Rare find along Oregon beach

JEREMY C. RUARK
Country Media, Inc.

A deep-sea angler fish, called a Pacific football fish (Himantoliphus sagamius) has been found by local beachcombers just south of Cannon Beach.

Living in complete darkness, at 2,000 -3,300 feet, these fish are rarely seen, according to the Seaside Aquarium.

"In fact, only 31 specimens have been recorded around the world," the Aquarium operators state in a Facebook post. "While a handful of football fish have been recorded in New Zealand, Japan, Russia, Hawaii, Ecuador, Chile, and California this is the first one reported on the Oregon Coast to our knowledge."

Little is known about the football fish history but what is known is unusually fascinating, the Aquarium officials write.

"Like other angler fish, the outback fist use light that shines from a phosphorescent bulb on their forehead to attract prey," the Facebook post reads. "Food at the depths that these guys peruse can be very sparse, so football fish are not picky eaters. They eat anything that can fit into their mouths."

Only females actively hunt as the males are more like parasites. Males being 10 times smaller than females, find a female to fuse themselves to, according to the Aquarium.

"They lose their eyes and internal organs, getting all their nutrients from their female partners. In return, they provide females with a steady source of sperm," the Facebook post states. "How the males find the females in the pitch dark is still unknown."

Mayfly Fest sees sunshine and large crowd

Coos Bay Watershed Association representatives said the 2024 event was the biggest and perhaps most successful Mayfly Festival yet, with an estimated 500+ attendees and nearly 30 activity booths.

The World

The sun came out for the Coos Watershed Association's annual Mayfly Festival, and so did hundreds of community supporters.

"This was our biggest and perhaps most successful Mayfly Festival yet, with an estimated 500+ attendees and nearly 30 activity booths, which is almost twice the number we've had in the past," said Alexa Carleton, CoosWa's Outreach Program Manager.

Carleton said she and her fellow staff members were grateful for the 15 returning booth leaders who set up at Mingus Park, as well as the 10 new ones who joined the festival in 2024.

The new booths at the Mayfly Festival included representatives from North Bay Elementary, Lighthouse School, Elakha Alliance, Coos Bay and North Bend Public Libraries, U.S. Forest Service featuring Smokey the Bear, Rogue Climate, Creek Kids, Outgrown/Little Creek Bilingual School, and the South Coast Equity Coalition.

"We were thrilled to welcome Sly & Company as our headliner band this year," Carleton said.

"We also had amazing and talented kids from Christ Lutheran Church and School who gave an incredible musical performance during our opening ceremony. They took the words to 'Under the Sea' and changed them to be about plastic pollution. It was really sweet and well done," she said.

More than 50 volunteers also came together to make the event a success.

"We are grateful to our community for prioritizing an event that is focused on science education and connections. Our healthy watershed depends on a healthy community to take care of it, and you are all part of this now," Carleton said.

Robert Deneil

November 21, 1979 – March 17, 2024

Born to Robert Sr and Kimberly Deneil on November 21st, 1979, Bobby was raised in Coos Bay, Oregon where he attended Marshfield High School. An outstanding athlete, who excelled in all sports and activities, he was a key player in the success of his 4 stellar Pirate seasons and lettered in football and track before graduating in 1998.

As a youth, Bobby loved to be outdoors on adventures with friends, playing games and riding bikes. That love led to a life as a talented outdoorsman. Bobby took every opportunity to hunt, fish, camp, and white-water raft. He was an accomplished surfer and loved to surprise you with hidden talents such as riding a unicycle, walking great distances on his hands, killing it at karaoke, or busting out some serious moves on the dance floor. In quiet times he was an expert agate finder, beautiful artist, and seeker of knowledge. Although Bobby greatly enjoyed all of these things, and so much more, his most treasured part of his life was his family and friends. Bobby knew that life was meant to be shared with others; filled with laughter, love, and kindness. He never met a stranger and was a positive impact on uncountable lives. His laugh was infectious and his hugs were legendary. He was a compassionate listener. Bobby was an amazing son, brother, partner, uncle, and friend. His gentle spirit whispered to all animals, of which he had many, but none that he loved as much as his faithful sidekick, Leroy Brown.

Bobby worked in various facets of the construction field, often with his best friend, Corey Stemmerman, with whom he attended Swift Water Rescue school at Lucas Lodge. There he met the love of his life, Jennifer Northup. They moved to Agness when she became GM of the lodge and soon after Bobby discovered his true calling when he began guiding for Noah's on the Wild and Scenic Rogue River Canyon. Bobby flourished in his life on the river and felt privileged to share the experience and wonder of the off-the-grid wilderness experience. When not running and fishing the river, he called Lucas Lodge his home, and was instrumental in helping Jennifer care for the lodge and provide outstanding guests experiences.

Bobby is survived by parents Robert "Bob" Deneil Sr. and Michelle Deneil of Coos Bay, OR. Grandpa Gary Barnes, of Myrtle Point. Partner, Jennifer Northup. Sisters Kendall Rowe and Jennifer Solano. Nieces and nephews, Maximus, Calliope, Anneliese, Samuel, Shyann and Nathaniel (of whom he was so proud and loved dearly), his dogs Leroy, Winston, Augustus, and Azora, and his extended family made up of countless cherished friends.

There to greet him on the other side was his mother Kimberly, grandparents Al and Betty Morey, June Dausel, and Sue Barnes.

Paul also worked for 20 years for Tompkins and Weeks driving oil tanker trucks. Paul was a longtime member of the Coquille Valley Elks.

In 1979 Paul met Judy, a lady that took his eye and would become his wife. In 2010 they sold their mobile home and hit the road for 10 years. They spent 7 winters down in Pahrump, Nevada. After traveling Paul was having some heart issues so they returned to Lakeside for 2 years. During that time Paul's health continued to decline so they left the fifth wheel and in May of 2023 they moved into Evergreen Independent Living in North Bend.

Paul is survived by his wife, Judy; brother-in-law, Mike Lougheed of Medford; several nephews; and his little lap companion, Jasper.

Paul was preceded in death by his parents, Virgil and Grace Weeks; brother, Steve Weeks; and sister-in-law, Faye Weeks.

Duane Everett Wright

December 5, 1934 – May 20, 2024

On May 20, 2024 Duane Everett Wright passed away during heart surgery at Coos Bay, Oregon.

Duane was born December 5, 1934 to parents, William and Wilma Wright, joining two brothers. In 1937 the dust bowl caused them to leave Kansas and move to Oregon. They built a house up Gold Creek near Willamina. Shortly after another brother was to join the family.

Duane walked to school at Gold Creek, which was only a one-room holding all eight grades. After graduating grade school, he attended Willamina High School, where he had the honor of being state champion javelin thrower. After graduating, he joined the U.S. Army as the Korean War was going on. He was a Sergeant and worked for a Colonel in classified information. After an honorable discharge from the Army, he married Joyce Lambert of Willamina, Oregon on June 15, 1957. The next day they drove to Coos Bay, Oregon, where Duane had a job working at Coos Head Plywood. He retired from there after 30 years employment. He was proud to be one of the men to get a pension for Coos Head employees. He then went to work for Oregon State Parks and retired from there. He and Joyce had three children, Mark, Darren and Connie.

Duane was an avid hunter and fisherman. He taught his children how to hunt and fish at an early age.

Duane leaves behind his wife, Joyce; son, Darren of Roseburg, Oregon; daughter, Connie and son-in-law, Stuart Mitchell of North Bend, Oregon; four grandchildren, Jesse and Shannon Wright of Roseburg, Oregon and Thomas and Jacob Mitchell of North Bend, Oregon.

He was preceded in death by his parents, three brothers; son, Mark and daughter-in-law, Teresa Wright.

Graveside service with military honors will be held at 2pm, Friday, May 31 at Ocean View Memory Gardens,1525 Ocean Boulevard NW in Coos Bay.

This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. Also, please be advised that pursuant to the terms stated on the Deed of Trust and Note, the beneficiary is allowed to conduct property inspections while there is a default. Without limiting the trustee's disclaimer of representations or warranties, Oregon law requires the trustee to state in this notice that some residential property sold at a trustee's sale may have been used in manufacturing methamphetamines, the chemical components of which are known to be toxic. Prospective purchasers of residential property should be aware of this potential danger before deciding to place a bid for this property at the trustee's sale. NOTICE TO RESIDENTIAL TENANTS The property in which you are living is in foreclosure. A foreclosure sale is scheduled for 09/10/2024 (date). The date of this sale may be postponed. Unless the lender that is foreclosing on this property is paid before the sale date, the foreclosure will go through and someone new will own this property. After the sale, the new owner is required to provide you with contact information and notice that the sale took place. The following information applies to you only if you are a bona fide tenant occupying and renting this property as a residential dwelling under a legitimate rental agreement. The information does not apply to you if you own this property or if you are not a bona fide residential tenant. If the foreclosure sale goes through, the new owner will have the right to require you to move out. Before the new owner can require you to move, the new owner must provide you with written notice that specifies the date by which you must move out. If you do not leave before the move-out date, the new owner can have the sheriff remove you from the property after a court hearing. You will receive notice of the court hearing. PROTECTION FROM EVICTION IF YOU ARE A BONA FIDE TENANT OCCUPYING AND RENTING THIS PROPERTY AS A RESIDENTIAL DWELLING, YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO CONTINUE LIVING IN THIS PROPERTY AFTER THE FORECLOSURE SALE FOR: • 60 DAYS FROM THE DATE YOU ARE GIVEN A WRITTEN TERMINATION NOTICE, IF YOU HAVE A FIXED TERM LEASE; OR • AT LEAST 30 DAYS FROM THE DATE YOU ARE GIVEN A WRITTEN TERMINATION NOTICE, IF YOU HAVE A MONTH-TO-MONTH OR WEEK-TO-WEEK RENTAL AGREEMENT. If the new owner wants to move in and use this property as a primary residence, the new owner can give you written notice and require you to move out after 30 days, even though you have a fixed term lease with more than 30 days left. You must be provided with at least 30 days' written notice after the foreclosure sale before you can be required to move. A bona fide tenant is a residential tenant who is not the borrower (property owner) or a child, spouse or parent of the borrower, and whose rental agreement: • Is the result of an arm's-length transaction; • Requires the payment of rent that is not substantially less than fair market rent for the property, unless the rent is reduced or subsidized due to a federal, state or local subsidy; and • Was entered into prior to the date of the foreclosure sale. ABOUT YOUR TENANCY BETWEEN NOW AND THE FORECLOSURE SALE: RENT YOU SHOULD CONTINUE TO PAY RENT TO YOUR LANDLORD UNTIL THE PROPERTY IS SOLD OR UNTIL A COURT TELLS YOU OTHERWISE. IF YOU DO NOT PAY RENT, YOU CAN BE EVICTED. BE SURE TO KEEP PROOF OF ANY PAYMENTS YOU MAKE. SECURITY DEPOSIT You may apply your security deposit and any rent you paid in advance against the current rent you owe your landlord as provided in ORS 90.367. To do this, you must notify your landlord in writing that you want to subtract the amount of your security deposit or prepaid rent from your rent payment. You may do this only for the rent you owe your current landlord. If you do this, you must do so before the foreclosure sale. The business or individual who buys this property at the foreclosure sale is not responsible to you for any deposit or prepaid rent you paid to your landlord. ABOUT YOUR TENANCY AFTER THE FORECLOSURE SALE The new owner that buys this property at the foreclosure sale may be willing to allow you to stay as a tenant instead of requiring you to move out after 30 or 60 days. After the sale, you should receive a written notice informing you that the sale took place and giving you the new owner's name and contact information. You should contact the new owner if you would like to stay. If the new owner accepts rent from you, signs a new residential rental agreement with you or does not notify you in writing within 30 days after the date of the foreclosure sale that you must move out, the new owner becomes your new landlord and must maintain the property. Otherwise: • You do not owe rent; • The new owner is not your landlord and is not responsible for maintaining the property on your behalf; and • You must move out by the date the new owner specifies in a notice to you. The new owner may offer to pay your moving expenses and any other costs or amounts you and the new owner agree on in exchange for your agreement to leave the premises in less than 30 or 60 days. You should speak with a lawyer to fully understand your rights before making any decisions regarding your tenancy. IT IS UNLAWFUL FOR ANY PERSON TO TRY TO FORCE YOU TO LEAVE YOUR DWELLING UNIT WITHOUT FIRST GIVING YOU WRITTEN NOTICE AND GOING TO COURT TO EVICT YOU. FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR RIGHTS, YOU SHOULD CONSULT A LAWYER. If you believe you need legal assistance, contact the Oregon State Bar and ask for the lawyer referral service. Contact information for the Oregon State Bar is included with this notice. If you do not have enough money to pay a lawyer and are otherwise eligible, you may be able to receive legal assistance for free. Information about whom to contact for free legal assistance is included with this notice. OREGON STATE BAR, 16037 S.W. South Coast Equity Coalition presents the 4th Annual Juneteenth Event

The South Coast Equity Coalition in partnership with the Juneteenth Celebration Committee is hosting Coos and Curry County's Annual Juneteenth Celebration June 18th-June 21st, 2024. This year's event has expanded to include multiple locations on the Southern Oregon Coast including Coos Bay, Bandon, and Brookings.

Our annual theme is Family Reunion. We chose this theme because, for Black communities, family reunions have centered around resilience through storytelling, visibility, joy, and food.

On June 19, 1865, enslaved people in Texas finally learned that they had been freed from bondage. President Abraham Lincoln had signed the Emancipation Proclamation more than two years earlier, but Texas slaveholders hid that fact from the people they kept in chains. Since then, generations of Black Americans have celebrated the anniversary of that liberation as "Juneteenth."

The South Coast Equity Coalition is honored and delighted to bring this FREE celebration to Coos and Curry County for three days of fun, education, entertainment, and activities for all!

Experience West African drumming provided by Gansango African Music and Dance Company. Teaching artists will engage participants in learning basic West African rhythms with hands-on use of drums, bells, shakers and clapping. These fun and interactive workshops will entertain and educate for all ages. Come one, come all - no prior music or drum experience required!

Farms, food, and fiber: Merkley and Wyden announce big investments for Oregon agriculture

Oregon's U.S. Senators Jeff Merkley and Ron Wyden today announced major investments in Oregon agriculture, rural housing, food assistance, and rural business priorities—along with nearly $12.7 million in funding for 14 Oregon community-initiated projects—have passed through the fiscal year 2024 (FY24) minibus funding package. This six-bill package cleared both chambers of Congress last week and was quickly signed into law by President Biden.

Successfully pushing back against the most extreme funding cuts and policy provisions proposed by House Republicans, Merkley and Wyden secured investments in the FY24 Senate Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies bill included in the package.

The agriculture funding bill also supports programs and projects that benefit farms, families, and rural communities throughout the state.

"Agriculture is a huge part of Oregon's economy, and it's essential to ensure our world-class agriculture sector and rural communities have the support needed to grow and thrive," said Merkley, who previously served as the top Democrat on the Appropriations subcommittee that writes the agriculture bill. "The agriculture portion of the funding package includes significant investments for family farms, rural housing, food assistance, habitat restoration, and wildfire smoke recovery. It also prioritizes making Oregon's agriculture more resilient to the impacts of climate chaos to protect the livelihoods of our farmers, ranchers, and producers. These huge investments will surely benefit Oregon's farms and families for years to come."

"The global appetite is huge for crops grown in our state, and these comprehensive federal investments in Oregon agriculture and rural communities will help farmers, ranchers and food producers," Wyden said. "I'm pleased the teamwork with Oregonians who shared their priorities with me and Senator Merkley in town halls and my roundtables around the state to highlight our state's bounty has produced these wins for improved irrigation as well as robust health care, housing, broadband and more for rural communities across the state."

Merkley is the only Oregon member of Congress from either chamber since Senator Mark Hatfield to serve on the Appropriations Committee, which wrote the bill and is one of the most powerful committees on Capitol Hill. He joined the committee in 2013 so that Oregon would have a strong voice in decisions about the investments our nation should be making.

The 14 community-initiated projects championed by Merkley and Wyden that passed in the agriculture portion of the FY24 minibus funding package—with the support of members of Oregon's congressional delegation in the U.S. House of Representatives—are as follows:

• $3 million for the Arnold Irrigation District in Deschutes County to help complete the third phase and begin the final phase of its resiliency and modernization project, which will convert 11.9 miles of open-ditch irrigation canal into a buried, closed pipe system. As persistent drought continues to impact the Deschutes Basin, these irrigation modernization efforts will better serve farmers and ranchers and strengthen habitat for wildlife, making the region more resilient to climate chaos.

• $2 million for the North Unit Irrigation District in Jefferson County to begin its irrigation modernization project, which will transition 27.5 miles of open-ditch irrigation canals into buried pressurized piping as well as upgrade 153 turnouts. This infrastructure modernization project will lead to significant water savings that benefit farmers, ranchers, and wildlife.

• $1.875 million for the City of Stayton to make critical stormwater infrastructure improvements, which will unlock access to approximately 80 acres of developable industrial land and spur economic development in the community. Secured with support from Rep. Chavez DeRemer.

• $1 million for Tillamook County's Three Rivers Fiber Broadband Phase 2 project. The funding will be used to build over 7 miles of fiber optic broadband infrastructure and enable services to 322 homes and a fish hatchery in rural southern Tillamook County. Secured with support from Rep. Bonamici.

• $1 million for Benton County to build the Monroe Rural Health Center, which will provide greater access to quality healthcare for rural community members. The new Health Center will provide acute primary care, behavioral health, chronic disease management, and health screenings to vulnerable residents by addressing financial, geographic, language, and cultural barriers to care. Secured with support from Rep. Hoyle.

• $1 million for Lane County's Emergency Communications Resiliency and Interoperability Project. Funding will go toward a key portion of the project to replace aging radio communication infrastructure at Bear Mountain. Radios for fire districts are critical to radio continuity for first responders during both routine and catastrophic situations, as well as keeping communication networks (cell and internet) functional for the public. Secured with support from Rep. Hoyle.

• $500,000 to the City of Carlton to help replace and upgrade a portion of an over 100-year-old sewer mainline in the City's downtown, which is currently made of very porous clay and concrete. The funding will help modernize the City's wastewater infrastructure to better serve this rural community. Secured with support from Rep. Salinas.

• $500,000 to the City of Dayton to help construct the Dayton Civic Center, which will include a new City Hall, library expansion, and community meeting space. It will also serve as a dedicated location for emergency preparedness and response activities. Secured with support from Rep. Salinas.

• $500,000 to the City of Oakridge help cover significant repair and construction costs needed for its Willamette Activity Center Renovation Project. This effort will bring the now-closed multi-purpose community facility back online to serve as a hub once again for critical community services and activities including hosting the Lane County Food Bank, the Oakridge Warming Center, a local church food distribution center, a community theater group and city council chambers. Secured with support from Rep. Hoyle.

• $500,000 to help Glide Revitalization renovate a community space to be utilized for childcare, social services, office space and as a library. The Center will serve the Glide community as well as the entire Glide School District and to community members of the greater Douglas County region that work in the Glide area and need access to childcare where they work. Secured with support from Rep. Hoyle.

• $361,075 to the Port of Newport to make repairs to the dock and pilings at the Newport International Terminal. Repairs will address deteriorated pilings, and piling caps, and concrete repairs above and below the splash zone. These improvements will result in future opportunities to spur economic development through the creation of new jobs and revenue for the City of Newport. Secured with support from Rep. Hoyle.

• $250,000 for the Condon Arts Council to restore the historic Liberty Theatre in downtown Condon. The rehabilitated theatre will serve as a regional hub for performing arts events and community arts programs for Oregonians living in Gilliam County and beyond.

• $113,000 for the Grant County Cyber-Mill Expansion project in John Day to support more equitable internet access for rural Oregonians. The federal funding will be used for distance learning, telemedicine, and broadband equipment and technology.

• $76,000 for the South Lane Mental Health Center to help modernize their existing facilities, including a new roof, a new computer server, and security upgrades. These upgrades will benefit patients and staff by providing a safer, cleaner environment.

districts that need to improve water efficiency and conservation or otherwise improve fish and wildlife habitat. This program is providing critical funding for the funding bills follow suit later this month without steep cuts to programs and projects Oregon families rely on. Passing these bills is necessary to avoid a partial government shutdown that would be harmful to communities across the state and nation.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Contact Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

To order "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send your name and mailing address, plus check or money order for $8 (U.S. funds) to: Dear Abby -- Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Shipping and handling are included in the price.)

Dear Abby:

I have been dating my man for seven years. When we got serious, he told me he had kids. Because we are seniors, I assumed his kids were adults. I recently found out that the kids are teenagers! He is very involved in their lives.

The problem is, their mother calls him constantly about bills for her house and what the kids need. He pays her phone bill, water bill, electric bill and sometimes the internet bill, as well as giving her money each month for the kids. He says he does it because he doesn't pay child support, and he wants to take care of his kids.

He says he's not, under any circumstances, getting back together with the mom. He tells me he loves me, and he does show it. He says that when the kids graduate from high school in two years, he will have no reason to talk to their mom or to pay her bills. He wants his kids to leave and go to college.

I'm very concerned about our relationship moving forward. He gives me a lot of information about what happens between the mom, the kids and him. The woman is dangerous and volatile. She has come at him with a knife twice. Should I hang in there for the next two years or move on? I love him very much.

— SUSPENDED IN FLORIDA

DEAR Suspended:

Hang in there, but understand that the time has come for you to discuss ALL of this with your gentleman friend. Suggest he talk to a family law attorney now about his children's higher education. In some states, laws or case law gives courts the authority to order a non-custodial parent to pay for some form of college expenses.

As to his children's unstable mother, you can bet that when he stops footing her bills, she's going to be one angry woman. If she threatens his life again, he should immediately report her to the police and seek a restraining or no-contact order.

Dear Abby:

My friend had back surgery that has left her walking with a walker or a cane. We go out to eat quite often. When the hostess takes us to our seats, they often take us to a table that is far from the door, bypassing many empty tables. Sometimes, we have even had to go up or down some steps.

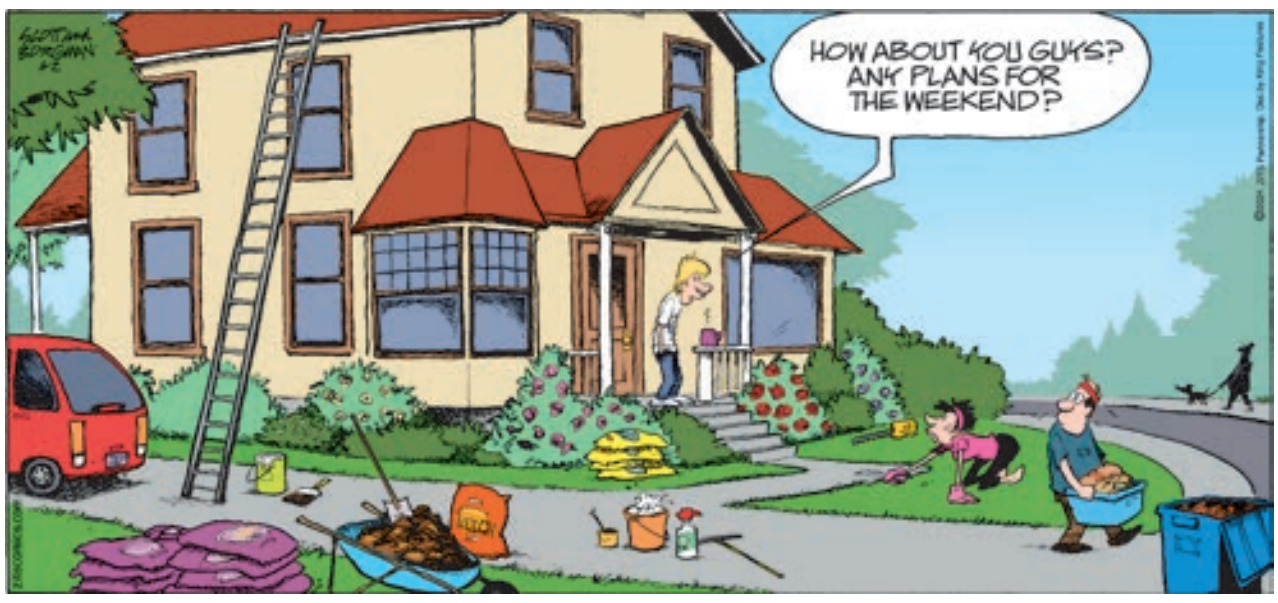

I know they have a system for seating in a restaurant, but it sure would be nice if they'd recognize her difficulty in maneuvering and seat us closer to the entrance or exit. I'm sure many people have this issue. I would say something, but my friend says it would embarrass her. How do others solve this problem?

— BETTER ACCESS NEEDED IN IOWA

DEAR Access:

Others resolve the problem by informing the restaurant at the time the reservation is made that a member of the party has a disability and needs easy access not only to the entrance and exit, but also to the table. If you and this friend are walk-ins with no reservation, discreetly inform the host where you need to be seated. It would be to the restaurant's advantage to avoid the potential liability of a trip and fall by not forcing this guest to maneuver through an obstacle course.

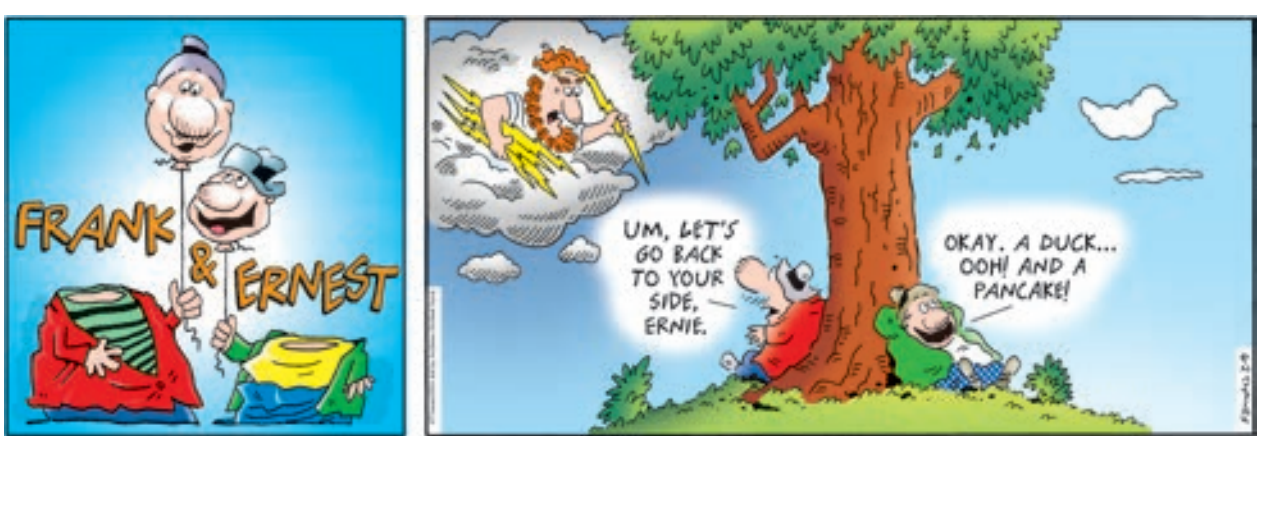

As I See It

By Mary Schamehorn

"Catholics to Build Church" was the headline of the Sept. 30, 1937, Western World ... a year after the Bandon Fire killed 11 people and destroyed 500 structures, including Holy Trinity Catholic Church (first picture) erected in 1883.

"Work will start within the next two weeks on the erection of a bungalow type building for the local Catholic mission, according to announcement made by local members of the church. Estimates are now being received, with the building to cost approximately $3,000. It is planned to locate on the Catholic property but the building site may be changed to face an improved street.

"An offer from an eastern church member to make a substantial donation toward the building, providing it is started within a year from the time of the fire, is said to have prompted immediate action to start the project."

"Work has begun on construction of the FSP sawmill in northern Curry County with plans to spend about $300,000 to make it one of the most modern mills on the west coast.

"The former Langlois mill, which burned down this fall, will be rebuilt on property adjacent to the Port Orford Plywood mill on Cape Blanco road, about five miles north of Port Orford.

"Charles Storm, a partner in the business with J.H. 'Friday' Phillips, also of Langlois, said work on the site has begun and construction of the mill will start immediately .

"The Langlois mill employed 50 men, and Storm said the new mill will employ about the same, mostly the former employees, many who have been out of work since the fire.

"The new mill will obtain most of its logs from the Port Orford Plywood corporation and use its mill pond. The FSP company intends to eventually move its planing mill, which was saved from the fire, to the new location, according to Storm. Some of the company's loss was covered by insurance, he said."

Dow Beckham's book "Bandon By the Sea" talks about the several area mills owned by Ken Rogge, and the book points out that Rogge, who came to Coos County in 1952, "bought the FSP sawmill on Cape Blanco Road from A. William Sweet. Rogge ran it for 10 years. He expanded further by closing the Cape Blanco mill and moved part of the machinery to Wallowa, where he built a larger stud mill."

A headline in the Dec. 28, 1916, Western World read: "Charm (third photo) was Damaged."

"The river boat Charm, while en route to Coquille early Wednesday morning of last week, collided with a log about two miles above Bandon and had to be beached. It was dark at the time and the boat was running at high speed. The collision ripped the bow open and caused it to take water rapidly. The Telegraph picked up the passengers. While repairs are being made, the Relief has been taking the Charm's place."

The latest fatal crash on Highway 101 between Bandon and Coos Bay (at around milepost 150) occurred Monday, May 13, at 4:35 p.m., and involved three vehicles, including two from Bandon.

A northbound vehicle operated by a Gold Beach resident, Tracy Martin Goforth, 63, crossed into the southbound lane for unknown reasons and struck a Toyota Prius, operated by Ronald William Lyons, 76, of Bandon, head-on. The Nissan came to rest in the northbound lane while the Prius spun in the southbound lane and struck a Toyota Venza, operated by Dennis Joseph Dugan, 70, Bandon, nearly head-on. Goforth was declared dead at the hospital. Lyons and his passenger Delia Lyons, 73, and Dugan and his wife, Mary Therese Dugan, 69, were all transported due to injuries suffered in the crash, according to the Oregon State Police report.

OSP was assisted by Green Acres Fire, Bandon Fire and ODOT.

Bandon's sports teams have been extremely successful in state competition in recent weeks, with the Bandon golf team winning the state 1A,2A,3A championship by 23 strokes, and the Bandon girls track team burying the competition at last weekend's state Class 2A track and field championships in Eugene. Marley Petrey led the way, winning three of her four events (100, long jump, 300-meter hurdles) and placing second in the triple jump. Coach Brent Hutton said eight of the nine girls representing Bandon placed in at least one event. A complete story can be found in The World newspaper. The other South Coast team to do well in track was the Coquille girls who won the Class 3A state track crown.

It was also reported that Katelyn Senn has signed with Eastern Oregon College to play basketball. Senn's father Daniel Senn is an assistant coach on the girls' team. She was named Valley Conference Player of the Year and a member of the first team all-conference.

Golf team members are Peyton Simonds, Sean Ells, Carter Brown, Zack Robertson, Logan France and Sevren Quinn. They are coached by Bandon Dunes Director of Golf Scott Millhouser and his assistant, Braden Fugate.

In other sports news, Tiger pitching sensation Colton Siewell has signed a letter of intent to continue his baseball career this fall at Feather River Community College in Quincy, Calif. He is the son of Fire Chief Nick Siewell and Sheena Lakey Siewell. Colton was named second team all-conference.

If I can find the information, I will have more next week about the baseball and softball teams.

In news of other BHS students succeeding, nine students in the BHS Industrial Arts class competed in a welding competition at SWOCC recently. Placing first were Theo Hernandez and Parker Lang; second, Stealth Franklin; third, Lillianna Gonzales, Kallie Hiebing, Brannan Jones and Bryan Weborg; and fourth, Jaiden Neimoyer and Owen Donovan.

I've learned that Bandon native Larry Dean Hess died April 30 in Coos Bay at the age of 90. He is a 1951 graduate of Bandon High School and was married to the former Patsy Hiley.

I attended the MarLo Dance production of "Cinderella" Saturday night, and was amazed at the talent of the dancers of all ages, the choreography, the colorful costumes and the backdrops. I never miss a MarLo production, and I can truly say this was up there with the best. The sold-out house of family and friends let them know how much we appreciated the effort that it takes to put on a show like this.

I always marvel at how lucky a town our size is to have such a beautiful theater, which was built over 20 years ago by the Bandon Lions club, without tax money, and donated to the city.

Speaking of the Lions, the Bandon club hosted the regional convention of District 36 Friday and Saturday, bringing many guests to the community. I was invited by Patti and Bryan Longland to present a slide show and talk about the history of the local club, which was chartered in 1951. The last of the original club members, Myron Spady, died in August of 2021 at the age of 97. The Lions soon took over the operation and maintenance of the Barn, which was built after the war as a barn to house the horses that patrolled the beaches. It was an interesting program and was well received. I shared many photos from my collection of 33,000 negatives, which I saved from being hauled out to the dump over 40 years ago.

I just happened to see a link to last Monday night's school board meeting, where I learned that six people had applied for the two vacancies on the school board, created by the death of Anthony Zunino and the resignation of Greg Looney.

Applying for the two seats were Jon Sullivan, Sue Dodrill, Briana Hutchens, Chris Steimonts, Mitch Vincent and Archie Garrett.

Sullivan, Hutchens and Vincent were in attendance, but all of the candidates had written application letters.

Briana Hutchens, president of the Bandon Booster Club since 2016, was appointed to fill the first vacancy.

But when it came time to appoint the second board member, the school board members (Stan Avery, Martha Lane, A.J. Kimball and chair David Hisel) could not agree. And since the fifth board member, Angela Cardas, was not in attendance, the decision on the second board member was postponed until the June meeting until one candidate could secure at least three votes.

I learned that the name of the new 130-space RV park to be sited on the old Rogge Mill property adjacent to Bullards Bridge will be Rogge Mill RV Resort.

The Oregon Department of DEQ approved the septic site evaluation in October, and the county planning commission approved the land use application in April. Bandon attorney Robin Miller represented the owner, Lee Tony Coombes of Tehachapi, Calif.

Don't forget that primary election day is Tuesday, May 21, and while Oregon law allows ballots to be mailed on election day, people are urged to take their ballots to the library drop box in city park.

Coming Events: Tuesday, May 21, Meet and Greet at Bandon Fisheries Warehouse, the history of the Good Earth Community Garden; seating opens at 11:30; program starts at noon. Take home some free seeds and veggie starts.

Friday, May 24, is the first Bandon Alive After Five Wine Walk, sponsored by the Greater Bandon Association, from 5 to 7. Glasses are available in the glass picnic shelter on the port dock.

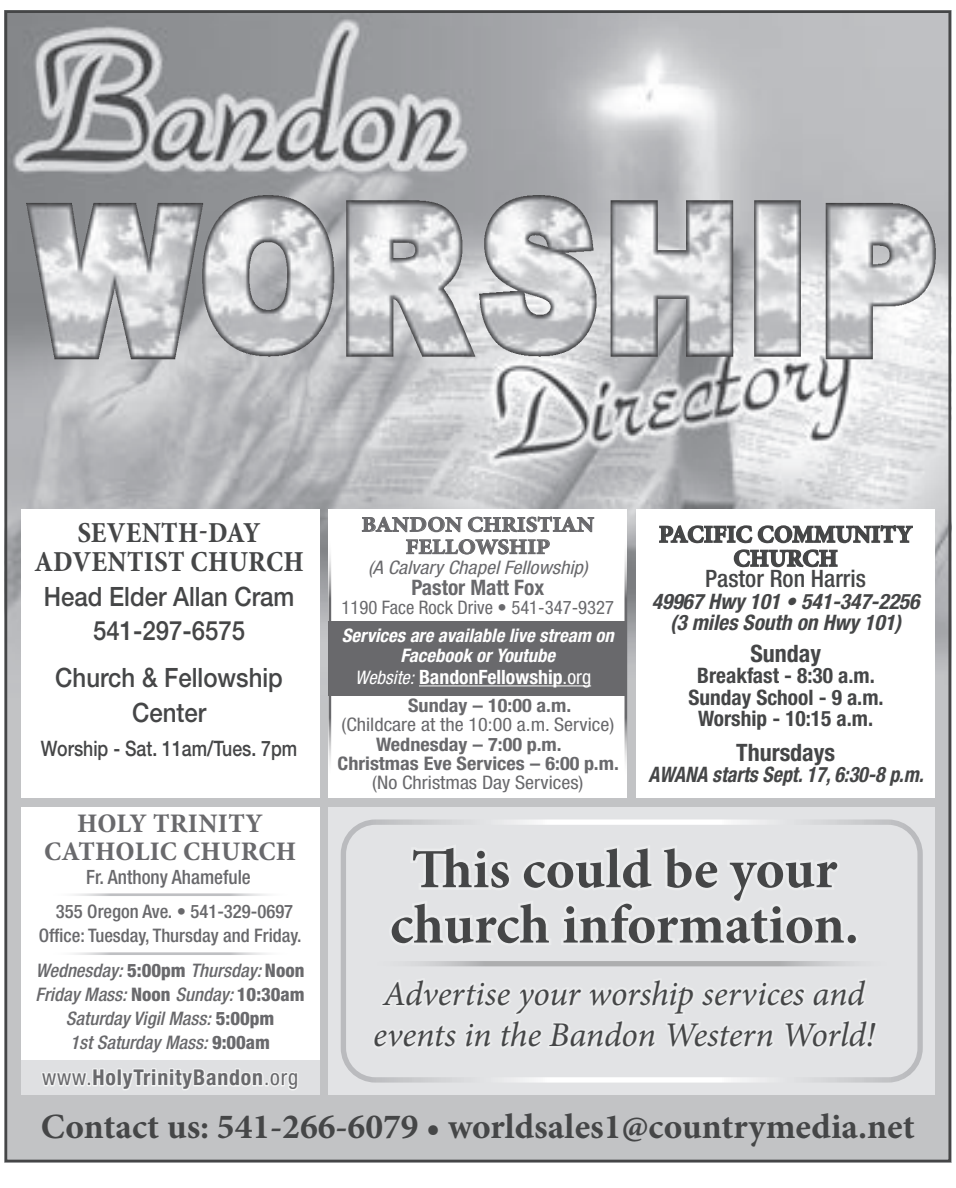

Coquille River Days (formerly Gay 90s) parade, Saturday, June 1, 11 a.m. Contact City of Coquille for parade application. There will be special awards for Best of Show, Best River Days theme, and Best 1890s Americana theme.

For The World

Friends of Bandon Parks and Recreation partnered with Cycle Oregon to offer bicycle training for 60 third grade students at Ocean Crest school in Bandon. Generous donations by United Way of Southwestern Oregon, Best Western at Face Rock, Rotary Club of Bandon By-the-Sea and Walmart North Bend, made the event possible. The funds purchased: six youth bicycles, 100 helmets, 20 water bottles, artwork for handouts and bicycle parts poster, 100 bicycle pins, and cycling booklets in English and Spanish, and 100 bike ABC's bookmark reminders.

Bike Rodeo was kicked off with Captain Dillon of the Bandon Police department. He discussed the rules of the road and watching out for cars. Cycle Oregon transported 20 bikes from Portland for students to ride. Shawne Martinez, the cycling instructor, taught drills, maneuvers and safety. Inside the gym, seven volunteers taught the ABC's— Air, Brakes, Chain. The students were inquisitive and very respectful. Christine Hall, President of FOBPR says, "Everyone wants to participate again next year. Let's make this happen."

Three Rivers Foundation Boosts Oregon's Economy with Over $720,000 in Grants to 95 Local Nonprofits

Three Rivers Foundation, established by the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw Indians as the charitable arm of the Three Rivers Casino Resort, proudly announced the award of over $720,000 to support the missions of 95 nonprofit organizations across Oregon. Demonstrating its commitment to community enrichment, the Three Rivers Foundation distributed funds to a diverse range of nonprofits in sectors ranging from healthcare and education to combating food insecurities and enriching the lives of children. "It makes my heart feel good. It's just awesome that we can help these folks make an impact on their organizations and their communities," said Chief Doug Barrett, Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw Indians Nonprofits in Coos, Curry, Douglas, Lane, Lincoln, Harney, and Multnomah counties were awarded funding. Each received between $5,000 and $40,000 to continue providing services for Oregonians. "We provide peer support services for new, expectant and grieving families or anything that a family might need to heal and recover from postpartum depression, loss of their pregnancy or infant and infertility," said Lyndsie Leech, WellMama Executive Director. "This grant is particularly meaningful for us because we are trying to expand these services into some of the more rural areas. We recognize that the more isolated you are, the more you need those in-person services." "We got a $10,000 check for our Natural Resource program at Siuslaw High School for drones," said Amy Tregoning, Siuslaw High School teacher. We are teaching kids how to use them because they are being used increasingly in the natural resource field—think wildfires and population densities. We hope to train our students and get them to take their pilot's license before they leave high school so that they can start a career a bit further ahead of everyone else." "It's massive; the amount that Three Rivers Foundation can contribute to everyone in the local community is immense. We couldn't get nearly as much done as we have without these types of contributions," said Stephen Beale, Florence Food Share Operations Manager. The Florence Food Share was granted $10,000. "One in two families can't afford enough to keep their baby clean, dry, and healthy. There is no state or governmental assistance for diaper support, so $10,000 goes a long way in our small nonprofit," said Teresa Baur, Lane County Diaper Bank Founder On Friday, May 10, all organizations gathered for a luncheon at Three Rivers Casino in Florence, where they were awarded their grants. The North Bend Police Department was a first-time grant recipient. "We are purchasing individual first aid kits for any type of emergency, anywhere from a traumatic crash or active shooter. It's going to get them prepared now that we have the money from the foundation," said Captain Ed Perry, North Bend Police Department. "On our project, we are trying to expand our technology in our electives and social-emotional learning classes," said Cece Howell, Business Manager at Siuslaw School District. "This grant will go to our podcasting team." The foundation requests applications at the beginning of each year and will continue to award impactful grants each year.

Rewilding Project underway in Mingus Park

The city applied for and received a grant from the Judith A. Mogan Foundation for a "Rewilding Project" in the southern section Mingus Park.

The project is comprised of several components. The first project component proposes to relocate the kiddie playground area near the older kids' playground around the corner making it more centrally located for park patrons.

The playground equipment will be upgraded as well. Once the kiddie playground is relocated the area will be regraded and have drainage installed to alleviate the historic flooding this area has experienced.

The project will also include native and natural plantings (rewilding) and installing new walking paths and educational signage. The City is partnering with the Coos Watershed Association on the native plantings and educational signage.

Another component of this project will include the repurposing of the picnic pavilion into a storage area for city parks.

The picnic pavilion is past its useful life and is no longer being utilized for its original intent. All of this work will be managed by the City's Operations and Water Quality Divisions and commence in June. This area will be closed to the public during this time.

Please take caution when in the area and watch for equipment and workers. The project is expected to take place over the next several weeks.

The City wants to thank the Judith A. Mogan Foundation for this incredible grant and opportunity to improve one of the city's most popular park. If you have any questions, or want more information, please contact the Public Works office at (541)-269-8918.

A WORD PLEASE:

By June Casagrande

This week I learned that pretty much everyone who's ever opined about the word "peruse" was wrong, kind of. And the people who corrected the people who opined wrongly were also wrong, kind of. And that I, myself, never quite understood the real deal with "peruse," even though I thought I had it all figured out.

Here's the most common way I see "peruse" used these days: "Peruse the charming boutiques." "Peruse the delicious menu options." "Peruse the aisles." In other words, I see "peruse" used to mean "browse."

Ten or 20 years ago, the only "peruses" I ever noticed referred to reading, not looking at merchandise. From here, the controversy heats up because there are different ways to read something. You can read something closely and carefully, you can skim it casually, or you can read it while paying just the normal amount of attention. And in the early 1900s, people started saying that only one of those is correct.

"Peruse should not be used when the simple 'read' is meant," argued author Frank Vizetelly in the 1906 "A Desk-Book of Errors in English," which is cited in Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of English Usage. "Peruse," Vizetelly argued, means "to read with care and attention … to examine with critical care and in detail."

The idea caught on, and within a few decades this rule was standard in prescriptivist handbooks of English like Eric Partridge's influential 1942 guide "Usage and Abusage." "Peruse is not synonymous with 'to read,' for it means to read thoroughly, read carefully from beginning to end," Partridge wrote. "One peruses a contract, one reads an (ordinary) advertisement."

The idea stuck, and to this day anyone who uses "peruse" to mean "skim" or "read" can draw sneers from adherents of this long-held belief.

Strangely, though, it seems Vizetelly based this rule on nothing but his own beliefs. "While we cannot be sure, it appears that this notion of the correct use of 'peruse' was Vizetelly's own invention," Merriam's explains. "It was certainly born in disregard of dictionary definitions of the word and in apparent ignorance of the literary traditions on which those dictionary definitions were based."

What "literary traditions" might those be? Plenty. Notably, lots and lots of passages from Shakespeare, who used "peruse" to mean "read" all the time. A few examples cited in Merriam's: "I have perused the note" (Taming of the Shrew). "Peruse this writing here, and thou shalt know the treason that my haste forbids me to show" (Richard II). "Both they and we, perusing o'er these notes, may know wherefore we took the sacrament" (King John). William Wordsworth, Jane Austen, Benjamin Franklin and Jonathan Swift also used "peruse" in the more liberal sense, according to Merriam's.

So when Vizetelly laid down his rule, he was saying, "Do as I say, not as revered writers have done for centuries." And people listened.

How, then, should modern English speakers use "peruse"? Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary (not the same as the usage guide cited above) lists the stricter definition first: "to examine or consider with attention and in detail, study." But its secondary definition "to look over or through in a casual or cursory manner" can mean to skim a written passage. It can even mean to look at things other than text, like items on shelves in a boutique. So even the loosest usage of "peruse" is acceptable. The dictionary's final definition, "to read," allows for careful or hasty reading. Both are fine.

"Yes; one of our definitions for 'peruse' is 'to skim,'" the dictionary explains in a usage note. "However, you should be aware that another of our definitions for this word is 'to read something in detail.' Some usage guides feel that the 'read carefully' sense is correct and that the 'skim' sense is not. Both have been in widespread use for some four hundred years."

HOLY COW! HISTORY:

The Amazing Abernathy Boys

By J. Mark Powell
InsideSources.com

Hard as it is to believe in this age of helicopter parents hovering protectively over their child's every waking moment, there once was a time when youngsters enjoyed far more personal freedom than they experience today. Yet the story you're about to read was extraordinary, even for that era of parental permissiveness.

You've heard of "Bill & Ted's Excellent Adventure." They had nothing on the transcontinental treks two brothers made without any adult supervision — and before they were old enough to shave, to boot.

It all started with their colorful father. John "Catch-'Em-Alive-Jack" Abernathy was a real-life cowboy. At age 11, he was among the hired hands who moved a large herd on a 500-mile cattle drive from Texas to Kansas. He helped his struggling family make ends meet by trapping wild wolves and selling them to zoos, circuses and traveling Wild West shows.

Along the way, he became acquainted with a young rancher from New York named Theodore Roosevelt. Teddy invited Abernathy on a hunting trip, and they became good friends.

Fast-forward to 1906. Abernathy, now 28, gave up wolf hunting when his buddy, now President Roosevelt, appointed him U.S. marshal in Oklahoma Territory. So he packed up his young family and headed out.

Louie and little brother Temple Abernathy were adventurous from the time they could walk. Reared on their dad's tales of his boyhood exploits, they set out to emulate him in the early days of the 20th century.

In 1909, at ages 9 and 5, they rode on horseback — alone — from Oklahoma to Sante Fe, N.M., and back. Their solo odyssey was actually "Catch-'Em-Alive-Jack's" idea. He thought the trip would toughen up the boys.

Flush with that success, the siblings outdid themselves the next year. After leaving the White House, Teddy Roosevelt went on a long African safari. His adventures and plans for his impending return home were widely reported in the press. The boys decided to be there when he arrived in New York City.

So, they saddled up once more. Now ages 10 and 6 — and again with no adult supervision — they rode all 1,578 miles to the Big Apple. "Catch-'Em-Alive-Jack" was awaiting for them there. Roosevelt was so delighted to see his friend and so impressed by the boys' journey that he insisted they ride their horses directly behind his automobile in a gigantic ticker-tape parade. It must have been the thrill of a lifetime for two kids from a place that had only become a state three years earlier.

Making things all the more amazing, the boys shipped their horses home by train and — at ages 10 and 6, remember — bought Brush Motor Car's small Runabout model and drove it back to Oklahoma. Alone.

News of their exploits made them national celebrities. Newspapers and magazines carried gushing stories about their incredible feats. They were so popular, in fact, a 1910 silent movie called "The Abernathy Boys to the Rescue" was even produced.

In 1911, they were challenged to see if they could ride horseback from New York to San Francisco in 60 days or less without sleeping or eating indoors. A $10,000 prize (nearly $325,000 today) would be theirs if they could pull it off.

They took the dare and planned the trip with meticulous attention to detail. When Louie and Temple finally rode into the City by the Bay, 62 days had passed.

Though they missed out on the prize, they at least had the consolation of having set a record for transcontinental horse travel.

But horses were falling out of favor by then and for their grand finale, the brothers got with the times. In 1913, they bought an Indian Motorcycle and, accompanied by their stepbrother Anton, drove it from Oklahoma to New York. With paved roads still a distant dream, it was a remarkable accomplishment, made all the more so by the fact that Louie was still only 14 and Temple was 10.

J. Mark Powell

And then the Abernathy Boys' 15 minutes of fame was over as suddenly as it had begun. They were quickly forgotten as America rushed into the pell-mell frenzy of the Roaring Twenties.

That suited them just fine. Louie became a lawyer and settled in Wichita Falls, Texas, where he passed away at age 79 in 1979. Temple worked in the oil and natural gas fields and was 82 when he died in 1986.

Yet their legacy lives on. Two brothers who crossed America multiple times in an age long before interstate highways — and at an age where they couldn't legally drive yet, too.

Offshore wind energy community meetings approaching

By BREE LAUGHLIN
The World

Oregon's Department of Land Conservation and Development is holding a series of community meetings regarding proposed Offshore Wind Leases near the Southern Oregon Coast.

The proposed leases (through the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management) would authorize companies to study two areas off Oregon's coast for potential offshore wind energy development projects.

The proposed lease sale in Oregon includes two areas totaling 194,995 acres — one in the Coos Bay Wind Energy Area and the other in the Brookings Wind Energy Area.

The BOEM reports that these areas have the potential to power more than one million homes with clean renewable energy.

Several local groups and agencies have expressed concerns with the projects, including the Confederated Tribes of the Coos, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw Indians and commercial fishing groups.

During the community meetings, staff will provide information about the proposed activities that are being reviewed and the applicable state policies and authorities related to a consistency review.

Community members are encouraged to provide comments on the consistency review during the 45-day comment period, which ends on June 15, 2024.

As part of the state's federal consistency review authority under the Coastal Zone Management Act, DLCD's Oregon Coastal Management Program staff will review the proposed BOEM actions for consistency with current, enforceable Oregon coastal zone policies.

The result of this review would be either to agree with BOEM's proposed leasing actions, agree with conditions, or object to BOEM's proposed actions.

The first meeting will be virtual. It is being held from noon to 3 p.m. on Wednesday, May 29. Instructions to join the meeting can be found at https://www.oregon.gov/lcd/OCMP/Pages/Offshore-Wind-Energy-Leasing.aspx.

In-person community meetings will be held as follows:

On Monday, June 3 there will be a meeting from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at Brookings-Harbor High School. The address is 625 Pioneer Rd., Brookings, OR 97415.

On Tuesday June 4, 2024 there will be a meeting from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at Sunset Middle School in Coos Bay. The address is 245 S Cammann St., Coos Bay, OR 97420.

On Thursday, June 6 there will be a meeting from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at Siuslaw Middle School in Florence. The address is 2525 Oak St., Florence, OR 97439.

On Friday, June 7, there will be a meeting at from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Newport High School. The address is 322 NE Eads St., Newport, OR 97365.

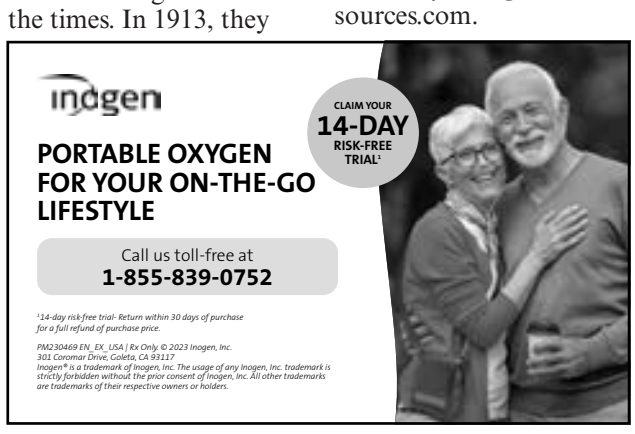

The schedule for each of these meetings is:

- Open House at 5:30 p.m.
- Presentations at 6 p.m.
- Public Comment at 6:30 p.m.
- Next Steps and Adjourn at 8 p.m.

According to a press release, community members wishing to comment in person should plan to limit comments to three minutes per person. If many people wish to comment, staff may need to limit comment time further as the agencies said they want to hear from as many community members as possible.

Written, email and online comments can also be submitted. For more information on the federal consistency review and how to comment, visit https://www.oregon.gov/lcd/OCMP/Pages/Offshore-Wind-EnergyLeasing.aspx

More information about the proposed Oregon Wind Energy Areas can be found on the BOEM website: https://www.boem.gov/renewable-energy/state-activities/oregon-wind-energy-areas

Commission Makes Historic Agreement with Coquille Tribe

For the World

Last week the board members of the Oregon Liquor and Cannabis Commission ratified a historic agreement with the Coquille Tribe, formally agreed to a land transfer of ownership with Clackamas County and appointed three new agents to operate OLCC retail liquor stores. Commissioners also acted on rules and stipulated settlements.

The Commissioners heard a presentation from the Coquille Indian Tribe supporting an historic agreement the tribe says will strengthen its economic self-reliance. The agreement will allow the tribe to apply for a distillery license, a change that gives the tribe the same right to apply as any other Oregon resident. The Coquille Tribe plans to launch the first tribally owned distillery in the state of Oregon.

An additional agreement allows the tribe to continue the sale of alcoholic beverages on tribal land. As part of the agreements, OLCC will still maintain compliance oversight related to Oregon liquor laws, of tribal alcoholic beverage business activities.

The Board agreed to transfer OLCC property across from agency headquarters, on the west side of Johnson Creek, to Clackamas County for their use as a short-term crisis stabilization center. The decision on partitioning OLCC's land will also make the eventual sale of the agency's headquarters and warehouse property in Milwaukie less complicated.

In another action, Commissioners approved the appointment of new liquor store agents for the following stores: William Hammerich for the Bonanza store, Corey Hansen as the agent for the Brookings store and Becky Schaeffer for the store in Wallowa.

The Board also approved temporary rulemaking related to Oregon House Bill 4121, which reinstated provisions for testing hemp crops to determine if the crop is presumptively marijuana. Commissioners also acted on final rulemaking was approved on technical fixes to the agency's contested case rules to align the lay representative authorization in rule with the authorization provided by the Department of Justice.

The Commission also ratified two stipulated settlement agreements for alcohol licensees, and approved one stipulated settlement agreement for a liquor license applicant. Detailed information on the specific case below can be found on the OLCC website:

Virginia Joan Garland

April 26, 1943 – May 13, 2024

Virginia Joan Garland (Wagar), 81, of North Bend, Oregon passed away quietly at home and with family on May 13, 2024. Virginia ("Ginni") was born on April 26, 1943 in Grand Forks, North Dakota to Roy and Fern Wagar. She grew up in the small rural town of Gilby, North Dakota and graduated from Gilby Public High School, class of 1961. Following high school she graduated from the University of North Dakota with a BA degree in Elementary Education and for a short time taught elementary school in Arvilla, North Dakota.

In June of 1965 Virginia married Craig Garland at the Gilby Presbyterian Church, and they moved to Lewiston, Idaho where she continued her teaching career while her husband Craig finished Forestry school at the University of Idaho. They then moved to Burley, Idaho where she taught in an elementary school across the Snake River in Rupert, Idaho. And again, following her husband's career changes without complaint, moved to Eugene, Oregon where she taught school in Junction City, Oregon, where she proudly was the first woman to wear pants while teaching. A daughter, Kelli, was born in Eugene, Oregon in 1972. In late 1976 they landed in North Bend, Oregon where she taught elementary school at Bangor school primarily, but she also spent some time in Lakeside and Sunny Hill schools as well. She retired from teaching in about 2003.

Virginia loved beach-combing and over the years found several Japanese glass floats along with numerous lady slippers, sea urchins, and sand dollars. She had a passion for quilting and started and hosted a quilting group (named 'And Sew It Goes') that met at her house in North Bend every Tuesday for about 38 years up until a few weeks before her death. She loved the quilting ladies, who were very dear friends.

One of Virginia's great pleasures in life was spoiling the Grandkids, and she did so at every opportunity. In addition to quilting and spoiling the Grandkids she was also an avid reader of books on tape and CD and frequented the North Bend Public Library.

Virginia is survived by her husband of 58 years, Craig Garland; brother, Doren Wagar and his wife Merrily; daughter, Kelli Garland-Douglass and her husband Ryan; and two grandchildren.

Virginia was preceded in death by her parents, Roy and Fern Wagar; sister, Peggy (Wagar) Jernigan; and brother-in-law, Bruce Jernigan.

In her last days, Virginia requested cremation and no formal funeral service. She will be missed by many. If you would like to make a donation in her remembrance, the family suggests the North Bend Public Library in North Bend, Oregon.

Friends and family are encouraged to sign the online guestbook at www.coosbayareafunerals.com. Arrangements are under the care of North Bend Chapel, 541-756-0440.

Dancing with the Bay Area Stars

By World Staff

The Utah Ballroom Dance Company is coming to Coos Bay to dance with local Bay Area Stars to raise funds for the nonprofit Star of Hope.

Six of the Bay Area's own residents will compete to win the coveted Mirrorball Trophy on Saturday, June 1 at 7 p.m. at the Egyptian Theatre. Doors open at 6:30.

Over the course of a week, each of these Stars will learn a ballroom dance routine with their professional partner that they will then perform live onstage.

"Add in some amazing costumes, video highlights, a judging panel, and you have a show that you have to see to believe. You will laugh, cry, and laugh some more," Star of Hope event organizers said.

The best part, they said, is that members of the audience will get to vote for who will win and take home the coveted Mirrorball Trophy.

Tickets are $35 per adult, $30 for seniors and $15 for youth under age 13. Tickets for the event are available at the Star of Hope website: www.star-of-hope.com.
