Did you know?

Did you know that Charles Lindberg was the grandson of a dentist?

It's true! Not only that, Charles Land, grandfather of Charles Lindberg, invented the porcelain jacketed crown in 1903. The basic design of the crown, used on millions of molars, has not changed since it was invented. Is it possibly the first crown to cross the Atlantic?

We've come a long way! With excellent dental care from Dr. Strong, you will protect your teeth, look great, and feel even better. We're here to help! Dentistry with a difference.

Southern Coos Hospital to offer diabetic health forum

BANDON - The Southern Coos Hospital & Health Center's Outpatient Clinic will host a diabetes education forum from 6-7 p.m. Tuesday, April 24, in the Bandon Library's Sprague Room. The event is free to the public and will be emceed by Robin Summers, RN, and Southern Coos Hospital's certified diabetic educator. Food and snacks will be provided by the SCHHC dietary department.

Summers will be joined by two local health practitioners who will give presentations. Stephanie Polizzi, MPH, will do a food demonstration featuring a savory dish that is healthful. Dr. Babak Baharloo, DPM, is a podiatrist practicing at the Southern Coos Health Clinic. Dr. Baharloo will talk about the importance of foot health for diabetics. He will offer practical advice and techniques in foot care and available local resources.

This event is sponsored by the Bandon Lion's Club, the Southern Coos Hospital & Health Center, and the Southern Coos Health Foundation.

For more information, contact Scott McEachern at smeachern@southern-coos.org or 541-329-1040.

Library Art Gallery features 'Into the Dream' for April

BANDON - The April exhibit at the Bandon Library Art Gallery is titled "Into the Dream," featuring paintings by Allison McClay and sculpture by Cary Weigand.

McClay's paintings are a journey into a series of dreams, or into the strange, borderless space we inhabit when we're somewhere between sleep and waking. Figures dissolve into abstraction, or are engulfed by and merged with plant life, seemingly as sentient (or more so), as the semiconscious humans they grapple with.

Or embrace. Her insistence on leaving most of these pieces untitled allows viewers to enter the paintings with their own stories, memories or allusions.

Weigand's carefully wrought figures are alive with personality and character and come straight out of stories, myths, dreams. Weigand mixes extremely fine work with cruder areas of slab, a fully handmade technique that makes them seem as ancient as the stories they create, or remind us of.

Oregon Authors Night features Kirkpatrick in Langlois

LANGLOIS - Jane Kirkpatrick, an award-winning author, will be the guest speaker at an Oregon Authors Night at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 28, at the Old Langlois Cheese Factory, 94179 Allen Boice Drive.

The topic of the evening with Kirkpatrick will be how memory and time shape stories of historical men and women. Besides being a noted inspirational and humorous speaker, Kirkpatrick specializes in historical fiction, often set in Oregon. Included in the topic will be a focus on "A Gathering of Finches," which tells the tale of the Simpson family whose estate is now Shore Acres State Park. This book has been a best seller among coastal readers and is often a choice for local book clubs. Some of her books have been selected nationally by the Book of the Month Club and the Literary Guild.

Other books of historical interest have featured "real life" pioneers such as the "Lilac Lady: Hilda Klager"; Tabitha Moffatt Brown, "Mother of Oregon"; and Letitia Carson, one of the few African-American women listed in an early federal census in Oregon. A history of the community of Aurora has proved to be especially well-received.

This evening promises to be thought-provoking and should be of interest to readers in general, the many fans of Kirkpatrick and to history buffs.

Those unfamiliar with Kirkpatrick's work will be in for a treat. Anyone wishing to write a memoir and others who have seen the Dolphin Players' staged reading of a play adapted from the book, "A Gathering of Finches," may find the talk extremely engaging. There will be an opportunity to meet the author in person as a reception, book signing and limited book sales follows the main presentation. Admission is free.

This event is sponsored by the Friends of the Langlois Library and the Langlois Library Book Club with a grant from the Curry County Cultural Coalition and the Oregon Cultural Trust. For more information, call 541-348-2507.

Meet bestselling author Gregg Hurwitz during Title Wave events

BANDON - Coos County residents have had the opportunity to spend time visiting with J.A. Jance, Craig Johnson and other bestselling authors as part of the Catch the Title Wave program, which brings one author a year to the South Coast to present at local libraries.

This year, meet Gregg Hurwitz, author of the New York Times bestselling “Orphan X” novels.

Hurwitz will hold a Meet the Author event at 2 p.m. Tuesday, April 24, at the Coos Bay Public Library, 525 Anderson Ave., and at 7 p.m., Tuesday, April 24, at the North Bend Public Library, 1800 Sherman Ave.

Or meet Hurwitz at 2 p.m., Wednesday, April 25, at the Sprague Community Theater, 1202 11th St. SW. His final appearance in Coos County will be at 7 p.m., Wednesday, April 25, at the Lakeside Public Library, 915 N. Lake Road.

Hurwitz is the author of 19 novels, including “Hellbent” (2018), the latest of the “Orphan X” series. His novels have been shortlisted for numerous literary awards, graced top 10 lists and have been published in 30 languages.

He is also a New York Times bestselling comic book writer, having penned stories for Marvel (“Wolverine,” “Punisher”) and DC (“Batman,” “Penguin”). Additionally, he’s written screenplays for or sold spec scripts to many of the major studios, including “The Book of Henry,” and written, developed and produced television for various networks.

He has published numerous academic articles on Shakespeare, taught fiction at the University of Southern California English Department and guest lectured for Harvard University. In the course of researching his thrillers, he has sneaked onto demolition ranges with Navy SEALs, swum with sharks in the Galapagos and gone undercover in mind-control cults. Hurwitz lives in Los Angeles.

Everyone is welcome to attend these free Catch the Title Wave events, sponsored by the Coos County Library Service District, the Friends of the Library and Library Foundations of Coos County, Books by the Bay and the Mill Casino-Hotel.
