Man dies in Coos Bay home fire

THE WORLD
On January 24, at roughly 5:55p p.m. North Coos 911 Center began receiving calls for a structure fire at 610 Shorepines Place.

The first fire engine from the Coos Bay Fire Department arrived shortly after being dispatched to find a doublewide manufactured home with significant fire involvement. Neighbors stated that they believed that the occupant may still be in the house.

Immediate efforts were made to extinguish the fire and search the residence for any victims. As additional resources arrived, their personnel were assigned to supporting the search and extinguishment efforts.

Unfortunately, after the fire was brought under control, the lone occupant of the residence, 84-year-old David Bryan, was found deceased underneath fire debris. After this discovery, efforts were shifted to investigation.

Representatives from Coos Bay Fire Department made the mandatory notifications to the Oregon State Fire

Marshal's Office and then collaborated with Coos Bay Police Department and the County Medical Examiner's Office for the on-scene investigation.

The overall incident investigation is ongoing, but the cause of the fire is believed to be accidental and related to the failure of an appliance. The structure is considered a complete loss and was estimated to have a $75,000 value. Additionally, Coos Bay Fire Department was assisted on scene by Bay Cities Ambulance and Pacific Power.

North Bend to end law enforcement IGA with airport

By DAVID RUPKALVIS
For The World

The North Bend City Council voted unanimously Tuesday to end an intergovernmental agreement with the Coos County Airport District that guarantees North Bend police will respond to all calls within 15 minutes.

The vote came after a lengthy discussion about the airport and the role North Bend emergency services should and must play in it.

The council decision gives the airport district 90 days to find another law enforcement agency that will respond in 15 minutes of that time to negotiate a deal with North Bend.

The airport in North Bend opened in 1932 as a military airport and was transferred to the city of North Bend in 1947. From 1947 to 2003, the city of North Bend owned and managed the airport. Throughout that time, the airport consistently lost money, which led to the formation of the Coos County Airport District in 2002. In 2003, North Bend transferred ownership of the airport and 15 acres around it to the district.

Included in the 15 acres was the North Bend Senior Center, Airport Heights Park and the North Bend Wastewater Treatment Plant. The city purchased the wastewater plant back, and the senior center operates on a 15-year lease with the district.

The airport district has its own property taxes, and receives around $1.4 million a year in tax revenue. As a government agency, it pays no taxes to North Bend or any other agency.

The Coos County Airport District will have to find a new law enforcement agency to guarantee 15-minute service after the city of North Bend opted to end an IGA that has been in force since 2013.

When the airport district took over, an IGA was created where North Bend would provide police and security services for every flight, and the district paid back just over half of the city's expenses for doing so. At the time, North Bend was receiving $426,000 every five years.

North Bend also provided fire protection when needed and was paid for the service.

In late 2012, the airport district canceled the IGA with North Bend, but within six weeks of the IGA being canceled, then City Administrator Terrence O'Connor signed a new IGA guaranteeing police response within 15 minutes. That IGA was not reviewed or approved by the city council.

Since 2013, the two governmental agencies have worked under that IGA, where North Bend has guaranteed a 15-minute response to all emergency calls, and the airport district has not paid for services.

Last year, a split between the two agencies showed up, highlighted by a training exercise where a false emergency was called in.

City Administrator David Milliron told the council things heated up in 2022 when Police Chief Gary McCullough told the airport district he could not guarantee a 15-minute response. Due to low staffing, all calls, including airport calls, had to be on the basis of the emergency.

In June 2022, Milliron said he learned the airport district was reaching out to other law enforcement agencies, including the Coos Bay police and Oregon State Police, about guaranteeing a 15-minute response.

"There were several attempts to meet with the airport district," Milliron said. "For conflicting reasons, we didn't have that meeting."

In July 2022, Milliron sent a letter to the airport district, voicing several concerns. Those included the emergency training where neither dispatch nor the responding officers knew the call was not real.

"We chose as a city and a governing body not to air things publicly," Milliron said. "We hoped to work things out. We knew the senior center and the park were important to this governing body."

In August 2022, Milliron said the city was shocked when Airport District Executive Director Theresa Cook released a report implying if North Bend ended the IGA, the airport would be forced to close. Cook based her report on a TSA rule that requires a law enforcement

North Bend to host homeless town halls

Council looking for help in drafting camping ordinance

By DAVID RUPKALVIS
For The World

With a state deadline approaching, the North Bend City Council is asking the community help it draft a camping ordinance that will provide the time, manner and place the homeless can camp in the city.

North Bend attempted to create a camping ordinance previously, but every draft led to an outcry from nearby residents, so the city stopped the effort while hoping for more guidance from the state.

With state law mandating city's either have an ordinance in place by June or allow camping anywhere in the city, the council is planning to host at least two public town halls to get feedback from the community.

City Administrator David Milliron told the council what it can do is limited, and part of the town hall process will be to educate city residents on what role local government can play in the homelessness crisis.

"We have to get the public to understand you as a council cannot change homelessness in North Bend, let alone in front of your house," Milliron said. "This is state law and federal law. So we want to be able to have town halls, we want to be able to educate the public. We know there will be a lot of venting there, but at the end of the day, the goal is to educate, educate, educate, and get folks engaged in a solution."

During the council work session when the town halls were discussed, Mayor Jessica Engelke read a letter into the record, where a resident asked the council to focus on ending homelessness at every meeting until the problem is solved.

"This here makes it sound like the seven of you can solve homelessness in North Bend," Milliron said. "That's just not the case. What we can do in line with federal law and state law, and that's out time, manner and place. So, we have to come up with an ordinance that is supported by the majority of the

Two jailed on theft charges from Bastendorff Beach

On January 24 at about 8:46 a.m., Bandon police officer Emma Owens observed a gray BMW SUV type vehicle, fail to obey a traffic control device and initiated a traffic stop of the vehicle.

The occupants of the vehicle were identified as Kyle Vanalstine, 28, and Rebeca Aseere, 21. Deputy Michael Smith from the Coos County Sheriff's Office advised Officer Owens he had probable cause for both Kyle and Rebeca's arrest on the charges of Forgery I, Theft I and Criminal Conspiracy to commit a Felony.

An ongoing investigation revealed Kyle and Rebeca had fraudulently chased checks which had been stolen out of a purse on January 11 at Bastendorff Beach, in Coos Bay. It was discovered by Deputy Smith during his investigation, Kyle had attempted to deposit two of the stolen checks into a Wells Fargo bank account, and Rebeca had cashed checks in a felony amount (Over $1,000) near the city of Powers.

During the investigation on January 24, Kyle and Rebeca both admitting to possession of and using the stolen checks. Kyle and Rebeca were transported to the Coos County Jail, where they were booked into the Jail on the Charges of Forgery I, Theft I and Criminal Conspiracy to Commit a Felony.

Due to more items being outstanding from the Bastendorf Beach purse theft, Smith applied for and was granted a search warrant to search the gray BMW. During the search of the vehicle, a dealer amount of several different types of illicit drugs were found in the vehicle, along with scales and drug measuring equipment.

Several illicit drug dealer ledgers, a firearm and more drug paraphernalia were found inside the vehicle and subsequently seized.

After the investigation was completed, the charges of Possession of a Controlled Substance and Unlawful Manufacture or Delivery of a Controlled Substance were added to both Kyle and Rebeca, respectively.

The sheriff's office would like to thank the interagency cooperation of the Bandon Police Department with their role in this investigation. As noted above, the charges from this investigation stem from continued investigation by Smith from recent vehicle break-ins at Bastendorff Beach. If the public has any information on further thefts from the Bastendorff area, please contact Deputy Smith at mrsmsmith@co.coos.or.us

What a mess

First the state legalized dangerous drugs like meth, heroin and others and now wants to ban tobacco products.
If that makes sense I'll buy the next round. Oregon is turning into a socialist mess.

Leave me alone

State government, I would like you to stay out of my business. Now you're after the legal product called tobacco AGAIN.
You can't stop the dangerous illegal drug from killing Oregonians so how do you think you can ban a legal product. Oregon has went to .... being a NANNY state along with California.

Just a rerun

You know folks, the Harry and Megan story is just a rerun. Their whole story first played out before World War II back when Elizabeth's uncle broke from the royal lineage and moved to France. People crack under the pressure of being a royal and just want a real life instead.
The royal job description requires one to incessantly duck, dissemble, cover-up, omit, propagandize, fake, pose, dress-up, parade about, wave like a hero ... all to convince the rest of the population that God picked their family to live in a castle and rule forever.
It's a hard job. Some people, like Harry, would rather be somewhere else and do something else, like tell the truth occasionally. Harry's Mom, Diana, went through a similar wringer too, so give him credit for learning something from his elders. That is something we don't do very well in America.

Opinion: Lifesaving Cardiac Screening Should Be Routine for Young Athletes

By LISA TENNENBAUM
InsideSources.com

The recent "Monday Night Football" game between the Buffalo Bills and the Cincinnati Bengals was suddenly suspended, and the last thing on fans' minds was the game's outcome. Bills safety Damar Hamlin collapsed without warning after what appeared to be a routine tackle due to cardiac arrest. The entire sports world stopped to offer messages of support and hope for Hamlin and the Bills.
We can all agree witnessing a traumatic event of this nature will give us pause to reflect on our own health and the health of our loved ones. As a parent of young athletes, I feel obligated to spread awareness of what can be done to better prepare families and youth sports organizations.
Cardiac arrest is not the same as a heart attack, although nearly every heart condition, including a heart attack, can cause cardiac arrest. What happened to Hamlin may seem rare, but it is a condition that young athletes and their families should be aware. The most important lesson from this is: Education and prevention save lives.

For nearly 15 years, a nonprofit organization has been dedicated to teaching this lesson to young athletes' families. The MCORE Foundation began in response to losing a loved one during a routine basketball practice due to a sudden cardiac arrest.
The founders of MCORE created an automated assessment tool and screening program offered directly to schools and their athletic communities to ensure serving athletes was convenient and cost-effective for families. Assessments use electrocardiogram and echocardiography screening to locate undetected heart abnormalities in young athletes that could lead to sudden cardiac arrest.

The American Heart Association reports 9,500 youths are affected by what the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute considers a public health issue. Sudden cardiac arrest is the leading cause of sudden death in exercising young athletes.
Sharing this vitally important screening information with families can make all the difference in the lives of loved ones.
Today, the MCORE Foundation's automated system is still the only program offering preventive baseline testing and is saved in family accounts to use with medical providers.
Since its founding, the MCORE Foundation has expanded its efforts and reach by providing awareness, education and screenings for individuals regardless of their ability to pay. They are continually fundraising to further promote this recently expanded mission toward families and their communities.

The mission of MCORE is to provide education and screening and to enable research for sudden cardiac arrest for children and young adults. This mission is maintained by providing the highest standard of care mobile cardiac screenings outside a clinical setting, with screenings conducted by certified cardiac sonographers and read by pediatric cardiologists. Yet, the success of these programs requires more than just the willingness of families to participate. Attention to young athletes' heart health requires the constant support of schools and youth sports organizations.
The Hamlin episode was a wake-up call for families — one that demands our awareness and resources for the betterment of our youth sports organizations and the young athletes who participate in them. Education and understanding heart health conditions can ultimately make a difference in saving a young person's life.

Watching our young athletes excel in the sports they love should be a rewarding, uplifting and sometimes thrilling experience. The MCORE focus on education, screening and research related to sudden cardiac arrest can help to ensure this by providing families with valuable information regarding potential cardiac abnormalities and essential training to assist in the event of a cardiac incident.
As we pray for Hamlin's recovery, we must make certain our schools, sports organizations and teams make it routine to offer these lifesaving education and preventive screening programs for young athletes to reduce the risk of horrific events.

HOLY COW! HISTORY: The Original 'Son of a Gun'

J. Mark Powell

By J. MARK POWELL
InsideSources.com

Every so often, history offers a story that is so improbable there is no way it could be true. Yet once in the proverbial blue moon, a tale defies the odds and turns out to have really happened.
This story isn't one of them.
It was, in fact, a prank that people accepted as fact for over a century. But the story behind the story is enjoyable, and the whole bizarre incident is a hoot and a half, so here goes.
Doctors got a big surprise when they opened the November 7, 1874, edition of "The American Medical Weekly." A headline breathlessly announced, "ATTENTION GYNECOLOGISTS! — NOTES FROM THE DIARY OF A FIELD AND HOSPITAL SURGEON, C.S.A." It was written by a former Confederate army doctor named L.G. Capers.
He was born in Charleston, S.C., in 1834, practiced as a ship physician at sea, and served in the Confederate medical service. His article described an incident 11 years earlier during the Battle of Raymond, Miss.
As Capers recalled, "I beheld a noble, gallant young friend staggering closer, and then fall to the earth. In the same moment, a piercing scream from the house reached my ear!" The doctor said he examined the wound and found a minie ball (the war's misnamed and widely used cone-shaped bullet) had struck the shinbone, ricocheted upward, and exited the body via the soldier's private parts. Then things got strange.
Capers continued, "Scarcely had I finished dressing the wounds of this poor fellow when the estimable matron came running to me in the greatest distress, begging me to go to one of her daughters who, she informed me, had been badly wounded a few minutes before."

The young woman had also been hit in her private area. "Believing there was little or no hope of her recovery, I had only time to prescribe an anodyne when our army fell back."
Six months later, the army returned and, according to the good doctor, he discovered the patient was pregnant. "A short time later, I delivered this same young lady of a fine boy, weighing eight pounds."
As if all this hadn't been enough, the story ended with a weird twist. "About three weeks from the date of this remarkable birth, I was called to see the child, the grandmother insisting there was 'something wrong.'"
Capers said he examined the infant and immediately performed surgery. He "extracted a minie ball, mashed and battered as if it had met in its flight some hard, unyielding substance."
Bottom line: The minie ball that had wounded the soldier carried some of his male essences as it exited his body and slammed into the young woman's womb. The result was known from then on as the Minie Ball Pregnancy.
I will spare you the medical mumbo jumbo but suffice it to say it is physically impossible for conception to occur this way. Which makes it all the stranger that men of science perpetuated the absurdity.
The highly respected British medical journal The Lancet reprinted parts of the original article.

In 1896, its piece was cited as a footnote in a book called "Anomalies and Curiosities of Medicine." The tale later gained fresh traction in an influential 1959 article in the New York State Journal of Medicine. From then on, it was cited as a "documented case" and was mentioned in everything from American Heritage magazine to the popular Dear Abby column.
Yet it never happened.
A few weeks after the publication of the original 1874 article that started it all, the editors acknowledged in a subsequent edition that the whole thing had been in jest. "Dr. L.G. Capers, of Vicksburg, Miss., disclaims responsibility for the truth of that remarkable case of impregnation by a minie ball, as reported in ... this Journal. He tells the story as it was told to him. He does not say it is untrue but is disposed to appositely remember the truth of the old adage, that 'accidents may happen in the best-regulated families.' The joke is, that the doctor reported the case without any signature."
You saw it: It was all a joke.
But to this very day, some Civil War buffs adamantly insist the Minie Ball Pregnancy actually happened.
It's a shame it didn't. If it had, the baby indeed would have been the world's only "son of a gun."

Marshfield girls suffer first league loss to Marist

THE WORLD

Marshfield’s girls basketball team came up just short in its first Sky-Em League showdown with Marist Catholic on Friday, falling to the visiting Spartans 43-41.

Marist Catholic improved to 3-0 in league play while Marshfield fell to 2-1.

The Pirates finish the first round of league play at North Bend on Tuesday. The Bulldogs got their first league win on Tuesday, when they beat Cottage Grove 43-37.

This week, Marshfield also faces Junction City on the road Friday to open the second round of league play.

North Bend, which had its bye in the league schedule Friday, hosts Marist Catholic this coming Friday.

RED DEVILS SWEEP: Coquille won all three of its games for the week against teams from the Far West League’s south division, in relatively easy fashion.

The Red Devils beat Rogue River on the road Wednesday 46-25, topped St. Mary’s at home Friday 55-24 and won at North Valley on Saturday 52-29.

Coach Marty Stallard had a chance to give all his players extended time on the floor as the team prepares for the second round against the league’s north division teams.

Holli Vigue had 21 points in the win over St. Mary’s.

In the win over North Valley, Vigue had 11 points, Trinidy Blanton and Synthia Salazar scored eight each and Lexi Lucatero had seven.

After three weeks in a row with three league games, the Red Devils have just one game this week, on Friday at league-leading Sutherlin.

The league schedule wraps up next week with another three-game week, as Coquille hosts South Umpqua on Monday, has a crucial game at Douglas on Wednesday and hosts Glide on Friday. The game against Douglas likely will decide whether Coquille finishes second in the north division, meaning it would host a league playoff game, or finishes third and would have to travel in the league playoffs.

Sutherlin won the big game of the week, scoring the last 11 points and beating Lakeview 52-41 on Saturday to stay perfect in league play and improve to 18-2. Both of Sutherlin’s losses came to Amity, one on the road and one in a tournament in Salem.

Coquille is 7-3 in league play and won its first game against Douglas, which also is 6-4 but beat Brookings-Harbor (one of Coquille’s three losses). Douglas lost by two points at Cascade Christian on Saturday.

TIGERS TAKE TWO: Bandon topped Gold Beach 65-27 on Thursday and Toledo 59-29 on Saturday to stretch its Valley Coast Conference win streak to eight games.

Bandon’s recent wins have come without injured Katelyn Senn, which makes them more impressive.

“It’s always tough losing a great player like Katelyn and I have been super impressed with the way we have responded as a team and the way this group has stepped up,” Bandon coach Jordan Sammons said. “We are playing really good basketball right now and I am super proud of them.”

Makiah Vierck hit five 3-pointers for 15 points in the win over Toledo. Lizzy Stice scored 12 points and Olivia Thompson 10.

In the win over Gold Beach, Bandon raced out to a 25-1 lead after the first quarter and rolled to the win.

Thompson had 19 points, Nyah Dimitruk 11, Makenna Vierck 10 and Makiah Vierck and Rachel Eickhoff eight each.

The Tigers are at Reedsport on Tuesday and Oakridge on Friday as they close in on the regular-season title for the league’s south division.

Gold Beach followed the loss to Bandon with a 65-51 loss to Oakridge on Saturday. The Panthers are at Oakland on Tuesday and Monroe on Saturday.

Reedsport fell to Illinois Valley on Thursday 47-24 and to Lowell 54-35 on Saturday — the 35 points matching the season high for the young squad. The Brave follow their game with Bandon with a trip to East Linn Christian on Saturday.

POWERS 30, ELKTON 22: The Cruisers snapped a three-game Skyline League losing streak by winning at Elkton on Friday.

The Cruisers improved to 4-4 in league and finish with two teams on the lower end of the league standings as they seek a spot in the league playoffs. They host Pacific on Tuesday and are at Yoncalla on Friday — both teams with one league victory. Wins in both games would guarantee the Cruisers at least sixth place and a game in the league playoffs with a shot at advancing to the league tournament at North Bend.

Skylar Thompson had 15 points in the win over the Elks.

MYRTLE POINT 51, RIDDLE 9: The Bobcats cruised to an easy win over the visiting Irish on Friday, picking up their sixth straight win heading into a key game Tuesday at Camas Valley.

Myrtle Point is 6-1 in league, tied with Umpqua Valley Christian for second place behind North Douglas. The Bobcats beat UVC and lost to the unbeaten Warriors.

Camas Valley is 5-2 in league play, tied with New Hope for fourth place. Myrtle Point hosts New Hope next Friday to end the regular season. The Bobcats visit Days Creek this Friday.

UMPQUA VALLEY CHRISTIAN 62, PACIFIC 20: The Pirates lost their fourth straight league contest, when they fell to the Monarchs on the road Friday.

Pacific’s only game this week is the contest at Powers. Next week they face Bandon’s junior varsity team on Tuesday and host Elkton on Friday to close out the regular season.

BOYS

MYRTLE POINT 67, RIDDLE 30: The Bobcats dominated the Irish on Friday to keep their Skyline League record perfect.

Myrtle Point now has 11 wins in a row and is closing in on the regular-season Skyline League title, which would guarantee a spot in the Class 1A playoffs and give the Bobcats a bye directly into the league tournament. The first- and second-place teams avoid the league playoff round.

ELKTON 59, POWERS 24: The Cruisers came up short on the road Friday against the Elks, who are second in the league behind Myrtle Point.

Patrick Mahmoud had seven points to lead Powers in the loss.

In addition to the games against Elkton and Pacific this week, Powers hosts Mapleton on Saturday and visits Glendale next Friday to end the regular season. Glendale does not have a girls team this year.

UMPQUA VALLEY CHRISTIAN 63, PACIFIC 48: The Pirates played one of their best games of the season, even leading the Monarchs 23-21 at halftime Friday before UVC pulled away.

In addition to the game at Powers on Tuesday, Pacific hosts Glendale on Friday this week.

MARIST CATHOLIC 45, MARSHFIELD 26: The Spartans stifled the host Pirates on Friday, dropping Marshfield to 0-3 in Sky-Em League play.

Marshfield finishes the first half of the league season Tuesday at North Bend, which also is seeking its first league win. The Pirates visit league-leading Junction City on Friday.

REEDSPORT 52, LOWELL 47: The Brave overcame an early nine-point deficit to beat the Red Devils for their second Valley Coast Conference win of the week after entering with a 12-game losing streak.

After beating Waldport 45-41 on Tuesday and losing to Illinois Valley 70-27 on Thursday, the Brave bounced back after trailing 14-5 through one quarter Saturday to beat Lowell.

Jaden Morgan scored 11 of his 24 points in the fourth quarter, when Reedsport outscored Lowell 22-17, and finished with five 3-pointers on the night for the Brave. William Buzard added 14 points.

Jaden Jalof had 21 points for Lowell.

TIGERS SPLIT PAIR: Bandon fell to league-leading Gold Beach 64-50 on Thursday, but bounced back with a 62-28 win over Toledo on Saturday.

The Tigers had hoped to spoil Gold Beach’s perfect run through league play when the teams met at Pacific High School, but couldn’t keep up in the fourth after tying the game in the third quarter.

Gianni Altman scored 31 points, including five 3-pointers and making all eight of his free throws, and Jake Westerman added 13 points for the Panthers.

“Gianni is a tough guard and we made too many turnovers to stay in the game,” Bandon coach Vince Quattrocchi said.

Owen Brown had 20 points and Eli Freitag added 13 for the Tigers.

In Saturday’s win, Brown had 16 points and Freitag and Dylan Kamph 13 each.

“The boys played well,” Quattrocchi said. “Their man defense is getting better and they did a good job moving the ball and scoring against Toledo’s zone defense.”

Saturday’s bounce-back win improved Bandon to 8-4 in league, but the Tigers’ hopes for a chance to finish second in the league’s south division took a hit when Oakland beat East Linn Christian 39-36 on Saturday, handing ELC its first league loss. Bandon beat Oakland 54-51 on Tuesday, but the Oakers’ only other loss came against Gold Beach.

Oakland’s win also made Gold Beach the only unbeaten team in the league. The Panthers stayed perfect with an 88-37 win over Oakridge on Saturday.

RED DEVILS COME UP SHORT: The close loss bug bit Coquille two more times this week, with the Red Devils losing to St. Mary’s 65-62 on Friday and North Valley 76-72 on Saturday, the sixth time they have lost by four or fewer points this season.

Coquille opened the week with a 52-37 win at Rogue River and is 5-5 in the Far West League, third in the north division heading into the final four games, all within the division.

Hunter Layton had 19 points and Dean Tucker 11 in the win at Rogue River.

In Friday’s loss to St. Mary’s, the Red Devils led 54-48 entering the fourth quarter but couldn’t hold on. Hayden GeDeros hit three 3-pointers and 11 of 15 free throws to finish with 22 points and Tucker added 11 in the loss.

Noah Friesen had seven 3-pointers, including three in the fourth quarter, and 28 total points for the Crusaders.

On Saturday, the Red Devils trailed by 18 points at halftime, but rallied to tie the score with two minutes to go before North Valley prevailed. Tucker had 28 points, Layton 17 and Gardner Scolari 10 in the loss.

Cooper Cartwright had 14 to lead North Valley, which is tied with St. Mary’s for second in the league’s south division at 7-3, behind unbeaten Cascade Christian.

SWOCC men get big win at Clackamas, 89-79

THE WORLD

The Southwestern Oregon Community College men’s basketball team picked up a big road win Saturday, topping Clackamas 89-79.

The Cougars had entered the day in first place in the NWAC South Region while the Lakers were coming off a tough loss at home to Portland on a buzzer-beater in their previous game.

SWOCC took a 40-32 lead to halftime, saw it shrink to four points late, and made plays and free throws in the final minutes to hold on.

O’Shen Cazimero had a big three-point play to stretch the lead and hit all eight of his free throws to finish with a team-high 20 points for the Lakers.

Onwaja Thomas added 17 points and nine rebounds.

Merrick Sherwood scored 13, Matthew Oryang 12 and Joseph Schulkins and Ean Smith nine each.

Smith, who graduated from Coquille, also added seven rebounds and went 5-for-6 at the line.

Wade Autenreith scored 21 to lead Clackamas.

Clackamas dropped into a tie with Umpqua atop the South Region standings at 5-2.

The Lakers and Linn-Benton are a game back and Lane, Chemeketa and Mount Hood another game behind.

SWOCC finishes the first half of league play at home Wednesday against Linn-Benton and then starts the tough second half, when six of the eight games will be on the road, with a trip to Chemeketa on Saturday.

WOMEN

SWOCC’s women came up short at Clackamas 84-49, with the Cougars building a 48-25 halftime lead and cruising to the victory.

Kiana Quintero had a team-best 11 points in the loss for the Lakers. Jaci Powers had seven points and 11 rebounds.

Hemani Kalia had 28 points, including hitting seven 3-pointers, for Clackamas, which forced 29 turnovers by SWOCC.

Clackamas improved to 6-1 in the South Region standings while SWOCC fell to 3-4.

The Lakers are fifth behind unbeaten Lane and Umpqua and Linn-Benton, which both are 5-2.

Forest landslides influenced more by road building, logging than heavy rain

By STEVE LUNDEBERG

Guest Article

A long-term Pacific Northwest study of landslides, clear-cutting timber and building roads shows that a forest’s management history has a greater impact on how often landslides occur and how severe they are compared to how much water is coursing through a watershed.

Findings of the research, led by associate forest engineering associate professor Catalina Segura and graduate student Arianna Goodman of the Oregon State University College of Forestry, were published in the journal Earth Surface Processes and Landforms.

Probing the factors behind landslide frequency and magnitude is crucial because slides occur in all 50 states, causing an average of more than 25 deaths per year, according to the United States Geological Survey. The USGS puts the total annual average economic damage resulting from landslides at greater than $1 billion.

“Understanding the long-term effects of forest practices like logging and road building is critical to sustainable forest management,” Segura said. “This requires observations on time scales that capture responses to past and ongoing management practices – looking at the timing of floods, landscape susceptibility to landsliding and the delivery and movement of wood.”

Focusing on the Lookout Creek watershed in western Oregon, a research team that included Julia Jones of the OSU College of Earth, Ocean, and Atmospheric Sciences and Frederick Swanson of the U.S. Forest Service examined a decades-long history of old-growth clear-cutting and associated road construction and how those practices affected flooding, landslides, big pieces of wood jamming up waterways, and channel change.

Debris flows contribute huge quantities of sediment and large wood to streams, Segura said. Those inputs control, for decades, a channel’s response to large flows – the amount of erosion and deposition that takes place. Regulating the inputs are an area’s history of forest practices, the natural vulnerability of a watershed to erosion and the frequency of big flood events.

The 64-square-kilometer Lookout Creek watershed is part of the H.J. Andrews Experimental Forest, a long-term research site in the Cascade Range funded by the National Science Foundation and the Forest Service. Logging and road building began in the Lookout Creek area in 1950 and largely ceased by the 1980s, enabling the scientists to track forest management practices’ impact on slides and flood.

The scientists note that three zones of distinct and contrasting geologic history comprise the Lookout Creek watershed: one zone with relatively smooth terrain and U-shaped valleys; another characterized by irregular topography, rough surfaces and moderate steepness; and a third featuring V-shaped valleys, steep slopes and narrow drainages.

“In each of the five time periods, the frequency of landslides and debris flows depended on the conditions created by management practices during prior time periods,” Segura said. “Watershed responses did differ somewhat among the zones, as would be expected – places that were once glaciated and have broad valleys are less vulnerable to landslides and debris flows than steep terrain with weak, erodible rock.”

Even small floods caused landslides and stream channel changes during the first 15 years of road construction and logging, and amid ongoing logging in the early part of the time period between large flood events, she said.

Without limiting the trustee’s disclaimer of representations or warranties, Oregon law requires the trustee to state in this notice that some residential property sold at a trustee’s sale may have been used in manufacturing methamphetamines, the chemical components of which are known to be toxic. Prospective purchasers of residential property should be aware of this potential danger before deciding to place a bid for this property at the trustee’s sale. Before the new owner can require you to move, the new owner must provide you with written notice that specifies the date by which you must move out. If you do not leave before the move-out date, the new owner can have the sheriff remove you from the property after a court hearing. You will receive notice of the court hearing. Water lines to be flushed in Coos Bay

During the week beginning January 30, the Coos Bay-North Bend Water Board crews will begin routine maintenance flushing of water lines within its distribution system in Coos Bay. Flushing of water lines will be from Date Street south to the Millington area and Ocean Boulevard east to Catching Slough area.

Flushing will begin in the morning each day about 7:30 a.m. and end at approximately 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. In some locations flushing may begin earlier in the morning and end earlier in the afternoon.

Customers within the affected areas may experience periods of reduced pressure and may notice a discoloration of the water during these flushing periods. Customers should avoid doing laundry if their water appears discolored. If the discoloration does not clear up promptly, please notify the Water Board at (541) 267-3128.

Oregon Coast tourism partners receive over $200K for accessibility initiatives

Eight Oregon Coast destination management organizations (DMOs) were granted a total of $201,240 to partner with Wheel the World, a global accessible travel company, in their effort to make the Oregon Coast more accessible to travelers with disabilities.

The funds awarded are the result of a coordinated approach among partners to apply for Travel Oregon’s 2022 Capacity and Small Project Grants. These communities and organizations are working to provide disabled travelers with comprehensive, accurate information to make their stay on the Oregon Coast more accessible.

Coastal organizations who received funds to partner with Wheel the World include:

- Astoria-Warrenton Area Chamber of Commerce, $35,000
- City of Lincoln City, $20,000
- Coos Bay-North Bend-Charleston Visitor & Convention Bureau, $25,000
- Depoe Bay Chamber of Commerce, $20,000
- Florence Area Chamber of Commerce, $30,500
- Greater Newport Chamber of Commerce, $33,190
- Waldport Chamber of Commerce, $17,550
- Yachats Chamber of Commerce, $20,000

These eight organizations will work with Wheel the World to conduct an accessibility assessment of local tourism businesses, receive accessibility training through Wheel the World Academy, and have local tourism businesses listed on Wheel-theWorld.com, a comprehensive guide for travelers with disabilities to find and book accessible travel experiences.

The Oregon Coast Visitors Association (OCVA) catalyzed this effort by funding a coastal cohort to attend the 2022 TravelAbility Emerging Markets Summit, held in Orlando, Fla. last June. Following the 2022 Summit, OCVA regularly convened coastal partners to share best practices and progress on accessibility initiatives within the tourism industry.

The Travel Oregon grant funding will enable many of these partners to attend the 2023 Summit to continue their learning and professional development in order to better serve travelers with disabilities on the Oregon Coast.

“The Coos Bay-North Bend-Charleston area is embarking upon a new strategic vision to ensure we are a welcoming destination for all travelers,” says Janice Langlinais, executive director of the Coos Bay-North Bend-Charleston Visitor & Convention Bureau. “Participating in these assessments will allow area businesses and attractions to ensure their facilities are accessible to those with physical disabilities. We are so pleased to be joining our fellow coastal destinations in this project and honored to have received these grant funds from Travel Oregon.”
