Did you know?

Did you know that a fractured tooth may be completely painless, but cause very serious infection, bone loss and even the loss of the tooth?

It's true! Tiny cracks in a tooth are perfect routes for bacteria to get into the bone, where they multiply and erode bone tissue. If you notice a small bump in your gum, in the area of a tooth root, get it checked as early as possible! You may be saving your tooth and health.

We've come a long way! With excellent dental care from Dr. Strong, you will protect your teeth, look great, and feel even better. Dentistry with a difference!

Bandon Library Friends and Foundation events

BANDON - The Bandon Library Friends and Foundation presents the following events at the Bandon Public Library's Sprague Community Room:

Monday, Feb. 19, 7 p.m., Bandon Library Readers Book Club will be discussing "The Dry" by Jane

Harper (note: this is a Staff Picks selection). Everyone is invited and welcome to join for lively discussion and refreshments, whether or not they've read the book.

Monday, Feb. 26, 7 p.m., Travel Night featuring "The Essence of Bhutan" with Dulce Havill. Everyone is welcome, there is no cost to attend and refreshments will be served.

The Bandon Public Library is located at 1204 11th St. SW in Bandon City Park. For more information, call 541-347-3221.

Gorse Blossom Festival set for Feb. 16-18

BANDON - Bandon is gearing up to host its second-annual Gorse Blossom Festival during President's Day weekend, Feb. 16-18. This is the festival that was voted Best Downtown Special Event of the year at the state Downtown Revitalization Awards in 2017 in its very first run.

Inside the Port Of Bandon's Old Town Marketplace building, festival-goers will find beer and wine from across the state, tasty bites from local restaurants, live music from the southern Oregon coast's best bands and some quirky entertainment that can't be found anywhere else. Tickets for the festival are $10 for Friday, $10 for Saturday and $7 for Sunday and include a commemorative glass to be used for beer and wine sampling along with tokens for three free samples.

On Friday, Feb. 16, doors open at 3 p.m. and close at 9 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 17, the festival continues from noon to 10 p.m. On Sunday, Feb.

18, doors will open at 11 a.m., with the festival closing at 3 p.m.

One of last year's favorite events will again be happening - a Bloody Mary Stroll at 10 a.m. on Sunday, Feb. 18. For $20, Bloody Mary Stroll participants receive a glass and a T-shirt and start their journey through Old Town customizing their gigantic beverage with a variety of spices and sauces, over-the-top garnishes and even some prawns. Finish the Sunday morning exercise and beverage with locally made vodka from Stillwagon Distillery.

A free science pub at 7 p.m. on Thursday at Bandon Brewing Co., a pub crawl from 9 p.m.-midnight on Friday and special dinners on Saturday are also part of the weekend's festivities (visit the festival website at www.gorseblossomfest.com).

For those who wonder why Bandon has a festival celebrating gorse, Greater Bandon Association chairman Harv Schubothe has some answers:

"Well, if you don't know, gorse is a nasty invasive seen throughout our area that is highly flammable, painful to the touch and nearly impossible to remove," Schubothe said. "We don't like it. We would even say we hate it. But, it's here, it's part of our heritage and we often get visitors who know nothing about it."

Luckily, Bandon has some resources for dealing with this plant, including the Gorse Action Group. Representatives of GAG will be at the festival, along with others providing some not-so-fun facts about the plant, education about what it is and what to do with it, and, most importantly, how everyone can help stop it from spreading.

Major sponsors for this year's festival include Wild Rivers Coast Alliance and Bigfoot Beverages. For more information on this year's event including the winemaker/brewmakers dinners, visit the website at: www.gorseblossomfest.com

SEA presents history of salmon in the Coos River basin

CHARLESTON - On Saturday, Feb. 17, Shoreline Education for Awareness will host a seminar on the Coos River Basin wild and hatchery fall Chinook titled "Coos Kings, Coos River Basin Fall Chinook, Through the Hourglass."

The program be presented by Chris Clare, habitat protection biologist with the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife. Clare will trace the Coos River Basin wild and hatchery fall Chinook population trends from the late 1800s to today. Salmon have, and continue to play an important cultural and economic role in the Northwest. Learning about their habitat in the Coos River basin will give those attending a greater insight into these remarkable fish.

The program starts at 9:30 a.m. at the Charleston Marine Life Center, 63466 Boat Basin Road, Charleston. The program is free.

For further information call 541-313-6751 or visit www.sea-edu.org.

Inokuchi, Peace Rocks and Staff Picks featured at Library Art Gallery

BANDON - The Bandon Library Art Gallery features three exhibits through Feb. 28. On the walls, the abstract paintings of GERALYN Inokuchi, and in the cases, displays by the Bandon Library Staff Picks Project, and the Peace Rocks Project.

"It would be easy to view Inokuchi's abstract paintings as mere bursts and swirls of color - and, as beautiful as they are, that would, perhaps, be enough - but the magic and power of these works is in their depths.

Moving in to look closely, one is pulled deeper and farther into the many small moments happening within the larger canvas. Interplays of contrasting color create small eddies in the larger storm, and mysterious darkness contains surprising saturations of pure color.

"And there is texture - created by adding fibrous papers and painting over them, or removing areas of color to reveal what is layered below. A spirit of exploration is evoked and the viewer is asked to take the time required to really see what is there and to return again and again with fresh eyes. These paintings hold rich rewards for such efforts.

"Though inspired by the atmospheres, hues and moods of the natural world, Inokuchi's paintings nevertheless resist reduction to simple readings of landscape or skyscape: They are expressions of her inner-scape. This is painting in its purest form, answerable only to itself. And in addition to all that, the work is beautiful."

Local historians featured at free museum event Feb. 17

BANDON - “Boats, Roads, and Growing up in early 20th Century Coos County” is the title of a program featuring speakers Lionel Youst and Roger Ott at 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 17, at the Bandon Historical Society Museum.

Admission is free to the program and to the museum all day courtesy of The Beverage Barn and Sunrise Carpet Cleaning and Janitorial, the sponsors of the event.

The photo-rich program will include tales, stories and memories of two men who grew up in the woods above Allegheny on the Millicoma River in the area around Golden and Silver Falls. Both speakers share a rich family history connected with logging, steam boating and farming in Coos County.

Youst is an author whose works include “Above the Falls,” “She’s Tricky Like Coyote,” and “Sawdust in the Western Woods.”

Museum volunteer Jeff Moore heard Youst and Ott speak to a local history class at the Coos History Museum and arranged for the speakers to come to the Bandon Museum. They put on an entertaining program, have some amazing photographs and tell some great stories, said Moore.

The museum reopened Feb. 5 after being closed for the month of January.

“This February program gives us a chance to show off the work the volunteers did in January to refurbish some of the exhibits,” said museum board president Jim Proehl. “We appreciate the sponsorship that lets us offer this program for free. Come early and get a good seat.”

The Bandon Historical Museum is located at the corner of U.S. Highway 101 and Fillmore Ave. The museum is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission will be free Feb. 17.

Kids clothing and toy swap at Bandon library

BANDON - Now through Feb. 20, parents are invited to bring gently used clean kids clothes and toys to the Bandon Public Library, 1204 11th St. SW in City Park.

Everything will be organized by size and gender for a swap event, which will be held from 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Bandon Public Library Sprague Room. For more information, call Sara Michael at the library, 541-347-3221.
