significant strain on business operations. A key concern raised by local employers is Oregon’s Corporate Activity Tax (CAT), which is assessed on gross receipts rather than profit. This structure requires businesses to pay the tax before accounting for core operating expenses such as rent, payroll, utilities, insurance, and supplies, disproportionately impacting businesses operating on thin margins.

Chamber members consistently express that they want to do the right thing pay fair wages, comply with regulations, and contribute their share to the community and state. However, policies that do not account for profitability or regional economic realities can unintentionally penalize growth, reinvestment, and long-term sustainability, particularly in rural and coastal communities.

The Bay Area Chamber of Commerce remains committed to serving as a constructive, solutions-oriented voice for the business community and will continue engaging elected officials and partners to advocate for fair, balanced, and sustainable economic policy. As I See It

By Mary Schamehorn

The headline in a 1945 Western World reports that Howard Tucker will head the new recreation center. "Interested in seeing the recreation building at the city park remodeled, forty citizens of the Bandon area representing the various organizations, attended the community meeting at the city hall Monday night. "Howard Tucker (first photo), district manager of the Shell Oil Co., was elected chairman of what will be known as the Recreation Center Association. The other six members of the executive board chosen were Miss Marcella Giles, secretary; Otto C. Shindler, Mrs. Louis D. Felsheim (my grandmother), Tom Smith, Carl Lorenz and Harry Harris. The latter is a high school junior, representing the youth of the community. "Mayor K.I. Franklin, who has given the building (second photo) considerable thought, presented preliminary plans in regard to trussing the ceiling after the supporting posts have been removed and the laying of a new floor. The building is built on an A-1 concrete foundation which needs no attention. The public is not only welcome but urged to inspect the building next Sunday, April 15. Suggestions and opinions will be welcomed by the board. "Last Saturday a group of high school boys under the supervision of Mayor Franklin and Ray Bates, city utility manager, removed the stalls (horse) and made a few slight repairs. Among the lads who helped were Martin and Ernest Guchee, Harry Harris, Jack Gardner and Merlin Pepion.

A headline in the Nov. 13, 1975, Western World heralds the area's largest property transaction. "What is probably the biggest real estate deal ever made in the Bandon area was consummated Saturday when Mrs. Leona Koff sold the Tanglewood property (third photo) to William Laakaniemi for an unannounced figure, which is reliably reported to have been more than a half million dollars.

"The new owner, who has been a resident of the Bandon area for several years and who owns a home on Two Mile Road, is now in possession of the newly-equipped property and is completing construction work on one of the buildings.

"According to Mrs. Koff, the new owner has plans for enlarging the operations of Tanglewood by the addition of a modern new motel. The sale includes a ground area of 17 acres on which are located all the buildings of the Tanglewood group, including the mammoth pavilion with its dining rooms, lounge and other facilities; Tanglewood Manor, a modern rest home for the retired; three duplex dwellings, an apartment house and two cottages. The grounds face on Beach Loop Road and take in a portion of Bradley Lake on the south.

"Mrs. Koff still owns about 40 acres of land along Bradley Lake and adjoining that of Tanglewood. She plans to remain in the area."

In addition to the resort that Mrs. Koff operated, it was later sold to Colonel Homer Millard and his wife, Esther, who operated it as Millard School, which prepared young people for the military academies. In more recent years it was owned by Applegate Christian Fellowship, a religious retreat.

Today the property is owned by Bandon Dunes Golf Resort and is used for staff housing.

Phase Two of the Gravel Point development in west Bandon was unanimously approved by the City Council last Monday night following a hearing held before a packed council room and many attending via Zoom.

The proposed project is in an area familiarly known as the "Donut Hole," and includes sites for single-family dwellings, townhomes, workforce housing, 10,000 square feet of retail and a small golf amenity. A Master Planned Development (MPD) for the nearly 60-acre parcel was approved. In coming weeks, I will share some of the questions and answers that have been raised during the consideration of the project. Construction on Phase One, which includes the hotel and casita-type motel units, is expected to begin in late spring or early summer, according to the attorney for Gravel Point, Dan O'Connor of Jacksonville.

An Oregon State Police press release about the Dec. 27 head-on wreck at Highway 101 and Prosper Road indicates that a black Ford Focus, operated by Stephanie Jo McFarland, 44, Bandon, was turning northbound from Riverside Drive onto US 101 as a gray Toyota Camry was southbound. The driver of the Camry was unable to avoid impact with the Focus, which left from the stop sign and stop bar before it was safe to do so, causing a T-bone type collision. The driver of the Camry suffered serious injuries, and the other driver suffered potentially serious injury. The Focus driver was believed to have been impaired. She was later life flighted by Reach from Bay Area Hospital to Riverbend, and the Camry driver, Sheila Johnson, 48, Bandon, was treated at Bay Area Hospital for injuries, including two broken legs. Johnson owns the Bandon Event Center at Four Mile. McFarland was referred to the District Attorney for consideration of DUII, reckless driving, recklessly endangering another person, third-degree assault and third-degree criminal mischief.

Cookie Boyd, who has been serving as manager of The Barn/Community Center, recently submitted his resignation, planning to move out of state. Taking his place will be Amber Burg. “Amber is very active in our community and brings extensive experience in office management,” said Library Director Christine Kingsbury. “We wish Cookie all the best and are excited to welcome Amber to the team.”

A Bandon man, Jordan Siemer, 35, was charged with menacing, burglary, criminal trespass and disorderly conduct following a call about 8 p.m. Jan. 5 from a woman who said a man was attempting to get into her trailer, violently enough that the RV was shaking. She was armed with a handgun. Her RV was parked on a road off Highway 42S outside of Bandon. Officers arrived within a few minutes, and located Siemer outside her trailer, detained him and transported him to the county jail. The deputy told dispatch that he would probably need assistance at the jail as Siemer was being "a bit spicy."

I don't know the details, but Facebook blew up Friday afternoon between 3 and 6 p.m. with photos of a long line of police vehicles along the highway just south of town near Edna Lane. Several said it looked like a major bust of some sort, involving both local and county officers; hopefully one of them will put out a press release in the coming week.

Anyone who has been on Facebook or NextDoor recently knows the saga of the “Famous Bandon Corgi” who, as of Sunday evening, Jan. 11, was still on the move, with the last sighting picked up on a Ring camera Saturday night on Fourth Street near the bluff overlooking Old Town. Does he have an owner who may not be aware he’s gallivanting around town? Or? For the past month or so he’s been sighted by the Hospital, Bandon Supply, China Creek, Smoothboards/Sotheby's, the Stables, and various other locations about town. Coos County Animal Control set a live trap. "This boy is fast, smart and is eating somewhere," said one of the concerned citizens. "If he sees people he will trot or run off but doesn't seem to be scared, he just wants to keep on rambling. He is a tri-colored Corgi primarily black and white with gold and a long tail. Not sure if male or female. The community only wants to see this pup safe, so if you see him or pick him up on your Ring camera, please don't chase, but contact Team Corgi member Carmen at 541-619-0076. If he happens to mosey into your backyard and you can contain him, please contact the animal shelter at 541-751-2480.

Unbelievable rescue photos were posted on Facebook Sunday by Sixes River Fire as the Coast Guard helicopter rescued two people (possibly three) and two dogs from the fishing vessel Texas Lady, out of Charleston, which had run aground near Port Orford at Paradise Point early Sunday morning. It appears that the vessel had been anchored and drifted onto the shore. Night photos show CG personnel lowered down from the copter to rescue the crew, who were set down safely away from the waves.

In addition to the Coast Guard, Cal Ore Ambulance, Port Orford Fire and the Sixes SCARR team, shout out was given “to the caring civilians who offered their off-road rigs and ATVs on the beach to assist however they could.”

The Bandon School Board was to meet at 4:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 12, for a work session, followed by the public board meeting at 5:30 in the Ocean Crest Elementary School gymnasium. People are encouraged to apply for the vacant Position No. 7 on the board. Bandon Historical Society members are invited to join the board for an Open House style annual meeting Tuesday, Feb. 5, 4:00 to 5:30 p.m. at the museum. Stroll through the museum, mingle with members, review the events of 2025 and preview what's coming in 2026, their "Golden Anniversary" year. Enjoy light refreshments, fun and friends. Be sure to vote for board members and board officers, and pick up a copy of the financial report. Take an "on-the-spot" look at the progress of the Joan and Don Lynam Events Center. People are reminded that there are no Meet and Greet events for January, but they will resume in February at Warehouse Coffee Cafe in the Bandon Warehouse Fisheries building.

...WHILE ON THE ISLAND'S FAR SIDE, ALETA AND HER COMPANIONS WAIT, BOUND, FOR THEIR CAPTORS TO RECEIVE ORDERS FROM STRAKONUS.

ALETA SILENTLY CURSES HER DECISION TO DELAY THEIR RETURN TO THE CAVE UNTIL MORNING. NOW THEY ARE SEPARATED FROM BOTH GUNDAH AND VAL, WITH NO UNDERSTANDING OF WHO THESE MARAUDERS ARE.

FORTUNATELY, THEIR CAPTORS SEEM EQUALLY IGNORANT OF THEM. AND, ALETA NOTES, THEIR UNSURPRISING FASCINATION WITH THE GOLD- AND JEWEL-ENCRUSTED ARTIFACT MIGHT BE USED TO DIVIDE THEIR RANKS.

AND WHAT OF GUNDAH HARL, IN THE CAVERN REFUGE? AT THIS VERY MOMENT, HE LOOKS UP FROM HIS DESIGNS FOR A BOAT BUILT FROM ISLAND MATERIALS, TO SEE STRANGE INTRUDERS, WATCHING HIM. "VULCAN!" THANA MUTTERS. NEXT: The will of a god

North Bend and Coos Bay give ‘State of the City’ Addresses to Chamber of Commerce

By NATE SCHWARTZ
Editor

At the Bay Area Chamber of Commerce’s weekly business connection luncheon on January 14, attendees from the local business community were given a pair of presentations. North Bend Mayor Jessica Engelke and Coos Bay City Councilors Stephanie Kilmer and Carmen Matthews each represented their city governments through ‘State of...’ addresses.

Coos Bay was first, with the councilors focusing mostly on economic development through housing development and projects through the Urban Renewal Agency (URA).

Matthews outlined that the city had spent roughly $25 million on the various housing developments throughout the city. The World recently covered one, with the city commissioning a feasibility study in partnership with the Port of Coos Bay in regards to a large parcel of land in Eastside. The others included the Englewood School Project, which is planned to see 30 units of mid-size homes constructed by real estate developers Compass Communities LLC. The third development mentioned by Matthews was the huge Timber Cove project, which is expected to see 400 larger homes (in the 3–4-bedroom range) built by local developer Greg Drobot as the forward-facing partner.

Kilmer took the second half of the presentation. As the chair of the URA, she was enthusiastic about the potential of the agency’s mission.

“I love urban renewal. It’s a great way to invest in your community and make responsible changes that are visual. That spur growth, that spur other things to happen... It’s a great opportunity for our community. Despite what some people think, it’s an investment and it doesn’t come out of the tax payer’s pocket,” said Kilmer.

She outlined the Downtown and Empire blueprints as tools for directing their actions, like plans for boardwalk expansion down Front Street to “connect the dots” of the waterfront. She also pointed out that since the Downtown URA was established in 1988, the valuation has tripled from $50 to $160 million. An even more impressive turnaround has happened in Empire, which has quadrupled from $23 to $96 million since 1995, though obviously rising property values and inflation play a part.

While economic development is crucial, and housing continues to be one of the area’s most pertinent concerns, the Coos Bay presentation did not give details on the state of the city’s budget or its various departments.

The North Bend presentation was more all-encompassing. Mayor Engelke walked through major wins for the city, gave a rundown on each department, and discussed the city’s financial situation.

In the last year, North Bend was able to sunset their URA levy, which the city boasted as a tax cut for local property owners. They also were able to reform how they city sets its sewage rates through State Senate Bill 1062A.

Eduardo Randolph Lanuza

April 19, 1962 – January 1, 2026

Born in Los Angeles to Fernando and Edith Lanuza, the first of their three children. Eddie was born with a hearing and sight impairment that he would not let it keep him from excelling at life. Eddie as a teenager, was diagnosed with Muscular Dystrophy which would be yet another challenge he would need to overcome. Eddie graduated from Sacramento High school, spent many good times with his church friends, and graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration. from Sacramento State University.

As the years progressed so did his Muscular Dystrophy. Eddie worked summers in high school through the SETA Program in accounting at several organizations, finally finding his niche at the Department of Veterans Affairs. He thrived there as a permanent employee despite being wheelchair bound and having difficulty with communication, he received numerous letters of appreciation for his hard and dedicated work.

When his parents retired and moved to North Bend, Oregon, Eddie also retired and went with them, because he needed more support. Throughout his time in Sacramento and beyond Eddie used his advanced computer skills to mentor his nephew Jake, playing, board games and video games over many years. After retirement Eddie began what became one of his most favorite things to do every Saturday. It was “Uncle Eddie time “ where he played video games and skyped with his nephew Ikaika, all you would hear for three hours was laughter and fun.

With the constant love and support of his parents Eddie was able to spend many years in the Coos Bay area enjoying his family, going on outings to the local casinos and even travelling to British Columbia, never allowing his handicaps to limit him.

In his final years when Eddie needed more care he and his family were blessed to have had two very special caretakers in Stephen and William, who not only cared for Eddie’s needs, but also became his friend. We are extremely thankful to them.

Eddie was preceded in death by his father, Fred; grandmother, Very May, and brother in-law, Kenny. He is survived by his mother, Edith; brother, Craig, Kalena and Ikaika, sister, Sabrina; nephew, Jake, Kelly, Graham and Bennett and many people in his life.

Eddie you were strong, inspiring and you had such a great sense of humor. Even though you had so many physical challenges throughout your life, you never quit. You couldn’t fight anymore and needed to rest.

We love you and will miss you Eddie, you will be in our hearts and thoughts forever...

Guy Pasela

August 14, 1948 – December 3, 2025

Born August 14, 1948, he spent his childhood moving with his military family, eventually settling in Hayward, California. After high school he went to college at the University of California in Davis. He was a brilliant student, sometimes surpassing his Professors.

While taking graduate classes, he worked full time for the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. His expertise in both statistical analysis and computer software lead him to a career in designing applications for government agencies and businesses. His intellect and interpersonal skills quickly found him leading projects for clients all over the world. With his closest colleagues, he formed his own company, so successful that it was bought out by a major corporation.

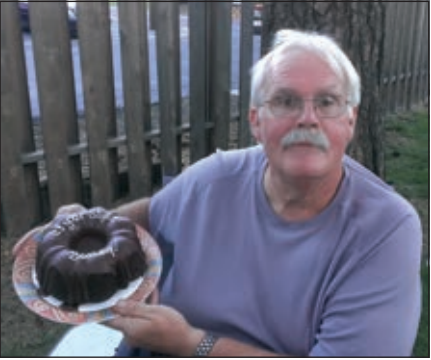

Guy enjoyed the college town environment of Davis, living there for over 40 years, before moving to the little mountain town of Dunsmuir, California, where he and Marian enjoyed fly fishing just a few feet from their house.

Guy also became a master landscape artist using his treasured 1959 Massey Ferguson to beautify their six acres into several different gardens.

In 2003, Guy and Marian bought a 1984 Airstream motor home. They restored and customized it, and over the years traveled all over the country and to Canada and Mexico, often with their good friends, Carol Parsons, Dick Keiser, and David and Jan Rudisill. The Airstream was an attraction wherever they went, especially when accompanied by their beloved French Mastiffs, Luc and Jacques.

Guy will be remembered for his superior intellect and unparalleled management skills.

But much more than that he will be remembered for his goodness. Those who worked with him knew that he could be counted on to be straightforward and honest. His friends, both inside and outside work, knew his kindness. He was so perceptive and considerate of the feelings of others that he engendered their trust. He was not simply a kind person; as one friend said years ago, “Guy has no guile.”

He is survived by his wife, Marian, his cousin Penny Pridemore, and many friends who loved him.

A celebration of life will be held on Sunday January 25, 2026 in the Kachina Room from 2-4pm at the Towerpoint RV Resort in Mesa AZ.

Memorial donations honoring Guy may be made to: Charlie Brown House <https://www.thecharliebrownhouse.org/>

CB/NB STATE OF CITY

Across each of their departments, North Bend brought in over $3.8 million in federal and state grant funding to help with city operations. One of the major signs of that was in the upgrades to the North Bend Public Library, which reopened last march. The library was able to secure over $780,000 in grants and donations to help with renovations. Since re-opening, there have been more than 50,000 visits. That’s crucial access to not just books, but wi-fi and computer use, community meetings, children’s programming, and more.

The Annex housing project was mentioned, which will finally see the abandoned county annex in downtown North Bend abated and turned into modern workforce housing. The $4 million in federal funding that the project received has been secured with initial construction projected to begin in the next year or so.

Mayor Engelke was very frank about the state of the city’s finances. “$6 million is what public safety costs. $4 million is what we bring in on property taxes, the number one way we fund the city. As the Gen Z kids would say, ‘The math ain’t mathing,’” said Engelke. “I don’t want this to be a negative part of the presentation, but if it wasn’t for these grants, if Haley [Legasse, Director of Library Services] wasn’t out there trying to figure out how to come up with $782,000, we wouldn’t have these things happen at the library.

“We need to be cautious. I’m excited, and I want to celebrate all of this, but those federal grants are drying up... This is a conversation that is happening in every city. That the way that we fund our cities, for over two-thirds of them, is not working.”

Those comments color the budget statistics that followed. The city brought in $8,378,186 in revenue. Its expenditure was $9,423,242, leaving a shortfall of $1,045,056 dollars that will be rolled over as a deficit in the next budget cycle. Driven in major part by inflation, the city hopes that projects like the annex and other methods of economic development can bring in enough revenue to cover for increasing budget gaps.

SWOCC Diesel Mechanic Technology Program Applications Now Open for Fall 2026

COOS BAY, OR – Southwestern Oregon Community College (SWOCC) is accepting applications for its Fall 2026 Diesel Mechanic Technology program at www.socc.edu/dieselmecanic. Launched in Fall 2025 to meet a need for skilled mechanics, the program is gaining momentum with strong backing from local employers and community partners.

Offered on the Coos Campus (1988 Newmark Ave., Coos Bay), the program provides hands-on, career-focused training for students preparing for high-demand jobs in trucking, maritime, forestry, and other industries. In its first year, the program attracted strong student engagement and saw early success.

“We’re doing a lot more than just sitting in a classroom. Students get hands-on training with specialized tools and modern diesel systems in a professional shop,” said Terry Cheyne, program lead and longtime diesel mechanic. “They are learning what it really takes to keep trucks, boats and heavy equipment running. There’s real pride in this work, and a big need for it around here. It’s work that matters. This program gives people a shot at a good paycheck and solid future.”

Applications are open now through May 14, 2026. Space is limited, and applicants are encouraged to apply early. SWOCC also offers scholarships and support services to help students succeed, including help for students receiving SNAP benefits through the STEP program:

- Scholarships: www.socc.edu/scholarships
- STEP (SNAP Training & Employment Program) and Basic Needs: www.socc.edu/resources/snap-step

The College is building a new diesel training shop to support program growth and enhance hands-on lab-based instruction. It is scheduled to open Fall 2026.

To learn more and apply, visit www.socc.edu/dieselmecanic. For questions, contact Charline Meyer, LIFT Project Coordinator/Advisor, at charline.meyer@socc.edu or 541-888-1545
