

Coos County Jail busier than it appears

COQUILLE — The hulking Coos County Jail occupies about half a city block in the central part of town and, while the three-story white concrete structure seems a calm and serene site, it's truly a beehive of activity.

On a recent Tuesday morning between 9 a.m. and 10:15 a.m., the jail staff booked six inmates — the county refers to them as “adults in custody” or AICs — and released seven. Five of the six booked were released on their own recognizance to appear in court later. One was jailed. Two others were released from custody after being jailed for a time.

Sgt. Christopher Gill of the Sheriff's Office's Corrections Division, was in charge of the day shift this day. Watch Commander Miranda Vierck, who's worked in the Corrections Division for nearly eight years, provided a facility tour. She started as a corrections deputy in 2018 and was promoted to watch commander a few years ago. She replaces Gill when he's off duty. All deputies have 12-hour shifts, from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., usually working three days one week and four the next.

The jail's booking room is on the second floor, which also has two cell units, both unused. The third floor also has two cell units, but only one is used because of budget cuts. An elevator and two sets of stairs allow access between floors.

The large booking room features a counter behind which the staff works as they book suspects. Surrounding the room are five holding cells, a fingerprinting room, records storage and an office for the transport/court deputy, who is responsible for driving inmates to and from prison or other jurisdictions, or accompanying inmates to court appearances. The county also has equipment for video court appearances in the third-floor library.

On day shift today there are seven on staff, Sgt. Gill and six corrections officers. All deputies are versatile, knowing how to accomplish each task that needs doing.

“Processing can be really quick,” Vierck said. “Sometimes just five or 10 minutes, but if they're a medical nightmare or wanting to fight, it could be up to an hour.”

On the ground floor is the sally port, or secure area into which law enforcement vehicles drive to deliver suspects into custody. There's room for up to four vehicles at a time to park there, plus an office and rooms for staff training and the maintenance staff. An elevator provides access to the booking room.

At 10:01 a.m., Vierck stepped away from the tour to assist with booking a female suspect. She donned rubber gloves to help LPN Amy Lopez, the county's health service administrator, admit the female suspect, collecting the woman's vital health information, including a urine sample, and helping her change into the red jail uniform. She's issued an inmate brochure, a plastic cup, spoon, washcloth, toothbrush, toothpaste, razor, comb, a pen and two pieces of paper before

Sgt. Donovan Delossantos escorts her to a cell.

Meanwhile, Corrections Office Luke Price is signing a release agreement and giving a court date to another female AIC who's being released from custody.

Sgt. Gill, speaking harshly to a third female inmate, who's being released, reminds her that the last time she was jailed was a “traumatic” experience.

“As much as I care for you, let's not meet again,” he said.

The capacity of the entire facility is about 250 beds (or inmates) in four units, but at present the county jails just 44 AICs in one unit, depending on the hour.

Construction begins this week on Chandler Bridge east of Coos Bay

FROM ODOT

COOS BAY – Drivers can expect traffic delays on Oregon 241 (Coos River Highway) through the end of summer as a project to paint and repair the Chandler Bridge begins next week.

The bridge, located about three miles east of downtown Coos Bay, was built in 1952 and contains a lift span to allow maritime traffic to pass along the Coos River. The paint on the bridge is peeling and much of its surface is covered in rust.

This project will paint the steel truss section of the bridge, replace the lift-span tower ladders and access platforms, and upgrade the steel guardrail at each end of the bridge.

Starting Monday, Feb. 9, contractors plan to set up the work zone, mobilize equipment and install construction signs. For the next few weeks, drivers should watch for intermittent daytime lane closures with flaggers and brief delays.

Through most of the spring and summer, the bridge will be limited to a single lane of traffic 24/7. A temporary signal will provide traffic control.

Construction will also require two weekend closures of the bridge, probably in early summer. During the closures, traffic from the Allegany area will detour along East Bay Road to U.S. 101 north of McCullough Bridge. ODOT will provide public notification before any road closures.

All work is scheduled to be completed by Sept. 18. Prime contractor Abhe & Svoboda, Inc., based in Jordan, Minn., was awarded the project after a successful bid of $7,288,400.

For more information, visit the project website at: oregon.gov/odot/projects/pages/project-details.aspx?project=21773

Or contact ODOT Public Information Officer Dan Latham at 541-817-5200 and Dan.Latham@odot.oregon.gov.

HOLY COW! HISTORY:

History Quiz

By J. MARK POWELL
InsideSources.com

They say everyone is Irish on St. Patrick’s Day. What about non-sports fans on Super Bowl Sunday? Here’s a quiz for everyone who doesn’t know a fumble from a field goal.

1. How many sitting U.S. presidents have attended a Super Bowl game in person?
A. One
B. Two
C. Three
D. Four
Answer: A. Incumbent Donald Trump became the first sitting president to attend a Super Bowl in person in 2025. Ronald Reagan conducted a virtual coin toss from the White House before Super Bowl XIX in 1985. Former President George H.W. Bush participated in the coin toss at Super Bowl XXXVI in 2002 and Super Bowl LI in 2017.

2. Though modern footballs are made of cowhide leather, what are they nicknamed?
A. Hogshhead
B. Boar’s head
C. Swinebelly
D. Pigskin
Answer: D. The name dates back to the earliest footballs, which were made from inflated pig bladders.

3. Which kids’ toy inspired the Super Bowl’s name?
A. Super Glue
B. Super Soaker
C. Super Ball
D. Super Slurp
Answer: C. Kansas City Chiefs owner Lamar Hunt got the idea after watching his children play with the highly bouncy Wham-O Super Ball in 1966. He jokingly suggested calling the championship game the Super Bowl, and the name stuck. It became official in 1969.

4. What was the Super Bowl called during its first two years?
A. The Battle of the Best
B. Winner Take All
C. The AFL-NFL Championship Game
D. The Big Game
Answer: C. Though accurate, the name was clunky and cumbersome. Fans quickly gravitated to the simpler “Super Bowl.”

5. What year did the iconic Budweiser Clydesdales first appear in a Super Bowl TV commercial?
A. 1980
B. 1986
C. 1990
D. 1996
Answer: B. The Clydesdales made their Super Bowl debut during Super Bowl XX in 1986. A later 1996 commercial showing the horses playing football became one of the most beloved ads in Super Bowl history.

6. What food is most consumed on Super Bowl Sunday?
A. Pizza
B. Chicken wings
C. Burgers and hot dogs
D. Guacamole and chips
Answer: B. Chicken wings dominate the menu, with an estimated 1.48 billion consumed in 2025. Pizza ranks second, with as many as 14 million pies served.

7. Between 125.5 million and 127.7 million people are expected to watch at least part of the game on Sunday. If so, it would come close to matching the record 128 million audience set in what year?
A. 2000

J. Mark Powell

B. 2010
C. 2020
D. 2025
Answer: D. Free streaming, new audience-measurement methods, and weeks of hype combined to produce the largest Super Bowl audience on record.

The Coos Bay Public Library: A Year in Review

By Jenny Brownfield and Emily Church

As we mark the passing of another year, many of us like to reflect on the recent year and think about our successes and failures to help us better prepare for the new year. The Coos Bay Public Library (CBPL) is no different. This is the time of year when we look back at the data, and we thought we would share that information with all of you – our patrons! So, here is your public library by the numbers!

Public libraries exist to serve our communities, and we are thrilled to do just that. Last year we were open for 2,346 hours and were happy to welcome our patrons 130,243 times. Whether coming in to check out a book, use the computer, or get some produce we are always happy to see people using the resources we provide.

The most obvious service we provide is of course checking out books, videos, and other items and we certainly did lots of that! Last year we processed 169,727 check outs of adult materials at the Coos Bay Public Library. Additionally, there were 58,350 check outs of children’s items and 6, 574 for young adult materials. That is a lot of circulations! All told, it amounts to about 235,000 times that our patrons were able to make use of the library to enjoy quality books, games, videos or other items. Lots of you also took advantage of our e-book and e-audio book collections, checking out 15,108 e-books and 25,069 e-audio books from library provided services such as Libby, hoopla, and Blackstone Audio.

Of course, to make all those checkouts possible, we work hard to keep our collection filled with items we think you will enjoy. Our collection of books contains over 88,000 volumes, including 4,159 new books added last year. We know the library is more than books, so we also added 321 items to our audio collection (bringing the total to 12,538 items), and 828 DVDs to our video collection for a total of 14,268 movies, TV shows, and other videos for your viewing pleasure. We also added 1,236 other types of new items such as those found in our library of things, board games collection, and video game collections. We make sure there is always something new for you at the library!

Programs are also a big draw at the library and last year we hosted over 1,100 programs for our community. These programs included those for babies, children, teens and adults. Some of the programs were live and in person (about 1,000), some were virtual (about 70) and some were projects to take home and complete (about 73). We are always excited to offer programming to our patrons, and we were really excited to see that our programming attendance hit almost 18,000 last year. We want to say a big thank you to everyone who came to a library program and listened to speaker, painted a picture, or learned a new skill!

Another popular reason that people come to the library is to use our public computers and free Wi-Fi. We have 16 computers free for public use and use them you did. Last year CBPL provided 102,370 individual wireless sessions free to our community. That is a lot of connectivity! We also helped people connect using our meeting rooms. They were scheduled 1,605 times last year for everything from HOA meetings to book clubs to baby showers. We love that people want to meet up at the library for their life events.

Lastly, we are thrilled to partner with The Beet to offer fresh produce to community members. When getting produce, community members provide the number of people in their household and those numbers added up to over 50,000 in 2025. Of course, we would never be able to accomplish all of this without our dedicated volunteers who man the fridge and help us to shelve books and straighten the library. Last year 68 community members volunteered at the library for a total of 4,274 hours. Additionally, the Friends of the Library, which is also 100% composed of volunteers, raised thousands of dollars through book sales to help offset the cost of all that fabulous programming. These dedicated community members are the unsung heroes of the library!

So, there you have it – a year in the life of the Coos Bay Public Library; circulating materials, putting out great programs, providing community gathering spaces and Wi-Fi to keep us connected, and hopefully helping you and your family enjoy life a little bit more. If you have comments or suggestions for programs or material purchases, please let us know as we are always happy to improve our services (email us at bayref@coosbaylibrary.org). Also, our 2026 Community survey will be out shortly so check our website and let us know how we are doing and what programs and services you would like us to provide. We hope to see you at the library!

Basketball Recap: Cold shooting North Bend girls fall to Marist Catholic

JOHN GUNTHER
For The World

NORTH BEND — North Bend’s girls basketball team entered Friday’s contest with visiting Marist Catholic with a chance to pull into a tie for first place with the Spartans in the Sky-Em League standings.

Four cold-shooting quarters later, the Bulldogs find themselves aiming to finish second in the league standings and secure a spot in the Class 4A state playoffs after a 40-28 loss to the Spartans.

It was North Bend’s lowest offensive output of the season, the previous low 33 in a seven-point loss at Marist Catholic in the first round of league play.

“We haven’t done that all year,” North Bend coach Doug Miles said of the Bulldogs’ offensive effort. “Nobody shot like they usually do.”

The poor offensive night spoiled a great defensive effort against the Spartans, who remained perfect in league play at 7-0 while North Bend fell to 5-2.

Miles felt bad for his squad because the Bulldogs followed the defensive game plan perfectly but couldn’t overcome their poor shooting.

“You saw how hard they played,” Miles said.

Freshman Lauryn Garrigus led the Bulldogs with 11 points, but she had an off night shooting like all of her teammates.

Mila Davidson had a pair of 3-pointers, including North Bend’s first points of the game, for six total points. Erica McClintock made just one 3-pointer and Carley Lucero failed to score. Malia Flitcroft scored four points and Hailey Rinderle also had a 3-pointer.

Miles said Marist Catholic is a tough defensive squad because of its length, but the Bulldogs were getting quality shots against the Spartans.

“I like the effort,” he said. “I like the shots they were getting.

“We shoot a lot of 3s. We usually shoot really well.”

North Bend held the Spartans to a lone 3-pointer in the first quarter, and it took nearly seven minutes of game time before that shot went in, but Marist

Catholic pulled ahead 20-13 at halftime and 29-21 entering the fourth. North Bend pulled within five in the fourth, but couldn’t close the gap.

Ashley Powell made three 3-pointers and led the Spartans with a game-high 17 points.

The loss doesn’t spoil what has been a great season for North Bend and Miles hopes the Bulldogs finish strong and find a way to win in the playoffs and reach the state tournament.

North Bend finishes the second round of league play with a home game against Marshfield on Tuesday and then is home against Junction City on Friday to start the third round of league play.

North Bend is 16-4 overall and seventh in the OSAA power rankings and eighth in the coaches poll.

Miles praised the leadership of the team’s seniors, including starters Lucero, McClintock, Rinderle and Davidson and reserves Marissa McClintock and Rhyn Riddle.

“They’re very smart basketball players and they get after it,” he said.

Cottage Grove is third in the league standings at 3-5, though the Lions played the Bulldogs close both times, including a 54-48 North Bend win earlier in the week.

Marshfield still is looking for a league win. The Pirates fell to Junction City in their lone league game last week, 40-14. They also lost a nonleague game to Phoenix 48-21 in a contest played at Southwestern Oregon Community College.

In addition to Tuesday’s game against North Bend, the Pirates are home against Cottage Grove on Friday.

FAR WEST LEAGUE:

Coquille had a pair of easy wins to keep its hold on first place in the league standings, topping South Umpqua 49-24 on the road and beating Douglas 49-14 at home.

This week, the Red Devils are at Siuslaw on Tuesday and Glide on Friday before their big home matchup with Sutherlin on Feb. 17. Coquille snapped Sutherlin’s long home league win streak on Jan. 30.

SKYLINE LEAGUE:

Powers suffered its first league loss when the Cruisers fell to Umpqua Valley Christian 40-30 on Friday.

The Monarchs stayed unbeaten in league play while Powers fell to 7-1 with another big league game at home Tuesday against North Douglas, which also has one league loss.

The Cruisers have a nonleague game at Perrydale on Wednesday, finish league play at New Hope on Friday and host Rogue Valley Adventist in another nonleague game Monday in their final tuneup for the Skyline League playoffs.

Pacific got its first league win by beating host New Hope on Friday, 36-16. The Pirates finish their season with a home game against Days Creek on Tuesday and a trip to Riddle on Friday.

BOYS BAKSETBALL

SKY-EM LEAGUE:

Marshfield moved into a first-place tie with Marist Catholic in the league standings by avenging its second loss from the first round of league play, beating Junction City 54-44 on Friday. The Pirates earlier avenged a loss to Marist Catholic with a 58-51 win over the Spartans in Eugene.

Marshfield and Marist Catholic both are 5-2 after the Spartans lost to Junction City earlier in the week 65-62.

Marshfield finishes the second round of league play with a game at North Bend on Tuesday and then moves into the crucial final round with a home game against Cottage Grove on Friday.

The Pirates host Marist Catholic on Feb. 17, hoping to avoid the trend that saw the road team win the first two matchups, and are at third-place Junction City on Feb. 24.

North Bend played its best game of the league season Friday, hanging with the Spartans most of the way before ultimately losing 57-45.

North Bend, which has yet to win a league game, led 8-4 late in the first quarter before Marist Catholic scored 14 straight points. The Bulldogs managed to pull within two points late in the third quarter before the Spartans ultimately pulled away.

Brody Kyllö had six 3-pointers and 20 points for North Bend and Hayden Christensen had 14.

North Bend also lost to Cottage Grove 66-51 last week and hosts Junction City on Friday.

FAR WEST LEAGUE:

Coquille’s boys lost both their games last week, but showed their season improvement in the process.

The Red Devils fell to South Umpqua 52-45 on the road and then lost at home to Douglas 55-44. The league-leading Trojans beat Coquille 86-28 in their contest at Winston.

SKYLINE LEAGUE:

Pacific lost its lone game last week, falling at New Hope 63-22.

The Pirates finish their season this week with a home game against Days Creek on Tuesday and a game at Riddle on Friday.

Bandon girls claim another league title

BANDON — The Bandon girls basketball team won two big games during the week to take the Sunset Conference title, the Tigers’ sixth league crown in seven seasons.

Bandon beat visiting Oakland 46-30 and then topped host Myrtle Point 44-32 on Friday to improve to perfect 8-0 in league play with just two games to go, at home against Reedsport on Tuesday and at Gold Beach on Friday.

“We are getting better,” Bandon coach Jordan Sammons said after the Tigers’ win over Oakland, which gave Bandon a close call in the game on the Oakers’ home court in the first round of league play. “The girls are working hard.”

Bandon is guaranteed a spot in the state tournament, but still will need to win in the league tournament to claim the top seed. But with the Tigers holding the No. 3 spot in the OSAA power rankings, a home game in the state playoffs is likely as the team seeks another return to the Class 2A state tournament in Pendleton.

Bandon won its sixth league title in seven years.

Sammons said he didn’t expect this year’s squad to be 20-2, given its relative youth. The team’s only losses were to two solid Class 3A clubs, Pleasant Hill in the McArthur Court showcase in early December and Coquille in the final of the Bandon Dunes Holiday Invitational.

The Tigers have won 11 in a row since the loss to the Red Devils. Their closest call in league play was a two-point win at Oakland.

For a while Tuesday, it looked like the second contest with the Oakers might also be close. Oakland led 9-7 after a wild bank shot to beat the shot clock early in the second quarter by Oakland. By the midway point in the third quarter, Bandon had turned that deficit into a 27-11 lead.

“I am happy with how they came out and competed,” Sammons said. “I was really proud of their effort.”

He was particularly pleased with the Tigers’ defense.

“We’ve said all along defense is what we pride ourselves on,” he said. “To hold them to 30 points — that’s a good team.”

Bandon also got a lift with timely outside shooting from Safaa Dimitruk.

“Kudos to Safaa,” he said, noting that the senior guard put up a bunch of shots in a shootaround Tuesday morning.

She had nine points on three 3-pointers Tuesday.

“Confidence is huge for her and huge for our team,” Sammons said.

Dimitruk had a 3-pointer for the opening score of the game and another early in the third quarter, but the biggest came in the fourth, immediately after the Oakers had cut the lead to 37-29 on a 3-pointer by Morgan Swearingen with just under 3 minutes to go in the game.

After Dimitruk’s shot, the Oakers managed just a single free throw the rest of the way.

Bandon was led by Caitlyn Michalek and Shasta Johnson, who had 12 points each. Marlie Carmack added five points.

Lianna Gardner had a game-high 13 points for Oakland.

Following the conclusion of league play, the Tigers have a big nonleague game Saturday in Roseburg against Country Christian, the top-ranked team in the Class 1A power rankings and coaches poll.

Oakland remains second in the league standings at 6-2. The Oakers, who beat Illinois Valley 57-18 on Friday, host Gold Beach on Tuesday and visit Myrtle Point to close the league season Friday.

The Bobcats are third in the standings at 5-3. Before losing to Bandon, Myrtle Point topped Reedsport 76-10. Myrtle Point is at Illinois Valley on Tuesday and hosts Oakland on Friday.

Bandon boys pull into tie with Oakland in standings

JOHN GUNTHER
For The World

BANDON — Bandon’s boys basketball team has put itself in position to share the Sunset Conference title after upsetting visiting Oakland and then winning at Myrtle Point last week.

After getting blown out at Oakland early in the season, the Tigers topped the Oakers 46-35 last week in Bandon to pull even with Oakland in the league standings.

Bandon then beat Myrtle Point 48-36 on Friday after earlier in the season topping the Bobcats by just four points at home.

Bandon now has won seven games in a row. The Oakland contest was the team’s best to date, as the Tigers held the Oakers to a season low in points.

“Maybe it was an off shooting night for Oakland, but our ball pressure was really good,” Bandon coach Vince Quattrocchi said. “We played really good defensively. They were flying around and talking. You could tell they wanted it.”

To tie the Oakers, Bandon likely needs to beat Reedsport at home on Tuesday and win at Gold Beach on Friday. Oakland finishes with games Gold Beach at home and Myrtle Point on the road.

The wins over Oakland and Myrtle Point show Bandon is finding its groove at the right time.

Quattrocchi said the team did a great job having good offensive possessions against Oakland, even when they didn’t end up with made baskets.

“You’ve got to limit those turnovers,” Quattrocchi said.

The Tigers also did a much better job rebounding than the first meeting with the Oakers.

“That’s what we talked about at halftime,” he said. “Making sure they didn’t get second-chance opportunities.”

Bandon trailed 9-7 through one quarter, but surged ahead 26-20 by halftime and held off every challenge in the second half.

Tyler Senn led Bandon with 17 points. Hayden Thompson added 12 points and Raleigh Kraynik eight.

Jaxson Clark had 13 points for Oakland, which was fourth in this week’s coaches poll.

Four of Bandon’s five starters — Thompson, Jaiden Neimoyer, Cody Robison and Reggie Turner all got a slow start to the season after Bandon’s run to the semifinals in the football playoffs last fall.

“The football players are beginning to play like basketball players,” Quattrocchi said.

Tuesday’s effort was a sign of possible good things ahead the rest of the season.

“That was a playoff atmosphere game,” Quattrocchi said. “It’s good to know we can play like that.”

If Bandon and Oakland finish in a perfect tie, the rest of the league playoffs will be canceled and the Tigers and Oakers will meet on a neutral court to determine which team will represent the league as its No. 1 team for the playoffs and which will be the No. 2 team. If there is not a tie, the league’s second-place team hosts the third-place team in the first round of the league playoffs with the winner visiting the regular-season champion to determine the top seed for the state playoffs.

Gold Beach hopes to spoil the plans of Oakland and Bandon. The Panthers are third in the standings at 5-3, with Myrtle Point next at 4-4.

The Bobcats beat Reedsport 67-48 in their other game last week and finish with a game at Illinois Valley on Tuesday and the game against Oakland.

Gold Beach won close games last week over Illinois Valley (55-51) and Reedsport (53-49).

SWOCC to host regional wrestling tournament on Valentine’s Day

Palmer had 14 points and Wilson and Kaison Herrmann 11 each but SWOCC had its second cold-shooting outing of the season against the Titans, making just 35 percent of its shots from the field and 12 of 21 free throws. The Lakers were just 5-for-29 from 3-point range.

SWOCC is now 7-4 in the South Region, trailing Clark and Umpqua, both 8-2, and just ahead of Clackamas and Lane, both 6-5. The Lakers have their bye in the second round of the league schedule on Wednesday before a big game at Clackamas on Saturday. They also are at Chemeketa on Monday.

Control Room Operator Tyler Davidson monitors every movement from the central control pod on the third floor. He's able to observe movements throughout the three-story jail and view cameras focused on almost every square foot of the facility inside and out.

Watch Commander Miranda Vierck visits the jail laundry on the second floor, where female inmates wash, dry, fold and store the red jumpsuits the county issues.

53,” Vierck said.

She gave a tour of the unused Unit 2B, which has 47 beds in individual cells. Inmates no longer are housed more than one to a cell.

Unit 2B was used briefly in 2022-23, but the county had to close it July 1, 2024, and lay off seven deputies because voters rejected a levy to keep it open. Then in 2025-26, the county laid off seven more from the Criminal Division, Gill said.

“So having two open bumps us up to 100 beds,” Vierck said. “Right now, we’re at 49.”

Each floor also has a secure exercise room, a library and a visitation room with special cubicles for attorney consultations.

The family/friend visitation cubicles have telephones allowing the inmates a half-hour talk with their visitors, but glass separates visitors from the AICs. Only the separate attorney visitation cubicles have a small pass-through that allows documents to be exchanged.

Inmates have painted the second-floor visitation rooms with a bright undersea mural that stretches 20-30 feet across multiple rooms.

“They do a lot of drawing in their cells,” she said, “and I’ve seen some pretty incredible artwork over the years.”

The second floor also includes the jail’s kitchen, and a laundry room, both which use inmate workers. Because it isn’t otherwise in use, the Sheriff’s Office uses the library there for defensive tactics training. Inmates on the third floor also have access to a laundry, a library and a medical department staffed by a nurse.

On the opposite side of the second floor is Unit 2A, separated from Unit 2B. The kitchen, visitation rooms, an exercise “yard” and library are between the two cell blocks. Inmates in Individual cell blocks are released together to the exercise room. AICs from different blocks are not allowed to mingle there.

Even though each cell block has stainless steel tables and seating for about a dozen inmates, the county doesn’t allow the AICs to eat together. The tables each have a built-in checker board. Inmates can check out game pieces to help occupy their time. The dining areas also have four pay phones available, but for outgoing calls only.

“We feed them all in their cells,” Vierck said. “We used to get lots of fights over food. We make them eat in their cells and we don’t have any of those problems.”

The second-floor exercise area is an empty room, about 35 feet square, with no equipment, but it provides a place for AICs to walk or do exercises. Inmates on the third floor have a larger exercise area that’s open to the outside above about a nine-foot concrete block wall. The opening is covered with heavy netting to prevent escapes.

“They get half an hour of rec time out here a day,” Vierck said, “so they can run laps, work out. But safety and security of the facility comes first, so they don’t always get yard every single day. We can get it to them as much as we can.”

Each floor also has a central control room, or pod, where a corrections officer controls access to the entire floor.

“It’s nice, because you can run all your visits, all your yards, libraries, and you don’t have to rely on anyone else to do that,” she said.

For example, the shift corrections officer in the second-floor pod has switches that control all the door latches for the cell blocks and all the other rooms on the floor, if inmates were incarcerated there. A red or green light indicates to the pod operator which latches are open and which are locked.

Each pod has two or more computer screens with views from 16-20 cameras that are focused on interior and exit doors, so the pod operator can monitor every movement on the floor. In addition, there’s an intercom system, which allows the pod operator to talk with inmates or corrections staff in each location on the floor.

There’s also a cell-block count listed in the pod, so the operator can account for every AIC. The numbers change hourly.

Corrections Officer Tyler Davidson was operating the central control pod on the third floor on this day. He watched over 44 inmates at the time, having their photos on a board showing their cell numbers. Some photos were on pink paper, denoting those individuals as accused sex offenders.

There’s a high-custody cell block, which houses those charged with Class A and B felonies, such as first- and second-degree murder, assault, kidnapping and sex crimes. There’s also a minimum-custody block, which houses those charged with driving while intoxicated, driving while suspended, and other less-serious offenses.

Another block contains AICs in mental health crises, people with medical issues and other sex offenders. An eighth block with 11 beds is reserved for female inmates.

Most AICs are jailed for no more than 364 days before being sentenced, if convicted, and sent to prison.

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY OF FINANCIAL IMPACT REPORT This notice is a summary of the information available in the Annual Financial Report of the City of Reedsport Urban Renewal District Agency, prepared pursuant to ORS 457.460. Copies of the full report are available at the Finance Department – Reedsport City Hall, to all interested persons during regular business hours. As summarized below, FY 2024-25 resources exceeded total requirements by $245,483 with resources amounting to $328,926. Expenditures were made for materials and services, capital outlay, debt service, and transfer to Urban Renewal Main Street Program. For the next fiscal year, 2025-26, the Agency's budgeted resources are balanced with requirements at $1,165,515. Property taxes received totaled $300,076 in FY 2024-25 and are budgeted at $333,045 in FY 2025-26. Other resources are budgeted are the beginning fund balance at $566,770 and interest at $5,500 along with other of $260,200. Requirements are budgeted for personnel services at $59,400, materials and services at $66,500, capital outlay at $952,615, and debt service at $24,000. The use of tax increment financing creates a fiscal year impact on the taxing districts that levy taxes within the Reedsport Urban Renewal Area. The impact consists of those districts foregoing the taxes that would have been levied on the increase in assessed value within the Area while tax increment financing is in effect. No additional property taxes are created for the Reedsport Urban Renewal Agency.

Both the beneficiary and the trustee have elected to sell the said real property to satisfy the obligations secured by said trust deed and notice has been recorded pursuant to Section 86.752(3) of Oregon Revised Statutes. There is a default by grantor or other person owing an obligation, performance of which is secured by the trust deed, or by the successor in interest, with respect to provisions therein which authorize sale in the event of such provision. The default for which foreclosure is made is grantor's failure to pay when due the following sum: TOTAL REQUIRED TO REINSTATE: $24,137.06 TOTAL REQUIRED TO PAYOFF: $245,897.87 Because of interest, late charges, and other charges that may vary from day-to-day, the amount due on the day you pay may be greater. It will be necessary for you to contact the Trustee before the time you tender reinstatement or the payoff amount so that you may be advised of the exact amount you will be required to pay. By reason of the default, the beneficiary has declared all sums owing on the obligation secured by the trust deed immediately due and payable, those sums being the following, to-wit: 1. The installments of principal and interest which became due on February 1, 2025, and all subsequent installments of principal and interest through the date of this Notice, plus amounts that are due for late charges, delinquent property taxes, insurance premiums, advances made on senior liens, taxes and/or insurance, trustee's fees, and any attorney fees and court costs arising from or associated with the beneficiaries efforts to protect and preserve its security, all of which must be paid as a condition of reinstatement, including all sums that shall accrue through reinstatement or pay-off. Nothing in this notice shall be construed as a waiver of any fees owing to the Beneficiary under the Deed of Trust pursuant to the terms of the loan documents. Whereof, notice hereby is given that Affinia Default Services, LLC, the undersigned trustee will on May 27, 2026 at the hour of 10:00 AM (PST), as established by section 187.110, Oregon Revised Statutes, Inside the main lobby of the Coos County Courthouse, 250 N Baxter St, Coquille, OR 97423, County of Coos, State of Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the interest in the said described real property which the grantor had or had power to convey at the time of the execution by him of the said trust deed, together with any interest which the grantor or his successors in interest acquired after the execution of said trust deed, to satisfy the foregoing obligations thereby secured and the costs and expenses of sale, including a reasonable charge by the trustee. Notice is further given that any person named in Section 86.778 of Oregon Revised Statutes has the right to have the foreclosure proceeding dismissed and the trust deed reinstated by payment to the beneficiary of the entire amount then due (other than such portion of said principal as would not then be due had no default occurred), together with the costs, trustee's and attorney's fees and curing any other default complained of in the Notice of Default by tendering the performance required under the obligation or trust deed, at any time prior to five days before the date last set for sale. For Sale Information, contact Xome at (800) 758-8052 or www.xome.com. Port of Coos Bay receives presentation on Pacific Coast Intermodal Port’s economic viability

By NATE SCHWARTZ Editor

At the Port of Coos Bay Board of Commissioners meeting on February 3, the commissioners received a presentation from Rebel Group on the financial viability of the Pacific Coast Intermodal Port (PCIP) project. The board has dedicated the first Tuesday of every month for discussing the PCIP, should concerned community members want to hear the latest on the massive proposed development of a ship-to-rail container terminal on the North Spit.

The Port contracted Rebel, a global financial advisory group established in the Netherlands in 2002, to conduct a market study and evaluation of the PCIP’s economic feasibility. The genuine capacity of the project has been a point of concern, as detractors of the project have had questions about whether the terminal will actually be able to fulfill its promised impact. The project claims to be able to process 1.5 million Twenty-foot Equivalent Unit (TEUs), or one standard container, per year.

While the project is touted by its proponents to be a job creator and economic driver of progress on the South Coast, it will require huge modifications to the navigation channel in the form of dredging. Locals have concerns this could alter the ecological make-up of the bay, and change the way of life for folks living across the North Spit in Empire. Reassurance is needed that those changes will be worth it.

Enter Rebel, who provide services in financial analysis and strategic advisory to companies in numerous industries on an international scale. According to their resume, Rebel have experience working with clients in ocean carrying, terminal operation, ship yards, etc.

“We are looking, in this study, at the commercial and market side on how to position the Port such that it can compete. If it’s actually a very good idea for the State of Oregon and the US as a whole,” explained Johan-Paul Verschuure, Rebel’s point-person for this project.

“We look at what partners to involve, who are the stake holders. How to build a business case, bottom-up, with the different liners or services. What is the rationale for the different liners to come, and what are the key characteristics the Port needs to have to make it successful.”

The key areas of focus for their study were: What kind of market demand will there be for cargo handling at the PCIP? Is there enough existing and future cargo volume that can be routed through Coos Bay versus other west coast ports?

According to their presentation, Rebel concluded that there are “several feasible pathways” to matching that 1.5 million TEU capacity. They identified that the PCIP could specifically serve the Midwest market in a cost-competitive way.

On the macro level, Rebel identified that container volumes for west coast ports have steadily increased over the last 25 years, a positive trend that they project will continue. Verschuure pointed out that Canadian ports at Vancouver and Prince Rupert have done well by serving the US Midwest, in fact, many other West Coast ports are planning expansions, which Rebel thinks is a mark of strong demand.

Using a logistics model that considers the entire supply route, Rebel determined that for some Asian exporters trying to reach the Midwest, Coos Bay could deliver logistical savings. Even if rail distances may be longer, lower sailing distances and direct ship-to-rail access could lead to Coos Bay peeling a competitive market share off of Canadian ports in particular.

Rebel’s local value proposition echoes what PCIP proponents have been saying: it will create jobs both in construction and operations, it will reduce emissions through its rail-centric and electric design, and it will drive local economic development.

During Q&A following the presentation, Board President Kyle Stevens asked Verschuure about how this most recent analysis was different from previous analyses the Port had commissioned.

“In the last 2 months, we really looked at a detailed level what the liners positions are in terms of the capacity they control, what the service level utilization is at terminals, which vessels they can deploy to those terminals. We really worked out on a port-by-port, service-by-service, liner-by-liner level what is the narrative that we can tell, how we can serve different liners,” said Verschuure.

When asked about what the minimum necessary TEUs for a viable terminal would be, Verschuure spoke about the importance of securing partnerships with a small number of servicers to ensure there will be a consistent baseline of 500,000-600,000 TEUs.

Rebel’s analysis will continue over the course of the next few months, and they have said they will provide updates to the Commissioners when necessary.

Jane Rae Crook

February 06, 1960 - November 05, 2025

Jane Rae Crook was happiest in the simple, beautiful parts of life – Sunshine on her face, dirt on her hands from the garden and her family close by.

She loved camping trips, rock hunting at the beach, cozy naps with her dogs, her family, and Jesus. She had a soft heart for animals of all kinds and never hesitated to care for anything that needed a little extra love.

Her family was her greatest treasure. She was a proud and protective wife, mom, and nanny. The best memories were the quiet, everyday moments spent together.

Jane believed in being kind and finding joy in the little things. If you knew her well, you knew about her ornery side and her dry sense of humor. We were so lucky she was ours, and we will love her for the rest of our lives.

Those who knew her love best include her husband, Albert; her daughters, Holly Crook, Amber Gray (& husband Ben), Katlyn Crook and Makayla Crook; her five grandchildren, Jacob, Emma, Hazel, Roman and Daisy who filled her heart and gave her some of her happiest days; and longtime family friend Pam.

An outdoor celebration of life is being planned.

Troy Cribbins Announces Candidacy for House District 9

Release from the Cribbins Campaign

Coos Bay, Oregon — Republican Troy Cribbins, Coos Bay City Councilor and local healthcare Administrator, announced his official candidacy for Oregon State House of Representatives in Oregon’s House District 9. The seat is currently held by Representative Boomer Wright who has recently announced he will not be seeking reelection at the end of his term.

“When I confirmed that Representative Wright was not seeking re-election for House District 9, I was deeply concerned that we would be losing a champion for the area. I want to continue his legacy of serving as a strong voice for House District 9. The Oregon Coast has a lot to be thankful for with Boomer. I have nothing but admiration for his accomplishments and the work he has done for the citizens of Oregon including his focus on education, and I will expand and carry on his work,” stated Cribbins.

Cribbins’ family has deep roots in rural Oregon. His family originally homesteaded in Bridge, and Cribbins attended both Southwestern Oregon Community College and Umpqua Community College before transferring to the University of Oregon, and finally Eastern Washington University on the path to receiving his doctorate in Physical Therapy and returning with his family back to Coos Bay in 2006. All three of his children have graduated from Coos County schools.

“I can’t think of a place that I would rather live,” said Cribbins. “Rural Oregon is a great place to put down roots and raise a family, and I feel truly fortunate to be able to make this area my home.”

Senator Dick Anderson states “I have worked with Troy Cribbins for a while.

His breadth of knowledge on rural hospital issues from being on the board to his deep knowledge in the Coos Bay area as a City Councilor make him easily the best fit to start day one representing the district. I wholeheartedly endorse him for State Representative”.

Retired Reedsport educator Keith Tymchuck says “Troy Cribbins will be an outstanding advocate for District 9, in fact for all of Oregon. Troy’s principled collaborative and will work well with all.... just what Oregon needs more of. And he will go to bat for the South Coast. He has my support. I hope he has yours.”

“With Boomer deciding not to run for re-election, I believe Troy is the best person in line to fill that role. Troy loves this community and will do a great job representing this district, working hard every day for us and has my endorsement,” said Coos County Commissioner John Sweet.

Mayor of Coos Bay Joe Benetti says “I have had the pleasure of serving as Coos Bay’s Mayor alongside Troy Cribbins as a city councilor. He is an excellent councilor who dedicated himself to the position. He understands the needs of the City of Coos Bay and the vital role the State of Oregon plays in our city and surrounding area’s success. Troy would be an advocate for our district, and I fully endorse him for State Representative of House District 9”.

Coos County Sheriff Gabe Fabrizio endorses Mr. Cribbins stating “Troy is a deeply ingrained member of our community with many ideas and high levels of motivation to improve our standard of living and local conditions. In our dealings I have found him to be fair, forward-thinking and engaged with both improvements and new ideas.”

Cribbins was appointed to the Coos Bay City Council in 2023 and re-elected in 2024. His priority is a focus on access to healthcare, education, and improving economic opportunities for citizens in House District 9, as well as the rest of rural Oregon. Cribbins previously served as the Board Chair of Bay Area Hospital District, Bay Area Hospital’s foundation board, the board of Boys and Girls Club of Southwestern Oregon as Vice Chair and Finance committee member, as well as a member of the Finance committee for Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Federal judge ends oft-used exemption to environmental review for logging on federal land

The Chewaucan River Flowing through the Fremont Winema National Forest in Southern Oregon. A judge has reversed approvals for three commercial logging projects in the forest because they relied on an exemption to environmental review that has been found unlawful.

ALEX BAUMHARDT
Oregon Capital Chronicle

A 34-year-old rule exempt-projects on federal lands from environmental review is unlawful, a federal judge has ruled.

Judge Michael McShane in the U.S. District Court in Medford earlier this month struck down the exemption, approvals for three commercial logging projects covering tens of thousands of acres in Fremont-Winema National Forest in southern Oregon.

The decision is the result of a 2022 lawsuit brought against the U.S. Forest Service by regional conservation groups Oregon Wild, WildEarth Guardians and GO Alliance.

Since 1992, the U.S. Forest Service has been able to bypass environmental reviews required by federal law for logging projects on federal land, if the logging is meant to “improve forest stand conditions,” habitat or prevent wildfires, without “significant effect” on the human environment.

The agency established the carveout as one of 25 that could be invoked to circumvent a rigorous environmental review process in certain situations that require logging and prescribed burns on federal forestland.

But in 2022, after the U.S. Forest Service used the exemption to approve without environmental review three large and controversial forest restoration and wild-fire prevention projects in the Fremont-Winema that involved logging roughly one-third of the 91,000 acres the projects encompassed, local conservation groups sued.

Oregon Wild, WildEarth Guardians and GO Alliance said in the suit that the agency’s exclusion to environmental review for such projects is fundamentally flawed and a “logging loophole,” because it is being used to justify bypassing environmental reviews on large logging projects of thousands of acres that most certainly will have significant environmental impact.

“There is not — and never has been — any legal basis for the agency to use a regulation intended for small, innocuous projects for massive commercial logging projects instead,” said Oliver Stiefel, a Crag Law Center attorney who represented the conservation groups, in a statement.

McShane agreed. “Because the record before the court does not show the Forest Service considered the impact of thinning (logging) at any scale, commercial or otherwise, the court cannot conclude the Forest Service engaged in a ‘reasoned decision’ regarding environmental impacts of the actions authorized by (the exemption),” he said in the ruling.

The U.S. Forest Service has not yet filed an appeal in the case and did not respond by Tuesday to a request for comment.

Exclusion used excessively The specific exclusion at the heart of the lawsuit allowed for logging and prescribed burns to go forward on national forestland without environmental review if the logging and burns would not cause significant environmental harm, and if they are done in service of forest and habitat improvement or wildfire prevention.

The exemption couldn’t be used if logging activities required building more than 1 mile of new road, or if herbicides would be used, but it did not have any other limitations, including on the amount of logging that could reasonably take place without having a “significant effect” on the environment.

By the early 2000s, the specific exclusion was being used frequently to authorize commercial logging without review on federal land, according to a Government Accountability Office review of Forest Service vegetation management projects from 2003–05.

The office found it was the most used of the categorical exemptions to environmental review, and was used to to bypass such reviews on nearly 2.5 million acres of forest logged as part of “vegetation management” projects during those years.

WildEarth noted in the suit that the 1992 exclusion was established for improving forests, not to make it easier to log them.

“The Forest Service did not intend for the categorical exclusion to apply to commercial thinning,” the group wrote.

But the Forest Service argued that it’s been long used to advance commercial logging projects, that the agency is staffed with scientists who know best practices and that it’s needed to avoid litigation that often comes from environmental review processes that can slow the agency’s work down.
