Bandon construction boom continues

BANDON — The latest update from the City of Bandon's planning department indicate they remain busy with construction applications and general inquiries from the public. Year to date the Planning Department has received 98 applications, including 25 for single-family dwellings, which is on trend for the last four years.

In order to devote more time to processing applications for property inside the city limits, the city has temporarily suspended activity on most applications from outside the city limits, many of which are in the Sunset City Addition, where some owners are attempting to divide

Yoga Hive reopens

BANDON — The Yoga Hive is Bandon is now open for classes again with additional safety measures put in place, according to co-owner Debi Ellis.

After months of getting the Yoga Hive ready to open, in September 2019 the facility opened to an enthusiastic welcome from the community of Bandon.

Flash forward a few months, COVID-19 arrived in the United States and Ellis made the decision to close the Yoga Hive's doors for the time being.

Check the Yoga Hive website at www.bandonyogahive.com for class times, information on instructors, cost and registration procedures, or call 541-329-2400 or visit their Facebook page for more information. The Yoga Hive is located at 1077 Chicago Ave. SE in Bandon.

their property into smaller lots, but are unable to do that without the guarantee of city water, according to the city.

The Bandon City Council discussed the issue recently and felt that applications within the city must take precedence over those outside the city, according to the council.

"As the construction season fades with the approaching rainy weather, the Planning Department will ramp up work on improvements to our permitting process through a series of code updates, procedural changes, and increased community engagement," said Planning Manager Dana Nichols.

Free masks and gloves for small businesses

SALEM — Oregon Gov. Kate Brown has announced a new program to provide masks and gloves to small business in the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic. The Governor, in partnership with the Oregon Legislature's Emergency Board, allocated $10 million from the federal CARES Act funding for the purchase of protective supplies. The state of Oregon is fulfilling orders at no charge until resources are depleted.

"We want our businesses to be able to operate in the safest manner possible right now so that we can get out of this health crisis, and get them back to full operations," said Gov. Brown. "Our small businesses are the hardest hit, so we want to help them get the tools they need at no cost to them."

Businesses with fewer than 50 employees that are headquartered in Oregon with principal operations in Oregon are eligible. Business Oregon — the state's economic development agency — and the Department of Administrative Services are collaborating to create the order and distribution process. Businesses with fewer than 10 employees will receive a box of 200 gloves and 100 masks, with larger businesses receiving up to 500 masks and 800 gloves. For now, businesses are limited to one order, with additional orders possible at a later date depending on availability

In addition to the small business program, the Early Learning Division is providing supplies such as gloves, disinfecting wipes, masks and more to child care providers around the state as part of the effort. The Governor set aside $1.3 million from the federal Governor's Education Emergency Relief Fund to purchase supplies for this critical service. Child care providers have been operating under emergency conditions since March and are following increased safety and health guidelines. Child care providers approved by ELD to operate Emergency Child Care are eligible to order supplies and will need a license/provider number to do so.

"Since the beginning of the pandemic, child care providers have been doing critical work to support families and other businesses in Oregon," said ELD Director Miriam Calderon, "These items will help providers continue operating with a focus on safety for children, parents and their staff."

The order form is online and is now accepting orders. Businesses and child care providers can access the form here: <https://supplyconnector.org/states/oregon/free-ppe/>
