Bay Area Hospital update: Moore resigns, board appoints interim CEO

BY NATE SCHWARTZ Editor

In a whirlwind week at Bay Area Hospital CEO Brian Moore penned his resignation after 6 years of service to the hospital. The board announced it would be "seeking a different strategic direction" in a press release on July 17 that announced a search for an interim CEO would be taking place as soon possible.

Moore managed the hospital through the Covid-19 pandemic and attempted to pilot it through the difficult financial times that followed. Rumors that his position may be in jeopardy began to swirl ahead of the swearing in of the new board, as it was clear he believed that acquisition by Qurom Health was the hospital's best chance at long term financial stability. Despite this, in a statement to community stakeholders, Moore was thankful and positive about "Serving Bay Area Hospital over the past six years has been one of the greatest privileges of my professional career. This is a hospital full of dedicated people - caregivers, staff, physicians and volunteers - who show up every day with heart and determination to care for the South Coast," Moore said.

"While change can bring uncertainty, I believe in the resilience of Bay Area Hospital, its people and this community. The hospital plays an essential role in the health and wellbeing of our region, and I have every confidence that with the continued support of community partners like you, it will remain strong and vital."

In the aforementioned press release, new board chair Simon Alonzo Jr. thanked Moore for his service citing that "frank conversations" were had.

"On behalf of myself and members of the board, I want to thank Brian for his service to Bay Area Hospital, commitment to our teams and dedication to the people of coos Bay," said Alonzo Jr. "We respectfully accept his resignation and appreciate the frank conversations over the past few weeks as he pursues a new

This all happened in the week following the appointment of the new board members, indicating their intention to move quicky and judiciously. This was proven to once again be the case when within another week from Moore's resignation they held a meeting on short notice to appoint an interim.

On Monday July 21, during a 3:00 PM meeting in the hospital's Spruce Room, the board introduced Kelly Morgan to the executives and gathered public. Alonzo opened the meeting by addressing BAH's current status with the bank. Despite being in technical default on their loan with Bank of Montreal, Alonzo assured that they were aware of, and willing to work with the hospital during, the leadership change.

Coos Bay School District announce superintendent resigns, appoint interim

STAFF REPORT

On July 24, the Coos Bay School District (CBSD) announced that Dr. Justin Ainsworth would be stepping down from his role as superintendent due to unforeseen family-related circumstances that will take him out of the area.

A Coos Bay local, Ainsworth was appointed just over one year ago in what the district hoped would be a longterm appointment. That would not be the case, as difficulty in transitioning his family from their home in Alaska proved too much and he made the necessary choice to focus on his loved-ones' well-being. Despite the short tenure, the Board of Directors were very positive about Ainsworth's time.

'While we are saddened by Dr. Ainsworth's departure, we understand and respect his decision to put his family first. We are incredibly grateful for his dedicated service and leadership over the past year. During his tenure, Dr. Ainsworth helped lay a strong foundation for our district's future. He has been instrumental in aligning our leadership and staff with a clear vision, always keeping our students and community at the forefront," stated the board in a release to CBSD social media.

In that same release, Ainsworth would express

Coast Guard Air Station North Bend: No strangers to rescues

From Country Media's Salute to the Coast Guard

Not all rescues are the result of accidents or disasters. Some come through close communication and coordination with vessels at sea when one of their passengers need immediate assistance. That was the case on Easter Sunday, when the M/V National Geographic Venture, a small cruise ship designed for wild life excursions, had a crew member fall violently ill.

The 30-year-old was 15 miles off shore and in need of immediate medical attention, through communication with Coast Guard Sector Columbia River and their flight surgeon it was determined he should be medevacked via helicopter. That's where the crew from Air Station North Bend comes in. On the forefront of most air operations along the South Coast, the crew are no strangers to a daring rescue. In this case, the MH-65 Dolphin crew was dispatched to rendezvous with the cruise ship. They send down the basket and the crew members was transported safely to Bay Area Hospital for treatment

With so much breaking news this summer, not to mention family travel and fun time, chances are you missed it.

Sliced Bread Day has come and gone. It probably wasn't on your calendar. That's because it's only observed every July 7 in the sleepy little town of Chillicothe, Mo., birthplace of an innovation that's likely in your kitchen right now. Here's how it got there.

In the early 20th century, life was rough for housewives. Electricity was gradually making its way into homes, powering changes that would forever transform domestic life. Those changes were still in their infancy. The biggest effect was being felt in the pantry.

Prepared goods sold in cans and jars were becoming popular. Though they'd been around for years, they had often tasted flat. Now, innovators like Heinz (of 57 varieties fame), Campbell's (beans and soups), and Del Monte (fruit and vegetables) were increasing product quality while also lowering prices.

Additionally, wives were being tempted by another bit of culinary progress. Storebought bread.

If you've ever mixed dough, kneaded

HOLY GOW! HISTORY:

Bread's Big Break

and baked it, you know breadmaking is a hot, tiresome and time-consuming process. We don't mean making a loaf now and then for fun; we're talking about having one day of each week set aside just for baking. That was especially true for large farm families with lots of kids (especially teenagers) consumed bread like it was going out of style. Keeping up with the relentless demand made many moms feel like they were running on a treadmill.

The dawn of the 20th century saw the arrival of industrial bakeries. They turned out loaves on an assembly line, making them affordable for working-class families. And Otto Rohwedder had an idea for making that good thing even better.

He started his career as a jeweler in St. Joseph, Mo., eventually owning three stores there. In between setting precious stones and fixing broken watches, he tinkered with machines on the side. He came to believe he could devise one that would automatically slice bread. Up till then, it had to be cut by hand, with each slice varying in thickness. Rohwedder imagined a mechanism that made clean, uniform slices with each piece identical to

He became so obsessed with his vision that once he had a working device, he sold his stores and created a company to produce it. Things were looking good ... until 1917, when his dream literally went up in smoke. A fire destroyed his plant, prototype and blueprints.

Most men would have given up. Not Otto Rohwedder. He started over from scratch and created another working model. Now flat broke, it took him several years to round up the capital to manufacture it. But he never lost sight of his revolutionary vision. By 1927, he was ready to give it another shot. With an added feature.

His new machine not only sliced the bread, but also wrapped the loaf once it was finished. Bakers immediately recognized a big time and cost-saver. Yet, they still balked; would housewives go for

Frank Bench knew a good thing when he saw one. He bought the first of the new-fangled machines for his Chillicothe Baking Co. and put it to work on his "Kleen Maid Sliced Bread" on July 7, 1928. He advertised with the snappy slogan, "The greatest step forward in the baking industry since bread was wrapped."

(Another bakery in Battle Creek, Mich., insists it was first. However, historians have been unable to verify that claim. Meaning Battle Creek must content itself with being famous for a certain breakfast

A St. Louis baker bought the second machine, and Rohwedder was up and running. In 1930, Wonder Bread took the miraculous change nationwide. It was such an immediate runaway success that by 1933, just five years after hitting the market, 80 percent of all bread sold in the U.S. was sliced.

Which led to the famous saying. "It's the greatest thing since sliced bread!"

From then on, whole loaves have had a backseat to the sliced variety.

Washington got a reminder of its immense popularity during World War II. Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard, who was doing double-duty as National Food Administrator, announced sliced bread would be banned starting Jan. 18, 1943. It required heavier wrapping paper, bureaucrats claimed, which was somehow hampering the war effort.

The public outcry was instant and deafening. Americans endured rationing of gasoline, meat and sugar. Men would go without new cars, and women willingly gave up nylon stockings. But folks drew the line at sliced bread. The government swiftly surrendered.

And so the machines still hum away today, cutting their way through loaf after loaf with surgical precision amid a demand that shows no sign of waning.

It is hoped that next July 7, we will all remember the reliable slicing machine and the remarkable inventor who refused to give up on it.

Perhaps with a "toast"?

Letters to the Editor

New BAH Board

To the Editor, I am writing to express my strong support for the hospital board as they work to address the challenging financial situation facing Bay Area Hospital. It is a complex issue requiring careful consideration and innovative solutions, and I commend the board for their commitment to finding a path forward.

In particular, I want to laud Board member Brandon Saada for his proposal of a Transparency Committee. This initiative is a crucial step towards fostering greater public trust and understanding. I would further suggest that this committee be expanded to become a "Transparency and Ethics Committee." This broader scope would not only ensure financial openness but also uphold the highest ethical standards in all hospital operations, which is vital for community confidence.

To truly usher in a new era of openness and cooperation, as Dr. Rogalsky previously noted with the arrival of our new board, I urge the board to make all Board packets available to the public in digital form, free of charge. Furthermore, all meeting video recordings and written transcripts should be posted on the hospital's website and links provided on social media. These measures would significantly enhance accountability and allow the community to be more informed partners in the hospital's future.

Our hospital is a cornerstone of this community, and a collaborative approach, built on transparency and ethical leadership, is essential for its long-term health and success

> Sincerely, Jennifer Briggs

Bay Area Hospital

I started working at Bay Area Hospital in 1979, and I have spent a fair amount of time and effort educating myself about the hospital's current plight.

Much could be said about this, but for now I will simply say that I believe the past Board Of Directors has worked tirelessly, competently, and diligently to do what is best for our local, district hospital. I particularly appreciated the diverse and extensive qualifications of past Board members (and of current member, Dr. Thomas McAndrew and Patrice Parrott, RN). I also have come to appreciate and respect the competence and tireless work of the Hospital Administrative Team under the leadership of Brian Moore as they strive to navigate these difficult times in order to have the best possible outcomes for the present and future of our hospital.

I will be watching the actions of the newly-elected Board members, and sincerely hope that I can get over my deep skepticism of their level of understanding, knowledge and expertise regarding the hospital's current situation.

PCIP Corrections

On July 10, The World printed a Port Staff Report announcing that a grant from the state of Oregon would provide a "massive amount of backing" to continue planning the proposed PCIP project in the form of a $100 > million grant. The 2025 Legislative record doesn't mention a $100 million grant award for PCIP planning. Instead, an end-of-session (Christmas Tree) bill—HB 5006—was assembled, containing a long list of legislative provisions bundled for passage, which had one hearing and passed without much public process. HB 5006 included SECTION 11 of SB 5505, which authorized issuing

Douglas Jones Coos Bay

$100 million of general obligation bonds, not specifically for planning, but for the Coos Bay Channel Modification project, part of the PCIP project.

According to SECTION 11, these bonds aren't actually money in the bank. The bonds won't be issued until certification that "(1) An environmental impact statement for the project has been completed and a final record of decision has been issued according to the National Environmental Policy Act" and "(2) The Oregon International Port of Coos Bay, or a private entity in partnership has closed on a Railroad Rehabilitation and Improvement Financing loan through the Build America Bureau within the United States Department of Transportation in the amount of at least $1 billion or has secured equivalent levels of alternative funding through other federal grants or loans." No news reports I'm aware of state these requirements have been met.

An observer of Oregon legislative actions told me the Port would not be expected to pay the debt on the bonds issued, which might be why the article referred to the bond funding as a "grant." The state would pay off on the bonds sold. Normally, the bonds could be issued late in 2026 or early 2027. However, with the loss of annual federal funding to Oregon under the U.S. Congress's omnibus budget package, it's uncertain Oregon can provide $100 million in bond funding for a Coos Bay Channel Modification project, or to many other recipients of state bond funding.

It's important to be clear and accurate when reporting on the PCIP project.

in stable condition. "Safe and efficient medical evacuations of mariners are only possible through closely coordinated efforts from start to finish" said Lt. Christopher Saylor, Search and Rescue Mission Coordinator, Sector Columbia River. "The expert coordination between the flight crews, vessel master, and watchstanders resulted in a successful outcome for the patient"

While medical evacuations are not uncommon, they are a bit more routine. That was not the case for a rescue the month prior.

In the dead of night, a 71-year-old woman lost control of her vehicle and ended up in the white water of the McKenzie River outside of Eugene and things looked dire. Crews from the local fire and police departments were on scene quickly, but it was clear that there was no way to get to the car given the precarious swiftness of the water. That's when, once again, the specialized training of North Bend's Dolphin helicopter crew was needed.

Having just finished a training exercise, the duty crew received a text that they were needed and they arrived as quickly as they could.

"As we got overhead and the swimmer got to the [helicopter] door, he noticed that the water was not being redirected by the car. The car was wedged on the rocks and water was actually flowing underneath the car as well. The swimmer also recognized the car had a sun roof," explained Lt. Cdr. Kevin Shanahan, the flight commander.

That sunroof would be crucial to the rest of the rescue, as AST2 Tyler Gantt, the rescue swimmer, was lowered right down onto the roof of the car.

"Once I got my feet planted on the hood, I could feel the car moving. At that point I knew that where it was in the river wasn't stable, and it wasn't guaranteed to stay there," explained Gantt. "I had to switch gears to move quickly. If the car starts to go, I can't go with it, I'm attached to the helicopter still. So, I knew if the car started to go, I'd have to slide off, they'd have to pick me up and we'd have to start this thing all over again."

Gantt used his crash axe to make a small crack in the sunroof, issued the woman a warning to keep their head down, and started smashing in the rest.

"We prepared that she wouldn't be responsive when we got down there, but one of the best comms I heard that night was when the flight medic said 'He's talking to the survivor and she's moving'. I knew she was responsive and we were going to get her out of there," said Shanahan.

And so they did, they were able to lift her into the helicopter and get her safely to emergency medical services at the Eugene Airport. Not after thanking Gantt with a big hug and kiss on the cheek.

"Little things like that make it all worth it for sure. It means everything," said Lt. JG. Jimmy Hollingsworth, the copilot that night. "Teamwork allaround. What we do requires a lot of trust. Love to trust these guys, we go out there every day and execute it so that we have it down picture perfect."

Video of the entire rescue is available on the U.S. Coast Guard Air Station North Bend social media, and is quite the site. Visibility on the river was good that night thanks to the help of the local fire and police crews, which the Coast Guard thanked for their help in a successful operation. Yet another in a long list of rescues for the Dolphin crew.

Eschler to receive Ph.D. posthumously from Baylor University

For the World

Edwin Howard William Eschler will be recognized as having earned a Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Sociology from Baylor University on August 16, 2025. The ceremony will be held at 2:30 p.m. at the Ferrell Center in Waco,

MARSHFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

A 2007 graduate of Coquille High School, Edwin had been pursuing his doctorate at Baylor, specializing in the sociology of religion, when he was unexpectedly diagnosed with terminal cancer. He passed away in March of this year, having completed all requirements for the degree except his dissertation.

Edwin is remembered as a brilliant scholar, a gifted teacher, and a deeply kind friend. His published work appeared in the Review of Religious Research and the Journal for the Scientific Study of Religion, where he also served as Managing Editor. He co-authored Baylor Sociology's 2020 racial justice statement and brought courage, creativity, and compassion to both his academic and personal life. In the classroom, Edwin inspired students through storytelling, logic games, and role-playing—always advocating for those with learning differences.

Two of his close friends and colleagues, James and Kyra Davidson, contacted the Sociology Department to share Edwin's situation. With care and compassion, faculty and university leaders came together to ensure Edwin would be recognized with his Ph.D. posthumously. His professors affirmed that his scholarship and teaching met the highest academic standards and that awarding the degree was both academically and morally fitting.

Edwin will be honored during the commencement ceremony, where his mother, Laura Eschler, and his brother, Carl Eschler, will accept the diploma on his behalf. A celebration of his life and academic journey will follow, with friends and family gathering in Waco to honor his memory.

Further details about the reception will be shared via Facebook as the date approaches.

U.S. Women's Amateur starts Logan next week at Bandon Dunes

JOHN GUNTHER For the World

Bandon Dunes hosts its ninth United State Golf Association event next week when the 125th U.S. Women's Amateur is contested on the resort's Bandon Dunes course.

A field of 156 women from across the United States and several foreign countries will be competing for the title and custody of the Robert Cox Trophy for one year.

The participants arrive at the resort late this week for practice rounds.

The golfers will all play 18 holes Monday and Tuesday, with the top 64 after the second day qualifying for the match play portion of the bracket.

The round of 64 will be held on Wednesday, with the rounds of 32 and 16 on Thursday. The quarterfinals are on Friday, the semifinals on Saturday and the 36-hole final on Sunday.

All of the action will be on the Bandon Dunes course and community members are invited to come to the resort to watch. There is no admission fee for spectators.

In addition, the Golf Channel will have live coverage from 3 to 6 p.m. on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, noon to 3 p.m. on Saturday and 4 to 7 p.m. on Sunday.

The U.S. Women's Amateur is scheduled to return to Bandon Dunes in 2032 and 2041. The resort is the only site currently scheduled to host the event more than once during that stretch.

In all, the resort is scheduled to host 11 future USGA events, including the 2028 Walker Cup.

According to USGA, 1,475 golfers applied to try to qualify for the tournament. Qualifiers were held the past two months at sites across the country.

Last year, Rianne Malixi of the Philippines won the U.S. Women's Amateur by beating Asterisk Talley 3 and 2 at Southern Hills Country Club in Tulsa, Okla.

Malixi also beat Talley in the U.S. Girls Junior last year and Talley was champion of the 2024 U.S. Women's Amateur Four-Ball with partner Sarah Lim. Talley lost in the second round of match play at this year's U.S. Girls Junior Amateur and did not play in the Four-Ball.

Both are exempt into the field this year.

Other players who are exempt into the tournament include Aphrodite Deng, who won the U.S. Girls Junior this year, and the champions of this year's U.S. Women's Amateur Four-Ball, Natalie Yen and Asia Young. Also exempt are members of the 2024 Curtis Cup team Anna Davis, Jasmine Koo, Catherine Park and Talley; and Kyra Ly, the Oregon Women's Amateur champion this year, as well as the two players who lost in the semifinals of last year's tournament, Kendall and Maria Jose Marin, who also was this year's NCAA champion.

Vinyard places fifth at nationals

Logan Vinyard of the Prefontaine Track Club had a podium finish at the Junior Olympics National Championships in Georgia last week.

Competing in the 11-12 division, Vinyard finished fifth in the high jump. Vinyard cleared 4 feet, 8 1/4 inches in the event.

Cooper Vinyard, Logan's twin brother, was 14th in the high jump, clearing 4-4 1/4.

The winner, Jared Fry, jumped 5-2 1/4. Logan Vinyard also competed in the shot put, placing 27th with a throw of 28-9. Kaiicen Turner, the third Prefontaine Track Club member to travel to Georgia for the national meet, competed in three event.

Turner was 16th in the long jump, with a leap of 14-9 3/4. The winner, Cameron Irvin, jumped 16-8.

Turner also competed in both the 100 and 200, but failed to advance through the preliminary rounds. He was 51st in the 100 with a time of 13.73 and 61st in the 200 with a time of 29.47.

Prefontaine Track Club members Paige Johnson and Gavin Simpson also qualified for the national meet, but did not compete.

Marshfield student Jordyn Mickelson, competing with the Inner City Track Club, participated in the 4x100 relay, but her squad did not get the baton all the way around the track.

USGA has rich history at Bandon Dunes

JOHN GUNTHER For the World

The U.S. Women's Amateur is the ninth different USGA event to be held at Bandon Dunes Golf Resort over the past 20

Here's a quick look back at the other USGA events at the resort.

2006 Curtis Cup: In the final edition of the Curtis Cup that was contested over only two days (it expanded to three days in 2008), the United States beat the team from Great Britain and Ireland 11 1/2 to 6 1/2. The United States team included Amanda Blumenherst, Virginia Grimes, Jennie Lee, Taylor Leon, Amanda Mc-Curdy, Jane Park, Jenny Suh and Paige Mackenzie, who had ties to the South Coast (her grandparents lived in Reedsport). The captain was Carol Semple Thompson. The American team swept the three foursomes matches the opening morning and won four of the six singles matches in the afternoon to take a 7-2 lead that proved insurmountable. Mackenzie, Lee, Park and Leon won singles matches both days on the Pacific Dunes course and Park, Leon and Mackenzie also were on teams that won their opening foursomes matches.

2007 U.S. Mid-Amateur: Trip Kuehne of Texas dominated Dan Whitaker of Washington 9 and 7 in the 36-hole final contested on the Bandon Dunes course in the championship for players 25 and older. The 35-year-old Kuehne won four holes in a row in the morning round and never let Whitaker back into the match. The championship was long overdue redemption for Kuehne, who had lost to Tiger Woods in the U.S. Amateur final in 1994 after leading by four holes after the morning round. Kuehne was one of six co-medalists for the stroke play portion of the tournament, all shooting 144 over rounds at Bandon Dunes and Bandon Trails. Both his younger brother Hank and his younger sister Kelli won U.S. Amateur titles.

2011 U.S. Amateur Public Links: Corbin

Mills of South Carolina, who won medalist honors in the qualifying portion of the tournament contested on the Bandon Trails and Old Macdonald courses, outlasted Derek Ernst of California to win the title with a par on the first extra hole after they were tied through 36 holes at Old Macdonald. Ernst rallied from four holes down to briefly take the lead in the afternoon round, but Mills tied the match and eventually won with a two-putt par on No. 1, the first extra hole.

2011 U.S. Women's Amateur Public Links: UCLA golfer Brianna Do, from Vietnam, beat Marissa Dodd of Texas 1-up in the final on the Old Macdonald course. The women's tournament was held concurrently with the men's event at Bandon Dunes Golf Resort. Dodd led most of the match, but Do tied it with a birdie on the 35th hole and won it with a par on the final hole. Chevenne Woods, the niece of Tiger Woods, dominated qualifying with a two-day total of 141, winning medalist honors by four strokes, but was eliminated by Anne Park in the quarterfinals.

2015 U.S. Women's Amateur Four-Ball: In the very first edition of the event that replaced the U.S. Amateur Public Links on the USGA calendar, Mika Liu and Rinko Mitsunaga beat Robynn Ree and Hannah O'Sullivan 4 and 3 in the championship match on the Pacific Dunes course. Liu, a 16-year-old from California, and Mitsunaga, an 18-year-old from Georgia, took the lead for good in the 18-hole final when Liu had consecutive birdies on Nos. 6 through 8. Both duos had won semifinal matches in the morning by 3 and 2 margins. Athena Yang and Kendall Griffin took medalist honors by combining to shoot 11-under through two qualifying rounds, one shot better than Ree and O'Sullivan, but lost in the quarterfinals.

2019 U.S. Amateur Four-Ball: Scott Harvey and Todd Mitchell, both 40 years old, beat East Carolina University teammates Blake Taylor and Logan Shuping 2 and 1 in the 18-hole championship match on the Old Macdonald course. Harvey and Mitchell had been teammates in every edition of the tournament and finally won it. Mitchell, from Illinois, and Harvey, from North Carolina, took the lead when Mitchell made birdie on the 15th hole by rolling a 63-foot eagle putt within 2 feet for a conceded birdie. Three teams tied for medalist honors with scores of 13-under in qualifying on the Old Macdonald and Pacific Dunes courses -- Derek Abel and Christopher Wheeler, Matthew McCarty and Derek Ackerman, and Troy Vannucci and Vince Kwon. Harvey and Mitchell eliminated two of them, including Vannucci and Kwon in the semifinals.

2020 U.S. Amateur: Tyler Strafaci of Florida joined his grandfather, Frank Strafaci Sr., as U.S. Amateur champions when he birdied the final hole to beat Charles "Ollie" Osborn of Nevada 1-up in the 36-hole final. Strafaci overcame a five-hole deficit in the morning round and won the match when he hit a 4-iron from 245 yards to 25 feet to set up a two-putt birdie on the final hole. Strafaci's father, Frank Strafaci Jr., was caddying for him, marking the only time to date the champion of a USGA event at Bandon Dunes did not have a caddie from the resort on his or her bag. Wilson Furr took medalist honors with a two-day qualifying total of 11-under par, including a course-record 62 on Bandon Trails. But he was eliminated in the second round of match play.

2022 U.S. Junior Amateur: Wenyi Ding became the first USGA champion from China when he beat Caleb Surratt of North Carolina 3 and 2 in the 36-hole final. Ding, 17, built an 8-up lead with eight holes to play on the Bandon Dunes course, only to see Surratt win five holes in a row, continually extending the match before it finally ended when he missed a 25foot birdie putt on the 34th hole and Ding made par by lagging his birdie putt within one foot to win the match on the Bandon Dunes course. Keaton Vo shot 9-under in qualifying on Bandon Dunes and Bandon Trails to take medalist honors, but was eliminated in the second round.

ODFW fishing Report

COOS RIVER BASIN

Anglers have been catching rockfish around the jetties in the lower Coos Bay estuary, but you may need to move around to several spots to find actively biting fish. Best fishing is typically near slack tides with good fishing one day and fair fishing the next. A jig fished with a twister tail trailer is always a good option to catch bottomfish.

The 2025 daily general marine fish bag limit is 5 fish plus 2 lingcod with no retention of yelloweye or quillback rockfish. There is a 1 fish daily sub-bag limit for canary rockfish as part of the general marine bag limit. As of July 1, anglers are allowed to harvest cabezon with a 1 fish daily sub-bag limit as part of the general marine bag

Salmon anglers have caught an occasional Chinook salmon trolling from the Coos Bay jetties up to Empire. Fall Chinook regulations are in effect for Coos Bay with anglers allowed to harvest 2 wild Chinook per day and 10 wild Chinook for the season.

Striped surfperch can be caught around the jetties and red-tail surfperch are being caught along the ocean beaches like Horsefall Beach. Anglers have the best success fishing with sand shrimp near the bottom.

Trout fishing opened in the Coos Basin rivers and streams on May 22. Anglers are restricted to fishing with artificial flies and lures in streams and rivers above tidewater. The daily bag limit for trout fishing in streams is 2 trout over 8 inches per day. Water temperatures in the large rivers are warming up where fishing will be best in the mornings. Last updated 7/23/25.

Mussel harvesting opens on the Central Oregon Coast and closes on the South Coast

The Oregon Department of Agriculture (ODA) and the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife (ODFW) announce an opening on the central coast for mussel harvesting and a closure on the south coast for mussel harvesting. Recent mussel samples indicate the marine biotoxin paralytic shellfish toxin is below the closure limit on the central coast, while recent mussel samples indicate the marine biotoxin paralytic shellfish toxin has risen above the closure limit on our south

Mussel harvesting is now closed from Cape Blanco to the California border. Mussel harvesting is now open from the Washington border to Cape

Razor clam harvesting remains closed from the Washington border to Tillamook Head (Seaside) for the annual ODFW conservational closure, and from Cape Blanco to the California border for high levels of the marine biotoxin domoic acid.

Recreational bay clam and crab harvesting are open along the entire Oregon coast. Coastal scallops are not affected by biotoxin closures when only the adductor muscle is eaten. ODA does not recommend eating whole scallops. Commercial shellfish products remain safe for consumers.

Oregon Department of Agriculture will continue to test for shellfish toxins weekly, as tides and weather permit. Reopening an area closed for biotoxins requires two consecutive tests with results below the closure limit. Contact Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife for recreational license requirements, permits, rules and limits.

For more information call Oregon Department of Agriculture's (ODA) shellfish biotoxin safety hotline at (800) 448-2474, the Food Safety Shellfish Desk at (503) 986-4726, or visit the ODA recreational shellfish biotoxin closures webpage.

Oregon launches program to streamline recycling statewide

Recycling across Oregon is about to change, thanks to a new effort to simplify and streamline the process for every part of the state, to include Curry County.

RecycleOn Oregon to bring an upgraded recycling system, more services and better information to help more Oregonians recycle right and reduce waste.

The RecycleOn Oregon campaign marks the start of a multi-year transformation that will expand access to recycling, reduce confusion around what can be recycled and help keep more materials out of landfills. Backed by the state's Recycling Modernization Act, that officially launched last week, this is the biggest update Oregon's recycling system has seen in decades.

Oregon is taking bold steps to create a more effective and accessible recycling system through the Plastic Pollution and Recycling Modernization Act (RMA), a groundbreaking law designed to expand access to recycling, reduce contamination and ensure producers take greater responsibility for the materials they create.

This has broad implications for how Oregonians, from urban to rural, who will interact with the recycling system in the months and years ahead.

This month, Oregon is starting to roll out a major statewide initiative to expand access to recycling and bring greater clarity and consistency to communities across the state. Backed by the Plastic Pollution and Recycling Modernization Act (RMA), RecycleOn Oregon is a new public awareness campaign that will help Oregonians stay informed, recycle correctly and prepare for the most significant recycling system upgrade the state has seen in decades.

The RMA, passed by the Oregon Legislature in 2021, brings together brands that make and sell products in paper and packaging, local governments and recycling companies to modernize how materials are collected, sorted and recycled. It establishes a shared responsibility model where brands will begin helping fund upgrades to Oregon's recycling infrastructure with changes rolling out now and continuing over the next few years.

To lead implementation of this work, the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) selected Circular Action Alliance (CAA), a nonprofit Producer Responsibility Organization, an entity that helps brands meet recycling and waste reduction requirements. CAA is leading the RecycleOn Oregon campaign and is working with local partners to help communities prepare for the changes ahead.

"Oregonians have always taken recycling seriously, but until now, the system hasn't always made it easy to do the right thing," said Kim Holmes, Oregon Executive Director at CAA. "RecycleOn Oregon aims to simplify recycling across the state. Over the next few years Oregonians will have access to clearer information, more consistent services and a stronger system that reduces waste and keeps more materials out of the landfill."

Oregon currently generates an estimated 2.2 million pounds of recyclable material each day that never gets recycled, largely due to limited access to recycling services, gaps in infrastructure or confusion about what can be recycled. RecycleOn Oregon aims to address these challenges through targeted investments and statewide coordination.

Over the next few years, key improvements will include:

· Moving toward a single statewide recycling list so that Oregonians, whether urban or rural, can recycle the same core materials.

- Expanded access to recycling services, including curbside recycling for more than 150,000 additional households and nearly 100 new recycling trucks to support collection.
- Updated recycling education with clear, consistent instructions on what can and cannot go in home and business recycling bins.
- New RecycleOn Centers opening in phases through 2027 will provide drop-off options for materials that don't belong in recycling bins, like plastic bags, plastic lids and other tricky-to-sort items.

Starting this month, some Oregonians will see immediate changes to what's accepted in their home or business recycling bins. Others, particularly in the Portland Metro area, will notice little difference at first.

Over time, updates will roll out statewide, with the goal of ninetyfive percent of Oregonians living within 15 miles of a RecycleOn Center by the end of 2027. Additionally, new investments will upgrade recycling sorting facilities and improve transportation from rural areas, helping more collected materials reach the markets where they can become new products.

To help residents and businesses navigate this transition, local governments and recycling providers will also share timely and area-specific updates.

Recycling plays an important role in conserving natural resources, reducing pollution and supporting local jobs, and more than eighty percent of Oregonians say it's important. These updates help turn that belief into real impact by making recycling easier, more accessible and ultimately more effective.

RecycleOn Oregon is the statewide campaign created by Circular Action Alliance (CAA) with help from local governments, service providers, and community members to help Oregonians understand, engage with and navigate these changes. CAA is leading education and outreach efforts to help local governments and service providers prepare communities for the upcoming updates, which start to take effect July 2025. Oregon Senator Jeff Merkley Announces 2026 Re-Election Campaign: "We're in the fight of our lives, and I'm not backing down."

From the Office of Jeff Merkley

Oregon Senator Jeff Merkley announced today that he will seek re-election to a fourth term in 2026, pledging to continue to fight for working families and stand firm against growing threats to democracy, freedom, and economic justice.

"For years, I've worked to lift up the voices of ordinary Americans and take on the powerful interests that rig our system," Merkley said. "Now, with Donald Trump and his MAGA cronies working overtime to destroy the checks and balances of our 'We the People government' and shred programs families rely on, we're in the fight of our lives, and I'm not backing down."

In the Senate, Merkley has built a reputation as a bold, relentless progressive, fighting to protect voting rights, take on corruption, tackle the climate crisis, and expand housing and health care. He has been a fierce champion for reproductive freedom, LGBTQ+ rights, civil liberties, and consumer protections. He's led national efforts to stop billionaires from buying elections, strengthen American democracy, and hold Wall Street accountable. His work has been driven by one clear goal: building a country where families thrive and billionaires pay their fair share.

As the top Democrat on the Senate Budget Committee, Merkley has been on the front lines pushing back against what he calls the Republicans' "families lose, billionaires win" agenda. He condemned Trump's efforts to slash Medicaid, gut food assistance, and demolish clean energy progress, all to hand massive tax breaks to the ultra-wealthy at the expense of hardworking Americans.

Before joining the Senate, Merkley served in the Oregon House of Representatives. As Speaker of the House, he led efforts to expand affordable housing, balance the state budget, advance clean energy, defend marriage equality, and throw payday lenders out of Oregon.

Raised in a blue-collar Oregon family, with a father who worked as a union machinist, Merkley was the first in his family to graduate from college. He still lives in the neighborhood where he grew up and remains rooted in Oregon values: equity, community, sustainability, and opportunity for all. Since 2009, he's held town halls in each of Oregon's 36 counties every year, listening directly to the people he serves and bringing their voices to the Senate floor.

"This is a dark and dangerous time for our democracy, and the only way through it is together," Merkley said. "I'm asking Oregonians to be my partners once again — to join me, organize, vote, and stop Trump's march toward a strongman authoritarian state. If we stand together, we can win a future where every child grows up with real opportunity, every family has a fair shot, and future generations inherit a democracy that works for all of us."

Commonly known as: 498 N 3RD CT, COOS BAY, OR 97420 The undersigned hereby certifies that based upon business records there are no known written assignments of the trust deed by the trustee or by the beneficiary, except as recorded in the records of the county or counties in which the above described real property is situated. Further, no action has been instituted to recover the debt, or any part thereof, now remaining secured by the trust deed, or, if such action has been instituted, such action has been dismissed except as permitted by ORS 86.752(7). Both the beneficiary and the trustee have elected to sell the said real property to satisfy the obligations secured by said trust deed and notice has been recorded pursuant to Section 86.752(3) of Oregon Revised Statutes. There is a default by grantor or other person owing an obligation, performance of which is secured by the trust deed, or by the successor in interest, with respect to provisions therein which authorize sale in the event of such provision. The default for which foreclosure is made is grantor's failure to pay when due the following sum: TOTAL REQUIRED TO REINSTATE: $22,691.40 TOTAL REQUIRED TO PAYOFF: $187,460.85 Because of interest, late charges, and other charges that may vary from day-today, the amount due on the day you pay may be greater. It will be necessary for you to contact the Trustee before the time you tender reinstatement or the payoff amount so that you may be advised of the exact amount you will be required to pay. By reason of the default, the beneficiary has declared all sums owing on the obligation secured by the trust deed immediately due and payable, those sums being the following, to- wit: The installments of principal and interest which became due on 9/1/2024, and all subsequent installments of principal and interest through the date of this Notice, plus amounts that are due for late charges, delinquent property taxes, insurance premiums, advances made on senior liens, taxes and/or insurance, trustee's fees, and any attorney fees and court costs arising from or associated with the beneficiaries efforts to protect and preserve its security, all of which must be paid as a condition of reinstatement, including all sums that shall accrue through reinstatement or pay-off. July Jubilee: North Bend Celebrates 122nd Birthday

BY NATE SCHWARTZ Editor

Back for another birthday bash was North Bend's July Jubilee celebration which seeks to highlight the town's best across an entire weekend of fun for all ages. The City of North Bend and its Main Street Program threw three days of events that brought together the whole town to celebrate its 122nd birthday.

Kicking off at the firehouse on Friday night was the opening ceremony, where Mayor Jessica Engelke spoke to the spirit of togetherness that the weekend always brings before announcing the winners of the Honored Citizen Program awards. Every year the city announces a Citizen of the Year, Business of the Year, and Continuing Contributions award.

This year's Citizen of the Year was Amber Yester who, as the director of the North Bend High School music program, has led the Bulldog Band to three straight state championships. Their most recent triumph in May of this year brings the state trophy haul to seven since 2014. The band program has become a major draw for musically inclined students making the choice between NBHS and Marshfield High. Amber's mother Kim accepted the award on her behalf.

Business of the Year went to Thrifty Sisters at Pony Village Mall. The consignment store, which has also been honored by Toast of the Coast and nominated by the Bay Area Chamber of Commerce, continues to be a big draw for the mall. Owner Mindy Madsen has made huge impact on the community through her commitment to giving discounts to foster families, seniors, military, and more.

The city's Continuing Contributions award went to Stephanie Kilmer, who many will know from her tenure on numerous boards, councils, and committees throughout the years, including being a past president of the Coos Bay-North Bend Rotary Club. A passionate and ever-present volunteer, Kilmer is a fixture of the community with irons in many fires.

Abbey and Chloe of the Tin Rooster welcome wine walkers.

The three winners helped cut the traditional birthday cake donated by Ko-Kwel Casino Resort before attention turned to the evening's next even: the Sip 'n Stroll. The downtown wine walk saw its line for wristbands wrap around the visitor's center as hundreds showed up to tour over a dozen local businesses, each serving wine and snacks. The hit event brings locals to some of the best downtown North Bend has to offer, and gives businesses a chance to highlight what they bring to the main strip.

Participants could then choose to head to Back Alley Pub for the Rockipedia After Stroll show, or catch one of the weekend's country performances from the Little Ole Opry, who were in their second weekend of their yearly stop at Liberty Theatre.

Saturday's schedule saw the return of the Show 'n Shine car show, put on with the help of the Midcoast Mustang Club. That morning also held the annual July Jubilee Jaunt. The 5K fun run started at the North Bend Boardwalk and wrapped up through Ferry Road and Simpson Parks before ending at Grant Circle

The disc golf tournament returned to Windsor & Ferry Road Park, and was won by Jason Pallasch and Ryder Voelker. More games were held for folks of all ages at Pony Village Mall, where big inflatables and the South Coast Market were held all afternoon. The North Bend Library got quite a show from Shanda Brown, who showed off some impressive skills in her Hula Hoop Spectacular.

The North Bend (I) and Coos Bay (r) teams pose for picture before duking it out in the crosstown softball clash.

Sunday started, as always, with Dick Wagner's Historic Walking Tour. The local author and historian shows curious locals and visitors alike around significant locations to the history of North Bend, helping us all feel more connected to the city's 122 years.

Closing out the weekend's festivities was the newest tradition, the Coos Bay vs North Bend Softball Game. City employees and community members from both towns competed in the chaotic yet heartwarming event that contributes it's proceeds to the fund for the Ian Spalding Memorial Scholarship.

Through a gate donation, 50-50 raffle, silent auction, and the ability to buy runs for your team, hundreds were raised to help Ian's legacy live on for students of NBHS. That latter option was an ingenious choice, as through eight innings the game ended 128 to 208 in Coos Bay's favor, most of which came through hundreds of dollars in donations. Who knew homers buying homers could be so profitable for a good cause?

As I See It

By Mary Schamehorn

Today when we think of a ship being bar bound, we think a few days, but that hasn't always been the

The Feb. 20, 1941, Western World addressed the issue in a front page article.

"Recently owners of vessels plying in the coastwise lumber trade were perturbed over the fact that some of them were bar bound for as long as a week at a time. Of course it meant a considerable expense to the vessel operators and it was a cause of worry, but when the delay is compared to what it was at times years ago, we may well assume that it costs more to operate now than it did then.

"Jack Nyross, member of the crew of the tug Port of Bandon, recalled the other day that the first trip from San Francisco to Bandon by the S.S. Elizabeth (first photo) back in 1903, took 45 days.

"The Elizabeth arrived off the mouth of the Coquille river and lay there for 25 days straight waiting for the bar to calm down. On the 26th day, Captain Jensen turned her bow south again and attempted to enter Humboldt bay at Eureka but was held up there for some reason.

'Finally he got in at Eureka and called up the owner, Mr. Kruse, telling him of his problems. Kruse only laughed, reminding Jensen that a long trip at the beginning means good luck thereafter. And Kruse was right because the Elizabeth plied between San Francisco and Bandon for some 30 years and proved a money-maker. The vessel made nearly 500 trips without a mishap."

'Beginning with the new year, Bandon has a superintendent of cityowned utilities and cityowned properties and collector of bills receivable, according to an ordinance passed by the city council," reported the Jan. 2, 1936, Western World. Today we call the position "city manager."

advisory capacity. "In the rearrangement, all subjects have been provided for by adding Mrs. Curtis French as a full-time, instead of part-time, teacher. M.C. Buchanan, Smith-Hughes Agriculture instructor, has been appointed principal for the rest of the school year.

"The rearrangement at the school reduces the operating expenses for the balance of the year to the amount of $100 a month."

Nine months later, Bandon was destroyed by Fire, and the city was extremely fortunate to have a man of his caliber, as Fasnacht continued in the position for more than 30 years.

I've used the third picture of students at the upper Bear creek school, including Howard Ohman and Rudy Backlund, to illustrate my third story, from the Jan. 16, 1936, Western World. The photo was taken in 1917.

The daughter of a Bandon woman was seriously injured in a head-Lane, near milepost, Tuesday evening, July 15, and was transferred to RiverBend hospital in Springfield where she underwent emergency

In Tuesday's World, I saw obituaries for two long-time Coos County commissioners, Gordon Ross and Jack L. Beebe. Gordon, who was just short of his 89th birthday, died July 3. Jack, who was 93, died June 14.

Ross served four terms as a county commissioner in the late '80s and '90s. I believe that Jack served several terms, during the years that I was covering the commission meetings for the Myrtle Point Herald and the Western World, but not sure of the exact years.

DeSurra has two children in the Bandon School District, the oldest of whom will be a freshman. Her email address is zoe@ valleyflorafarm.com.

After talking with others who have seen the letter, I learned that Ashley Pearson, the award-winning speech coach and high school English teacher, has resigned from the district.

Although I am not sure of the time, as school board meetings have ranged from a start time of 4:30 to 5, the next board meeting will be Monday, Aug. 11, at which time the two new board members, Corrie Gant and Claudia Dobney Powers, will be sworn in, as will Jon Sullivan, who was re-elected to his seat.

As a member of the Bandon Rotary Club, I was surprised to see that a fellow Rotarian had discarded the monthly Rotary magazine by leaving it on the counter at the post office. I decided to see who didn't want his or her magazine.

So you can imagine my surprise to see that it was MY magazine, with the correct name and the correct address. I took it into an employee and asked how it could have gotten in someone else's box. She felt that the 5 (my address is 521) could have been mistaken for a 6. But the name might have been a "dead giveaway" as I have had the same post office box for over 50 years.

Gayla Ann Johnson Hartman

January 29, 1954 - June 6, 2025

Gayla Ann Johnson Hartman, beloved wife, mother, sister, aunt, and friend, of North Bend, Oregon, went to be with her Heavenly Father, June 6, 2025, at the age of 71 following a three-year struggle with metastatic bladder cancer.

Born January 29, 1954, in Carmel, California, to Judith (Colby) and Murray Johnson, Gayla moved with her family to Springfield, Oregon, in 1968. She graduated from Springfield High School in 1972 and attended two terms at Southern Oregon College (now University) after graduation. She then transferred to the University of Oregon in spring term, 1973, and majored in elementary education.

Gayla married her high school and college sweetheart, John Hartman, August 7, 1976. After a honeymoon in Victoria, British Columbia, the Hartmans moved to North Bend, where John had accepted a job teaching band in District 19. Gayla did her student teaching in the Coos Bay School District at Milner Crest Elementary in the spring of 1977 and received her Bachelor of Education degree from the U of O. In the fall of 1977, she began teaching the first-grade class at the Bay Area School of Life at the Foursquare Church in Coos Bay, where she and John were members. She later substitute taught for the Coos Bay and North Bend school districts.

In 1994 Gayla returned to teaching fulltime at Kingsview Christian School in North Bend, where she taught until retiring in 2007.

Gayla loved cats, and she and John always had a gray-striped tabby for the nearly 49 years they were married. She enjoyed travel, and went to Britain in 1979, Israel and Egypt in 1983, Kansas in 1984, Montana and Wyoming in 1996, Maryland in 2007, Tennessee in 2008, a Civil War tour in 2013, Israel again in 2018, and South Dakota in 2020.

Having accepted Christ's salvation in March of 1972, Gayla loved studying God's Word, and kept reference works by her Bible, which she read daily. She greatly enjoyed women's Bible studies, and in her last year attended a women's study group at the Family Life Center Church of God in North Bend, where she grew close to the women in the church.

She is survived by her husband, John; son, Dan and daughter-in-law, Amy Hartman of Grants Pass; sister, Luanne Uriel of Rapid City, South Dakota; brother, John and sister-in-law, Pam Johnson of Salem; five nephews, three nieces, many cousins and beloved friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Murray and Judith Johnson.

A memorial service will be held at 2 pm, Saturday, August 9 at the Family Life Center Church of God, 1067 Newmark Avenue in North Bend.

If you wish to make a donation in Gayla's memory, please consider Friends of Coos County Animals (Saturdays at the Pony Village Mall) or Kohl's Cat House, 1431 SW Blvd., Coos Bay.

Arrangements are under the care of Coos Bay Chapel, 541-267-3131. Family and friends are invited to sign the online guestbook at www.coosbayareafunerals.

Gary Hansen November 9th, 1940 - July 10th, 2025

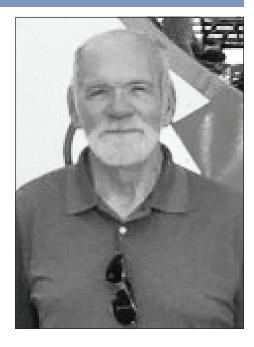

Gary Hansen passed away on July 10th, 2025 at his home in Coos Bay with his daughter Mary Beth at his side. He was 84. He was proceeded in death by his wife of 45 years, Judith Hansen.

Gary, the youngest of 4 children, was born on November 9th, 1940 in Seattle Washington. His family moved from Port Gamble Washington to Everett Washington when Gary was 5 years old.

He was struck with polio at age 8. Polio affected the right side of his body but did not hold him back from playing football in high school or becoming a certified scuba diver. Gary loved sailing and for two years he and a cousin ran a charter business guiding tourists on a sailboat throughout the West Indies.

Gary attended the University of Washington and received a degree in Sociology. He continued on to complete a master's degree in Psychiatric Social Work. He remained a Huskie fan for the rest of his life.

Gary dedicated his professional life to helping troubled youth. He began his career as a group life counselor assigned to a cottage of delinquent girls at Fort Warden, youth corrections facility, in Port Townsend Washington. He later became a delinquency prevention therapist in Aberdeen and Chehalis Washington. In 1979 he moved to Coos Bay Oregon to accept the position of Executive Director at Belloni Ranch, a residential treatment program for delinquent youth. He held the position for 25 years. After he retired, he continued to serve on the board of directors for the program. He built a very well respected multi service organization that served youth in need of residential care, temporary shelter and independent living services.

He is survived by a brother, Leland Hansen, children, Marybeth Wagner, Jeffery Wagner, Steven Wagner and several grandchildren.

The family is planning a wake for Gary at 7 devils on November 9th.

Donations in Gary's name can be given to AYA (Alternatives Youth Activities) in Coos Bay.

Michael Mannila February 14, 1952 - July 16, 2025

Former Coos Bay resident Michael Henry Mannila died July 16, 2025, in Bellevue, Wash. He was 73.

Mike was born on Feb. 14, 1952, to Hank and Elma Mannila, of Coos Bay. He attended Coos Bay schools, including Englewood School, Blossom Gulch and Milner Crest, until the age of 13, when his mother died and he left Coos Bay to live with an aunt and uncle in Edmonds, Wash. When he was 15, Mike moved to Vale to live with the Gale and Roberta Dentinger family. For the rest of his life, he would refer to them with love and appreciation as his "foster family." He graduated from high school in Vale and attended college and lived for many years in Boise, Idaho, before settling in the Seattle-Tacoma area, where he obtained his associate's degree in computer science at South Central Community College.

Mike was brilliant and even at a young age, routinely beat friends and relatives at chess. One uncle, each time he visited, would walk in the door and say to his young nephew, "Mike, get the chess board." They played many, many times, and Mike always won. Throughout his life, he was cheerful, exuberant, curious and driven by a fierce loyalty to family, friends and his country.

Over the years, Mike came back often to the Bay Area to see friends and relatives, and to fish. He especially enjoyed fishing with his cousin, Bruce Carlson, in Lakeside.

Mike is survived by his daughter. Amanda Mannila, of Tacoma; sisters, Patty Patnode and Kathy Erickson, both of Coos Bay; his niece, Michele Elliott, Altus, Okla.; nephews, Kyle Patnode, Coos Bay, Joe Patnode, LaPine and Scott Erickson, of Ann Arbor, Mich.: and many, many friends, including his longtime best friend, Ronnie Patnode, of Three Rivers Foundation awards $720,000 in grants to empower Oregon nonprofits and strengthen communities

Florence, Ore. — The Three Rivers Foundation, the charitable arm of Three Rivers Casino Resort, awarded $720,000 in grants in 2025 to 60 organizations across Oregon. From rural fire departments to food pantries, youth advocacy programs to mental health services, the Foundation's annual grants continue to create a lasting impact.

The Foundation was established by the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw Indians to give back to communities across Oregon. Each year, funds generated through casino revenue are reinvested in the region through grants to nonprofits.

"Giving is at the heart of who we are as the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw Indians," said Tribal Chief Doug Barrett. "This year, we're proud to give nearly three-quarters of a million dollars to nonprofits that support families, equip first responders, and care for our children. The need is great not just in our community, but across the region and we're honored to share our resources in the spirit of giving that defines our people."

A wide range of community organizations across southwestern Oregon received grant support to strengthen emergency services, youth programs, and essential needs. Fire departments from North Bend to Winchester Bay are acquiring new equipment, receiving training, and gaining volunteer support, while youth-focused groups such as CASA of Lane County, Creswell Clubhouse, and Safe Shelter for Siuslaw Students are expanding their services to support children and families in need.

At a luncheon held on June 3 at the Three Rivers Casino Resort in Florence. representatives from all the nonprofits gathered to receive their checks.

"Thanks to support from the Three Rivers Foundation, we can provide essentials like bunk beds and car seat items that often go unmet, to over 60 children in foster care. This funding helps ensure kids have a safe place to sleep and makes it possible to keep siblings together in loving homes," said Jennifer Brown, Director of grateful to the Three Rivers Foundation for their $15,000 grant, which will help us provide meals to more than 230 homebound seniors in Roseburg and Winchester," said Victory Webber, Executive Director of Meals on Wheels Roseburg. "As demand continues to grow and funding becomes harder to secure, support like this is so great. For many of our clients, their Meals on Wheels driver may be the only person they see all day. Being able to support all those nonprofits is just a huge blessing for everybody."

Additional funding is helping to combat food insecurity through programs like Florence Food Share, while groups such as NAMI Lane County and Our Community Birth Center are improving access to mental and maternal health care, while support for SquareOne Villages addresses housing needs.

"The Three Rivers Foundation awarded us $33,250 for five Flock cameras and two years of service," said Florence Police Chief John Pitcher. "This technology is a Generosity and Investment, major benefit to public safety and the safety of our incorporating their community. It helps us track stolen vehicles, locate missing persons, and support investigations. Even the one camera we tested has already made a real impact."

"The Three Rivers Foundation has been so generous, and because of the funding, we will be bringing the Siuslaw Area Resource Center, a multiagency resource and community center to Florence," said Bob Teter, executive director of Siuslaw Outreach Services. "Their $76,000 grant is a huge boost, helping make our fiveyear dream a reality by supporting cultural education and selfsufficiency programs like financial literacy, tenant rights, and safety planning. We're also honoring the Siuslaw Tribe by language and history into the center's signage and digital materials."

An interview of sorts shortly began with Alonzo asking Morgan predetermined questions and allowing the other board members to raise their own. Morgan, who is from Coos County, last held the CEO position at Mercy Roseberg at the end of an over 40-year career. Morgan stated he has a focus on financial turnaround, being a part of three previously, and is in favor of the autonomy that independence grants a hospital, stating that forprofit systems are often out of touch with local needs. He also emphasized the importance of the board and executives maintaining a strong relationship with medical staff.

Tom McAndrew and Patrice Parrott both raised their own questions to Morgan, while also stating their concerns at how quickly all of these developments have come to pass.

"This feels like a hijacked board," said McAndrew following the interview, as the meeting was tense at times.

However, they would both concede that given the circumstances, there was not time for an exhaustive search when immediate leadership was needed. Morgan, who was coming out of retirement for the role, would be a qualified solution that allowed for a long-term option to be properly vetted.

"We don't have the luxury of our hurt feelings," was the sentiment from McAndrew before a unanimous vote saw Morgan appointed as the interim CEO pending the rest of a proper onboarding process.

In the July 15th article

'North Bend Council moves to establish committee to review city charter'

it was stated that: "Noordhoff would choose to not run for re-election after having already survived a recall election."

This did not properly represent the facts of the matter. Noordhoff did run for reelection receiving a significant number of votes. Also, Noordhoff did survive a re-call election but for a position on the Gardiner Sanitary District board back in 2016, she was never recalled for the North Bend Council.
