

No Kings Day in Coos Bay

By NATE SCHWARTZ

In addition to Flag Day and President Donald Trump's birthday, for which he held a military parade, Saturday June 14 was known most widely as No Kings Day this year. A day of demonstration nationwide and beyond, estimates for the turnout are over five million people making it one of the single largest days of protest in modern history. That trend was no different on the Coos Bay boardwalk where some counts exceeded 800 people.

That made this protest over twice as large as the last gathering in downtown, and visibly there was no doubt of the numbers. Protesters lined both sides of Highway 101 from Curtis Avenue up to Market Avenue, with the crowds extending over to the Southbound side as well. While many came out over grievances that stretch back to the earliest days of this administration, the large surge in numbers was motivated in large part by increasingly authoritarian action on the part of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE). By now we've all seen the images out of Los Angeles, where the National Guard and U.S. Marines were deployed in a show of force against protesters. ICE's deportation efforts have become increasingly brash, with reports that masked and unmarked officers have been raiding school graduations, Home Depot parking lots, and even snatching people

Friends of Coos County Animals celebrate their 20th anniversary

By NATE SCHWARTZ

While surveying recently acquired land for watershed restoration in Lakeside, representatives from the Tenmile Lakes Basin Partnership made a discovery that led them to contact the Friends of Coos County Animals (FOCCAS). They had some notice about 8 horses that had been left on the property, but were surprised to find 13 cats who have since been brought in for treatment and fostering by FOCCAS.

The 222-acre property was privately owned for 30 years and is now in the early phases of a restoration effort. The plan is for the rehabilitated area to be given over to the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw Indians for native stewardship. First and foremost, however, was the issue of rescuing the animals found on hand. Multiple abandoned trailers on the property were housing the neglected cats. "It was tough to see [the animals] in that condition. They were all in pretty bad condition," recalled Zarah Wemple, the Restoration Monitor and Coordinator for Tenmile Lakes Basin Partnership. "FOCCAS was just so helpful, they were able to get them into good vet care immediately... We're a nonprofit organization so we really didn't have any resources outside of the people that we depended on for the rescue." Unfortunately, a handful of the cats were found deceased. Those that weren't were sent for emergency care at Hanson-Meekins Animal Hospital, who have helped FOCCAS with discounted care since their inception. The horses were relocated to a ranch in Eastern Oregon who specialize in equine rescue. "[FOCCAS] are amazing. We can't thank them enough for being so responsive and helpful. They totally facilitated our rescue, we wouldn't have been able to do it without them," said Wemple. FOCCAS celebrated their 20th anniversary of providing for local animals this June. What started as a Coos County Animal Shelter volunteer bringing a shelter pet to Pony Village Mall for adoption visibility has grown exponentially. Founded in 2005 by that volunteer, Laura Jorgensen, the nonprofit has now helped thousands of animals find care and homes. To aid with that mission, FOCCAS is always accepting donations and looking for Construction to close U.S. 101 south of Bandon for one weekend in September

Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) plans to close U.S. 101 south of Bandon for one weekend in September to replace a culvert deep under the highway in difficult terrain. The closure, scheduled for Friday night to Sunday night, Sept. 19th to 21st, will allow contractors to dig down more than twenty feet to remove the failing pipe and install a larger culvert. The work zone is sandwiched between a steep slope on one side of the highway, wetlands on the other and a stream that snakes its way in between. There are no local road connections around the work zone. During this 48-hour closure, the only available detour is a lengthy drive along U.S. 199 (Redwood Highway), Interstate 5 and Oregon 42 (Coos Bay-Roseburg Highway). The total construction window will likely extend about four to six weeks, with about two to three weeks of single-lane closures before and after the weekend full closure of the highway. In most circumstances, ODOT attempts to stage projects in a way that keeps

The American lexicon was once filled with dozens, hundreds of charmingly quaint phrases that have now gone the way of the dodo. A particular favorite was, “There was enough food to feed Coxey’s army.” While your grandparents and great-grandparents would have understood it, saying it these days would be met with a puzzled expression followed by, “Who was Coxey?” “Why did he have an army?” And, the most practical of all, “Why was it hungry?”

All good questions deserve an answer. And believe it or not, they all go back to the very first protest march on Washington more than 130 years ago. Because this group made its way on foot across this country with a shared goal. Although it didn’t achieve anything its participants sought, it did cause quite an uproar. And it concluded with an incident that left us with that once-popular phrase.

This is the forgotten tale of Coxey’s Army.

HOLY GOW! HISTORY: The First March on Washington

The economy suffered a nasty downturn in the Panic of 1893. It was the nation’s worst financial crisis until then. Millions of working people were suddenly unemployed. Suffering was widespread and severe.

Some folks wanted immediate action from Washington. They demanded that Congress pass a bill authorizing $500 million to build roads and other public works projects, creating jobs and stimulating the economy. (Think of it as a forerunner of FDR’s New Deal 40 years later.) And they wanted Congress to do it PDQ.

Jacob Coxey was one of the idea’s most enthusiastic backers. A 40-year-old sand quarry owner in Massillon, Ohio, he was a dedicated Populist with a witty turn of phrase. Though friends and family considered him something of an oddball, his belief that Congress should act to end suffering was sincere.

Coxey proposed a radical plan. He would personally lead unemployed men to Washington, where they would march to the U.S. Capitol and present their demands to congressional movers and shakers.

It’s likely the idea didn’t originate with Coxey. Three dozen groups of out-of-work men around the country were proposing similar steps. But Coxey was among the first, and because he was so quotable, his effort received the lion’s share of news coverage.

Coxey grandly christened his effort the Army of the Commonwealth In Christ. The press dubbed it simply Coxey’s Army.

When it set out from Massillon on Easter Sunday 1894, Coxey was at the head of 100 men, confidently predicting their ranks would swell to 100,000 by the time they reached Washington. His young wife and son, Legal Tender Coxey (yes, that was the poor kid’s real name), went with him.

It was a madcap, haphazard affair from the start. In that time long before social media, it was difficult to get the word out and organize. So, different groups started for Washington at different times. As for logistics, planning wasn’t Jacob Coxey’s forte. He seemed to improvise as the group moved by foot from town to town, camping outdoors and feasting on whatever food local supporters provided.

New recruits came in as other protesters dropped out. The whole thing was ragtag from start to finish. However, it did generate a lot of news coverage. In the age of Yellow Journalism, newspapers eagerly covered the march. Many reports were derisive. The country was laughing at Coxey’s Army as it plodded eastward. Yet there was also silent anxiety under the surface, a fear that perhaps the marchers would unleash social forces that would prove impossible to control.

But things didn’t turn out that way. Barely 500 men were with Coxey when his “army” sauntered into Washington. Just as they were about to present their demands to Congress, Coxey was arrested for walking on the Capitol lawn grass.

Exhausted, tired of being the butt of jokes, and now leaderless, the men finally had enough. They quietly disbanded and went home.

However, seeds were sown that eventually bore fruit. Coxey’s Army is considered the first march on Washington, a tactic later refined by protest groups to mobilize popular support. Although the federal action Coxey and his army sought didn’t happen, the experience triggered discussion about the government’s role in times of economic crisis.

J. Mark Powell

Finally, Coxey was ridiculed as “Keep Off the Grass Coxey.” That nickname led to a popular phrase that’s still used today: “Keep off the grass.”

Along with “Enough food to feed Coxey’s army.”

You never know what unintended consequences a good protest may produce.

Letter to the Editor

Bandon Schools

Dear Editor,

As a physician, a parent, and a member of this community, I’m writing to express deep concern over the way the Bandon School District is treating its teachers—and by extension, our children.

Our teachers are the lowest paid in the region, and rather than addressing this long-standing inequity with serious solutions, the current leadership offers only minimal cost-of-living increases. These are not meaningful raises—they are crumbs. At the same time, reports of retaliation against union leaders, including forced transfers and reassignments, are deeply troubling and, if accurate, illegal.

Beyond the legal implications, this approach is a moral failure. Morale among teachers is at an all-time low. Many no longer feel respected, supported, or safe in their positions. We cannot expect excellence in education when the people we entrust to shape our children’s minds are treated as expendable.

Leadership is not about control or compliance—it’s about service. True leaders, especially in education, act as servant leaders. They lift their people up. They invest in them. They listen, collaborate, and do what’s right—not what’s easy or politically convenient. Our school staff are the school system. Without them, there is no mission, no learning, no future.

Our teachers deserve better. Our children deserve better. And our community must do better. I stand with the educators of our district and call on the superintendent and school board to restore integrity, fairness, and servant leadership to our schools.

Sincerely,

Ann Kellogg
Bandon, Parent and Community Physician

from their official immigration court hearings.

What was supposed to be an effort to get violent criminals and drug dealers off the streets, has quickly seen normal, hard-working members of communities targeted and removed from said communities. For those who argue that greater efforts to emigrate legally should have been taken by the undocumented, attacks on immigration courts should be of chief concern, as they show a blatant disregard for those trying to using the legal pathways to residency. This is all being done without the due process called for in the 5th amendment of the constitution.

Another chief concern amongst protesters was continued U.S. support of Isreal’s ethnic cleansing campaign in Gaza. Blockades are still in place preventing humanitarian aid from entering the area, as widespread famine sweeps the strip. Civilian infrastructure has been completely decimated with every hospital in Gaza having been destroyed. The death count continues to rise with weapons supplied by the U.S. bolstering the Israeli Defense Force’s arsenals.

Those who voted for Trump over his claim that there would be ‘no new wars’ on his watch would be sorely disappointed to see that those same weapons supplied to Israel have been used to strike targets in Iran over this past week. Official communication from the White House has attempted to obfuscate its official involvement over missile strikes in Tehran.

When asked whether the U.S. military would be attacking Iran President Trump replied, “I may do it. I may not do it.”

Meanwhile, officials in the Iranian government have condemned U.S. involvement

Esmail Baghaei, a spokesman for Iran’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs told Al Jazeera that “Any American intervention would be a recipe for an all-out war in the region.”

Protests are expected to continue throughout the summer, with the situation domestically not seeing much improvement. Inflation on necessities continue, with many Americans still feeling the impact on their ability to pay the bills and keep food on the table. The ‘Big, Beautiful Bill’ hits the Senate this week. Should it pass, some reports estimate that millions of Americans could lose their health insurance. Tax rates for many Americans would also rise, while those at the top of America’s economic pyramid would see huge breaks.

It should be mentioned that following the protest on the boardwalk, roughly a dozen counter-protesters had their say, waving banners in support of the current administration.

Marshfield student Jaxson Stovall blazed through the course in the South Coast Half Marathon, finishing in 1 hour, 18 minutes and 33 seconds. Hayden Brandt was second (1:22:27), followed by Kevin Brightbill (1:22:47), Connor Burns (1:30:57) and Raleigh Collier (1:33:43). Richelle Moon was first among women and seventh overall in 1:38:34. Anna Carpenter was second among women (1:43:29) and Ashley Merz third (1:55:47). Angelo Pedrini, who will be a freshman at North Bend this fall, won the 10-kilometer race in 38:45, beating Charlie Hatch by 10 seconds. Ezra Kern was third (41:57), Jerry Roberts fourth (42:34) and Luke Padilla fifth (46:54). Veronica Grave led the women in 56:23, followed by Payton Davidson (57:37) and Jill Davidson (57:52). In the 5-kilometer race, Ella Henthorn and Addison Horning, who just finished their freshman years at Coquille and North Bend, respectively, both easily ran under 20 minutes. Henthorn won in 19:27 and Horning finished in 19:31. Former North Bend student Henry Hood was third (20:59), followed by Lexie Jones-Ortega (23:01), William Reeves (23:52) and Jake Perry (23:56). The race was created in honor of Jennifer Turman, who ran for Marshfield High School and died in a car accident about three decades ago. It serves as a fundraiser for a scholarship in Turman’s name presented annually by the running club to a local high school or college student who is a track and field or cross country athlete. For more information about the scholarship, visit www.southcoastrunningclub.org. Holiday races The next two runs on the South Coast calendar will be held during the Fourth of July weekend. The annual Firecracker Run will be held on Friday, July 4, in Mingus Park in Coos Bay. The event includes a half-mile kids run and a 1.6-mile run/walk. The longer distance includes a few of the park’s trails with steep hills. The kids run will start at 10 a.m., followed by the longer run.

The kids run is free. The longer run is free for members of the South Coast Running Club and costs $10 for non-members. People can sign up for the club or learn about other upcoming club races at www.southcoastrunningclub.org. The second holiday run is the annual White Cedar Days Run in Powers as part of that city’s holiday celebration. It will be held on Saturday, July 5, and includes both 5-kilometer and 10-kilometer races. Both start at 9 a.m., but start outside of town and the bus to the starting line will leave Powers about 30 minutes before the races start. Registration will be held in the area of the finish line, near the corner of Second Avenue and Fir Street.

Pahls wins two events to lead Bandon to speech title

Bandon won the speech title for Class 4A-3A-2A-1A this spring and Marshfield was fifth. The students competed in every event against all other students, regardless of school size. Bandon had one state champion, Madeleine Pahls, who won in both the categories of oratory and radio. Bandon’s Tyler Eickhoff was third and Marshfield’s Ella Croson fourth among all students in humorous interpretation. Marshfield’s team of Quant and Tide Belzer finished second in duo interpretation. Bandon’s Maya Tulles and Tyler Eickhoff were fourth. Bandon’s Maya Tulles was sixth, just missing the final, in dramatic interpretation, with Marshfield’s Tide Belzer ninth, also advancing to the semifinals. Bandon’s Sebastian Newby reached the semifinals in informative speaking, while Marshfield’s Alyssia Pottle just missed advancing to that round. Bandon’s Cchristopher Kilcoyne and Lillianna Gonzalez competed in extemporaneous speaking. Alivia Bramhall competed in poetry. Bandon also had two teams in parliamentary debate that did not reach the semifinals, Brennan McFall and Akyla Velasco and Alivia Bramhall and Zoe Thomas. Thomas also competed in radio. Marshfield’s Croson and Dax Johnson competed in impromptu and Danielle Koffi-Piebou competed in oratory and poetry. Eliza Huurman competed in oral interpretation and Ivy Potter was in the after dinner speaking event. Rin Kiewert and Nicholas Erb competed in prose. Marshfield had two teams in public forum, McCoy and Johnson and Potter and Hopper.

Best bets for clamming on the Oregon Coast

ODFW

In nearly every Oregon estuary, some species of bay clams can be found. However, abundances and variety of species is different for each bay depending on a number of factors. Size and shape of the bay are the most critical factors. Tidal exchange, salinity, species ranges, and substrates also weigh heavily. For your safety, call the Oregon Department of Agriculture Shellfish Safety Hotline before harvesting any shellfish at 1-800-448-2474 or check their website. Crabbing on the Coast

In every Oregon estuary, some crab can be found. Tillamook, Yaquina and Coos normally provide the best year-round opportunities. Before heading out, be sure to have your shellfish license, a copy of the regulations (either paper or online), and check the tides. For your safety, call the Oregon Department of Agriculture Shellfish Safety Hotline before harvesting any shellfish at 1-800-448-2474 or check their website. highways open to all traffic at all times. However, that would require a single-lane bypass to be constructed either through a hillside or over wetlands, relocating the stream while adding more cost to the project and disrupting highway traffic for about six months.

“We know how disruptive highway closures can be for communities on the south coast, but we believe this is the best approach and the least impactful option in the long run,” said ODOT District Manager Glen Pederson. “We’re announcing the closure now because we want to give everybody as much time as possible to plan ahead.”

The rapid replacement approach offers several benefits:

- Shrinking the total construction window from six months to six weeks will reduce overall traffic impacts of the project.
- Eliminating the need for a temporary bypass and shortening the construction timeline could save more than $1 million from the total cost of the project.
- Completing the project in October means the new culvert will be ready before the worst weather hits the south coast this winter. Under the traditional approach, the new culvert wouldn’t be operational until a year later.

- Construction in September and October would avoid impacting the local summer tourist season.
- A shortened schedule and reduced number of traffic stages decreases the safety risk to both workers and the traveling public.
- The rapid replacement approach maintains the existing stream alignment and avoids impacts to adjacent wetlands entirely.
- Closing the highway for one weekend will allow construction to take place entirely within existing ODOT right of way.

The pipe failed during a December 2024 storm, washing away the ground under the highway’s south-bound travel lane. ODOT repaired the culvert, but in its current condition the pipe is unable to handle expected winter stream flows. Another failure could compromise the roadway above.

Unlike the existing pipe, the new 11-foot-wide culvert will meet federal fish passage requirements while accommodating far more water.

“The biggest thing is donations. Our veterinary bills run over $10,000 a month because of all that we do. That’s our biggest need, is support for the animals that we take care of,” said Carma Erickson-Hurt, board Vice President for

FOCCAS.

“We are a nonprofit; we only have one employee. Everyone is volunteers, it’s just a total community effort because our fosters are all community members. It’s not just FOCCAS, it’s a community organization, and we help everybody that we can.”

In addition to care and adoption efforts, FOCCAS provide clinics as well as spay and neuter vouchers for animals that need it through their partnership with S/Nipped.

The adoption initiative at Pony Village has grown quite a bit since 2005 and that first visit with just one dog. The most recent FOCCAS adoption event had 27 cats available for adoption. Getting otherwise unwanted pets into loving homes is the ultimate goal.

To help celebrate the 20th anniversary, FOCCAS recently held a benefit concert. Jukebox Sirens played to a crowd at the Dolphin Theater in Empire with proceeds going to the organization. Local restaurant NoBe also held their Pints for Pups fundraiser throughout May, giving $1 for every pint sold to FOCCAS and raising over $5000 for the non-profit. And last weekend, Greener Grass tattoo held a flash extravaganza exchanging tattoos for donations.

“We just keep growing and growing, and because of that growth we always need more financial support,” said Erickson-Hurt. “We’ve been here 20 years and we want to be here 20 more.”

To find out how you can help with the community effort, attend a local adoption event, or donate to the cause, you can visit the official FOCCAS webpage at: friendsofcooscountyanimals.org

The Chamber Minute

From the desk of Rosey Thomas

By ROSEY THOMAS
Executive Director, Bay Area Chamber of Commerce

Hi friends, it’s Rosey with another Chamber Minute!

It’s the final week of the legislative session, and things are heating up—especially when it comes to tourism funding and liability protections.

Let’s talk SB 3962, which addresses critical tourism dollars, and SB 1196 with the -1 amendment, a liability waiver reform bill aimed at protecting businesses in health, recreation, and sports. These industries are the backbone of our South Coast economy. Unfortunately, past state court rulings have made liability waivers nearly useless—causing insurance carriers to pull out of Oregon entirely. We’re pushing hard for this reform to help prevent skyrocketing costs for both businesses and consumers.

We’re also supporting SB 123 and SB 125, which would prevent pharmacies and Medicaid service providers from being double-taxed under the CAT Tax. These exemptions are common sense—we must protect our small businesses from unnecessary burdens.

Our Legislative Action Team is working tirelessly through the final days of the session, keeping business at the forefront. In fact, it kept me from attending a ribbon cutting today that I really wanted to be at. But when you get a shot to speak with your legislators—you take the shot!

We’re fighting to make the best possible decisions for the South Coast—and we won’t stop.

Last chance to catch You’re a Good Man, Charlie Brown at the Liberty Theatre

You’re a Good Man, Charlie Brown runs at the Liberty Theatre, home of Little Theatre on the Bay this weekend. Performances are at 7 PM Friday and Saturday, with a matinee on Sunday at 2 PM. Tickets available for $22 at the door or online at: www.thelibertytheatre.org

On Valentine’s Day Eve, 2020, the final Peanuts comic strip was published in newspapers across the world, one day after its creator, Charles M. Schulz, died. The strip featured Snoopy with his typewriter, along with numerous thought bubbles containing flashback moments from the Peanuts comic strip. Schultz’ retirement letter was center and ended with the words: “...how can I ever forget them...” Indeed, how can we ever forget those loveable characters?

In the 1960s, composer Clark Gerner wrote a few songs based on those Peanuts characters, with no real plan for them. Still, he sent a demo to Schulz, who enjoyed the music. Through a collaborative process with six actors, in 1967, the musical You’re a Good Man, Charlie Brown opened off-Broadway. It won numerous awards and became a popular hit. The TV special by the same name came later, in the 1980s. Fast forward to the 1990s; composer Andrew Lippa added a bit of additional music and the show once again appeared off-Broadway, winning even more awards. It’s this slightly revised version of You’re a Good Man, Charlie Brown that Little Theatre on the Bay is currently producing at the historic Liberty Theatre in North Bend, Oregon.

This family-friendly musical is a series of vignettes from Schultz’ comic strip, and follows Charlie Brown, the eternal blockhead, and his friends: bossy Lucy, blanket-obsessed Linus, high-strung Sally, Beethoven-loving Schroeder, and, of course, Snoopy. You’ll likely recognize most scenarios: Charlie Brown pines for the Little Red Headed Girl, fumbles the baseball game, and battles the kite-eating tree. Lucy dispenses her not-so-helpful advice in her psychiatry booth. Snoopy fights the Red Baron. Sally complains about jump ropes and school projects. Linus tries to ditch his blanket. Schroeder obsesses over Beethoven.

The score features buoyant songs like “Supertime,” Snoopy’s bluesey, vaudeville-esque ode to a full food dish, “Schroeder,” in which Lucy pines over her love interest while he plays classical music, “The Book Report,” where the characters hilariously struggle to summarize The Tale of Peter Rabbit, and “Happiness,” the sweet finale that brings the characters together to appreciate all that they have.

“This is a story everyone can empathize with,” says director Kristina Seleshanko. “All of us have lived through the awkward moments of childhood. And now we can look back and laugh as the Peanuts gang experiences them, too.”

While the TV specials were voiced by children, Seleshanko follows the tradition of the off-Broadway productions and casts adults as each character. “I think we have a really strong cast of local performers. I’m tickled to help them showcase their talent,” she says. The cast includes Brett Aakre as Charlie Brown, John Beane as Snoopy, Ana Abarca as Lucy, Caylee Renard as Sally, Jacob Renard as Schroeder, and Harlan Morse as Linus.

Little Theatre on the Bay (LTOB) formed in 1947 and is the second-oldest, continuously-operating performing arts group in Oregon. As a volunteer organization and 501(c)3 nonprofit, LTOB owns and operates the historic Liberty Theatre in North Bend.

As I See It

By Mary Schamehorn

The first photo I am sharing this week came from the May 1958 Western World as Chappell's Service Station owner George Chappell points to the place where his 800-pound safe had been stolen the previous night. The station was located across the highway from what is now Face Rock Creamery and just east of today's Station Restaurant.

"The arrest of four men appeared to have solved all but one of the recent burglaries in Coos and Curry counties. Three of the men were from Four Mile and the fourth was from Coquille," reported the article.

"Their apprehension accounts for burglaries at the Bandon Airport, Pacific High School, Aldropp's Garage at Langlois, Woodworth Dairy near Port Orford, Bartol Domenighini dairy ranch at Bear Creek and a number of petty thefts in the area."

The burglary of Chappell's safe remains unsolved. The safe contained $600 in cash, $1000 in credit cards, invoices, savings bonds, checks and personal papers.

The story on the front page of the Nov. 1, 1956, Western World reports the first storm damage of the season which "hit Bandon Monday when rain-laden gusts of wind toppled metal framework (second photo) erected the day before at the Bandon Seventh-day Adventist Church and school site on Elmira Avenue near 11th street.

"The framework is for a quonset structure which will be a new gymnasium for pupils of the school. Monday's wind also broke at least one window, according to a report from the Franklin Auto Court (third photo)."

I have a few corrections from the list of band students who were on the state championship team. I was told to use the names on the program from the last band concert, but one band member, Luke Meredith, was part of the championship band but was not on the program. Three others, Liam Helgeson, Elliot Jannsen and River Lewis, did not participate, according to the band director, but were on the concert program.

A 45-year-old resident of Marple Lane, south of Bandon, Joshua Pittman, was arrested for menacing and unlawful use of a weapon following a chase in that area June 12 after reports of shots being fired.

According to the sheriff's office, a neighbor had confronted Pittman on his property. "After a brief dispute, Pittman was asked to leave and he walked further up the road. The neighbor checked later and saw Pittman in their driveway, pull a silver firearm from his waistband and fire a round into the ground," said the press release.

After a police dog sprang into action and flushed the man out of the woods, Bandon Police Chief Cory Dhillon located Pittman emerging from the brush, and the weapon was secured as evidence. He was taken to the Coos County Jail and on June 13, he appeared in court and was released on his own recognizance.

I was sorry to hear that long-time Bandon resident Bob Fisher died Tuesday, June 10, after a long illness. He was just shy of his 94th birthday. He is survived by his sons, Ben and Ralph, and Ralph's daughter, Bobbi Corcoran.

Bob operated and worked on tugboats for many years and was honored for his part in several daring marine rescues.

A big crowd turned out for a recent Meet and Greet to hear retired Coquille attorney and Bandon resident Harry Slack talk about Bandon during World War 11. Several years ago he authored a book, Lost in the Surf, and has a new book recently published, titled Hugo Rising.

Lost in the Surf, described as a tale of four American boys, one Japanese Naval officer and a collision of duty, can be purchased at the Bandon History Museum, and they expect to have Hugo Rising for sale soon.

A long line of people had their books signed by the popular 95-year-old author. He was accompanied at the table by his daughter, Helen Slack Miller. Also in the crowd were his son, Joe Slack, of Coos Bay and an old friend, Jerry Lundholm.

I learned this week that Pablo's Corner in the building at Chicago and Second, owned by Bill and Louise Moore, was closing. Pablo posted on a video that he was forced to move because the building "is going to be condemned." He thanked people who had supported his restaurant in the past, but did not say if he was looking for another location.

The fire marshal and others recently inspected the building.

Brian Reynolds

September 12, 2010 – June 10, 2025

Brian aka Bubs peacefully passed away on Tuesday June 10th, 2025 surrounded by Family and Friends. From the moment Brian was born, we knew he had a love for life and that he would fight for what he wanted. Brian’s Journey through this life was complex, but He chose to stay positive and happy about everything hurled his way. Brian’s smile and laugh had such a profound impact on anyone he came into contact with.

Brian loved bringing people together, whether at the Hospital or in his Hometown of Reedsport. His effect on People was very evident by those attending Bubsfest. Brian loved being outdoors, traveling, staying in hotels and all the things that could bring one joy. He was fearless in the face of adversity, took every obstacle head on with grace. He loved going to the Oregon Coast Aquarium with his big brother Tommy. If it was up to Brian, he would’ve hung out with the Seals and Sea Lions the whole time. He loved watching People, especially if they were silly or playing a sport. He’s the only Person I know that can stop a HS Baseball game because of his laughter. Brian had a deep love for music, especially Pink Floyd. He lived and breathed Pink Floyd music. So, when you hear Another Brick in the Wall think of Brian. (That’s what was playing when he passed away.) Brian will forever be loved and missed by everyone who knew him. Brian is survived by: George and Amber Reynolds, Brother Thomas Wolford (Renee Lite), Grandparents Pete and Vonna Reynolds of Toledo (Oregon), Lisa and Roger Hermansen of Winchester Bay (Oregon) and numerous Aunts, Uncles and Cousins. And Brian’s dogs, Dave, Danny and Petey.

Charles Rufus Vincent

Jan. 31, 1939 – June 8, 2025

Charles Rufus Vincent was born to Hazel and Paul Vincent January 31, 1939, in Myrtle Point. He attended Catholic school in the Coos Bay area growing up; boxed with a 3/0 record including two knockouts, worked in the wood, the mill, a grocery store. Married Marion Edith Howard in September 1960, and obtained his baccalaureate from SOSC in Ashland in 1971 and his Masters degree from the University of Oregon several years later. He taught art and shop in Myrtle Point at both high school and Jr. high until he retired. He lost his wife in 2009, and as strong as he was, he suffered the loss of Marion until he died in 2025.

Charles was an advocate for the poor and oppressed, for workers’ rights, and the environment. He enjoyed riding the train, hiking the Rogue River, trips to Peru, Mexico and South America, his friends and family and his art. Charles is survived by his brother Benito, his children, grandchildren, nieces, nephews, and many cousins. Mass of Christian Burial will be held on Saturday, June 28, 2025 at 1:00PM at Sts. Ann & Michael Catholic Church, 209 2nd St. in Myrtle Point. Burial will follow at Myrtle Crest Memorial Gardens in Coquille. Online remembrances and condolences may be shared with the family at www.westrumfuneralservice.com. Arrangements are under the direction of Amling/Schroeder Funeral Service – Myrtle Point Chapel, 541-572-2524.

Joseph Clifford Neill

August 20, 1952 – December 15, 2024

Joseph Clifford Neill, beloved husband, father, grandfather, and friend, of North Bend, Oregon, left this earth on December 15, 2024, and was found on January 5, 2025, at the age of 72 after an accidental fall into the sea while photographing the king tides. Born on August 20, 1952, in Calgary, Canada, to Jennie (Paglione) and Calvin Neill, Joe built a joyful, adventurous life anchored in family, service, creativity, and curiosity.

Affectionately known in the community as “Dr. Joe,” he owned and operated The Electric Hospital—a sewing machine and vacuum store in Coos Bay, Oregon—for 44 years. He was also a proficient canoeist, whitewater and swift water rescue instructor, sailor, woodworker, and published author. A true inventor at heart, he was always looking for ways to make work easier and proudly held four patents for creative tools, which the family hopes to bring to production in his honor.

Joe was a gifted storyteller—often pausing a sale at his shop to recount an adventure involving one of his kids or grandkids—and an ever-curious photographer, capturing the beauty and mystery of the world around him, with a particular love of the Oregon coast. He shared this love with paddlers from around the globe in his favorite online group, Song of the Paddle. He was an avid reader and especially enjoyed learning about Native American cultures.

Deeply devoted to community and youth, Joe volunteered for decades with organizations such as Camp Fire USA, where he taught generations of children how to paddle a canoe. He was a familiar face at his children’s and also his grandchildren’s schools, and generously gave his time to groups like Charleston Boatbuilders, as well as to anyone who needed a hand, a tool, or a clever idea.

Joe was best known for his love of family. He purposefully and joyfully spent as much time as possible visiting his children and grandchildren—doing anything that involved water, woodcarving, photography, singing a silly song, teaching a new skill, or simply sharing his ideas about life.

He is survived by his wife of 50 years, Maria (Nuñez) Neill; daughter Paula Emily Neill and son Andrew Neill, both of Southern Chile; daughter Christine (Neill) and son-in-law Jake Horner of Richland, Washington; six grandchildren; siblings Judy (Neill) Jordan and Jim Neill of North Carolina and Louis (Lynn) Neill of Texas; Sister in law Merrily Neill from North Carolina and many cousins, nieces, nephews, and beloved friends. He is also survived by his Electric Hospital family, including longtime store manager and friend Randy Kaye Guffey.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Calvin and Jennie Neill, his brother-in-law Doug Jordan, and his nephew, Scott Neill.

A community memorial and celebration of Joe’s life will be held on Saturday, July 5th, 2025, at 9:30 a.m., at the California Street Boat Ramp (400 California Ave., North Bend)—one of Joe’s favorite places to launch a canoe for a morning paddle and to begin an adventure. Guests are invited to bring canoes, kayaks, or paddle boards and join the family for a ceremony on the water or gather onshore by the docks.

On Sunday, July 6th, 2025, at 8:00 a.m., a Mass will be offered in Joe’s name at Holy Redeemer Catholic Church (2250 16th St., North Bend). All are welcome to attend and join the family in prayer. (This will not be a funeral Mass.)

If you wish to make a donation in Joe’s memory please consider the North Bend School Foundation, P.O. Box 333, North Bend, OR, 97459.

Richard J “Dick” Giorgis

June 19, 1937 – June 9, 2025

A recitation of the rosary for Richard J “Dick”

Giorgis, 87, of Coos Bay will be held at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, July 5, followed by a Funeral Mass at 11 a.m. at Holy Redeemer Catholic Church, 2250 16th St. in North Bend with Father Paschal Ezurike, officiating. A reception will follow in the Parish Hall. Cremation rites have been held at Ocean View Memory Gardens in Coos Bay where he will also be laid to rest.

Dick was born in Belle Knife Hospital, in Coquille, Oregon, the son of Antonio P. Giorgis and Mary P (Ferraris) Giorgis. He died June 9, 2025, at Sacred Heart Hospital at Riverbend in Springfield after a lengthy illness.

Dick graduated from Coquille High School in 1955 and enlisted with the US Navy. He served on the USS Bon Homme Richard CVA-31 aircraft carrier as an ordnance specialist. Dick developed a passion for law enforcement in the Navy serving as an SP (Shore Patrol) officer wherever the Bon Homme docked in ports of call. On June 29, 1957, Dick married Mary Jo (Sawtelle) Giorgis while stationed at Moffett Field in San Jose, California. After his discharge, they moved back to Coquille as he started working at Cedar Point Mill.

In 1962 Dick fulfilled his dream of working in law enforcement joining the Empire City Police Department. He joined the Coos Bay Police Department two years later. In 1967, now a sergeant with the police force, Dick accepted a deputy sheriff position for Coos County. Serving under Sheriff Charles M Strawn, until 1973 accepting the assistant chief of police position for the City of Myrtle Point. A side note, in 1969, Dick and his wife Mary Jo designed the “jumping trout” logo for the Coos County Sheriff’s Dept with the Blessing of Sheriff Strawn. The image has undergone some cosmetic changes over the years but is still being used today.

Summer 1975 Dick became the head of security for school district 9 at Marshfield High School where he worked until his retirement. Dick was passionate working with youth and was instrumental with the startup of the D.A.R.E. program in conjunction with the Coos Bay Police Dept. In Loving Memory of Richard Courtright

July 16, 1954 – June 11, 2025

Richard Courtright, born July 16, 1954, in Coquille, Oregon, passed away June 11, 2025. He was 70 years old.

Richard grew up in the small town of Coquille, where he developed a lifelong love for the outdoors. Whether it was fishing on a quiet riverbank, setting crab pots along the Oregon coast, or heading into the woods for a hunting trip, he felt most at home in nature. These weren’t just hobbies, they were passions he shared with those he loved.

Family meant everything to Richard. He was the heart of many backyard barbecues, where stories were told, laughter flowed, and memories were made. His warmth, humor, and generosity made everyone feel welcome.

Richard’s legacy lives on in the traditions he passed down, the strength he showed, and the love he gave so freely. He will be remembered as a man who worked hard, loved deeply, and found joy in life’s simple pleasures.

Richard is survived by his children, Jenny Rodriguez, Kim Pugmire, Suzanne Welch-Fields, Katy Courtright, and Brian Courtright; his sisters, Terrie Middleton and Carrie Shields; and many beloved grandchildren, nieces, and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, John and Dorothy Courtright, and his sister, Cory Courtright.

As I See It

district have reached an impasse and are headed for mediation.

I have secured information as to what each side has offered, and at this point, they seem to be 10.3 percent apart, with the BEA seeking a three-year contract of 7, 5, 5 and one additional step each year, for a total of 26.9% over the three-year period.

The district has offered salary increases of 4, 3 and 3, with one step added the second (26-27) year and another step added the third year. Each step is worth approximately 3.3 percent.

There is no doubt that the Bandon teachers are some of the lowest paid in Coos and Curry counties, but school districts across the state are experiencing financial difficulties, and Bandon is no exception. Hopefully mediation will reach a fair conclusion before rhetoric and personal attacks heat up further.

The Meet and Greet set for Tuesday, June 17, featured Jim Proehl of Bandon’s History Museum telling the story of the first Bandon fire in June of 1914. Seating opened at ODOT has announced that Highway 101, six miles south of Bandon, will be closed the weekend of Sept. 19-21 to allow contractors to install a larger culvert. There are no local road connections. During this 48-hour closure, the only available detour is a lengthy drive along U.S 199 (Redwood highway), interstate 5, and Oregon 42. This will impact Bandon businesses, who have employees living south of the closure, along with the Golf for Health golf tournament that weekend, sponsored by the Southern Coos Hospital Foundation. The total construction window will likely extend about 4-6 weeks, with about 2-3 weeks of single-lane closures before and after the weekend full closure of the highway.

Festival is a relatively new concept for Bandon, and will offer 14 performances over three days, June 27-29, sponsored by the Sprague Theater and Bandon Playhouse. Visit BandonEvents.org for show details and ticket information.

Audience members can experience several original one act plays, such as “The Footbridge,” a dramatic piece written by award-winning playwright Jeanmarie Simpson for the Bandon festival, and the comedy “A Pirate Named Shirley,” written and directed by Bandon student Tyler Eickoff, who has been elected as Bandon’s new associated student body president.

Well known local photographer Susan Dimock will be a presenter, as will Bubble Man Louis Pearl, who has toured the globe making bubble magic on stage.
