Knights of Columbus feed 4,500 through annual Food Drive

BY NATE SCHWARTZ

Thanks to a $5,000 award from Cows Creek Umpqua Indian Foundation (CCUIF), the Knights of Columbus Council 1261 were able to feed nearly 1,000 underprivileged households on the South Coast over the 2024 holiday

The Knights' annual Holiday Food Basket distribution provides perishable and non-perishable food to folks in need during a time that can cause huge stress for those without the resources to provide big holiday dinners. This year, over 131,000 pounds of food were distributed to over 950 households providing nutritional support to more than 4,500 men, women and children in Reedsport, Coos Bay, North Bend, Bandon, Coquille, Myrtle Point, Powers and Brook-

'It started out with 10 or 12 families, and now it's grown to sometimes over 1000 families in any given year registering for the food baskets. They contain both perishable and non-perishable food items, some have a good long shelf life... They also receive vouchers from McKays Market, who's one of our partners, to pick up bread, cheese, eggs, and protein products," said Mike Taylor, Grant Coordinator for the local Knight's branch.

The event itself has been sponsored and supported by the Knights of Columbus and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints since 1982, and brings in other local and regional businesses and foundations. Volunteers from all over the community come together to put together the food boxes. This year that included 250 kids and teens from the Coos Bay

International artist Sontonya Necheal presents: 'Outpouring'

'Outpouring' International Artist Sontonya Necheal at Black Market Gourmet in Coos Bay, OR

Internationally renowned mixed-media artist Sontonya Necheal proudly announces her new installation entitled "Outpouring."

The show will be displayed at Black Market Gourmet at 495 Central Ave, Coos Bay, OR 97420 from Sunday, January 19th with a reception and artist talk on Sunday February 9 from 2-4pm.

The exhibit features a collection of paintings that reflect the artists raw emotions and unique journey of selfexpression, where every stroke and color is a direct manifestation of her life experiences and subconscious mind.

The title, "Outpouring", encapsulates the artist's approach to creation, a process in which emotions, thoughts, and experiences are poured onto the canvas in an act of cathartic release. Each piece in the exhibit embodies this emotional release, allowing the artist to express the complexities of their inner world in vivid, visual form.

A notable feature of the exhibit is the integration of binary code within several works. The code, which spells out the word Outpouring, represents the artist's attempt to convey deeply personal emotions through a language of structure and precision. It serves as a metaphor for the artist's process of channeling their emotions into a tangible, communicable form, much like binary code is the foundation of digital language.

"I've often asked God to guide me in how my work can inspire others and reflect His presence," says the artist. "I believe my gift of painting does that. I pour my soul onto the canvas, often leaving it in tears, knowing I've given everything of myself."

In addition to the exhibit, the Outpouring series—featuring the use of binary code-will continue in future works, with several pieces already in progress. The first piece in this series holds special significance: it has been permanently housed in the museum at Chateau Orquevaux in Paris, France. This piece was created as a deeply personal outpouring to the artist herself, honoring her creative gift after a year-long hiatus from art. During this time, the artist grappled with holding back emotions and creative energy. The floodgates finally opened during a residency in Paris, where the artist's creative journey was reignited and this first Outpouring piece was born.

"As a Black abstract artist, I often find myself overlooked for opportunities, despite the depth and complexity of my work. The binary code in my thinkingintricate and layered—reflects a sense of hiding in plain sight, mirroring the way my contributions are often underappreciated in spaces that fail to recognize the value of diverse perspectives and talent," said Necheal.

Outpouring is more than just an art exhibit; it is a reflection of the artist's emotional, spiritual, and creative journey. It invites viewers to witness the intimate process of creation and the powerful release of unspoken feelings and experiences.

Visitors are encouraged to experience the exhibit and explore the artist's deep emotional connection to her work. The Outpouring series will continue with new pieces, soon to be revealed.

Reedsport overpass project receives federal support, enabling safer rail expansion

Coos Bay, OR - January 16, 2025 - The Oregon International Port of Coos Bay is pleased to announce the award of $3,993,224 from the U.S Department of Transportation through the Railroad Crossing Elimination (RCE) Grant Program. This funding supports the design and engineering of a new overpass crossing Oregon Highway 38 and will also enhance safety upgrades at an adjacent rail crossing in Reedsport, Oregon.

"The City of Reedsport is looking forward to the receipt of the Federal Railroad Crossing Elimination grant," said Reedsport's City Manager, Deanna Schafer. "This grant will give us the opportunity to further explore options for mitigating the potential effects of increased rail traffic here in Reedsport. We look forward to collaborating with the Port of Coos Bay and ODOT to continue the planning and engineering of potential rail crossings upgrades.'

The Reedsport Grade Separation Project is a regional, multi-year initiative developed with a community focus in mind. A Project Advisory Committee composed of local citizens, business leaders and tribal representatives determined the initial scope of the project. They published the Reedsport Rail Crossing Study in 2023 which laid the groundwork for planning dollars to follow.

Score a touchdown for compassion: choose plant-based wings this Super Bowl Sunday

As Super Bowl Sunday nears, it's worth considering the staggering number of chickens sacrificed for a single day of indulgence—an estimated 375 million, just for wings. This annual tradition, though beloved by many, comes at a great cost to animals, the planet, and even our

Fortunately, there's a kinder and equally satisfying alternative: plant-based wings. Made from ingredients like tofu, seitan, potatoes, or even cauliflower, these options pack all the flavor without harm to animals. Brands like Blackbird, Gardein, and Daring, offer ready-toenjoy wings, while homemade cauliflower "wing" recipes are easy, delicious, and crowd-

This year, why not make your Super Bowl spread one of compassion and sustainability? By swapping traditional chicken wings for plant-based alternatives, you'll score a win for animals and the environment, all while enjoying a healthier take on a game-day favorite. Sincerely,

Make sure Trump delivers for workers

Many workers made possible Donald Trump's return to the White House. President Trump campaigned promising better times for those workers. Since trust in government agencies and the news media is low, where do we go to monitor conditions for workers during the Trump administration?

Maybe a dependable option is just to trust ourselves. Trust Trust our observations of the conditions of those around us. Talk with those we trust. What are they experiencing? What are they observing? Maybe our circle of conversation will expand to include more and more in the coming days, weeks, months, and

A powerful by-product of this effort to monitor our own well-being will be the community we create through which we can work together to assure those with position, money and, thus power, do not leave the worker behind again

Corporate media

Dear fellow south coast community members, if you believe in democracy then you will need factual news reporting. X, Meta, Fox News and the like, are not the places to rely on objective reporting. National Public Radio (Jefferson Public Radio, 88.5 fm in our area) is a reliable source and available to all in the area. It is supported by listeners, but you can listen free of charge. We have seen in the last decade an erosion of good reliable journalism due not to crooked journalists, but the establishments for which they

Jennifer Rubin, a Washington Post political commentator. resigned recently from the newspaper stating in her resignation letter:

'Corporate and billionaire owners of major media outlets have betrayed their audiences? loyalty and sabotaged journalism's sacred mission - defending, protecting and advancing democracy. The Washington Post's billionaire owner and enlisted management are among the offenders. They have undercut the values central to The Post's mission and that of all journalism: integrity, courage, and independence. I cannot justify remaining at The Post. Jeff Bezos and his fellow billionaires accommodate and enable the most acute threat to American democracy—Donald Trump—at a time when a vibrant free press is more essential than ever to our democracy's survival and capacity to thrive.

"I therefore have resigned from The Post, effective today. In doing so, I join a throng of veteran journalists so distressed over The Post's management they felt compelled to resign."

Jen Rubin and others have created The Contrarian, a new independent media project unencumbered by corporate interests. I am an early subscriber and would recommend it to anyone interested in fact-based journalism. The other online voice that has been very helpful is from Heather Cox Richardson's Letters from an American. She is an American historian, presently teaching at Boston College. She comments on current events with a perspective of history, which in the case of the present political scene, is valuable to review as we seem to be repeating an age of authoritarianism.

Merkley Monthly: Hitting the Ground Running

As the new Congress begins, I'm hitting the ground running in 2025 to fight for the four foundations that working families need to thrive: good health care, decent affordable housing, quality education, and good-paying jobs.

My work starts with hearing directly from you. Every year, I host town hall meetings in all 36 Oregon counties, including down the coast from Clatsop to Curry, to hear about the issues that matter most in your communities. Then, I take your ideas back to Capitol Hill to craft effective legislation. I'm kicking-off my 2025 town hall meetings in January, and you can sign-up to receive announcements about when I'll be hosting a town hall in your county on my website, www. merkley.senate.gov.

A large part of my work on Capitol Hill happens through committees, where bills get debated and administration nominees get hearings, before going to the full Senate for final votes. Here are the committees I'll be serving on this Congress:

I'm taking the top Democratic spot on the Senate Budget Committee. In this new role, I'll fight back against the massive tax loopholes that enable the mega-millionaires and billionaires to dodge paying their fair share in taxes. These loopholes drive a lot of well-justified cynicism about our tax structure, but they also are adding trillions a year to our national debt. I'm staying on the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee to ensure that Oregon has a strong voice in national spending decisions. I'll fight for strengthening programs that Oregonians highlight at my town halls, from forest management to reduce wildfires to investments in housing, mental health, fighting fentanyl, and affordable health care.

In addition, I'll use my Appropriations post to deliver projects highlighted as top priorities by our local leaders. Over the last three years, projects in all 36 counties. These investments have included $1.9 million to help the City of Astoria replace century-old pipes to deliver clean drinking water; $500,000 for Community Action Resource Enterprises, Inc. (CARE) to renovate a building to serve as Tillamook County's navigation center for people experiencing homelessness; and over $360,000 to repair the dock and pilings of the Newport International Terminal in Lincoln County.

In addition, I'll continue to serve on the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee. We need bold action to protect Oregon from the threats of climate chaos, like warming waters off our coast and this year's record-setting wildfires. I'll keep fighting to ban toxic chemicals, like the tire additive 6PPD that is deadly to coho salmon and address PFAS "forever chemicals" found in many household items that are hazardous to humans. And I'll keep raising the alarm about plastic pollution, from plastic trash choking our sea life and waterways to dangerous microand nano-plastics poisoning our blood and breastmilk.

Jeff Merkley

I'll also keep pushing our government to work better from the Senate Rules Committee. And I'm staying on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, where I'll continue to champion democracy, the rule of law, and human rights around the world.

These are just few ways I'm hitting the ground running in the new Congress - and I look forward to hearing from you in-person at one of my upcoming town halls about your top priorities and ideas.

Let's keep working together to take on the powerful and deliver for the people!

OP-ED BY NATE SCHWARTZ

No amount of eyescratching or corporate media chicanery can change the fact that during his speech at Donald Trump's second inauguration, Elon Musk did the Sieg Heil. While many 'news' outlets want to call it a 'odd-looking salute' or make excuses for him, anyone with the slightest grasp on history did not need a second look (though Musk gave us one himself by doing the gesture twice).

If you are confused

how a terminally online South African billionaire, whose fortune was born on the back of apartheid, wound up doing Nazi salutes at an American presidential inauguration, when his only government experience is receiving billions of dollars in subsidies, you haven't been paying attention. He bought a ticket, to the tune of $200 million in campaign contributions to one Donald Trump, only after turning Twitter into a safe haven for conspiratorial and extremist right-wing thinking. Musk certainly is an independent, local nonprofit organization that provides healthcare services to patients in Oregon's South Coast communities. This newly formed nonprofit, which is governed by a board of healthcare professionals, business leaders and long-time community members, was established to expand access to primary care and other specialty services in the region.

This nonprofit entity is not owned or controlled by Coquille Valley Hospital District, but the hospital does provide some administrative support services through a contract to assist Coquille Valley Health, Royal said.

"Ensuring that our organization can meet the needs of the patients in our community is essential as we create new programs and expand our services," she said.

Patients are welcome to call to establish care with the following Coos Bay Clinic and Myrtle Point Clinic providers:

Oregon joins $80 million enforcement action against Block Inc., CashApp for Bank Secrecy Act violations

The Oregon Division of Financial Regulation (DFR) and 47 state financial regulatory agencies have taken coordinated action against Block Inc., for violations of the Bank Secrecy Act (BSA) and anti-money laundering (AML) laws that safeguard the financial system from illicit use. More than 50 million consumers in the U.S. use CashApp, Blocks mobile payment service, to spend, send, store, and invest

In the multistate settlement signed this week, Block agreed to pay an $80 million penalty to the state agencies, hire an independent consultant to review the comprehensiveness and effectiveness of its BSA/ AML program, and submit a report to the states within nine months. Block then will have 12 months to correct any deficiencies found in the review after the report is filed.

"Oregon continues to work alongside other states to protect consumers and hold companies accountable," said TK Keen, DFR administrator. "This settlement reinforces our commitment to safeguarding the financial system and ensuring compliance with laws designed to prevent illicit activity.'

The settlement was the result of a multistate examination to determine Block's compliance with applicable state and federal laws and regulations. Block worked cooperatively with the state regulators throughout the examina-

Under BSA/AML rules, financial services firms are required to perform due diligence on customers including verifying custom- ness requirements, state er identities, reporting suspicious activity, and applying appropriate controls for high-risk accounts. State regulators found Block was not in compliance with certain requirements, creating the potential that its services could be used to support money laundering, terrorism financing, or other illegal activities.

Through a strong, nationwide regulatory framework, state financial regulators license and serve as the primary supervisor of money transmitters. States license more than 700 money transmitters. To protect consumers and enforce safety and sound regulators regularly coordinate supervision of multistate firms and, when necessary, initiate enforcement actions. This coordination networked supervision supports consistency and collaboration, while preserving the authority of individual states to take direct action.

State financial regulators license and supervise more than 34,000 nonbank financial services companies through the Nationwide Multistate Licensing System, including mortgage companies, money services businesses, consumer finance providers, and debt collectors. Oregon residents who have questions about the enforcement action should contact DFR's consumer advocates at 888-877-4894 or email dfr.financialserviceshelp@ dcbs.oregon.gov. Residents can also visit NMLS Consumer Access to verify that a company is licensed to do business in Oregon.

Trustee's Address:

If there aren't enough Americans that are properly educated to do these jobs, then what good does dismantling the American education system do? If the issue is with the Department of Education, why does Trump not overhaul it in his image instead of outright abolishing it? The answer is pretty simple. Public services uplift regular people, they don't make rich folks more money, and money is his image. Pushing American education into the private sector does nothing to improve educational outcomes, it just furthers the agenda of education as an industry through which the rich can squeeze more money out of hard-working Americans.

If you need a crash course, fascism as a political system is the practice of creating a chosen, rightful class of people (in this case, the real America), while identifying a political other to be blamed for the nation's problems and ousted from society with militaristic force. I think it's clear who that 'other' is to those in power: immigrants and queer people.

1/21 & 1/28/2025, World,

Are we really to believe that the vast economic inequality we face as a society is solely the fault of people from other countries seeking a better life here? Did trans people cause inflation or make competing nations better at STEM than us? It's a ridiculous proposition that, unfortunately, so many Americans have bought to their own detriment.

The 'culture war' we are so thoroughly embroiled in only serves one class of people: the ultra-rich who are happy to watch us argue with each other while they laugh to the bank. Now those same billionaires have direct access to the White House, as if they didn't already have outsized influence on proceedings. Surely, they will act out of altruism and an egalitarian view of American society.

The only way to secure the interests of actual Americans is to divest wealth from our political system, and we just took a huge leap in the opposite direction. There is a war being waged in America, and it is a class war. Except, only one side seems to know that its fighting in one, and they are kicking our ass.

Wayne Leon Kennedy

June 30, 1938 - December 9, 2024

Wayne Leon Kennedy, 86, of Coquille, passed away peacefully at home on December 9, 2024. Born on June 30, 1938, in Smithville, Oklahoma, to Harris and Rose Kennedy. Wayne's family moved to Oregon where he built a life with his wife, Judy Kennedy. Together, they raised five children and founded Kennedy Logging, earning respect for their hard work and dedication.

Wayne loved Oregon's outdoors and was an excellent fisherman and crabber. He also raised hunting hounds and built a family cabin at Ten Mile Lake, where countless cherished memories were made. Known for his strength, dependability and integrity, Wayne left a lasting impact on his family and community.

Wayne's partnership with Judy exemplified love and devotion. After 58 years together, he now joins her in Heaven, just one week after her passing. Phillip Myhrvold

January 25, 1937 - October 8, 2024

Phillip Allen Myhrvold, 87, of North Bend, Oregon, passed away peacefully on October 8, 2024, surrounded by the family he loved and the laughter he inspired. Phil's final chapter followed a brief illness, closing a remarkable 43 year streak of confounding the medical community with his resilience. A self-proclaimed "medical miracle and mystery," Phil defied the odds with grit, humor and sheer stubbornness.

Born January 25, 1937, in Wanderoos, Wisconsin, Phil graduated from Marshfield High School in 1955 and proudly served as an Army Airborne Ranger. After his military service, he began his lifelong career with Coos Head Timber as a teenager and retired in 2003 a feat of sheer endurance.

Phil's love for hunting, fishing, gardening, golfing, and tinkering in his garage defined much of his life. His competitive streak and wickedly sarcastic sense of humor made him both formidable and unforgettable, whether on the golf course, at the breakfast table with friends, or while sharing his bounty of game meat, crab and fish. Phil showed his love not through words, but by showing up, helping out and delivering the freshest catch of the day.

Phil is preceded in death by his parents, George and Ellen; and siblings, Gerald, Stuart; and Marilyn Crandall. He is survived by his sister, Georgene Varley; his wife of 59 years, Shelia; his sons, Ed (Leila) and Bob (Tracy); his daughter, Lori; and his four granddaughters, Tiera (Clifford); Brittany (Justin); Tianna; and Shayla. He leaves behind 11 greatgrandchildren: Cameron, Jonathan, Breighden, Lhanden, Greason, Cahmden, Averie, Paxton, Evalynn, Luellah, and Hazlee.

Phil often joked that everyone should be named after him, and his family delivered; Breighden and Averie carry the name Philip, while Lori and Tianna honor him with the middle name Allan. Phil would no doubt be thrilled to remind them of this honor whenever possible.

Phil is also survived by his lifelong fishing, golfing, hunting and breakfast crew — Buzz, Lou, Corey, Jeff, Butch, Brad, and Jim — friends who stuck by him through every big catch, bad joke and friendly competition.

Phil's loss is deeply felt, but his legacy of love, laughter and generosity will carry on in the countless stories he leaves behind.

A celebration of life will be held at a later date. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to BASA, P.O. Box 1624, Coos Bay, OR 97420.

His loss may be great, but the memories

Phillip D. Drehmer

February 20, 1934 - January 8, 2025

Phillip D. Drehmer, 90, of Lakeside, passed away peacefully from this life to his heavenly home January 8, 2025. He was born February 20, 1934, in Corning, New York to Earl Clover Drehmer and Gertrude Sylvina Walling Drehmer. Phil lived a life of love and devotion to his Lord Jesus Christ. He was a beloved husband, stepfather, uncle and friend to everyone who knew him. He was a man of overflowing joy, humor and faith. You always came away feeling uplifted and refreshed after being in Phil's presence.

A celebration of life will be held at 1 p.m., Saturday, February 8, 2025 at New Revival and Healing Ministry, 480 Greenwood Avenue, Reedsport, OR 97467. We invite all who knew and loved him to come and honor his memory.

Phil was raised in a large family in Corning, New York. The Drehmer household included his parents, a brother and four sisters. His family affectionately called him by his middle name, Dale. Phil would have everyone in stitches when he shared stories of his childhood experiences and hijinks. He graduated from Northside High School in Corning, New York in 1954.

After graduating from high school, Phil enlisted in the U.S. Army where he achieved the rank of Army SP4. Phil had a deep love for the USA and those who served to protect it. After serving in the army for four years, Phil moved to Los Angeles, CA and began working in the grocery business. He quickly worked his way up the ladder into management. Phil eventually left the grocery business to forge a long and successful career in real estate ownership and management that lasted the rest of his life.

It was during this time that Phil met his first wife, Jeanne Carricaburu. They met at a dance and Phil fell in love with her immediately. He liked to say the Lord told him during that first meeting that Jeanne would be his wife. It took Jeanne a few years to receive the same message from the Lord, but as soon as she did, Phil whisked her to Las Vegas for the wedding. Phil and Jeanne enjoyed many happy years of marriage together as they worked side by side in their real estate business. They were loved by their tenants because of the kindness they showed them, like the times they cooked Thanksgiving dinner for their 29 tenants at an apartment complex they owned and personally managed.

Phil and Jeanne pulled up stakes in Southern California in 1980 and settled in Lakeside, Oregon. They took a trip up the Southern Oregon Coast and fell in love with a house that was for sale at a beautiful spot on Tenmile Lake. They purchased it on the spot, and this would become their lifelong permanent residence. The patio affords a perfect view of the annual Lakeside Fourth of July fireworks over the lake. After many years of marriage, Phil's beloved Jeanne passed away September 21, 2013.

Phil married the second love of his life, Constance Koehler, November 12, 2017. Connie and her deceased husband, Gary, had been friends of Phil and Jeanne for many years. Connie lovingly replaced Jeanne as Phil's soulmate, and they enjoyed seven wonderful years together. Because Connie is also an accomplished singer, she and Phil would sing duets at church and other occasions. Connie and her family were devoted to Phil and provided much loving support for him as his health declined over the last few years of his life.

Serving the Lord and the church were a vital part of Phil's life from his childhood days up until his passing. Phil was a gifted singer who sang regularly in church and community choirs. Phil was even blessed once with the privilege of singing at Carnegie Hall with the Palm Desert Southwest Community Church choir. He was a member of the North Bend Presbyterian Church for many years, and for the last few years of his life attended the New Revival and Healing Ministry church in Reedsport, Oregon.

Phil also was an accomplished "fisher of men." He had a cross ministry that he did on his own. He handed out miniature crosses and shared the gospel and the love of Jesus in a gracious way with people everywhere he went. Many of the waiters and waitresses in town have a miniature cross in their possession courtesy of Phil.

In addition to being a "fisher of men," Phil was also an avid fisher of salmon. His boat would be one of the first on the water and usually one of the last to come in. Whether it was Phil racing full throttle to the spot where the "bite was on," or jockeying for position in the flotilla of boats in the Coos Bay Channel, or watching him spring into action like a teenager when he hooked a salmon, it was always an adventure to go fishing with him.

Phil is survived by his wife, Connie; stepson, Gary Koehler; stepdaughter, Christine Wilson; step-grandsons, Connor Koehler; Ryan Wilson and Tyler Wilson; brother, Richard Drehmer; his special niece, Holly Welch; and many other nieces and nephews.

Phil was predeceased by his first wife, Jeanne; and his sisters, Shirley; Dolores; Janet and Judy.

South Coast Chess Tournament bring in players of all ages

Twenty-six chess players, from kindergarteners to senior citizens, competed to test their skills in the Coquille South Coast Chess Tournament on January 18th. As this tournament was entirely United States Chess Federation rated in all three sections, notation and chess clocks were required at every board.

The youngest kids in the novice section were amazing as they quickly learned how to notate and the rules involved with that official requirement. Not only was there a lot of strategy learned on the chess boards, there was also a lot of learning of high level chess tournament rules

Although notating games was not familiar or popular, the games were interesting and dynamic. The four adults who came to compete and risk losses against the scholastic players were greatly appreciated as they become goals to beat for the novice and intermediate players.

In the advanced section Frank Morse managed a draw against Nenand Trifunovic who was a Candidate Master in his younger years, but Nenand fended off the rest of the players in his section to win 4.5 games out of 5.

In the novice section,

Perrin had to face his older brother in the final round and notation showed an error occurred during the game during a dispute. Once corrected, after a hard battle, Rand managed to defeat his little brother Perrin. Perrin's determination shows that Rand will have some rough battles ahead. Bruen Baumgardner was a trooper, always with a smile no matter how the game ended.

Don's family then moved to the Oregon coast. Don graduated from North Bend high school and soon after, joined the Air Force and was stationed in San Bernardino, California. He worked in the medical department. His children, Lorraine and Harley were both born at the airbase and precede him in death.

As I See It

By Mary Schamehorn

I still remember it as if it were yesterday when everyone was excited about celebrating Bandon's Centennial, with lots of activities, including a street dance (first photo).

The headline in the March 3, 1959, Western World highlighted the kickoff date.

"June 6 has been set as kick-off date for Bandon Centennial activities with pioneer costumes, and a Centennial Ball to lend color and impetus to tourist season events.

"Bandon residents, especially businessmen and women, will be asked to dress in early-day mode each Friday and Saturday from June 6 throughout the summer to add historical atmosphere to the community. Plans for the Centennial Ball Saturday, June 6, will be under the chairmanship of Ernest Wehner.

"The Bandon Lions Auxiliary was asked to take leadership in obtaining workers to man the tourist information booth scheduled to go in to operation after the close of school. The Bandon Women's Civic club and other local women's organizations have volunteered to help with the booth. Workers in historical costume will advise tourists on housing, restaurants, picnic spots and interest points in the area, and answer questions on Oregon. Loren Steiner, education chairman, will conduct classes to brief information center workers on state history and geography.

"Roland P school superintendent) made a strong plea that the community build a log cabin for use as information booth. This could be furnished as a pioneer cabin, containing historical exhibits and souvenirs of the area. Previous plans have been to use space offered in the Unigas building," referring to the building that today houses Dan Farmer's State Farm Insurance office.

Dr. Ben Grant chaired the Centennial committee. Others taking part were Mrs. Melvin Boak, Mrs. Howard Kehl, Ralph Yockey, Jesse Laub, Edgar Capps, Mrs. John Devereux, Mrs. C.G. Girard, Dee Schvaneveldt, Wehner, Parks, Ed Glasscock, L.A. "Dutch" Reichlein, Vern Brown, Lou Felsheim and Raleigh Greene.

The second story, which appeared in the May 18, 1922, Western World told of remodeling the old school building (second photo) into a community center.

The old school building on the brow of the hill overlooking the business section, which has always been the most conspicuous object in the community because of its commanding location, is rapidly being converted into a fine up-to-date Community building by Bandon Post, American Legion.

"The plans call for the lower floor to be finished for an assembly hall with a floor space approximately 35x70. A stage will be added on the north side of the building so as not to reduce the floor space. The second floor will be fitted up for lodge purposes with a kitchen.

"A special feature will be the installation of a radio receiving set, making it possible to give concerts.

"When the remodeling is complete it will represent an investment of approximately $6,000. The Legion has decided to raise $3,000 outside the organization on notes of $100 denomination, bearing 8 per cent interest."

The school house was constructed in the late 1800s.

The third picture features Lion Allan (George) MacDonald (Big Mac's brother) with the District Governor's trophy won by the Bandon Lions Club for the years 1965-70.

The big news last week that took the community by surprise and stunned patients of Coast Community Health Clinic is that Bandon's federally qualified health center (FQHC) will be closing its doors Feb. 15 in Bandon and Port Orford, which includes clinics in each community and a popular pharmacy in Bandon.

In a statement released by the CEO Kendra Newbold Jan. 15, she said: "After much consideration, it is with a heavy heart that we inform our valued patients, staff and communities that Coast Community Health Center announces the closure of its healthcare facilities, including pharmacy services in Bandon and Port Orford, effective Feb.

"Over the years, Coast has been proud to provide high-quality care to our patients. Our team has remained committed to serving the health and wellbeing of the community, and we are grateful for the trust and support we've received. We understand the impact this may have, and we want to ensure a smooth transition for all affected. It is our goal to collaborate with our fellow partners in healthcare across the region to help reestablish care in the communities we have served. We will provide updates as Coast's closure progresses, and more details become available," said the release.

The letter explained that patients may obtain copies of their medical records by calling 541-347-2529 prior to Feb. 15.

"All patients will receive a patient letter notifying them of the closure that will include information on finding a new primary care service, behavioral health services, pharmacy services and additional details regarding the closure.'

Southern Coos Hospital and Health Center CEO Ray Hino responded with a letter explaining that the hospital's clinic is accepting new patient applications. "We have also started the process to open a pharmacy in our hospital outpatient clinic, to address the need for more pharmacy services in Bandon.

"We are pleased to announce that Dr. Jennifer Webster will be joining our clinic team on Jan. 27. Dr. Webster, formerly with North Bend Medical Center, brings a wealth of experience and expertise to our clinic," said Hino.

"Our commitment to the health and well-being of our community is unwavering, and we are here to meet both the
