Courts

North Bend resident sentenced following child exploitation

STAFF REPORT
Coos Bay World

A North Bend man has been sentenced to 27.5 years in prison for sharing sexual images of children online, including photos he took of a 7-year-old child.

"The facts in this case are unspeakably heinous," Oregon Attorney General Rayfield said. "Nothing can undo the harm of these crimes, but our team will work every day to stop perpetrators from continuing to hurt children. The work of our ICAC investigators and prosecutors, partnering with local law enforcement, is critical to keeping our kids and our communities safe."

Kyle Clinton Foster pleaded guilty in Coos County Circuit Court. The case began with a tip from the messaging app Kik and was investigated and prosecuted by the Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) Task Force at the Oregon Department of Justice, according to a release from Rayfield's office.

Apps like Kik are required to report child sexual abuse material when they find it on their platforms. Kik flagged an account that was sharing it, and the tip was sent to ICAC.

Investigators traced the account to Foster, according to Rayfield.

"They found he had sent more than 90 files containing sexual images of children to other users on the app. Some were photos he had taken himself of a 7-year-old child. He also sent material to, and had sexual conversations with, a 15-year-old in the United Kingdom," the release states.

Because of the seriousness of the crimes, Oregon law requires Foster to serve at least 25 of those years in full, with no time off for good behavior and no early release.

Foster pleaded guilty to 15 charges: two counts of Using a Child in a Display of Sexually Explicit Conduct, 11 counts of Encouraging Child Sexual Abuse, and two counts of Luring a Minor.

During the last two years, the ICAC Task Force has increased from 5 ½ full-time members to 20. This statewide task force has agents stationed across Oregon and has executed more than 90 search warrants involving child predators in the last year and half, according to the release.

Special Agent Steven Bohn of the Oregon Department of Justice led the investigation. Senior Assistant Attorney General Elijah C. Michalowski prosecuted the case. Attorney General Rayfield also thanks the Coos County DA's Office, Coos Bay Police Department, Coos County Sheriff's Office and Homeland Security Investigations for their help in delivering justice to this perpetrator.

King tides returning to the Oregon Coast

JEREMY C. RUARK
Curry Coastal Pilot

The highest tides of the year, known as the King tides are returning to the Oregon Coast this fall and winter.

The National Weather Service forecasts the King tides for Nov. 23-27, Dec. 22-26, and Jan. 20-24.

A King Tide is a non-scientific term people often use to describe exceptionally high tides. Tides are long-period waves that roll around the planet as the ocean is "pulled" back and forth by the gravitational pull of the moon and the sun as these bodies interact with the Earth in their monthly and yearly orbits. Higher than normal tides typically occur during a new or full moon and when the Moon is at its perigee, or during specific seasons around the country, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

The tides are quite the sight to see and bring visitors to the coastline to photograph, view, and bask in the amazing power of the ocean, according to Explore Lincoln City. Nut the high tides also can be dangerous.

These highest tides of the year can cause flooding, erosion, and impacts to buildings and roads, especially during storms, they offer opportunities for scientists and land planners. Observing King tides, provides a glimpse of future sea level rise and its potential to intensify erosion, flooding, and beach access issues, according to the Oregon Department of Land Conservation and Development.

The US Coast Guard warns that sneaker waves are one of the largest weather threats to those on the beach. The sneaker waves can occur with the King tides. Earlier this month at least two examples of the danger were illustrated on social media showing the rescue of a child that was being pulled by a sneaker wave into the ocean at Cannon Beach and another video showing multiple people injured at Barview after massive waves surged up the beach Sunday morning, Nov. 8. The National Weather Service had issued a High Surf Warning that weekend.

"During King Tides and severe storms beach access can be closed, and for good reason," Explore Lincoln City cautions in a website post. "The water can approach out of nowhere, a phenomenon known as sneaker waves. Typically, there is a period of calm that results in people relaxing their awareness and oftentimes results in beachgoers caught off guard and swept off their feet, sometimes into the ocean. During these dangerous conditions, large pieces of driftwood and other objects are effortlessly rolled, which can put both individuals and rescue teams in danger. Protect yourself, your family, pets, and even your car by avoiding low-lying coastal areas and obeying beach access closures."

If you are on Oregon's Coast, you are invited to take photos of these high-water events to help document their impact on coastal communities. The Oregon King Tides Photo Project, part of a global effort to track sea level changes, encourages anyone with a camera to join in and capture a preview of how rising sea levels might affect communities in the future. Seeing King tide photos can help planners, resource agencies, conservationists, and coastal citizens get ready for these changes, organizers of the project said.

High waves can rush up along the shore crashing into walkways and buildings along the beaches during the King Tides.

Participation is easy: choose a location along the coast, snap a photo when the tide is at its highest point, and share it at www.oregonkingtides.net.

To join the King Tides Photo Project, capture the high-water levels around fixed features like pilings, seawalls, or bridge supports, as they help show how high the tide reaches. Include the location, date, and direction

Up close and personal with surgical robotics

Local students had the opportunity to get a hands-on experience of surgical robotics during a demonstration at the Bay Area Hospital in Coos Bay.

The members of the hospital staff conducted a Surgical Robotics Demonstration in the main lobby all day Tuesday, Nov. 10. Dr. Derek Rogalsky led the interactive demonstration of what is described as the latest and greatest surgical robot from Intuitive, the da Vinci 5 (DV5).

The hospital hosted five classrooms from four schools: Destinations Academy, Bandon High School, Marshfield High School and North Bend High School. After a brief introduction from CEO, Gretchen Nichols and a presentation by Dr. Rogalsky, students were able to participate in multiple interactive stations.

"I'm glad it was so hands-on. A lot of these opportunities are presentation only and this experience really made an impression," Bandon High School Science Teacher Trent Hatfield said.

Dr. Rogalsky brought the DV5 to Bay Area Hospital to show staff, students, and community members the value of modern, safe, minimally invasive surgery. "Our hospital has been doing robotic-assisted surgeries for ten years," he said. "Having the next generation come and see this technology builds excitement and may possibly inspire future surgeons."

Local parent, Veronica Dragon brought her son Luke to participate.

"He's fascinated by computers, technology and this was the most innovative thing in the area for him to see," Dragon said.

Chamber Minute

BY ROSEY THOMAS
Executive Director, Bay Area Chamber Of Commerce

In for another Chamber Minute is Rosey.

This week, as we recognize Veterans Day, I want to take a moment to honor the men and women who have served our country. Here on the South Coast, we are fortunate to have so many veterans who are part of our families, our businesses, and our community. Their service, sacrifice, and commitment deserve more than just a day of recognition. They deserve our continued gratitude and respect.

Veterans Day also reminds us of something important: service doesn't end when someone takes off the uniform. It continues in the way we lead, the way we show up for our neighbors, the way we support one another, and the way we invest in the place we call home.

At the Chamber, we believe strong communities are built through connection, collaboration, and a willingness to work together. Just like any good team, we are stronger when we have each other's backs.

So this week, let's take a moment to thank a veteran, recognize someone who has served, and remember that we all have a part to play in building a stronger future for our community.

To all our veterans, thank you for your service. We are grateful you are part of our community.

And as always, our Business is Your Business.

CO2 levels in our atmosphere

For most of our Earth's history, Carbon Dioxide (CO2) levels in the atmosphere have ranged between 180 and 280 parts per million.

When CO2 levels where around 280 parts per million, the corresponding Earth temperature could sustain life. When CO2 levels where around 180 parts per million were times of ice ages.

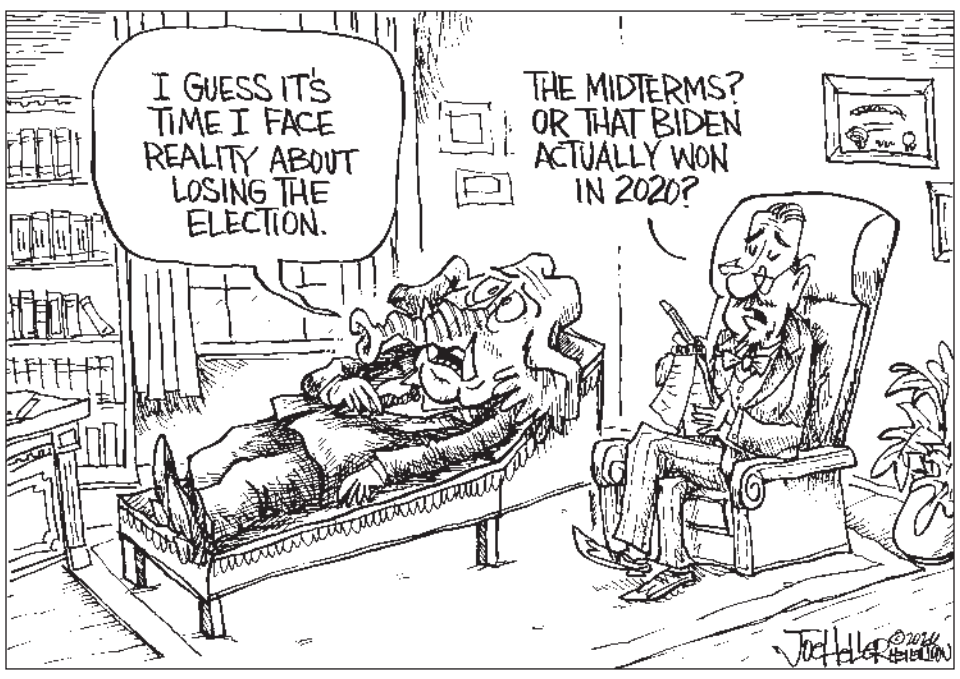

For the first time in the history of Earth, CO2 reached 300 ppm in 1950. Today CO2 levels have reached 425 PPM. A 42% increase in just 75 years! An unheard-of rate of change to a level our world has never experienced.

Carbon Dioxide in the Earth's atmosphere acts like a blanket, holding heat in and preventing it from being released back into space. The more the CO2, the thicker the blanket. The thicker the blanket, the warmer our world gets.

And just like being under a blanket, it takes a while to warm up. Earth has just gotten under the blanket and temperatures have just started to rise.

It is very clear: as the species that is killing our planet, we must be the ones to save it. Please take action today. Our World Needs You.

Holy Cow! History

The night young men learned their draft fate on live TV

By J. MARK POWELL
InsideSources.com

Hearts were racing from Connecticut to California and countless places in between. Americans were about to witness something they'd never seen before. It would bring immense relief to many households and deliver dark fear to others.

And it would all unfold right before their very eyes, thanks to the modern miracle of television.It had been a remarkable year for the young broadcast medium. So far in 1969, viewers had watched live as one president took office (Richard Nixon's swearing-in); had said goodbye to another (Dwight Eisenhower's funeral); had seen four Apollo space missions play out (including the first historic moonwalk on July 20); and even heard Sen. Edward Kennedy explain his actions in the Chappaquiddick incident to the nation.As incredible as all that had been, nothing compared to what the tube brought into American homes on Dec. 1.For viewers watching CBS' top-rated lineup, it had started like any other Monday night. "Gunsmoke" was followed by "Here's Lucy." At 9 p.m., folks settled back into couches and recliners, ready for yet another top-rated show. Instead, they heard an announcer say, "'Mayberry R.F.D.' will not be presented tonight but will return next week at its regularly scheduled time over most of these stations." Tens of thousands of young men in the prime of life — plus their parents and siblings, their friends and sweethearts — all held their breath."The Draft Lottery," another announcer solemnly intoned. "A live report on tonight's picking of the birthdates for the draft. Here at Selective Service headquarters in Washington is CBS News correspondent Roger Mudd." The famous newsman appeared, arm draped over the back of a seat in a nondescript government conference room, and spoke softly as the night's business proceeded behind him. The nation's first military draft lottery since 1942 was underway, and Americans were watching.

The United States was mired in the depths of the Vietnam conflict (as Washington insisted on calling it) at the time. It had raged for most of the 1960s, sparked youth protests that helped drive the previous president, Lyndon Johnson, from office, and hung like an ominous, deadly question mark over the nation — with no end in sight.

Now it was time to replenish Uncle Sam's ranks. Young males born between Jan. 1, 1944, and Dec. 31, 1950 — those who had reached 19 but had not yet turned 26 by Jan. 1, 1970, some 850,000 in all — were affected.

The drawing itself didn't determine who would specifically be called. It simply established the order for calling those who eventually received the dreaded letter that typically began "(From) THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, Greetings. You are hereby ordered for induction into the Armed Forces of the United States ..."

Here's how it worked.

A large bin held 366 blue plastic capsules, one for each day of the year. The order in which those capsules were picked determined the order in which men born on that particular date would be called to serve. The top third was almost a sure bet for being drafted; the middle was so-so; the bottom third was generally considered safe.

Rep. Alexander Pirnie, R-N.Y., drew the first capsule. Sept. 14 became draft No. 001, followed by April 24, then Dec. 30 and Feb. 14 after that. That would be the order in which men were summoned: first selected, first called. June 8 was last at No. 366.

The Los Angeles Times called it a "grim Bingo game."

Mathematicians and statisticians pointed out flaws; for example, more late-year dates were drawn

Lakers have big day at cross country championships

JOHN GUNTHER
For the World

The Southwestern Oregon Community College cross country team had another historic day in the NWAC championships at Spokane.

One year after winning the first title in school history, the SWOCC women placed all five of their scoring runners in the top 13 and finished second to Spokane in the team race.

SWOCC's men, meanwhile, also made the podium, placing third.

Only SWOCC and Spokane, which won the women's title and was second for the men, had both the women's and men's teams finish on the podium.

In the women's race, Spokane's Hannah Ward was champion, covering the 6,000-meter course in 22 minutes and 16 seconds.

SWOCC's Vianey Toledo was fourth (22:54), with Raena Crisp seventh (23:12), Taylor Dickey eighth (23:15), Lydia Montes De Oca 12th (23:38) and Mckenzie Miller 13th (23:47).

Miller beat Spokane's fifth runner, but the Sasquatch beat the Lakers for the team title 37-44, with Treasure Valley third.

SWOCC's Azelynn Jones was 19th (24:26), Bella Fortino 28th (24:55), Anie Morrow 44th (26:16) and Laura Black 49th (27:02).

In the men's race, Lane had five of the top 10 finishers, led by winner Alder Davis, to take the team title.

Davis crossed the line in 24:53 for the 8,000-meter course.

SWOCC was led by Kyler Brooks, who was fourth (25:25) and Brody Michael, who was seventh (25:27). SWOCC's Emmanuel Salinas was 13th (25:58), Ty Hunter 18th (26:36), Joe Nicholson 20th (26:58), Trey Hodges 22nd (27:12) and Ryan Sheets 25th (27:20). SWOCC won eight of its final 10 matches, including wins over both Mount Hood and Lane, but wasn't able to make up for a slow start to league play.

The final week of the season the Lakers were swept by Linn-Benton but then edged Lane in five sets and beat Umpqua and Rogue three sets to one.

Brynlee Huff had 19 kills, Kaitlyn Niebuhr 17 and Olivia Brophy 11 in the win over Lane. Chloe Rothwell had 32 assists and Carley Lucero 20. Brophy had 29 digs, Kaydence Deering 256 and Huff 22.

Pacific loses in soccer semifinals

Pacific's run in the Class 2A-1A soccer playoffs ended in a semifinal loss last Tuesday to eventual champion Grand View Christian.

Pacific fell 5-1 in the match at Oregon City to end a season with just three losses, two to Grand View Christian, in the new division. This is the first year Class 3A has been separated from Class 2A-1A.

In the championship match Friday night, Grand View Christian beat C.S. Lewis Academy 4-1 for its first-ever title. Leo Nam had two goals for Grand View Christian, which led 4-0 before a late goal by C.S. Lewis Academy.

CLASS 4A: Sky-Em League runner-up Marist Catholic, which finished second behind Marshfield in the league standings, won the state title Saturday when it edged Stayton 2-1 in the championship match.

Marist Catholic had advanced to the final with a 3-1 win over Newport, which knocked Marshfield out of the playoffs in the first round.

In the championship match, Caleb Hirons and Evan Coffman scored for the Spartans, the second goal coming in the 78th minute. Josiah Dessieux scored for Stayton in the final minute.

CLASS 3A: Top-ranked Catlin Gabel beat Far West League champion St. Mary's 3-0 in the championship match Saturday. Liam Travers had two goals for Catlin Gabel and Diego Flores also scored.

St. Mary's reached the title game with a 6-1 win over Dayton.

CLASS 5A: Top-ranked Summit beat La Salle Prep 3-1 to take home the title. Will Newton had two goals in the final five minutes for the Storm after Henry Roy had tied the match at 1-all with a goal for the Falcons in the 72nd minute.

CLASS 6A: Jesuit won the title with a 4-2 victory over Grant on Saturday. The Crusaders led 1-0 at half on a goal by Rodrigo Rodriguez and eventually went up 3-0 and 4-1 before a goal in the final minute by the Generals.

GIRLS SOCCER

CLASS 4A: Marist Catholic repeated as champion with a 4-0 win over Scappoose in the final on Saturday.

The Spartans, the Sky-Em League champions, did not yield a goal in the playoffs and reached the final with a 4-0 win over The Dalles earlier in the week.

Donawa Cruz had two goals and Tori Sherman and Libby McLaughlin both had a goal and two assists for Marist Catholic in the win.

Scappoose, which knocked out North Bend in the quarterfinals, had reached the championship with a 1-0 win over Henley.

CLASS 3A-2A-1A: Catlin Gabel, like Marist Catholic, made it a boys and girls sweep of the titles by beating rival Oregon Episcopal 1-0 in the championship match.

Lia Peng-Field had the only goal of the match in the 36th minute for the Eagles.

CLASS 5A: Silverton edged La Salle Prep 1-0 in the most exciting championship match, decided on penalty kicks after neither team scored in regulation or overtime.

Both Silverton and the Falcons won three road matches to reach the championship game.

Marley Wertz made the deciding PK in the fifth round for Silverton after La Salle's shooters missed in the first and third rounds. Ashtyn Wentworth, Chloe Brooks and Atti Heinzman also made their attempts for Silverton.

CLASS 6A: Central Catholic denied Jesuit a sweep of the titles with a 2-1 win over the Crusaders in a match that went to overtime.

Joan VanSandt forced overtime with an unassisted goal in the 76th minute and then had the game-winner in the eighth minute of the second overtime for Central Catholic.

Seafood Trail celebrates local fisheries

Jeremy C. Ruark
Coos Bay World

The Oregon Coast Seafood Trail, a new initiative inviting travelers to experience local seafood closer to its source, has been launched by the Oregon Coast Visitors Association (OCVA) in partnership with the Oregon Ocean Cluster.

Featuring more than 20 local businesses, the trail helps visitors discover fisher-family-run eateries, seafood markets, dockside retailers and food carts that prioritize Oregon-landed and Oregon-grown seafood. Along the way, it introduces travelers to the fishing families and working waterfronts that sustain Oregon's blue economy, according to a release from the OCVA.

The trail addresses a disconnect between Oregon's seafood harvest and what reaches local plates. A 2022 study commissioned by OCVA found that about 90% of the seafood supplied to the Oregon Coast businesses and institutions studied was classified as non-local catch. The trail helps travelers and residents find businesses committed to local sourcing and learn where their seafood comes from.

The trail features businesses offering Oregon-landed and Oregon-grown seafood, including Dungeness crab, pink shrimp, albacore tuna, salmon, oysters, clams, halibut, and groundfish. Visitors can also explore seasonal seafood opportunities, seafood markets, and dockside experiences through an interactive online map and trip-planning resources.

In Lincoln City, Squatchsami Outpost focuses on Oregon-landed fish and the local fishing families who bring it to shore. Its menu includes lingcod and halibut fish and chips, along with other seasonal seafood offerings that help visitors connect the meal on their plate to Oregon's working waterfronts.

"Oregon's seafood industry is deeply tied to the identity and economy of the coast," Oregon Coast Visitors Association Executive Director Marcus Hinz said. "The Seafood Trail gives visitors an opportunity to experience the stories, people, and places behind Oregon seafood, which also gives folks a practical way to support coastal livelihoods."

Hinz said this local approach also reflects a priority in the America First Seafood Strategy, a coordinated federal plan released October 23, 2026, that calls for connecting U.S. seafood producers with buyers through restaurant promotion, direct sales and regional marketing partnerships.

In her opening keynote at the October 29 Oregon Coast Economic Summit in Seaside, Kate Sinner, executive director of Travel Oregon, highlighted how the Seafood Trail helps visitors find fresh local seafood to eat on the Coast or buy to prepare at their rental or back home. She connected those purchases to a broader goal: bringing visitors to the Coast in quieter seasons and putting more of their spending into small local businesses.

"More than a dining guide, the Oregon Coast Seafood Trail encourages travelers to deepen their relationship with Oregon's coastal culture through authentic dock-to-plate experiences and a better understanding of the region's working waterfront heritage," the OCVA release states.

"One of the most encouraging things we've noticed over the past 15 years of the Oregon King Tides Project is how many people are excited about coastal issues and learning more about how dynamic our ocean environment is," Oregon Department of Land Conservation and Development Coastal Shores Specialist Rhiannon Bezore said in a Lincoln County Leader published interview in 2025. "Seeing people from all backgrounds and ages heading to the coast to see the impacts of king tides is amazing and getting people involved in citizen science to help us document king tides now and plan for future conditions is one of the best things about the project."

Bezore said the King tides bring many people to the coast during some of the most dangerous conditions of the year.

"It is imperative that anyone on the coast be aware of the power of the waves and tides and put safety first," Bezore said. "We emphasize that king tide participants should view from a safe distance, never turn their backs on the water, and be mindful that areas accessible during lower tides may not be passable during king tides."

early on, meaning men with those birthdays had a higher chance of being drafted.Ultimately, the 1970 draft cutoff was No. 195. The military wasted no time summoning men born on Sept. 14, starting just weeks later in January 1970.A massive student backlash followed. Things intensified when President Richard Nixon announced on April 30, 1970, that U.S. troops had entered Cambodia. That led to the shootings at a May 4 antiwar demonstration on the campus of Kent State University in Ohio that left four students dead, which, in turn, sparked the rallying of 100,000 antiwar demonstrators on the Ellipse in Washington, D.C., just five days later. Draft cards were burned, draft dodgers fled to Canada, war supporters shouted "America: Love it or leave it!" and the country, it felt like, was teetering on the brink of civil war.A few months later, starting Jan. 12, 1971, Americans watched as the generational divide separating antiwar advocates from war supporters played out in arguments that raged between "All in the Family" characters Archie Bunker and his son-in-law, Michael "Meathead" Stivic, in the Bunkers' living room.It all began with watching the real-life drama unfold in America's real-life living rooms that cold December Monday night in 1969.

*Annual Percentage Yield (APY) effective 11/10/26. APY interest cannot remain on deposit; periodic payment of interest is required. Certificates of Deposit (CDs) offered by Edward Jones are bank issued and FDIC insured up to $250,000 (principal and interest accrued but not yet paid) per depositor, per insured depository institution, for each account ownership category. Edward Jones is not a bank or FDIC insured institution and deposit insurance only covers the failure of an insured bank. FDIC insurance for brokered-CDs offered by Edward Jones is provided by the FDIC insured banks that issue the CDs on a "pass-through" basis, which requires certain conditions to be met for coverage to apply. OPRD looking back and planning for the future

OREGON PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT

As this year comes to a close, the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department is looking back on 2026 and planning for the 2027 season.

OPRD welcomed millions of visitors this year to its state parks, including 2.2 million camping nights so far this year. Park rangers were on the ground welcoming visitors, cleaning restrooms, hosting hikes and star parties, and addressing hundreds of trail, utility, and other maintenance issues that arose throughout the year.

This year also came with some significant changes to OPRD's fees as the agency successfully closed a $14 million funding gap for the 2025-2027 biennium. Some of the fees had not been updated in 15 years.

"These changes, while hard, were absolutely necessary and they prevented us from closing parks," said OPRD director Lisa Sumption. "We fixed our budget in the short-term, and now we are turning our attention toward long-term solutions that do not put the burden solely on our visitors."

Staff are looking forward to welcoming visitors for the 2027 season. To help visitors enjoy Oregon's more than 250 state park areas and know what to expect next year, see the following updates.

Fall/Winter 2026:

• OPRD refreshed its online store, offering new ways to remember your favorite Oregon State Parks visit.

• OPRD and State Library of Oregon made 200 parking permits available at 82 libraries across the state and will be evaluating opportunities to expand the Library Pass Program.

• Weatherization of parks closed over the winter months.

• Update reservation website to show the site fee per day when selecting available camping dates.

• New Spot Watch feature provides more detailed notification options via text or email. You can set up a notification that includes multiple parks, lodging types, and date ranges.

• Begin low-season park improvement projects, like those happening at Cape Lookout State Park, Silver falls State Park a, and Smith Rock State Park.

• Following the new dump station fee implemented at 18 state parks, the agency is evaluating whether additional parks have the technology and site conditions to make implementation practical.

Beginning Jan. 1, 2027

• First Day Hikes: Guided hikes at select parks on Jan. 1.

• The Transient Lodging Tax set by the Oregon Tourism Commission will increase from 1.5% to 2.75% and effects all OPRD overnight reservations. OPRD does not receive funds collected from this tax.

• Physical 12-month parking permits – the hang tags – will only be sold online and will cost $10 more to account for printing and handling fees. Digital 12-month parking permits will still cost $60 for Oregon residents and $75 for non-residents.

• Jessie M. Honeyman State Park will close for several months starting in January for utility and hazard tree removal work.

Spring 2027

• Park cleanup, repair and reopening after assessing any damage or issues that arose after the winter season.

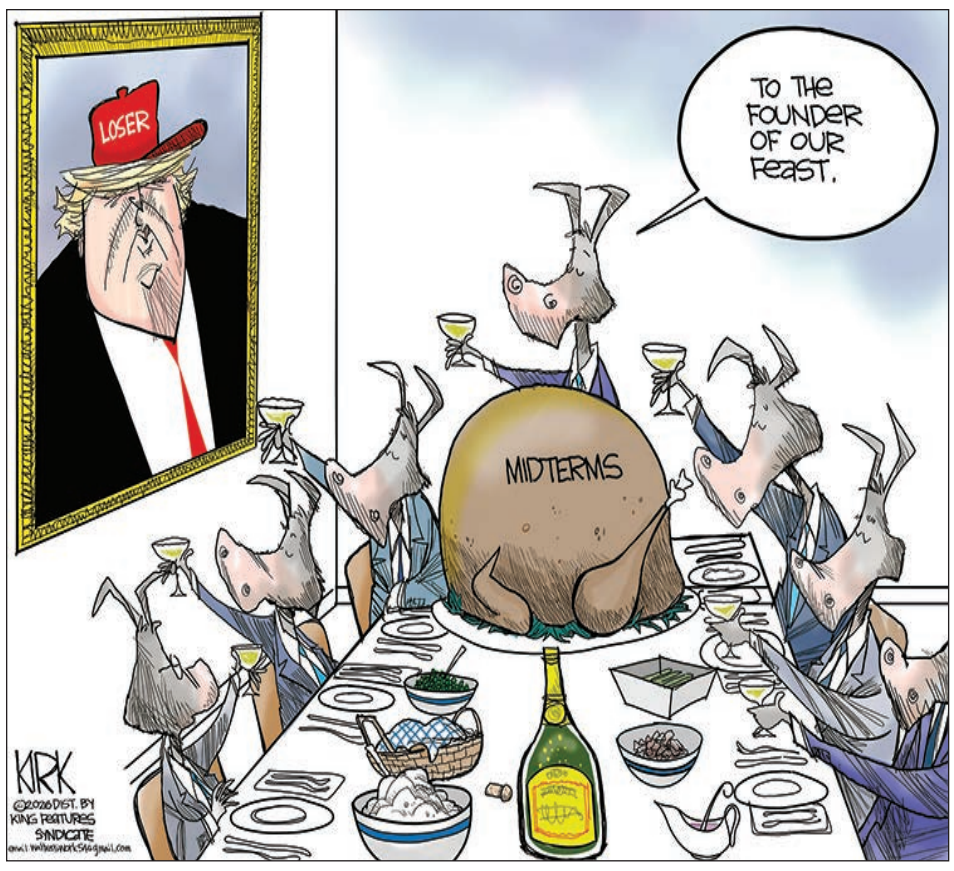

• Rate increases to reservable day-use facilities (amphitheater, group day use, meeting hall, pavilion and picnic shelter), yurts and cabins take effect May 1. Increases will be about 5% to account for inflation in utility, supplies and staffing costs.

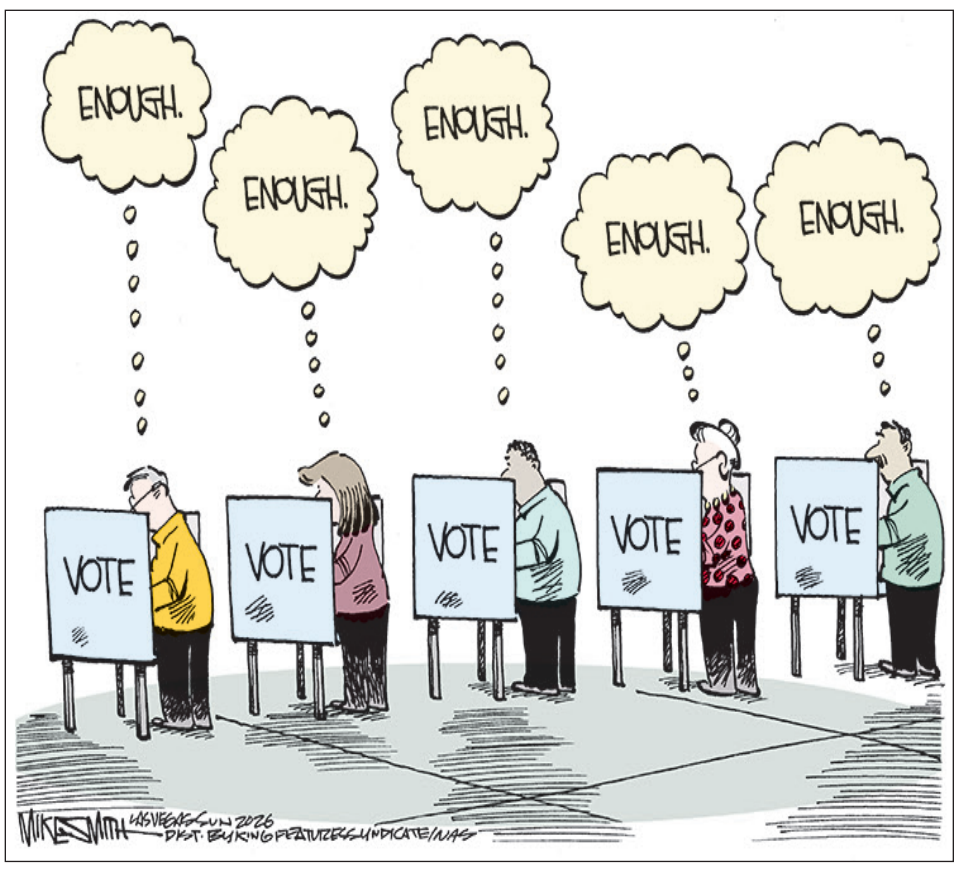

• Hire for seasonal staff.

OPRD is making substantially fewer fee changes in 2027. Addressing large maintenance projects that are overdue, often referred to as deferred maintenance, is the primary issue. If put off for too long, the issues can become persistent and cause service disruptions or closures to campgrounds.

The agency does not receive general fund tax revenue, and fees alone will not be able to address deferred maintenance. OPRD has been and will continue to focus on long-term funding solutions that can meet the scale of the deferred maintenance need.

$230M invested to strengthen Oregon's rural communities

SUBMITTED

U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Development has announced nearly $25 billion in rural community investments nationwide in fiscal year 2026. These projects strengthen essential infrastructure, expand housing and business opportunities, and ensure rural families and farmers have the tools they need to succeed.

"Rural communities know what they need to thrive, and USDA is proud to help turn those local priorities into lasting results," USDA Rural Development Oregon State Director Jim Carmack. "The investments we made over fiscal year 2026 strengthen housing, infrastructure, businesses and essential services across Oregon while creating new opportunities for the people who call rural Oregon home."

In Oregon, Rural Development invested more than $233.8 million in loans and grants in fiscal year 2026 to support these efforts.

These investments support local priorities in Oregon and deliver real results for rural residents, farmers, businesses, and communities, including the following highlights:

• Business: $73.8 million invested in Oregon's rural businesses, including timber production, manufacturing, entrepreneurship, and supporting value-added agriculture.

• Housing: $143.3 million in multifamily and single-family housing investments to support rural homeownership and affordable rural rental housing, including $12.3 million in direct loan funding for 40 new Oregon homeowners.

• Water and Wastewater Infrastructure: $1.2 million invested to protect, modernize, and improve rural water and wastewater systems.

• Telecommunications: $12.7 million to expand access to high-speed internet in Oregon's rural and remote areas.

• Community Facilities: $7 million invested to support emergency communications, essential community buildings, and equipment.

The investments mark only the beginning of USDA's commitment to deliver resources that communities can rely on to improve their quality of life. Focusing on the needs of rural America helps build more resilient communities across the nation.

Looking ahead, USDA Rural Development will continue to deliver targeted investments that strengthen our communities by responding to rural needs across Oregon.

said she plans to one day become a general surgeon, "This gives me the opportunity to see what technology I might be working with," Tinkler said.

Over 100 students, many community members, staff, physicians, and board members attended the event. Participants had the chance to sit in the driver's seat of the machine designed to improve surgical outcomes, decrease time spent under anesthesia, help identify critical structures, and safely increase the number of surgeries a surgeon can perform in a week.

"This really is the standard of care," Hospital Board Member Dr. Tom McAndrew, said.

"In our small area, it's easy to feel like there are only so many opportunities for careers out there. But going to events like these, really shows students that the possibilities are endless," Marshfield High School's Manufacturing Technologies Instructor Glen Crook said.

State praises Coquille schools' attendance increase

By DEAN BRICKEY
For the World

COQUILLE — Attendance growth in the Coquille School District has caught the attention of the Oregon Department of Education (ODE), which honored the district last week.

Dr. Candice Castillo, Ed.D., deputy director of academics at the state agency, traveled to Coquille on Nov. 10 to address students and staff at Coquille Valley Elementary (CVE) about the district's achievements. She presented the district with the Hòa Nguyễn Attendance Impact Award for small districts in the state.

Hòa Nguyễn, who died in 2025, served as a member of the Oregon House of Representatives for the 48th district, which comprises parts of Clackamas and Multnomah counties. She was elected in November 2022, she assumed office on Jan. 9, 2023.

Castillo said Nguyễn was a "champion for education and for students" who focused "on removing barriers so students can show up."

The state identified one large, one mid-sized, and one small district that demonstrated sustained improvement in regular attendance rates for all students; positive attendance trends for at least four student focal groups and measurable progress toward closing attendance gaps. The state considers regular attenders as those with 90 percent or greater attendance. Those considered chronically absent have less than 90 percent attendance.

An ODE statement said the Coquille district "demonstrated consistent growth for all race/ethnicity groups and outperformed the state for students experiencing houselessness." The state's assessment focused on the period between 2021-22 and 2025-26.

"Schools have moved away from punitive responses to attendance and toward creating positive, welcoming experiences for students and families," the report said. Examples include offering a breakfast cart for students who arrive late, coaching cafeteria staff on positive interactions, and relationship-focused front office staff who help create a warm and welcoming environment."

Jeff Philley, interim district superintendent, said the award recognizes "a significant increase in four-year attendance across the entire district, five schools," but he said CVE was selected as the site for the assembly because it recorded the best improvement in four-year attendance. The school's enrollment is about 340 students in Grades 2–6. The entire district's enrollment is about 1,100.

District and state officials believe that "having a steady, welcoming environment at school where you feel that you belong is important for you to show up every day," Dr. Castillo told the students and staff. "This award recognizes districts that are making measurable progress in helping students like you attend school every day, while creating that supportive and welcome environment so that all of you can be excited about learning and thriving."

Armando Ruiz, principal of Coquille Valley Elementary School, brought five students out front last week to unfurl the banner recognizing the Coquille School District's attendance achievements. They are, from left, Evelyn Logston, Brooklyn Choquette, Hunter Henthorn, Theo Lewis and Elouise Deatherage. Beside them are Jeff Philley, Coquille School District interim superintendent, and Dr. Candice Castillo, deputy director of academics at the Oregon Department of Education.

Armando Ruiz, principal of Coquille Valley Elementary, thanked Dr. Castillo for presenting the award.

"Today we gather to celebrate a major milestone for the Coquille School District and CVE, a significant achievement in school attendance," he said. "This success reflects the hard work and shared commitment of our staff, students, and families to make showing up every day a top priority. It highlights the strong, meaningful relationships our team builds with students daily, creating an environment where every student feels supported, valued, and inspired to succeed."

Ruiz said staff members have a lot to do with encouraging regular student attendance.

"Each morning, you are the one to greet them with fresh hope, bright energy, and the opportunity for a wonderful day," he said. "Every time you high-five a student in the hallway, help them with a question, or look the child in the eye and say, 'I'm really glad you're here today,' you give them a reason to come back. You aren't just teaching; you're being a champion."

Ruiz called the school's attendance progress "nothing short of incredible." He said school attendance has reached pre-COVID levels, or pre-2020 attendance.

"Across our school district, our attendance didn't just inch forward; it surged dramatically," Ruiz said. "We saw massive leaps across all student groups and extraordinary, extraordinary gains for our American Indian, Alaska Native students, students with disabilities, Hispanic and Latino students, and our independent mentor students.

"These aren't just facts," he added. "They represent hundreds of additional days and hours of learning where students came to school because they knew they belonged."

Ruiz said the school does a number of things that encourage attendance, such as posting in the hallway each week the names of students with perfect attendance, and weekly classroom attendance competitions with a trophy to the winner.

Dress for Success! Area youth present Coquille play

NANCY LELLER

Guest Article

Saturday, November 7th, the Sawdust Theater was full of 38 youth who had auditioned just 5 days before, rehearsed all week and put on two delightful shows called The Emperor's New Clothes.

The CREATE Center arrange to bring the Missoula Children's Theater tour directors to Coquille. The directors bring the portable set, costumes, props and scripts, all in a red truck and spend a week teaching the youth the play.

"Dress for success" is good advice that the Emperor (Adrian Rangel) takes whole heartedly, wanting to impress the Kings & Queens (Lisa Kim, Chloe Baker, Alex Aker, Addisyn Harris, Mckenzie O'Banion, Abby Fanno, Estelle Greer and BellaDonna O'Connor) of the Elemental Kingdoms. But where to stop?

When the clothes (and other people's opinions) become more important than the people of the kingdom, trouble brews. The Royal Scholars (Ayana Mace, Eva Bautista and David Saez) & Royal Artisans (Maya Peters, Hazel Hacker, Thea Horst, Savvy Starks, Carson Crook, Archie Lambert, Ellion Colvin, Aletta Clauson, Marceline Elbert, Winter Waddington, Anthony Wendt, Evie Hashberger, Benjamin Crockett, Jaxon O'Connor, Emma Rangel) try to help their beloved Emperor find the way back to his heart, but the Money Council (Dennis Callahan, Deelynn Delossantos, Ember Schrag, Olivia Shorb, Zoey Sweek, Ariel Williamson, Maggie Weeks) led by Manypenny (Jonessa Holycross) want to keep the Emperor's new obsession growing.

When the loyal Silkworms (Evie Ostle, Alice Lambson, Laker Clark) are kicked out of the castle, it becomes clear that the Emperor needs to learn a lesson. With all of the Elemental Kingdoms gathered, it's time for a royal parade!

There was singing, dancing, acting and plenty of closed eyes and gasps as the emperor threatened to show his new clothes. Fortunately, he figured out the trick and that character is more important than the clothes he wore. But he made sure to give the kingdom a taste of their own medicine.

Thank you, Sawdust Theater, Iosha Reed, Coquille Valley Elementary School for your hospitality and help to make this happen twice a year. Next audition will be May 3 for King Arthurs Quest. Auditions are open to all K-12 youth, and the show will be May 8.

The Sawdust Theater is located at 120 N Adams Street in Coquille. For more information, call 541-396-4563.

As I See It

By Mary Schamehorn

The first photo I am sharing this week was taken in September of 1982 as construction began on the new commercial fishing marina and boat basin in the Port of Bandon. The project involved construction of a breakwater and boat turning basin by the US. Army Corps of Engineers for $1.4 million, and a $2 million investment into site preparation and actual marina construction. The new facility provided approximately 80 slips for local fishing vessels. The Port secured financing for the new marina through Federal Economic Development Administration grant funds, state monies, and $1.3 million in local voter-approved bonds. The facility was expected to be completed in the fall of 1983.

The second photo, taken in January of 1984, shows construction work on the new chamber of commerce visitor center, which belongs to the City of Bandon and is operated by the chamber. You can see Black Horse Boutique on the corner of Second and Chicago, and across Chicago is the original Arcade Garden Tavern, which has housed many retail shops over the years. The third photo was taken in January of 1940 when Ferry Creek flooded in the area of the cheese factory, at left, and George Chappell's Standard Oil station at right. In the background you can see the Coast Lumber Yard, and across the street, on the corner of Fillmore and Highway 101 is the Gilmore Service Station, which was owned by my father.

I was sad to learn that Bandon native Virginia Lee Weaver died Nov. 2 just shy of her 92nd birthday. Virginia had lived in Bandon her entire life, and was a retired realtor. She owned Black Horse Boutique in downtown Bandon for 30 years, and also ran the Minute Cafe while raising four children.

Her survivors include her four children, Sherry Boak, Jacki Caspary, Gary Weaver and Greg Weaver and their families. She is also survived by two of her siblings, Richard and Robert Lee, and was preceded in death by her brothers Kenneth and Jerry Lee and her sister, Marjorie Williams.

I have also learned that former resident Patricia Soltys, 86, died recently in Tuscaloosa, Ala., where she had moved to live near one of her daughters. She had been in ill health for the last few years. Her family intends to have a memorial in Bandon next year. Patricia devoted much of her time and knowledge to the City of Bandon as a member of the Planning Commission, Water Resource Committee and Public Utilities Commission. She also promoted and sponsored the late artist Charles Tatum's sculptures to showings in numerous galleries in Oregon and California.

The results of the election are in and the Bandon City Council will have a new mayor and two new city councilors when they are sworn in at the January council meeting.

Josh Adamson defeated me for mayor by a vote of 1079 to 620; councilors elected were former city manager Dan Chandler with 917 votes; incumbent Chris Powell, who owns Bandon Baking Co., 684; Ray's meat manager Ray Ahumada, 588. Others receiving votes were incumbent Madeline Seymour with 577, budget committee member Renee Taylor, 561 and David Zaragoza, an owner of Rawsome Juices in the Bandon Shopping Center, 390 votes.

The ballot measure to increase the transient occupancy tax (lodging tax) from 9.5 to 12 percent passed by a vote of 922 to 764. This tax is paid by visitors and not locals, and, effective Jan. 1, a new state law will allow cities to keep 50 percent of the tax for general fund uses, like police and fire, while the other 50 percent goes to tourism promotion and facilities. Previously, 70 percent went to tourism promotion and 30 percent to cities. This has been one way cities have been able to recoup the cost of maintaining infrastructure necessary to accommodate the influx of tourists in the summer months.

The people I let down by not trying harder to be re-elected are the city employees, as I have been their biggest supporter and they mine, as we weathered the past year together.

One of those employees, Sarah Lakey, who is the administrative assistant for the Bandon Police Department, posted something on Facebook that I want to share with my readers, many of whom are not on Facebook.

"Mary, I just want to take a moment to say thank you for everything you have done for the City of Bandon, not only as our mayor, but for the employees who serve this community every day. Your kindness, constant smile and your genuine appreciation for the work we do have meant more than you probably realize. Working in public service isn't always easy, and having a mayor who recognizes that, supports the employees and makes them feel valued is something truly special.

"I have always appreciated your wealth of knowledge and history you bring to the table. Your understanding of our city and its past has always been such a valuable part of the decisions you've made for its future.

"Thank you for your years of dedication, your kindness, and for never forgetting the people behind the scenes who help keep this city running. You have made a different, and I hope you know how much you are appreciated." -Sarah Lakey.

I don't think I have to tell you how much this means to me!

I Learned that the Bandon High School Speech Team recently competed in the Crusader Invitational at St. Mary's High School, where they did well. Jessica Burg, spar debate, finished first; Brennan McFall and Jessica Burg, impromptu duo, first place; Jessica Burg, dramatic interpretation and humorous interpretation, second place in both competitions, and Elizabeth Culver, novice poetry, placed third.

Bandon earned a pair of champions in the 1A/2A state cross country championships Saturday at Lane Community College in Eugene. Tiger Jael Legutki, a sophomore, was the individual girls' champion with a time of 18:57.9, while Beckett Pahls, a junior, won the boys' championship with a time of 15:52.6.

Both the Tiger teams, coached by Brent Hutton, finished third overall.

The Bandon Police Department is once again preparing for Holiday With a Hero, which provides food, gifts and clothing for children and families in need. Those wishing to assist in the program can drop a check made out to the Bandon Police Department at the front desk at city hall, or mail it to P.O. Box 67, Bandon, Or. 97411. For information contact the police department at 541-347-2242, ext. 2. or email slakey@bandon-or.gov.

"Together we can make a difference one family at a time," said Sarah Lakey.

The Holiday Boutique and Christmas Tree Auction will be held in the lobby of the Southern Coos Hospital on Saturday, Nov. 14, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. featuring local vendors with unique gifts, and the opportunity to bid on beautifully decorated trees. A soup and cracker lunch is available for $5. Proceeds benefit the Southern Coos Health Foundation.

Santa will make a number of visits to Bandon beginning Friday, Nov. 27, when he will be at the Bandon Fisheries Warehouse from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 28, from 10 to 1, he will be at the Warehouse, and from 5 to 8 p.m. he will be in the trolley on the visitor center parking lot for the annual tree-lighting ceremony.

He will make another appearance Saturday, Dec. 5, from 10 to 1 at the Bandon Fisheries Warehouse and on Sunday, Dec. 13, he will be at the free fishing pole giveaway at the Warehouse.

Upcoming events, mostly sponsored by the Greater Bandon Association, include the Alive After Five Nog Walk, Nov. 28, 3 to 5 p.m.; Night of 10,000 Lights Christmas Tree Lighting, Nov. 28, 5 p.m., visitor center parking lot; Alive After Five Nog Walk, Dec. 12, 3 to 5; and the Holiday Lights parade, Dec. 12, lineup at 5, parade starts at 5:30 p.m.

The Bandon Playhouse will present Countdown to Christmas, a musical review singalong on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 12 and 13, beginning at 2. The Barn Christmas Bazaar will be going on from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days.

Jim Proehl of The Bandon History Museum is presenting the Meet and Greet program at the Bandon Fisheries Warehouse on Tuesday, Nov. 17, at noon. The title of his talk will be "Amazing Stories of the Great War," as told by Bandon World War I veterans.

The program is based on a collection of stories compiled with the encouragement of Bandon American Legion Post 26 and printed in the Bandon Western World beginning in December of 1934.

First responders were called to Highway 42S Monday afternoon, Nov. 2, by reports of a vehicle over the bank, fully engulfed in flames. The plume of smoke was visible from Coquille. This accident was on a blind corner, and law enforcement requested ODOT to stand by while they went down into the field to access the vehicle.

The operator, Joanne Marie Rutland, 56, who had just moved from Coos Bay to Hillsboro several days earlier, died at the scene.

People are reminded that the VFW will sponsor a Veterans Day Vehicle Parade through town Wednesday, Nov. 11, leaving the post at 10:15 a.m., arriving at the Veterans Memorial in City Park for a program at 11, followed by lunch at the Post at noon. Veterans will eat for free and others will pay $10. If it is raining, the program will be held at the Post on Bates Road.

The rainfall for the month of October was 2.07 inches.

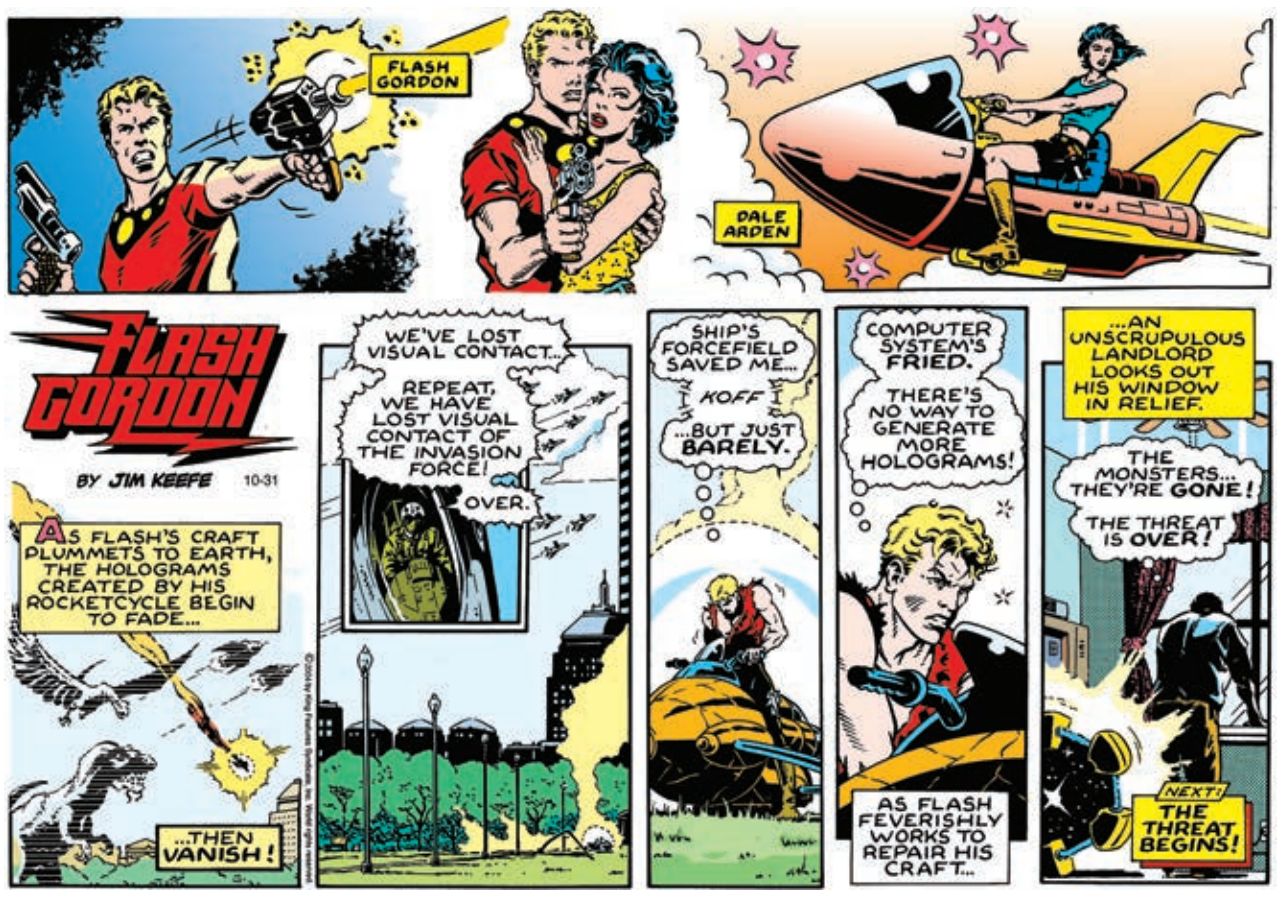

On Nov. 5, at 9:43 a.m., Bandon Fire was assisting law enforcement on highway 101 near the police department for an adult male who was said to be stumbling, and not wanting to talk to law enforcement. Bay Cities Ambulance will not respond as he has refused medical several times. Bandon Fire out with the man; he is refusing assistance.

Obituaries

Anna Marie Ehlin Howell

September 2, 1957 to November 7, 2026

(Anna) Marie was born on September 2, 1957 in Bemidji, Minnesota to Norman and Lida Ehlin. Her family moved from Black Duck, MN to Coos Bay, OR in 1965 where she attended Coos County schools and graduated from Marshfield High School in 1975. She settled in Coquille, OR and married John Howell in 2002. She enjoyed spending time with her husband, family, grandkids and friends; camping, fishing, gardening, canning, and creating a homestead atmosphere. She loved animals and would often rescue a fury friend when able. She served as a Real Estate Salesperson/Broker for over 25 years.

Marie is survived by her brothers Timothy (Gina) Ehlin of Casper, WY and Thomas (Elizabeth) Ehlin of Coos Bay, OR; and many nephews, cousins and grandkids.

She was preceded in death by her husband, John Howell; her parents, Norman & Lida Ehlin, her Aunts and Uncles.

Funeral service will be held at Coos Bay Chapel 685 Anderson Ave. on November 20, 2026 at 1:00 PM. Service will be officiated by Pastor Greg Stansel of Hauser Community Church.

The family asks that instead of flowers please make a donation in memory of Marie Howell to the Coos County Animal Shelter, 92960 Southport Road, Coos Bay, OR 97420 (541) 751-2480.

Judith Ann Mogan

Judith Ann Mogan was born June 12, 1951 at the McAuley Hospital in Coos Bay, Oregon. She was adopted at a very early age by Al and Hilda Peirce, who built and operated the successful Al Peirce Timber Company over many years. Her family placed a high value on education, and contributions the wood products industry made to the local community. Judy and her mother grew very close after her father was killed in a car accident when she was young. She graduated from Marshfield High School, and the University of Oregon, and taught briefly in the Eugene area. During that time she met her spouse, and the love of her life, Mike Mogan.

Judy and Mike both loved fishing on the Rogue River, and spent a great deal of time at the Peirce family cabin in Agness, Oregon. They were married in Coos Bay, and moved there to build their lives together not long after. Alas, Judy lost Mike to complications from diabetes, far too soon.

Prioritizing support of education for local students throughout her life, Judy joined the board of the Southwestern Oregon Community College Foundation in 2007, serving through 2022, including as board President. During that time, her active support was critical in establishing SWOCC's Forest Ecology program, and Nursing program. She also generously provided 4-year scholarships to graduating Marshfield and North Bend seniors through the Al & Hilda Peirce scholarships with Oregon Community Foundation, consistently supported the local Boys & Girls Club, the Coos History Museum, and innumerable other causes benefiting the South Coast and the State of Oregon.

Upon the sale of the Al Peirce Company's timberlands, Judy made the extraordinary gift to establish the Judith Ann Mogan Foundation. This was formed to directly benefit the South Coast communities where the Al Peirce Company did business, and will continue to do so in perpetuity.

Focus areas include supporting local youth, economic development, rural health, and arts & culture.

A memorial service will be held on Saturday, November 21st at 2:00pm at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, 400 Highland Avenue in Coos Bay, with a reception to follow at Black Market Gourmet, located at 495 Central Avenue in Coos Bay.

Memorial contributions in Judy's honor can be made to:

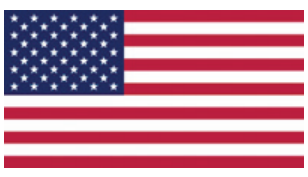

Al & Hilda Peirce Memorial Scholarship Fund at The Oregon Community Foundation, Al and Hilda Peirce Scholarship (on check memo line), 1221 SW Yamhill St., Suite 100, Portland, OR 97205 (online donation: oregoncf.org/al-and-hilda-peirce-scholarship), or OHSU Knight Cancer Institute via the OHSU Foundation, PO Box 29017, Portland, OR 96296, or a cause or organization that is meaningful to you.

Cremation rites have been held at Ocean View Memory Gardens Crematory with inurnment at Sunset Memorial Park Mausoleum under the direction of Coos Bay Chapel 685 Anderson Ave. 541-267-3131. www.coosbayareafunerals.com

Gerry Dean Vinyard

July 7, 1957 – April 21, 2026

Gerry Dean Vinyard, 68, of Coos Bay, Oregon, passed away on April 21, 2026.

Gerry was born on July 7, 1957, in Little Rock, Arkansas, to Berrel Dean and Anna Beatrice (Paxton) Vinyard.

Gerry proudly served his country as a United States Army veteran. Following his military service, he spent much of his working life in the trucking and heavy equipment industries before retiring.

An avid outdoorsman, Gerry had a passion for bow hunting elk and deer, fishing, crabbing, and camping. Whether he was in the woods, out on the water, or enjoying time around a campsite, he loved the outdoors and the experiences that came with it.

But above all else, nothing brought Gerry greater joy than watching his grandchildren play sports. He loved being there to cheer them on, celebrate their accomplishments, and simply watch them do what they loved. Those moments were among his greatest joys and will forever be treasured by his family.

Gerry was a beloved father, grandfather, son, and brother whose memory will live on through the many lives he touched.

He is survived by his loving partner, Donna Vinyard, with whom he shared a family, a lifetime of memories, and a love that brought them back together; his sons, Jason Vinyard and his wife, Elizabeth, and Jonathan Vinyard and his wife, Krystle; his five beloved grandchildren, Keller, Reed, Easton, Cooper, and Logan Vinyard; his father, Berrel Vinyard; his brothers, Doug and Tony Vinyard; and numerous extended family members and friends.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, November 21, 2026 at 11:00 AM at the Family Life Center Church of God 1067 Newmark Ave. North Bend with Pastor Trevor Hefner officiating. Cremation rites have been held at Ocean View Memory Gardens Crematory, Coos Bay with inurnment at Roseburg National Cemetery under the direction of Coos Bay Chapel 685 Anderson Ave. 541-267-3131. www.coosbayareafunerals.com

January 22, 1936 – November 1, 2026

Judy Dixon died peacefully at home in the early morning hours of November 1, 2026, with her sons nearby.

She was born on January 22, 1936, to Lester and Margaret Wade, the second of their three daughters. She grew up on NE Fremont Street in Portland, and spent many summers with her grandparents on their family farm outside of Reedsport. From an early age, she loved being in nature and around the farm animals. She graduated from Grant High School in Portland in 1954, then continued her studies at Oregon State University, where she earned her bachelor's degree in landscape architecture in June 1958.

Judy first met H. Loring Dixon as a teenager during a summer in Reedsport. His parents owned the hardware store that she and her sisters frequented on their occasional trips into town with their grandfather. They overlapped for two years at OSU, where they began dating. He graduated before her and began medical school in Portland, and they were married in Portland on June 17, 1958, shortly after she graduated. The newlyweds spent a year living in Portland while Loring finished medical school and Judy worked in the office of landscape architect Arthur Erfeldt.

Over the next few years, they grew their family as they moved around for Loring's medical training. Roger was born in 1959 during an internship in San Francisco, and Les followed in 1960 during an anesthesia residency in Seattle. After two years at the U.S. Naval hospital in Bethesda Maryland, they returned to the Oregon coast. Judy was integral to the establishment of Loring's Coos Bay anesthesiology practice, handling the bookkeeping and billing. They welcomed baby Pete in 1965, and Tom in 1967. In addition to running the practice and raising four boys, Judy was active in the community, advocating for local land use planning efforts, helping establish the South Slough Estuarine Reserve, and joining the community movement that led to the eventual building of Bay Area Hospital. She also taught Landscape Architecture at Southwestern Oregon Community College (SWOCC).

In 1977, Judy and Loring took over management of the cattle on her family's farm. She continued this work with her sons and her sister Joan after Loring's sudden death in 1982, and continued to oversee it until 1996, when she relocated to Montana to establish her dream cattle ranch with Duane Smith. The two had met in a cattle nutrition class at Umpqua Community College two years earlier. They spent nearly 20 years living their dream on the ranch before returning to Oregon in 2018 and settling into independent living at Inland Point Retirement Community, where Judy made many friends and became an unofficial resident master gardener.

Judy was preceded in death by her sister Joan, husbands H. Loring Dixon and Roger Weaver, partner Duane Smith, and her oldest granddaughter Danielle. She is survived by her sister Peggy Stannard, her four sons Roger (Kim), Les (Susan), Pete (Melinda), Tom (Jeana), and eleven grandchildren. Her first great-grandchild is expected in December 2026.

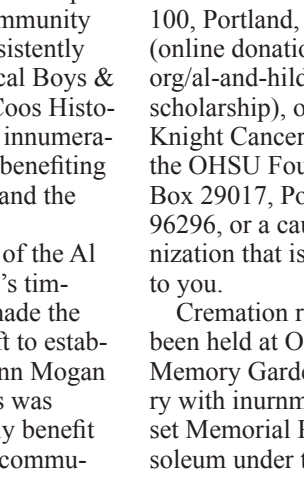

A Celebration of Life is planned for Sunday December 20, 2026 at 11:00 am, at Venture Inn restaurant, 2265 Inland Drive, North Bend, Oregon.

Over the years Judy gave to many charitable organizations with a focus on the arts, farming and environmental conservation efforts. If you would like to donate to your favorite charity in her name, feel free to do so. 'Judy-baby' will be missed.
