Did you know?

Did you know that just plain water can help to prevent cavities and gum disease?

It's true! A tiny high pressure stream of water directed between teeth and gums can disrupt bacteria and dislodge food particles that are not reached by brushing and flossing. When used daily, it can even control periodontal disease! What a good idea for a gift!

We've come a long way! With excellent dental care from Dr. Strong, you will protect your teeth, look great, and feel even better. Ask us about implants!

Spring is the time to clean up, so burn responsibly

SOUTH COAST - Now is the time to start removing brush and debris from around homes, and rainy spring days are the best time to get the backyard burning accomplished. Residents are asked to burn responsibly, as debris burning is one of the leading causes of wildfires in southwest Oregon. The Coos Forest Protective Association encourages residents to get burning projects completed as early as possible this spring. This takes advantage of wet fuel conditions, which helps prevent debris burns from escaping.

Common reasons debris burns escape control include:

- burning in high winds
- not having an adequate clearing around the pile
- leaving a debris burn unattended or ensuring it is completely extinguished
- burning too late into the spring
- burning too large of a pile

■ For machine built piles please call CFPA for advice. Always keep in mind that anytime individuals are responsible for maintaining control of their burn. For burning restrictions inside the city limits contact your local fire department. For example, burning is not allowed in Bandon city limits. For more information on fire prevention visit CFPA on the web at www.coosfpa.net on Facebook or call 541-267-3161.

Spring safety reminders for the Oregon Coast

OREGON COAST - The arrival of spring brings many visitors to the Oregon coast and the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department wants people to be safe while exploring the shoreline.

Coastal threats can come in the form of powerful waves, unstable logs on beaches and erosion of rocks and cliffs.

"People are so excited for the spring sunshine that sometimes safety takes a back seat," said Lisa Stevenson, OPRD beach ranger speaking at Cape Kiwanda State Natural Area. "But preparation and common sense go a long way to keeping you safe on the coast."

Stevenson listed several tips for ensuring your trip to the coast is a safe one:

■ Always keep one eye on the ocean so you won't be caught off guard if a bigger wave surges up the beach. These "sneaker waves" are unpredictable, powerful and especially dangerous for children.

■ Stay away from logs on the wet sand or in the surf. These logs can weigh several tons and can be moved by only a few inches of water. The ocean is strong enough to pick up even the biggest log and roll it over you.

■ Know when the tide is coming in, especially when exploring tidepools. It's easy to become stranded by the incoming tide when your attention is elsewhere. You can keep track of tides with a tide table; OPRD park rangers and many local businesses can give you one for free.

■ Be careful on cliffs and rocks. They can be unstable due to erosion. Stay on marked trails and do not climb over fences. Both are there to keep you safe.

For more Oregon coast safety information, watch the new Cape Kiwanda safety video on the Oregon State Parks YouTube page.

Wild mushrooms topic of free talk

BANDON - A talk on Wild Edible Mushrooms of the Southern Oregon Coast will be presented at 2 p.m. Thursday, May 31, at the Bandon Public Library, 1204 11th St. SW.

During this hour-long class learn from Michael “Migs” Scalici of Oregon Coast Wild Harvest how to forage for mushrooms in the wild. Scalici brings years of experience foraging for mushrooms and will teach participants how to have similar adventures safely.

Many species of wild comestibles grow in this area. In the class, participants will learn how to identify the most common wild edible mushrooms, how and where to find them and how to use them in their kitchens.

Consider taking a walk on the wild side to do a little foraging. Everyone is welcome. For more information, call the library at 541-347-3221.

Bandon Schools to hold spring concerts

BANDON - The Bandon School District choirs and bands will perform their spring concerts during the next three weeks.
