Coquille Tribe announces Mill Casino rebranding along with huge expansion plans

On the 30-year anniversary of its opening, the Coquille Tribe announced that the Mill Casino will be getting a complete rebranding. The casino and resort which has become a fixture of North Bend has major expansions planned to accompany the new name which evokes the tribe's long heritage: Ko-Kwel Casino Resort.

The news came as a surprise to long-time casino employees during a celebration of the 30th anniversary, where 9 employees who have worked at the casino since its opening were honored. Initially named after the building's prior life as a sawmill, the tribe thinks its time to look toward the future through their indigenous perspective.

"It was time for the Coquille Indian Tribe's long-standing gaming and hospitality brand to clearly represent tribal ownership and the core values that define our leadership and service standards, to be proudly recognized as 'Coquille',' states Margaret Simpson, CEO of the Coquille Economic Development Corporation.

"The tribe has faced significant challenges in its journey towards self-reliance over the past 35 years. As we expand our hospitality brand and outreach, we wanted to unify our projects under a single brand that honors our culture and recognizes the achievements of our tribal citizens."

That expansion goes well

Zoo owner arrested on drug charges following raid

STAFF REPORT

An arrest was made in connection to this month's multi-agency raid and investigation of West Coast Game Park Safari, but not for what was expected. On May 27, the roadside zoo's owner Brian Tenney, 52, was arrested by Bandon Police on charges of possession, production, and attempted distribution of methamphetamine.

In addition to the relocation of 310 of the zoo's animals due to mistreatment and poor living conditions, the May 15 raid also yielded a drug and weapon bust. According to new information from the Coos County Sherrif's Office, the South Coast Interagency Narcotics Team (SCINT) discovered nearly 80 grams of meth, 44 guns (including one modified to be fully automatic), 8 grams of cocaine, and roughly $1.6 million in cash, cashier's checks, bonds, and certificates.

This discovery came in a tandem investigation with members of the Oregon Humane Society, Oregon

Department of Agriculture, IRS, and Department of Justice as they served multiple warrants and investigated the park's negligence toward its animals. Veterinarians assessed the animals' health, nutrition, and enclosure conditions after years of citations and reports of mistreatment.

Three of the animals assessed were in such poor condition they had to be euthanized, as transportation would have likely been too much for them. The rest of the 310 are now in animal sanctuaries or properly run care facilities

According to the Associated Press, Tenney was released as the District Attorney's office awaited further information. Charges in relation to the conditions at the zoo and the treatment of its animals have yet to be handed down in what is likely to be a long running case from the state against the

This is still an ongoing investigation. The World will continue to provide updates as more information becomes available.

Senator Wyden makes town-hall stop in North Bend with Congresswoman Hoyle

BY NATE SCHWARTZ

Continuing what has become a long-standing tradition of Oregon's senate delegation, Senator Ron Wyden made his town hall stop in Coos County on Saturday May 24, in the North Bend Middle School gymnasium.

Wyden has conducted over 1000 such meetings in his time as a Senator, continuing the trend that makes Wyden, and fellow senator Jeff Merkley, the only legislators to hold a town hall in every district of their state.

Similar to Merkley's recent visit, Congresswoman Val Hoyle joined the town hall to give her perspectives on a variety of questions asked by a healthy turnout of constituents. Both opened the meeting by issuing statements about the Trump administration's recent budget legislation, the 'Big Beautiful Bill'. The legislators warned of the bill granting huge tax breaks to the wealthiest citizens of the country while increasing the federal debt by a further $3.8 trillion.

Unsurprisingly, many of the questions from audience members pertained to the current administration and its actions. One woman asked point blank about Trump's character and his desire to increase the executive branch's power, which is another sticking point with the budget bill as it pertains to reducing the judicial branch's recourse. One gentleman asked about the constitutional crisis this represents, while pointing out that clauses like due process have already been violated by recent ICE deportations.

On a more local level, two questions were raised about the Pacific Coast Intermodal Port project. Chief Doug Barrett of the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua & Siuslaw Indians asked about the preservation of the Hollering Place, a significant heritage site, along with concerns over environmental impacts. These were echoed by Christine Moffitt of the League of Women Voters, who have taken a vested interest in the project. She specifically asked about the economic viability of the container port moving forward.

Both legislators showed continued support for the project, with emphasis given on how crucial the ship-to-rail aspect of the expansion was to reducing environmental impacts, and both modernizing and bolstering the country's supply chain. Wyden

The first of the three, RMS Olympic, was launched with much fanfare in 1911. Her $7.2 million price tag alone (nearly onethird of a billion today) was staggering. She quickly set the bar for sumptuousness at sea that stood until RMS Titanic was christened the following year.

For six days in April 1912, the Titanic cruised on her maiden voyage, sailing straight into disaster and legend. Nearly 115 years later, fascination with her short, sad life shows no signs of abating.

Which brings us to her kid sister. RMS Britannic was supposed to be the grand finale, the best of the bunch, the ship that would add an exclamation point to White Star's dominance of the waves. It didn't turn out that way.

For starters, some believe the ship was initially supposed to have been named Gigantic. (Which makes sense, since Olympic, Titanic and Gigantic all evoke visions of gargantuan scale). However, Titanic's untimely demise is thought to have led the builders to switch to the more patriotic-sounding (at least to English travelers) Britannic.

Her completion was delayed by several modifications made after the Titanic tragedy. Britannic was finally launched in February 1914 and was still being fitted out in August when World War I started. Britain's Admiralty quickly pressed private ships into government service. Although owners were paid handsomely for the wartime loan of the vessels, the risk of losing them was high. But what choice did they have?

Before Britannic ever got a chance to make the trans-Atlantic journey she was designed for, she was initially considered as a troop transport. However, she was soon needed for more urgent service.

In 1915, Britain launched the disastrous Gallipoli campaign. Largely the brainchild of Winston Churchill, it was intended to seize the European part of the Ottoman Empire, Germany's partner and modern-day Turkey. Instead, it was a bloody failure that left nearly 80,000 British soldiers injured and sick. (Not counting the 31,000 killed.)

So, Britannic was turned into a humongous hospital ship. Her immense size made her ideal for the unhappy task of caring for thousands of injured and ailing soldiers. Her owners were given four weeks to overhaul her to specifications for her new duties and repaint her with large red crosses to indicate her humanitarian mission.

Inside, 3,309 beds, plus several operating rooms, were installed.

Her first voyage in her new role in late December 1915 went well. Two more followed. When the Admiralty called her up again in August 1916, it was all downhill from there.

Her fourth voyage involved battling an especially vicious storm. Her fifth voyage had the entire crew quartered, battling a nasty food-borne illness.

Her sixth voyage to the Mediterranean began on Nov. 12. She was sidelined at Naples by bad weather. When the clouds broke, her captain decided to make a run for it. By the morning of Nov. 21, she was sailing at full speed with 1,066 people on board.

And then it happened.

At 8:12 a.m., she was rocked by a terrific explosion. Britannic had hit a powerful mine. The blast on the starboard side severely damaged a watertight compartment; four watertight bulkheads were soon rapidly filling up. Britannic, like her older sister, was doomed.

This time, the majority of people were safely evacuated in 35 lifeboats. Thirty lives were lost, a far cry from the 1,517 who perished onboard the Titanic four years earlier.

However, Britannic went to the bottom much faster, sinking in only 55 minutes, compared to the 2 hours and 40 minutes it took Titanic to go under.

Britannic was the largest ship sunk during World War I. Famed oceanographer Jacques Cousteau discovered the wreck in

She rests on the Mediterranean's floor today on her side, largely forgotten in a world still obsessed by the legacy of her more famous, but no less ill-fated, big sister. Together, they are twin reminders of the adage that bigger doesn't always mean beyond new branding. In that same celebration, the casino announced it would be partnering with Ceasars Sportsbook to introduce new sports betting options to their portfolio. Also, earlier this year the tribe announced it would be opening the very first tribal distillery in Oregon's history.

The distillery, expected to be open by the end of 2025, is the first of its kind due to an antiquated law preventing tribal involvement in the spirits industry. The 1834 measure was overturned in 2018, opening the door for new revenue streams for tribes across the country.

"After more than two years of planning, negotiating with the state of Oregon, and completing design work, we are thrilled to have broken ground on this historic project," said Simpson.

The new development is expected to have two full-service bars, a cigar lounge, and digital golf suites, along with event and retail spaces. The Plankhouse restaurant will also be getting an update and expansion.

A partnership with Heritage Distilling Co. Inc. and the Tribal Beverage Network, the spaces will sell Heritage brand spirits along with the Coquille Tribes own named products.

"We are honored to break ground on this historic project with the Coquille Tribe. This marks a significant milestone for the Tribe, the Tribal Beverage Network, and Oregon's craft spirits industry," said Heritage president and co-founder Jennifer Stiefel in a release.

"The Tribe's commitment to economic self-sufficiency and innovation aligns perfectly with Heritage Distilling's mission, and we are proud to stand alongside them in bringing the state's first tribally owned distillery to life. This is more than a distillery — it's a long-term economic resource that will support the Tribe for generations to come."

Heritage, who operate five distilleries and tasting rooms across the Pacific Northwest bring experience to the table. Fi Architecture, a firm out of Bar Harbor, WA have released stunning renderings of the proposed project.

"From the initial concept to the final execution, fi architecture's team has demonstrated unparalleled creativity, expertise, and dedication to their craft. The tasting room, restaurant and new customer experience spaces are a testament to their ability to blend functionality with aesthetic excellence. The seamless integration of modern design elements with the rustic charm of the old mill structure creates an inviting and unique atmosphere that will enhance the overall guest experience," said Simpson.

This expansion marks an intrepid moment in the tribe's continued efforts for financial self-sustainability. Earlier this year, they also received approval for another casino property in Medford, where they will be converting a former bowling alley. Though there are a lot of exciting new projects coming around the bend, the tribe's commitment to excellent hospitality, as shown through the Mill's three-decade history, is going to continue.

"The Ko-Kwel Casino Resort in Coos Bay will continue the legacy of the Mill as the economic engine for the region, allowing the tribe's commitment to expanding our hospitality offerings throughout the Pacific Northwest," stated Coquille Tribal Chair Brenda Meade on the name change. "Coquille has held deep historical significance in this region from time immemorial; it's time we introduce that significance to the rest of the world through our branding."

was insistent that the tribes as well as other local stakeholders will be both readily informed on and able to contribute to the further planning of the PCIP.

The final question kicked off an explosive end to the meeting, as it was posed to Wyden about his voting record for arms shipments to Israel, who has used those U.S. supplied weapons to continue their destructive campaign in Gaza. In what many are calling genocidal violence, well over 50,000 Palestinians have been reported killed, among them a reported 17,000 children. Though, the real totals are expected to be much larger. A small handful of protesters waived the Palestinian flag while chastising the Senator for continuing to vote for further weapons shipments.

Wyden responded by advocating for a two-state solution in the region, and condemning recently unveiled plans from the Trump administration to turn Gaza into a large resort, which contradicts said voting record.

After the event, I was able to ask the senator some questions directly. Those exchanges went as follows:

Q – Much of the funding for the PCIP Project came from Biden's policies for infrastructure expansion. Do you have any concerns for future funding given the current administration?

Wyden – "Ronald Reagan said something like 'trust but verify', we're talking to them and our delegation is going to watchdog this every step of the way to make sure that the funding does come through... I want to make sure that 10 years from now, we've done this right, with South Coast values. We have an opportunity to have high skill, high wage employment. That we've complied with the environmental laws, we've respected the tribes, and have something 10 years from now that people say 'they really did it right'."

Q – You and Congresswoman Hoyle oppose the selling-off of public lands to a mass extent, especially to corporations. Obviously, loss of timber industry has been a huge concern in this region for decades now...

Wyden – "We need, to the best extent possible. multiple use. I like the tribes; the tribes are doing some really good work for my bill on prescribed burns that can put people to work. This is not something where you're going to snap your fingers and all will be well, but there's a lot we can do. We can put more young people to work in the woods too."

Q – I have to ask about the [Palestinian] demonstrators. You spoke about justice particularly, I just want to get your perspective on how you think the U.S. actions have contributed, or maybe taken away justice for the people of Palestine?

Wyden – "I think Netanyahu's proposal to make it a resort area, the Gaza thing, was horrible. I strongly oppose it, and I'm looking for proposals that are going to try to break us out of the gridlock. And that's why I'm using opposition on the finance committee to look at ways to promote a two-state solution."

Bay Area athletes win state titles

JOHN GUNTHER For the World

EUGENE -- Marshfield's Bodey Lutes set a dazzling meet record and anchored the Pirates to another one in a relay and North Bend's Drew Hood and Miles Baxter both won state titles while several other athletes from the two schools had strong finishes in a successful weekend for the Bay Area schools at the state track

Lutes crushed the meet record in the 800 meters with the fastest time in Oregon this

His time Saturday of 1:50.42 easily broke the meet record he had set a day earlier (1:53.40). It was the fastest time of any of the classifications Saturday, the best time in Oregon this year and the 21st best by a high schooler in the country this spring. "My goal was sub-1:50," he said. "I came so, so close. I think with competition I will be there.'

Lutes ran the 800 as a sophomore, but skipped it for the shorter 200 and 400 as a junior. He promised his mom, Coquille legend Amy Nickerson, he would run it once this year, and at the Coos County Meet he broke the school record previously held by Steve Prefontaine.

'To beat Pre's record is No. 1 on the achievement list," Lutes said. "When I think of the GOAT of running, it's Pre. I respect how he ran. I have 10 posters in my room of him.

"It means the world to me." Lutes also has the best time in the 400 in Oregon this year, and anchored the Pirates to a new record in the 4x400 relay with their time of 3:19.94. It broke a mark by Sutherlin that had stood for more than 40

Lutes teamed with Carter McGriff, Chandler Wyatt and Jake Day in both relays, and after a disappointing finish in the first race of the day, the Pirates shined in the final one.

"We had a little bit of a rough start in the 4x1, but we did a great job to bounce back," McGriff said.

"After the 4x1 our attitudes could have dropped," added Wyatt. "It's pretty amazing we could run 3:19."

For North Bend, Baxter dominated the high jump, wrapping up his career with his first state title.

He didn't have any misses through 6 feet, 4 inches, the height that knocked out his final opponent, Brayden Decker of Phoenix.

Baxter moved the bar to 6-6 1/4 and delighted the crowd by clearing it on his third attempt.

Baxter moved the bar up to 6-9 1/4 but wasn't able to get cleanly over it. After his final miss, he said he was proud of his effort.

Baxter also placed fourth in the long jump with a leap of 21-4 1/4.

Hood, one of the busiest athletes in the meet, won her title in the javelin on Friday with a big throw on her final attempt.

Hood's mark of 133-9 moved her past three other throwers. She also won the event on her final throw as a sophomore and placed third as a junior with what was then a new best of 121-5.

The javelin was contested at the same time as the long jump, both just after she qualified for the final in the 100 hurdles, and Hood almost made the final in the long jump, too, but was passed by three other jumpers on their final attempts. She was fine with that.

The long jump was a fun fourth event to do," she said. "I knew it was going to take a lot (doing both). I wanted to save all my energy for the javelin."

She'll have plenty of time to improve on the long jump as a heptathlete at Southern Oregon University.

On Saturday, Hood had a big personal best in the hurdles, finishing fourth in 15.57. She also was fifth in the triple jump, leaping 35-5 1/4.

best of 10:26.41, finishing behind a pair of La Grande runners. "I can't be unhappy, I PRed," she said. "My goal was to go out and win, but I can't be unhappy."

On Saturday, she placed fourth in the 1,500 with a time of 4:50.67, making the podium after just missing as a freshman and sophomore.

JOHN GUNTHER For the World

> EUGENE -- Holli Vigue capped her stellar career at Coquille with one final state title.

Vigue, who starts at West Point in the fall, won the discus for the third year in a row at the state meet. Her winning mark of 135 feet, 3 inches was better than her winning throws the past two seasons, but not as good as recent meets. She had her lifetime best 143-7 at the district meet the week before state.

Vigue wasn't thrilled with her mark, but was quick to say, "I am Ok with winning."

Four of her six throws were better than the best mark of runner-up Caitlyn Horrell of Burns.

On Friday, Vigue had a big throw in the shot put, but not big enough to repeat her title in that event from last spring.

Her mark of 38 feet on her final attempt wasn't enough to catch Siuslaw's Danin Lacouture, who threw 38-7, or Kinlee Davis of Cascade Christian, who threw 38-4 3/4.

"My form has been off," said Vigue, who also won the shot put last year. "It's what it is."

As a team, Coquille had four different girls place fourth or better in events. After winning the past three team titles, the Red Devils just missed a trophy, falling one point short of fourthplace Valley Catholic.

Freshman Ella Henthorn had a big highlight in the first event on the track, running a huge personal best of 10 minutes, 2.93 seconds to finish second in the 3,000 meters.

"It was pretty awesome," she said, adding that her goal was not necessarily a time, but to stick with Lauren Tittel of Oregon Episcopal. They battled for second place behind Valley Catholic's Jaya Simmons until Henthorn pulled ahead in the final 200 meters.

Henthorn was fifth in the 1,500 in 4:51.09.

Emelia Wirebaugh became a four-time state placer in the triple jump for the Red Devils, taking fourth with a mark of 34-9 1/2. She finished behind three jumpers who all set personal or season bests, including winner Paige Owens of Lakeview who soared 36-10 1/4.

In the pole vault, Ada Millet cleared the first four heights on her first attempt and set a new personal best, clearing 9-7 1/4 to place fourth. Millet placed sixth in the event last year.

Millet did not get a chance to defend her title in the 300 hurdles because none of Coquille's coaches noticed that she had been added to the 400 as a wildcard entry when a runner from another league dropped out of the event Tuesday. When she didn't show up for the start of that, she was disqualified from all her remaining events.

Coquille competed in both relays, but did not place. Freshman Bristol Layton nearly made the final in the long jump, but was passed by three other athletes on their final attempts, including one who edged her out of the final spot because she had a better second mark after they both had the same best mark.

Both Class 3A titles were won by one point in dramatic fashion by teams that set meet records in the final event.

Creswell won the girls title by running a record 3:57.31 and beat Banks 56-55 for the team title. The Braves were third in the relay, just behind Sisters.

In the boys team race, meanwhile, Burns led Siuslaw by a single point entering the relay. Because Siuslaw ran a relatively poor time in its district meet, the VIkings were in the first heat, but they proceeded to set a new meet record with their time of 3:22.43.

Then, in the second heat, Burns nearly matched the Vikings, crossing the line in 3:22.64, also under the old record. That gave Siuslaw an 89-88 edge in the final team standings.

Bandon girls win third straight state title

JOHN GUNTHER For the World

EUGENE -- Bandon's girls were widely expected to win their third straight Class 2A state title at Hayward Field.

The Tigers did that, along the way having three athletes win events and set meet

Bandon amassed 91 points, far ahead of runner-up Salem Academy.

The Tigers loaded up Makenna Vierck and Marley Petrey in the 100, 200 and long jump and, with their other individual events, the two combined to score 68 total points.

Vierck was named athlete of the meet after winning the 100 (12.66 seconds) and 200 (25.77) and finishing second in the high jump (4 feet, 11 1/2 inches) and long jump (16-10 1/2). She set a meet record in the 200 during the prelims Thursday with her time of 25.28.

Petrey, meanwhile, was second to Vierck in the 100 (12.86) and 200 (26.13) and third in the long jump (15-11 1/2). The junior set a meet record while winning the 300 hurdles for the second straight year, running Petrey won athlete of the year honors as a freshman and sophomore, but was happy to see her senior teammate win it.

"She did amazing," Petrey said. "To be able to lose to one of my closest friends and teammates -- that's a privelidge."

Vierck missed her sophomore season to an injury and was nursing a different injury all through her junior season. She never lost faith that she could do well.

"I was confident going into the season," Vierck said, adding that she expected to be successful once she got into shape.

Bandon coach Brent Hutton was happy to see her excel, both as an athlete and a team leader.

"It was really good to see Makenna just step up," he said. "This was her first year to be full throttle."

Bandon's third champion and record setter was junior Caitlyn Michalek, who repeated as javelin champion with a new best of 141-1.

"It was awesome," Michalek said of her new record. "That was my goal for this year."

Michalek also placed eighth in the high jump (4-7 3/4). Giada Moore placed in three events for the Tigers. The sophomore was fifth in the triple jump (32-9 3/4) and pole vault (8 feet) and placed third in the 300 hurdles behind

"Giada is an untapped talent," Hutton

Winning a third team title was sweet, said Vierck, who will play basketball for Linn-Benton Community College.

"It's really great," she said. "I appreciate how awesome our school is at supporting the athletes and how good our coaches

Bandon's boys also had a state champion.

Noah Brown won the pole vault on the opening day, clearing 13-8 1/2.

The sophomore was joined on the podium by younger brother Jonah Brown, who was fifth (12-6 3/4) and freshman Beckett Pahls, who was seventh (11-5).

"That was amazing," Noah Brown said. "It's great to have teammates up there, too."

Tyler Senn added a sixth-place finish in the triple jump for the Tigers, soaring 40-4

Myrtle Point had a trio of placers in the meet.

Jayme Padgett was third in the discus (110-10), Jadelin Warner was eighth in the javelin (103-11) and Brody Ligons placed fourth in the boys long jump (20-7).

Reedsport's Thomas Morgan was fourth in the 200 with a time of 23.00 and eighth in the 100 in 11.38.

Area's baseball, softball teams lose in playoffs

Petrey, running a new best 45.86.

The South Coast's final teams in the baseball playoffs, Myrtle Point and Reedsport, both were eliminated with losses in the Class 2A-1A quarterfinals on Friday. Myrtle Point, which was the No. 5 seed for the playoffs, suffered a tough 8-7 loss at No. 4 Knappa.

The Loggers overcame a 6-0 deficit against the Bobcats, and scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh to win, advancing to the semifinals Tuesday against top-ranked Umpqua Valley Christian, which blanked Irrigon 16-0 on Friday.

Reedsport, meanwhile, lost at home to Portland Christian, the Cinderella story of the playoffs this spring.

The Royals, who beat the Brave 3-1, won three road games last week to reach the semifinals, where they will be on the road again Tuesday against No. 2 Kennedy. The Trojans beat the combined Monroe/Alsea team 11-4 on Area baseball teams eliminated from playoffs The baseball teams from Myrtle Point and Reedsport and the softball team from Powers all won one playoff game last week before being eliminated from their respective postseasons. They were the only South Coast teams to win playoff contests.

Playing at home, Myrtle Point opened the Class 2A-1A playoffs with a 4-0 shutout win over Lowell.

The Bobcats were eliminated Friday by Knappa 8-7 as the Loggers rallied from an early 6-0 deficit and then scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh to win.

The World Stage: Wildflower Pub

BY EMILY WEST Contributing Columnist

Entering the Wildflour Pub by the front entrance and by the staff entrance both lead you into spaces that welcome you with familiarity and invite you to experience something new. In the bright, spacious dining room, tables are set with both black linen and rustic butcher paper, setting a tone of informal luxury, while the menu treats American classics with just as much care as local, fresh-caught seafood. The menu offers more vegan and gluten free options than any other menu of this caliber in Coos County, and the pricing here squarely beats the value of other celebration spots. Owners John and Tara Moore- a dynamic husband-and-wife duo – operate their business with a clear dedication not only to their craft but also to their culture. While any restaurant can survive on industry excellence alone, the Wildflour Pub is defined by the excellence of its people to one another.

This kitchen goes above and beyond industry standards of sanitation, safety, and artistry. Every surface- even the most neglected corners -is sparkling. When I visited, the walk-in fridge and dry storage were brimming with nearly double the usual inventory to prepare for the upcoming menu change, but everything was still completely organized. Beyond that, I could tell that the staff were not just putting on a show for my visit; multiple sets of pans and other tools used to keep food from cross contaminating showed signs of clear, consistent side-by-side use. I know that anyone with food allergies is safe to enjoy themselves at the Wildflour. Not to mention how much care they put into their recipes- time and money that could be saved by ordering frozen fries or bulk ground beef is spent cutting fresh potatoes and grinding quality rib roast for burgers- and those are the simplest items on offer here. The restaurant business is known for struggling with issues like staff retention, work efficiency, and workplace culture. At the Wildflour Pub, however, these are areas of great strength. This staff's retention rate is unheard-of in the service industry. Multiple staff members in both front and back of house report being retained for three years (since opening day) in an industry where a single year's stay is considered unusually long. Having consistent staff means that this restaurant's service and menu are operating at a much higher level than in other establishments. All this is because of Chef Tara's leadership. In a trade where inhumanly demanding schedules are the norm, Tara commits to remaining open only four ten-hour dinner services a week, so that she can offer each of her employees a full-time schedule and a three-day rest. No usual squabbles between opening waitstaff about who completed what side work during last night's closing shift- all are present and responsible for all, and this dignifies the work. Furthermore, chefs are widely known for mistreating staff and working them like dogs, but Chef Tara prioritizes her staff's humanity above all.

"I've worked for so many people like that," Tara told me, referencing the machismo chef archetype; "I really didn't want to do that. I want to work with people when they struggle."

This desire is especially visible in the case of one prep cook, Leanna, whose schedule is determined by the days she feels able to work and the days she is too ill from chemotherapy to prepare food. "I gave her a set of keys, and she lets herself in," Tara told

Leanna is celebrated among her coworkers as a master of doing more with less, producing high quality soups seemingly out of "This is the best job I've had in twenty years of working kitchens," Leanna insisted through a cloud of steam as she stirred; "The peacefulness of this place on an early morning is just incredible." Despite being a person with a life (and we all know that every life comes with struggles), Leanna is a valuable member of the Wildflour team in the way that makes the most sense for her. Restaurant workplace norms would have found a non-medical reason to replace her; Tara Moore's entire operation is better and more human because the Wildflour retained Leanna.

With such a consistent team, the usual challenge of work efficiency is a strength. The simplicity of entrusting each staff member with their station for the whole operating schedule means that everyone is practiced and that their tasks are more predictable and repeatable, saving precious energy. This was clear in the writing of the inventory list-- a task known to take upwards of half an hour from the chef's daily duties. Not so here. Tara announced that she intended to make a grocery run, prompted everyone to check if they needed anything, recorded a few answers, and managed the whole affair in less than five minutes. The harmony of a long-term staff allows next-level efficiency, a benefit that ensures not only that more is done with less time, but that the team has the bandwidth to perform consistently at a more sophisticated level.

So much of what the Wildflour Pub is able to accomplish comes from its relationship with the most taboo of all topics: money. John and Tara know that profits are a long-term result of consistent excellence, and they routinely run fundraisers like the Mother's Day Brunch they served to benefit the local hospice. Every time John and Tara's business offers them a choice between profit as the owners or the benefit of the whole team, they prioritize their team. In the spring, when a difficult shift involving a team member needing urgent medical attention rattled her staff, Tara called off the following day's dinner service. She and her team personally called fifty-two reservations to explain that the pub needed to recuperate from a traumatizing experience, and when that missed dinner shift generated no profits, the staff still received pay for their usual hours. When I asked John what he considered to be the greatest achievement of the Wildflour Pub, he said, point-blank, "I give back to my community, and I pay my employees a fair wage. Despite all its achievements, the Wildflour Pub's crowning glory is its workplace culture. Ask anyone who has worked among waiters, bartenders, or cooks and they will tell you that restaurants tend to be poor examples of prosocial behavior. Tara Moore knew that wasn't what she wanted for the Wildflour Pub.

"Kindness is a top-down policy around here," Lauren remarked to me as she set up the final touches of the bar for service.

Jocelyn and Sydney, lead servers, explained this as they set up the coffee station: "This place is anti-toxic. You can't help but care about each other in a place like this."

The Wildflour also powerfully rejects the industry norms of substance abuse and self-neglect. The former homeless, former addicts, and those recovering from pasts fraught with mental health struggles and toxic work environments are all banded together in the dignity of good work done by good people.

"Sometimes we joke that this place is really just 'Tara's Home For Wayward Chefs'," chuckled Adam as he deftly filleted the fresh-caught local Chinook Salmon; "I was beginning to heal before I got here, but I never would have grown this much if it wasn't for this place."

This restaurant demonstrates the truth that skill isn't the only key to success— no one truly achieves success alone, and the quality of one's relationships with others can be the deciding factor between a full, successful life and an empty, tired one. Tara and John could have stayed within the norms of the industry and prioritized more immediate profits over the quality of their staff and menu. But the Wildflour Pub is not merely bound by industry norms— it is bound by human decency and a belief that a good meal should be something to gather around.

North Bend awarded $2.49 million state grant for seismic upgrades to fire station

North Bend, Ore. — The City of North Bend has been awarded a $2,493,090 grant from the state of Oregon to perform critical seismic upgrades to its primary fire station, located at 1880 McPherson

The funding comes from the state's competitive Seismic Rehabilitation Grant Program (SRGP), administered by Business improve the resiliency of essential public buildings, including public schools and emergency service facilities, in the event of a

The North Bend Fire constructed in 1965, currently serves as the city's central fire response hub. According to a recent engineering assessment, the facility has several seismic vulnerabilities that could compromise its functionality following a significant seismic event.

Planned upgrades include the installation of

The SRGP is a statewide program that prioritizes retrofits for schools and first-responder buildings. In the most recent funding round, grants were emergency service facilities across Oregon. North Bend's application, which featured a benefitcost ratio of 1.37, was among the highest scoring. The total estimated cost of the retrofit is $2.49 million. According to city officials, construction will be phased over the next 24 months and will include design, permitting, and site work coordinated with HGE Architecture and DCI Engineers. The city's fire station retrofit aligns with North Bend's broader efforts to enhance resilience and protect critical infrastructure in the face of natural disasters.

As I See It

By Mary Schamehorn

CARDS

I found the first picture I am sharing in my uncle's collection of old Western World photos. This print came from a 4x5 negative from the Erwin Kimble collection and was taken around 1916 or 1917.

I searched the digitized copies of the paper and found an ad for the Parkersburg Dairy in a 1916 paper.

It reads: "Rich Milk and Cream delivered daily to your door. Parkersburg Dairy, Sanito Grocery, headquarters, Phone 5056.'

The sign in front of the horses reads: "Wheeler Studio, fine portraits, local views and cards.'

The second photo of an elephant on the Bandon beach was taken 44 years ago and appeared inside the July 29, 1981, issue of Western World.

"From Clydesdale horses to elephants ... the Bandon Beach has been a popular spot for the unusual this summer, so when someone called Western World last Tuesday to say they'd seen an elephant walking on the beach ... we weren't surprised.

"It turned out to be Akili, a four-year-old African elephant, whose owner was exercising her on the South Jetty Beach. Owner/trainer Dotty Olson, right, was in Bandon giving rides at West Coast Game Park last week. It made the photographer cringe a bit when he watched Akili take several big drinks of sea water ... but the friendly animal seemed to think it was a novelty.

"Mrs. Olson and her husband, Ralph, own Dotty's Game Safari in Etna, Calif."

The third picture was taken 57 years ago and appeared on the front page of the May 16, 1968, Western World.

'Minus tides brought out the razor clam diggers in the Bandon area, in the vicinity of the Table Rock beach, over the weekend ... with the low tides continuing through today. The minus tide reached 2.3 minus Tuesday morning and clam diggers were in abundance.

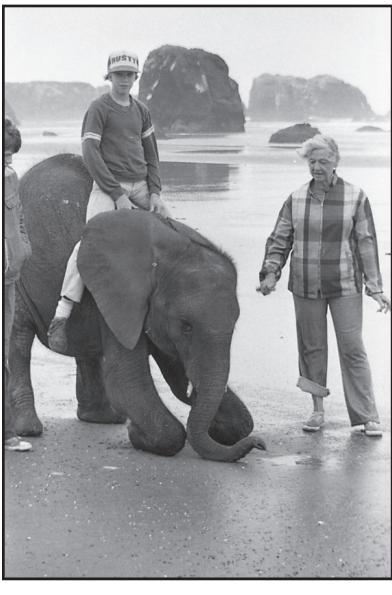

'Grace (Mrs. Elmer) Gant, third photo, and her husband were a couple of many successful diggers. The razor clam, unlike its kin the Empire clam, makes every effort to elude the digger providing an exciting, scurry into the sand. A small, tell-tale hole in the sand tells the clam digger that somewhere below a clam is hiding. After the first shovelful of sand, the clam is on his way H.C., taught piano to many down ... and if the digger isn't fast enough, he'll lose his game. It is not widely known that razor clams can be dug in the Bandon area."

I also found a great photo of Lilly Messerli, which didn't make it into the paper but was part of a series of negatives taken that morning. Her husband, of us during the '50s and the '60s.

The makeup of the Bandon School Board will change as of July 1, based on the unofficial results of the election. Corrie Gant defeated board member David Hisel 1200 to 806; Claudia Dobney Powers defeated incumbent Stan Avery 1186 to 832, and board member Jon Sullivan appears to have defeated challenger Matt Whitmer by 34 votes (917 to 883). In another contested local election, Lori Osborne defeated incumbent Rick Goche 1318 to 1202 for a seat on the Bandon port commission.

In other closely watched elections, it appears that four of the five members of the Bay Area Hospital board will be new, including Dr. John Uno, Kyle Stevens, Brandon Saada and Simon Alonzo

The incumbents, Marcia Jensen, Jeremy Skinner, Chris Haynsworth and Maria Sudduth, were re-elected to the SWOCC board, while the incumbents were also re-elected to the ESD board.

There are 49,509 registered voters in Coos County, with 26.92 percent (13,328) voting in the May 20 election.

As of Sunday evening, it appears that no one has been arrested in connection with the bust last week at West Coast Game Park, which resulted in the re-location of the more than 300 animals in the park. Because of their condition, three were euthanized.

A call came across the scanner May 24 that a deputy was out with a vehicle over the embankment on Seven Devils Road at milepost 13. The report indicated that it was a vertical cliff, and the vehicle, a blue F150 pickup, was being held by trees, with about a hundred foot drop.

"Driver fled the scene when he realized someone had called it in. He was gone by the time deputies arrived on scene."

A short time later, someone called dispatch claiming his truck was stolen while he was in it, and then wrecked it.

The Bandon High School boys golf team won the 3A/2A/1A championship for the second straight year, with the event held at Pumpkin Ridge Golf Club in North Plains, Or. Members of the team, and their finish in individual play, were Sevren Quinn, a sophomore, second; Peyton Simonds, senior, third; Braedon Millhouser, sophomore, sixth; Jackson Simonds, freshman, 15th, and Trask Wehner, freshman, 35th. The team is coached by Scott Millhouser. As a team, they shot a school record 292.

DALE'S ATHLETE'S FOOT PERSISTS

Clifford Gould Nading

December 7, 1932 - May 9, 2025

Clifford Gould Nading passed away peacefully on May 9, 2025, at the age of 92.

Clifford was born on December 7, 1932, in Oroville, California, to Virgil Nading and Maxine Lane. He lived in Arizona and New Mexico as a child, and his family moved to Oregon during his teenage years.

On February 21, 1951, Cliff married Martha Jaehnig and they lived in Coos Bay, Oregon, where they raised their four children: Gail, Michael, Robin, and Laurie. One unique life adventure was when Cliff bought a chicken farm in the late 60's and all the kids became chicken farmers for a while.

Cliff devoted numerous years to volunteering as a firefighter in Coos Bay, Oregon, where he enjoyed contributing to the community and made lifelong friendships. It was a regular thing to hear the "plectron" (emergency alert radio receiver) go off, then see our Dad run out the door.

Cliff was known for his great sense of humor; he loved to joke and play pranks (especially on his relatives). He loved golfing and hunting, and his deep appreciation for wildlife and nature remained a constant throughout his life.

In his final years, Cliff found joy and companionship with Donna Ellison, a sweet and caring presence in his life. Donna's love, kindness and support brightened his days.

Clifford was preceded in death by his former wife, Martha; his daughters, Gail Sinclair and Laurie Noriega; Gail's husband, Dennis Sinclair; his parents; his brothers, Virgil and Keith; his sister, Patricia; and his beloved partner, Sharon Doolittle. He is survived by his son, Michael (and Penny) Nading, and his daughter, Robin (and Larry) Walton, along with many grandchildren and great-grandchildren, whom he loved and delighted in teasing always, and many much-loved nieces and nephews.

As per his wishes, no service will be held. Those who wish to honor his memory may send contributions to either of the Coos Bay Fire & Rescue funds.

Coos Bay Fire & Rescue Attn: Scholarship Fund or Equipment Fund

450 Elrod Avenue Coos Bay, OR 97420

Cliff will be remembered for his warmth, his humor, his love of the outdoors, and his devotion to family and community. His legacy of laughter, hard work, generosity, love for family, and so many other things will live on in his kids and grandkids and all their children. We miss him so much.

Delores Patricia Glover, lovingly known as "Pat," passed away peacefully on January 4, 2025, at the age of 91.

Born in Roseburg, Oregon, Pat spent most of her life in Reedsport before moving to assisted living in Coos Bay in her later years. She was a devoted wife, mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother whose warmth and steady presence touched everyone she met.

She married Emerald Glover in 1965, and together they raised two children. Brett Glover and Karen Baldwin. Emerald preceded her in death in 2017. Pat was previously married to Ted Gillem, and thev shared three children: Jack Gillem, Arleen Hammett, and Thomas Gillem.

She is survived by her five children, five grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

A graveside service to honor Pat's life will be held on Saturday, June 21, 2025, at the Reedsport Masonic Cemetery. All rain in April for the same period was in 2017 when 11.60 inches were recorded. March 2025 recorded 18.25 inches.

The City of Bandon learned last week that the Oregon Department of Aviation has received a $500,190 federal grant for runway and taxiway improvements to the Bandon State Airport.

The project reseals 3,600 feet of existing runway and 4,083 feet of existing Taxiway. The grant funds phase 2, which consists of construction.

"This is a tremendous win for the greater Bandon community and a critical step toward maintaining and extending the useful life of this vital transportation asset," said City Manager Torrey Contreras.

Kristy Bowman posted this week that her brother, John "Jack" Bowman, a member of the Class of 1956, had died in Wisconsin, where he made his home.

John Watkins posted that his wife, Teri Cottor Watkins, 55, died recently, and that a service would be held June 1 at the Oddfellows building at 1 p.m. for family and friends. She was the daughter of Dixie Van Leuven and Leo Cottor and was a 1988 graduate of Bandon High. In addition to her husband, she is survived by two sons and a daughter. Nick Schoeppner, manger of Bullards Beach State Park, announced this week that despite the contractors best efforts, Face Rock Viewpoint would remain closed through the Memorial Day weekend due to a number of holes/trenches throughout the viewpoint area that need to be backfilled. The park opened Wednesday (May 28) for the Circles in the Sand event. The stairs to the beach remained open via the gravel trail on the south side of the park.

Late last Wednesday night, fire departments were paged out to two fires in Langlois, one a structure and the other a local garage business.

On Thursday, Sixes Fire posted on Facebook that they were tapped out the previous night for an RV structure fire as mutual aid to Langlois. Just as all the firefighters got home and went to bed, they were tapped out again, along with Port Orford and Curry Tender Task Force, for a fire at Vanwormer's garage. A number of fire departments from Coos and Curry were tapped out with equipment and personnel for the garage, owned by Eric and Katie King-Vanwormer. The garage was a total loss, and according to several Facebook posters, arson is suspected. An account has been set up at Rogue Credit Union to assist the Vanwormers.

The resident of the RV was Krystle Figels, who lost everything in the fire, including her cat, according to a friend's Facebook post.

Although the Rite Aid pharmacy closed on May 22, the store remained open, with greatly reduced prices, through the end of May.

The Meet and Greet for Tuesday, May 27, at Bandon Fisheries Warehouse featured Mike Claassen talking about the Bandon Senior Center.

Retired attorney Harry Slack will be the June 3 program talking about World War II in Bandon and the historical fiction he wrote, "Lost in the Surf." He will also introduce his new book "Noah Rising."

Southern Coos Hospital and Health Center will sponsor the June 10 Meet and Greet, featuring Jeremy Brown, pharmacy director.

The program for June 17, sponsored by Bandon History Museum, will tell the story of the June 1914 Fire which burned a block of businesses along the waterfront. Seating opens at 11:30 with the programs to begin at noon.

Other events: On Wednesday, June 18, the chamber will hold a ribbon cutting at 4:30 p.m. at the Southern Coos Hospital and Health Center for the hospital pharmacy, which is expected to open soon. It will be followed by a chamber mixer at 5 p.m. in the lobby of the hospital, sponsored by the hospital and the chamber.

A Gem and Mineral show will be held at the Barn on June 7th and 8th.

On Saturday, June 14, from 1 to 2:30 p.m., BHS alumni are invited to share cake and coffee at Theresa Hall (back of St. John's Episcopal Church) with a charge of $7 at the door. RSVP to Sharon Ward Moy moy seaglass@msn.com.

The Greater Bandon Association and the chamber will host the wine and art walk on Friday evening, June 20.

Art By The Sea will hold an artist's reception June 7. from 2 to 4, for its new show, "All About the Ocean," with Cindy Pinnock as the featured artist.

Shakespeare in the Park

June 21 & 22 • 3:00pm June 28 & 29 · 3:00pm

Mingus Park 725 N. 10th Street

In its 10th year of presenting free Shakespeare plays, Coos Bay Shakespeare in the Park will present "A Midsummer Night's Dream" two consecutive weekends. "Midsummer Night's Dream" is a play about love. "The course of true love never did run smooth." This beloved story reveals that although love can be as absurd, confounding, disorderly, and changeable as a dream (and that mingling with fairies never goes easily on mortal folk), true love triumphs in the end, bringing happiness and harmony.

There is no charge but donations will be gratefully accepted, and sponsorships are still available. Bring your own seating to enjoy the play and support these local volunteer thespians.

State secures habitat conservation plan, permits for the Elliott State Research Forest

The HCP is Oregon's first for public forest lands, and key as research forest operations begin.

SALEM, Ore. – Oregon's Elliott State Research Forest has achieved another major milestone and first for Oregon.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and NOAA Fisheries today announced approval of the habitat conservation plan for the research forest and issuance of Endangered Species Act permits for implementing the plan over the next 80 years.

The HCP is the state's first for public forest lands, and key as the Elliott begins actively operating in 2025 as Oregon's first state research forest.

"Oregon's Elliott State Research Forest is continuing to lead the way," said Governor Tina Kotek. "With this habitat conservation plan comes certainty that innovative research, economic and environmental benefits, and wildlife protection can all be achieved on the Elliott for decades to come."

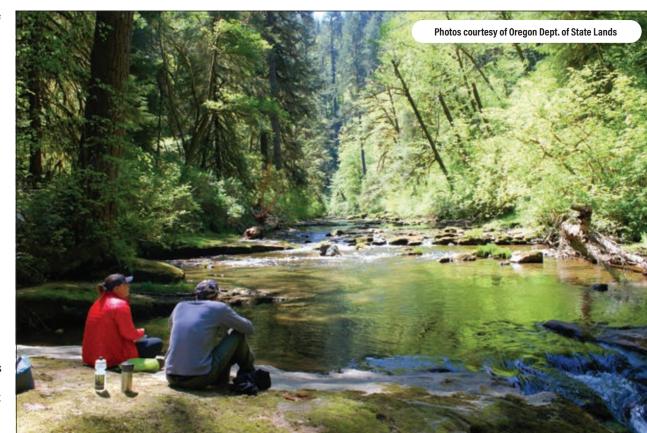

"The habitat conservation plan supports our state partners in innovative forest research and timber production compatible with species conservation," said Bridget Fahey, Acting Regional Director for the Pacific Region of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. "We're looking forward to working with the state for another 80 years of conservation."

HCPs ensure compliance with the federal Endangered Species Act, mapping out both specific management activities that may impact protected species and conservation commitments that protect those species and their habitat over time. Timber harvest and habitat restoration projects are among the activities covered by the approved HCP, which supports operation of the Elliott as a working research forest.

A 2012 lawsuit over protected species halted timber harvest on the Elliott, and ultimately led to the State Land Board's vision of a publicly owned research forest that would contribute multiple benefits to Oregon.

"The future of the Elliott has always been about Oregonians coming together to chart a course that represents what's best about our state - fulfilling our obligations to school kids, protecting public lands, research that benefits our rural communities, and providing predictable access to timber off this forest. This HCP is foundational to that effort, and its approval is a vote of confidence from our federal partners," said Secretary of State Tobias

The Department of State Lands, guided by a public Elliott State Research Forest Board of Directors, will now oversee the 83,000-acre Elliott as a national center for forest science and management. In October 2024, the State Land Board approved the initial research forest calls for benefits that include protecting and restoring habitat, supporting local economies by resuming timber harvest, enhancing opportunities for recreation and education, and promoting opportunities for Indigenous forest stewardship and research.

As a research forest, the Elliott will advance a business model and social, economic, and ecological research of national and international relevance to how forest management can support many public benefits. Integrating an HCP and voluntary carbon project on public land, as the research forest will, also represents a first for the nation.

Treasurer Elizabeth
Steiner said, "the Elliot
State Research Forest embodies the values that make Oregon unique:
people working together to safeguard our children's future and the forests that we depend on. The habitat conservation plan shows what we can do when we work together to advance
these values."

DSL is currently finalizing the initial Elliott operations plan, which outlines timber harvest, restoration projects, road maintenance, and other anticipated activities over the next two years. The operations plan implements the approved forest management plan and includes activities allowed under the HCP. The permit issued by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service covers incidental take of the threatened marbled murrelet and northern spotted owl. The permit issued by NOAA Fisheries covers incidental take of threatened Oregon Coast coho salmon.

Keith Tymchuk, who serves as chair of the Elliott State Research Forest Board of Directors, said ongoing collaboration by many has been essential to the success of the research

"The Elliott is a treasure, and for over seven years now, Oregonians representing many different walks of life have been working to craft a future that fits it. The HCP has always been a huge part of completing our move past the gridlock and standing up the transformation to a research forest," Tymchuk said. "I'd like to thank Gov. Kotek and the Land Board, Director Walker, ESRF Manager Goodding and the terrific DSL staff, and our collaborative partners from all circles—past and present—for their vision, dedication, persistence and hard work to get us to this

Officer Scottie Lathrom recognized for two decades of dedication and public safety leadership

North Bend Police Officer Scottie Lathrom was honored Tuesday night during the City Council meeting for 20 years of dedicated service to the city and its residents.

Police Chief Cal Mitts presented Lathrom with a commemorative plaque, recognizing his two decades of contributions to the department. "Scottie has been with the department in several important roles over the years — beginning as a reserve officer, then as a dispatcher, and now serving for many years as a full-time police officer," Mitts said. "We are incredibly grateful for his unwavering commitment."

The plaque reads, in part, "With heartfelt appreciation, we extend our deepest gratitude for your commitment and invaluable contributions to the North Bend Police Department and the City of North Bend — 2005 to 2025."

Lathrom, named the department's Traffic Officer of the Year for 2024, made 1,223 traffic stops over the past year, a reflection of his dedication to proactive enforcement and public safety education.

"Scottie sets the standard," Mitts said. "He's not just enforcing the law — he's making a difference. He's a role model in our department and in the community we serve."

The ceremony concluded with a round of applause and group photos, capturing a milestone in a career devoted to protecting and serving North Bend.
